SEC. 30: SCOPE OF.—The section deals with apportionment only and not with a claim to abatement of rent by a tenant part of whose tenure has been acquired. 50 I.C. 798 (1). Difference between secs. 30 and 18. See 43 P. L.R. 153=1944 Lah. 268. Apportionment of valuation among different interests in the land acquired. 35 A. 9=10 A.L.J. 403. There is no general rule of general application applicable to apportionment between a landlord and a tenant with a permanent right of occupancy. What is sometimes called a rough and ready method has to be adopted, taking into consideration all the circumstances of the case. I.L.R. (1937) 1 Cal. 699=40 C.W.N. 1143=1936 C. 688. Where the interests of the landlord and the tenant were separately assessed and the landlord failed before the Collector to prove that the tenant was a tenant at will, the landlord could not claim anything out of the sum which has been assessed as the value of occupancy holding, unless he joined the Collector as a party and objected to the valuation made on the proprietary interest. 42 I. Where the terms of a lease debar a pattadar from claiming any abatement of rent on account of compulsory acquisition of land in his tenure, he is entitled to the whole compensation. 17 I.C. 168=16 C.L.J. 209 (30 C. 801, Ref.). As to jurisdiction to entertain a suit, see 13 I.C. 651=1912 M.W.N. 163. The jurisdiction of the Court dealing with a reference under sec. 30 of the Land Acquisition Act is confined to a consideration of the dispute that is expressly referred to it by the Collector. An addition of parties may indeed be made when the persons who desire to be added as parties do not raise any new dispute but want to place other materials before the Court in connection with the dispute that is referred to it by the Collector. But it cannot be permitted in a case where the question sought to be raised is entirely a new one and is not covered by the reference made by the Collector. I.L.R. (1941) 2 Cal. 394=45 C. PERSON INTERESTED—RIGHT TO COME IN AS PARTY TO REFERENCE.—In the case of a reference by the Collector under sec. 30 a "person interested" within the meaning of sec. (3) (b) of the Act can apply to the Court to be joined as a party to the reference made by the Collector, although his name does not appear in the reference made, provided the questions raised by him is in essence the dispute referrd. RES JUDICATA.—Decision as to title to property acquired is res judicata in subsequent civil suit. (1941) 1 M.L.J. 408.

APPEAL.—The decision of a Court on a reference made under sec. 30 is a portion of an award and consequently an appeal lies under sec. 54. 53 I.C. 539=97 P.R. 1919; 1933 B. 187=57 B. 314=144 I.C. 710=35 Bom.L.R. 276; 49 L.W. 238=1939 Mad. 716; 1942 Pesh. 60=202 I.C. 155. (See also notes under sec. 54.) The decision of a Subordinate Judge's Court on a reference made by the L.A. Officer under sec. 30 is not an award within the meaning of that Act and consequently an appeal from that decision, where the subject-matter of the lis is less than Rs. 5,000, does not lie to the High Court but lies to the District Court. 52 M. 142=1929 M. 351=56 M.L.J. 357. See also 1929 M. 223= 56 M.L.J. 387.

When the Civil Court comes to the conclusion that the Collector has paid compensation to the wrong party, the decree in favour of the right party should not be against Government, but should be against the party who had been paid by the Collector. 33 I.C. 253=20 C.W.N. 816. The Secretary of State is not a necessary party to such suit. 165 I.C. 924=1936 Pesh. 198. The proviso to sub-sec. (2) clearly provides for such an emergency and makes the person who may have received the whole or any part of any compensation under the Act to pay the same to the person lawfully entitled thereto. Where rival calimants come before the Court on a reference under sec. 31, the Court has a duty to decide which of the claimants is entitled to the money deposited in Court. There is no provision in the Act which authorizes the Court to refer the parties to a separate suit. 48 L.W. 450=1938 Mad. 955=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 306. The proper procedure in every case of apportionment of compensation is, first to determine the market value of the land and then to apportion that among the various persons interested, having regard to the interest each possesses. The landlord is to be paid ¼ of the sum ascertained as market value and the ¾ has to be paid to the tenant. I.L.R. (1942) Nag. 740=1942 N.L.R. 303=1942 Nag. 86.

APPLICABILITY.—Sec. 31, Cl. (2) applies to the case of a shebait. 40 C. 895=22 I.C. 272=19 C.W.N. 652. The owner of an unenfranchised service inam is incompetent to alienate within the meaning of secs. 31 (2) and 32 (1). 25 I.C. 600. So also the holder of an impartible estate. 58 M. 442=1935 M. 215=68 M.L.J. 575.

APPEAL.—Though the order determining the apportionment of the compensation is not an award within the meaning of sec. 54, it is in the nature of a decree and an appeal lies against it. 57 Bom. 314=35 Bom.L.R. 276=1933 B. 187. See also 53 I.C. 589. An order of the District Judge allowing a Hindu widow to withdraw money deposited by the Collector under sec. 31 is not appealable under sec. 54. 31 I.C. 677=19 C.W.N. 1290.

SEC. 31 (2).—In law all the co-sharers are entitled to enjoy and possess the common property jointly, and if one of them asserts an exclusive title to any portion of such property and ousts his co-sharers from enjoyment or possession of the same, the latter can sue for joint possession in respect of that item without suing for partition of the entire joint estate. When a joint property is acquired under the Land Acquisition Act, the enjoyment, which the co-owners are entitled to under the Act, is to get proportionate shares of the compensation money that is given by the award. Consequently, if one co-sharer receives anything in excess of his share or the whole amount of the compensation money he is bound to refund it to the true owners, and this right is recognized by the proviso to sec. 31 (2). A suit by a co-sharer for his share of the compensation money falls under sec. 31 (2) and cannot be regarded as a partition suit. 46 C.W.N. 212=1941 Cal. 635.

SEC. 31 (2), PROVISO.—The Act creates a special jurisdiction and provides a special remedy for persons aggrieved by anything done in the exercise of that jurisdiction. That jurisdiction is exclusive. A party who is served with notice under sec. 9 of the Act is bound, if he is dissatisfied with the award, Provided also that no person who has received the amount otherwise than under protest shall be entitled to make any application under section 18.

Provided also that nothing herein contained shall affect the liability of any person, who may receive the whole or any part of any compensation awarded under this Act, to pay the same to the person lawfully entitled thereto.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in this section the Collector may, with the sanction of the Provincial Government, instead of awarding a money compensation in respect of any land, make any arrangement with a person having a limited interest in such land, either by the grnt of other lands in exchange, the remission of land-revenue on other lands held under the same title, or in such other way, as may be equitable having regard to the interests of the parties concerned.

(4) Nothing in the last foregoing sub-section shall be construed to interfere with or limit the power of the Collector to enter into any arrangement with any person interested in the land and competent to contract in respect thereof.

to apply for a reference under sec. 19. If he disables himself from availing of it by accepting the compensation without any protest or, if for any other reason he does not apply under sec. 18, he cannot be allowed to re-open the question of the right to the amount of compensation by means of a regular suit, against the persons alleged to have wrongfully received the same. 9 O.W.N. 1176=1933 O. 100. See also I.L.R. (1941) M. 753=1941 M. 600=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 527; 1933 N. 322=147 I. C. 877=30 N.L.R. 40. When the Collector wrongly refuses to make a reference, the general liability will arise of the person taking the land for damages in the Civil Court. 37 P.L.R. J. & K. 8.

SEC. 31 (2), PROVISO 3.—The third proviso to sec. 31 (2), applies only to persons whose rights have not been adjudicated upon in pursuance of the special procedure. A person whose rights have been adjudicated upon and who has not appealed therefrom cannot, therefore, maintain a suit for recovery of the compensation money. 47 C.W.N. 619. Applicability—Daughters of owner claiming share in compensation—Collector making reference to Court—Daughters and other assignees appearing—Assignment by consent recognized by Court—Claim of assignees for share in compensation adjudicated upon and rejected—Order not appealed against—Assignees have no right to bring separate suit. I.L.R. (1939) Kar. 152=1939 Sind 66.

SEC. 31 (2), LAST PROVISO.—Sec. 31 (2), last proviso, apparently contemplates a civil suit. It does not create a right to get a refund of the money but simply recognizes the right which exists independently of the section. 46 C.W.N. 212=1941 Cal. 635.

SEC. 31 (4).—See 73 C.L.J. 595, cited under sec. 1, supra.

SECS. 31 AND 32.—As to persons who are competent to contract, see sec. 11 of the Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872). A widow holding a life estate under the Customary Law is a "person not competent to alienate" within the meaning of secs. 31 and 32 of the Act. 116 I.C. 335=1929 L. 736. See also 60 C.L.J. 88=62 C. 154=1935 C. 29. Where land belonging to an impartible estate is acquired under the Act, the compensation money should not be paid over to the holder for the time being, but should be converted into other land to form part of the impartible estate which will not thus suffer from the acquisition and hence the acquisition officer is right in depositing the money under sec. 31. 58 M. 442=68 M.L.J. 575=1935 M. 215. The words "if there be no person competent to alienate the land" in sec. 31 (2) must necessarily apply to a case where there is no present title in the person who has come forward as a claimant to the compensation fixed by the Collector. Secs. 31 and 32 provide for the case of persons who by reason of a personal disability have no absolute power to alienate and are intended to protect the interest of reverisoners, when land is taken away from the possession of such persons who hold it only on a life-estate or similar limited estates, such as minors, lunatics, Hindu widows, administrators, etc., where the legal estate is in one person and the beneficial estate in another. In the case of an inam granted as a personal inam to the family of the grantee, the grantee having a heritable estate in full proprietorship, the grant being of the soil and conveying a full interest in the land without any condition in restraint of alienation, the inamdar and his assigns are owners of the villages and have an interest in the land and are entitled to the benefit of that interest. Such a person cannot be said to have no power to alienate the land within the meaning of sec. 31 (2) of the Act. Such an inamdar does not fall under secs. 31 and 32. The amount of compensation awarded for acquisition of such inam lands cannot therefore be directed to be deposited in Government securities and interest alone directed to the inamdar. He is entitled to receive the full amount of compensation in cash. 40 Bom.L.R. 432=1938 Bom. 325.

Investment of money deposited in respect of lands belonging to persons incompetent to alienate.

32. (1) If any money shall be deposited in Court under sub-section (2) of the last preceding section and it appears that the land in respect whereof the same was awarded belonged to any person who had no power to alienate the same, the Court shall—

(a) order the money to be invested in the purchase of other lands to be held under like title and conditions of ownership as the land in respect of which such money shall have been deposited was held, or

(b) if such purchase cannot be effected forthwith, then in such Government or other approved securities as the Court shall think fit; and shall direct the payment of the interest or other proceeds arising from such investment to the person or persons who would for the time being have been entitled to the possession of the said land, and such moneys shall remain so deposited and invested until the same be applied—

(i) in the purchase of such other lands as aforesaid; or

(ii) in payment to any person or persons becoming absolutely entitled thereto.

SEC. 32: APPLICABILITY OF SECTION.—Sec. 32 applies to cases where the possessor of the land has a limited interest in it and does not govern the case of land incapable of alienation in whosoever hands it may be. 40 B. 254=33 I.C. 464=17 Bom.L.R. 1140. Sec. 32 does not vest the acquisition Court with such power as to retain the money in its possession in spite of the directions of a competent Civil Court. 1928 C. 402=107 I.C. 738. The case of a Hindu widow does not come within the purview of sec. 32. 11 I.C. 304. Court can deal with application by shebait for grant of money for repairs. 39 C. 33=10 I.C. 491. A Hindu widow comes within the scope of sec. 32. I.L.R. (1945) Nag. 392=1945 N.L.J. 92=A.I.R. 1945 Nag. 115.

SEC. 32 (1) (a): ENQUIRY AS TO VALUATION—PROCEDURE.—The President of the Calcutta Improvement Tribunal acting under sec. 32, is a Judge and is bound to exercise his functions in a judicial manner. Where he referred the question of valuation to an outside expert and, on receipt of his report, adopted it without giving the parties concerned an opportunity to examine or cross-examine him, held, that the procedure was illegal. 59 C. 1272=36 C.W.N. 848=1932 C. 844. The parties interested in the properties forming the subject-matter of investigation are not parties to the proceedings under the Act for appraising the offers. 59 C. 1272=36 C.W.N. 848=1932 C. 844.

SEC. 32 (1) (b) (ii).—Sec. 32 (1) (b) (ii) contemplates a case where the disability has ceased or the estate vests absolutely in a full owner after the termination of the limited estate. It pre-supposes a valid deposit under sec. 32 (1) and cannot have any reference to a case where the property is found not to belong either wholly or in part to the person in whose favour the award is made and in whose name the money lies deposited, but to some person not a party to the award at all. 46 C.W.N. 212=1941 Cal. 635. Sec. 32 of the Land Acquisition Act invests the Court with certain powers in regard to the moneys deposited under sec. 31 (2). It lays on the Court the duty to order the moneys deposited in the purchase of other lands, and, even in the case of moneys that have been invested in Government or other approved securities, the Court is also given power to have them re-invested in the purchase of other lands. It is a judicial function which has to be performed by it in accordance with the procedure usually attributed to it, after hearing the parties and taking the necessary evidence. The Court has to be satisfied as to the propriety of the purchase, the value and title of the land before it can make an order for investment. It is no doubt true that the purchase has to be made through the Collector. The Court can refer the matter to the Collector and direct him to review all the evidence and any information which the parties may place before him and to consider the same along with the information which he would independently obtain and to submit a report. On receipt of the report of the Collector, the Court should hear the parties and pass appropriate orders. But the Collector's report is not final and conclusive. It is open to the Court to have the opinion of an expert taken as regards the valuation of the land, etc.; it may disregard the report of the Collector and arrive at an independent valuation after consideration of the report and direct the purchase accordingly. The order ultimately to be passed is a judicial order made by the Court. 1937 Mad. 948=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 429. Under sec. 32 (1) (b) payment of interest has to be made to "the person or persons who would for the time being have been entitled to the possession of the said land". These words suggest that the payees may from time to time be different persons and may change. The Court is directed not to make one order for payment which is to last but to direct payment to the persons who would have been entitled for the time being, that is, the persons who would from time to time be entitled to possession. The section impliedly direct that the Court

(2) In all cases of moneys deposited to which this section applies the Court shall order the costs of the following matters, including therein all reasonable charges and expenses incident thereto, to be paid by the Collector, namely:—

(a) the costs of such investments as aforesaid:

(b) the costs of the orders for the payment of the interest or other proceeds, of the securities upon which such moneys are for the time being invested, and for the payment out of Court of the principal of such moneys, and of all proceedings relating thereto, except such as may be occasioned by litigation between adverse claimants.

should hold an enquiry to ascertain from time to time who such persons are. 47 P.L. R. 250=A.I.R. 1945 Lah. 257.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—The land acquired by the Calcutta Improvement Trust tribunal belonged to a Thakur ordinarily managed by Shebaits. In a suit relating to that debutter estate, a receiver had been appointed by the Court to take possession of the properties. The tribunal proposed to invest the compensation money in the purchase of other lands on the ground that there was no one competent to alienate the land. Held, that as the receiver represented not only the Shebaits but also the Thakur he was competent to alienate the land and so sec. 32 was not applicable. Secondly, even otherwise under sec. 32 (b), the receiver appointed by the Court was a person who had become absolutely entitled to the amount and to whom the Tribunal was consequently bound to pay and the Tribunal had no discretion to invest it on the purchase of other lands. 36 C.W.N. 370=1932 C. 660. Under sec. 32 (1) of the Act, the Calcutta Improvement Tribunal has jurisdiction, even after once adopting the alternative in sec. 31 (1) (b), and has power, impliedly conferred on it, to order the money to be re-invested in the purchase of land. 59 C. 1272=36 C.W.N. 848=1932 C. 844. The effect of Murshidabad Act (XV of 1891 amended by Act XXV of 1923) is that, in spite of certain powers conferred on the Secretary of State, no right of ownership or disposition is conferred on the Secretary of State and the Nawab Bahadur continue as a limited owner but with the income intercepted in certain circumstances. Where such lands are proposed to be acquired, the tribunal has jurisdiction to act under sec. 32 (1) of the Act. 59 C. 1272=36 C. W.N. 848=1932 C. 844.

MEANING OF TERMS.—The words "power to alienate" in sec. 32 refer only to alienation to the Collector but not to alienations in general. 11 I.C. 304. Expenditure of money to save land comprised in the estate inherited by the widow from her husband, from an impending sale is not an investment "in the purchase of lands" within the meaning of the section. 41 I.C. 810=26 C.L.J. 123. Court-fee. See 39 C. 906=17 C.W.N. 933 =14 I.C. 724.

ACQUISITION OF HINDU WIDOW'S INTEREST. —The President of the Calcutta Improvement Trust has jurisdiction to re-invest money invested in G. P. Notes, being the compensation money in respect of the acquisition of the interest of a Hindu window, in the purchase of other lands, and, in this matter, he acts as a Judge and must exercise his function in a judicial manner and in the interest of the person for whom the money is held in trust. The primary consideration for the Court is the interest of the person for whose benefit the legislature has given the power. 60 C.L.J. 88=62 C. 154=1935 C. 29. See also 1929 L. 736.

PROCEDURE.—The Act does not lay down any procedure which is to be followed in the matter of re-investment in lands of money already deposited in G. P. Notes. But the Court should hear the person who is interested in the money, before it decides whether it is desirable or advantageous that the money which has remained invested in G. P. Notes, without any objection from any body, should be re-invested in the purchase of other lands in view of the grounds alleged by such person. 60 C.L.J. 88=1935 C. 29. The President of the Calcutta Improvement Tribunal has no jurisdiction under sec. 32 of the Act to issue a notice to a party to show cause why the compensation money invested in Government securities should not be re-invested in lands. Such a notice is also wrong in law. Where there is an investment of the compensation money in Government securities, already made as far back as 20 years, sec. 32 does not make a re-investment in land obligatory. 60 C.L.J. 227=1935 C. 248.

SEC. 32 (2): CONSTRUCTION—"REASONABLE CHARGES AND EXPENSES"—ATTORNEY.—As it was considered necessary to engage the services of an attorney for the purchase of lands advertised for sale by the Registrar of the High Court on the original side, by way of investment of money deposited in respect of acquired lands belonging to a person incompetent to alienate property, an attorney was engaged with the approval of the Special L.A. Judge. He made the necessary investigation as to the suitability, market value and title, and did other things incidental to the completion of the purchase. The attorney having submitted a bill of costs, held, that he was entitled to reasonable remuneration for the work done by him by way of "reasonable charges and expenses" within the meaning of sec. 32 (2) of the Act, and that the said charges and expenses were payable by the Collector, although the purchase was effected not immediately after the deposit but only subsequently. 39 C.W.N. 251=1935 C. 119.

Investment of money deposited in other cases.

33. When any money shall have been deposited in Court under this Act for any cause other than that mentioned in the last preceding section, the Court may, on the application of any party interested or claiming an interest in such money, order the same to be invested in such Government or other approved securities as it may think proper, and may direct the interest or other proceeds of any such investment to be accumulated and paid in such manner as it may consider will give the parties interested therein the same benefit therefrom as they might have had from the land in respect whereof such money shall have been deposited or as near thereto as may be.

Payment of interest.

34. When the amount of such compensation is not paid or deposited on or before taking possession of the land, the Collector shall pay the amount awarded with interest thereon at the rate of six per centum per annum from the time of so taking possession until it shall have been so paid or deposited.

PART VI.

TEMPORARY OCCUPATION OF LAND.

Temporary occupation of waste or arable land.

Procedure when difference as to compensation exists.

35. (1) Subject to the provisions of Part VII of this Act, whenever it appears to the Provincial Government that the temporary occupation and use of any waste or arable land are needed for any public purpose, or for a Company, the Provincial Government may direct the Collector to procure the occupation and use of the same for such term as it shall think fit, not exceeding three years from the commencement of such occupation.

(2) The Collector shall thereupon give notice in writing to the persons interested in such land of the purpose for which the same is needed, and shall, for the occupation and use thereof for such term as aforesaid, and for the materials (if any) to be taken therefrom, pay to them such compensation, either in a gross sum of money, or by monthly or other periodical payments as shall be agreed upon in writing between him and such persons respectively.

(3) In case the Collector and the persons interested differ as to the sufficiency of the compensation or apportionment thereof, the Collector shall refer such difference to the decision of the Court.

APPEAL.—See 6 O.C. 157; 29 M. 117. A decision that Hindu widow comes within the scope of sec. 32 hardly partakes of the character of a decree. The order would be revisable rather than appealable. I.L.R. (1945) Nag. 392=1945 N.L.J. 92=A.I.R. 1945 Nag. 115.

REVISION.—See 1937 M. 948=(1937) 2 M. L.J. 429.

SEC. 34.—The basis of this section is that the right to receive interest takes the place of the right to retain possession. 59 M. 433 =1936 M. 199=71 M.L.J. 69. A claimant is entitled to interest from the date on which the Collector took possession of the properties acquired up to the date on which compensation is paid or deposited. 106 I. C. 909. The award of a District Judge in L.A. proceedings has the same force as a decree of a Civil Court. Where such award does not mention interest, the Court executing the award has no power to grant the same. 9 Mys.L.J. 55. 'Deposited' means the actual fact of deposit in the place indicated in sec. 31 (2). The fact that a deposit made by the Collector was erroneous and was due to an error of judgment on his part as to whether the claimant is entitled to receive the money from his hands is immaterial. Even in such a case, no liability to pay interest would be incurred. 40 C. W.N. 989=165 I.C. 716 (2)=1936 C. 525. Under sec. 34, the claimant is entitled to interest at 6 per cent. per annum from the time of possesison by Government until the sum or compensation is paid or deposited and the mere existence of an agreement between the parties, that the claimant should take away the materials on the land to be acquired, does not disentitle the claimant to the statutory interest, unless it is shown that the consideration for that agreement was that the claimant should relinquish his statutory claim of interest. 19 Pat.L.T. 774 =1938 Pat. 266.

SECS. 35 AND 36 (2).—Temporary occupation when assessable—Compensation. 30 I.C. 245=37 A. 347.

Power to enter and take possession and compensation on restoration.

36. (1) On payment of such compensation, or on executing such agreement or on making a reference under section 35, the Collector may enter upon and take possession of the land, and use or permit the use thereof in accordance with the terms of the said notice.

(2) On the expiration of the term, the Collector shall make or tender to the persons interested compensation for the damage (if any) done to the land and not provided for by agreement, and shall restore the land to the persons interested therein:

Provided that, if the land has become permanently unfit to be used for the purpose for which it was used immediately before the commencement of such term, and if the persons interested shall so require, the Provincial Government shall proceed under this Act to acquire the land as if it was needed permanently for a public purpose or for a Company.

Difference as to condition of land.

37. In case the Collector and persons interested differ as to the condition of the land at the expiration of the term, or as to any matter connected with the said agreement, the Collector shall refer such difference to the decision of the Court.

PART VII.

ACQUISITION OF LAND FOR COMPANIES.

Company may be authorized to enter and survey.

38. (1) [1][* * * * * * * * * *]. The Provincial Government may authorize any officer of any Company desiring to acquire land for its purposes to exercise the powers conferred by section 4.

(2) In every such case section 4 shall be construed as if for the words "for such purpose" the words "for the purposes of the Company" were substituted; and section 5 shall be construed as if after the words "the officer" the words "of the Company" were inserted.

Industrial concern to be deemed company for certain purposes.

[2][38-A. An industrial concern, ordinarily employing not less than one hundred workmen owned by an individual or by an association of individuals and not being a Company, desiring to acquire land for the erection of dwelling-houses for workmen employed by the concern or for the provision of amenities directly connected therewith shall, so far as concerns the acquisition of such land, be deemed to be a Company for the purposes of this part, and the references to Company in sections 5-A, 6, 7, 17 and 50 shall be interpreted as references also to such concern.]

LEG. RE.

1 The words "Subject to such rules as the Governor-General of India in Council may from time to time prescribe in this behalf" were omitted by Act XXXVIII of 1920.

2 Newly added by Act XVI of 1933.

SEC. 38-A.—The necessity for the insertion of this new sec. 38-A has been explained as follows:—The L.A. Act, 1894, makes it possible, where the previous consent of the Local Government has been obtained, to acquire land compulsorily on behalf of companies, provided that the land is needed for a work "likely to prove useful to the public". The Royal Commission on Labour have recommended that the Act be so amended as to enable land to be thus acquired where it is needed for the housing of labour, either by companies or by other employees. They stated that, in a number of instances brought to their notice, land eminently suitable for the development of housing schemes ahd been held at random by the owners, fantastic values being placed upon it as a result of the construction of factories and other industrial concerns in the neighbourhood. The provision of adequate housing for workmen is one of the urgent needs of Indian industry, and the Bill seeks to give effect to the Commission recommendation. (Statement of Objects and Reasons.)

Previous consent of Provincial Government and execution of agreement necessary.

39. The provisions of sections 6 to 37 (both inclusive) shall not be put in force in order to acquire land for any Company, unless with the previous consent of the Provincial Government, nor unless the Company shall have excuted the agreement hereinafter mentioned.

Previous enquiry.

40. (1) Such consent shall not be given unless the Provincial Government be satisfied [1][either on the report of the Collector under section 5-A, sub-section (2), or] by an enquiry held as hereinafter provided,—

[2][(a) that the purpose of the acquisition is to obtain land for the erection of dwelling-houses for workmen employed by the Company or for the provision of amenities directly connected therewith, or

(b) that such acquisition is needed for the construction of some work, and that such work is likely to prove useful to the public.]

(2) Such enquiry shall be held by such officer and at such time and place as the Provincial Government shall appoint.

(3) Such officer may summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses and compel the production of documents by the same means and, as far as possible, in the same manner as is provided by the Code ofCivil Procedure in the case of a Civil Court.

Agreement with Provincial Government.

41. [3][* * * * * * * * ] If the Provincial Government is satisfied [3][after considering the report, if any, of the Collector under section 5-A, sub-section (2) or on the report of the officer making an enquiry under section 40], that [4][the purpose of the proposed acquisition is to obtain land for the erection of dwelling-houses for workmen employed by the Company or for the provision of amenities directly connected therewith, or that,] the proposed acquisition is needed for the construction of a work, and that such work is likely to prove useful to the public, it shall [5][ * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *] require the company to enter into an agreement with the [6][Provincial Government] providing to the satisfaction of the Provincial Government for the following matters, namely:—

(1) the payment to [7][the Provincial Government] of the cost of the acquisition;

(2) the transfer, on such payment, of the land to the Company;

(3) the terms on which the land shall be held by the Company;

LEG. REF.

[1] The words "either on the....or" were inserted by Act XXXVIII of 1923, sec. 9.

[2] Substituted by Act XVI of 1933. The old sub-cls. (a) and (b) stood as follows:

(a) that such acquisition is needed for the construction of some work, and

(b) that such work is likely to prove useful to the public.

[3] At the beginning of this section the words "Such officer shall report to the Local Government the result of the enquiry, and" were omitted by Act XXXVIII of 1923, sec. 10 and after the word "satisfied" the words "after considering the report.....under sec. 40" were inserted by the same Act.

[4] Inserted by Act XVI of 1933.

[5] The words "subject to such rules as the Governor-General of India in Council may from time to time prescribe in this behalf" were repealed by Act XXXVIII of 1920.

[6] Substituted by the A.O., 1937, for the words "Secretary of State for India in Council".

[7] Substituted by ibid for "Government".

SEC. 39.—In order to constitute a binding agreement the intention of the parties must be distinct and common to both. An agreement does not admit of difference. 58 C.L.J. 138. The L.A. Court gets jurisdiction only on a reference being made to it by the Collector, and its jurisdiction is confined to disposing of the matter so referred. It has no jurisdiction under the Act to consider the legality of the acquisition or of the reference. 99 I.C. 530=1927 M. 114.

[1][(4) where the acquisition is for the purpose of erecting dwelling houses or the provision of amenities connected therewith, the time within which, the conditions on which and the manner in which the dwelling-houses or amenities shall be erected or provided; and

(5) where the acquisition is for the construction of any other work, the time within which, and the condition on which, the work shall be executed and maintained, and the terms on which the public shall be entitled to use the work.]

Publication of agreement.

42. Every such agreement shall, as soon as may be after its execution, be published [2][* * * * * * *] in the Official Gazette and shall thereupon (so far as regards the terms on which the public shall be entitled to use the work) have the same effect as if it had formed part of this Act.

Sections 39 to 42 not to apply where Government bound by agreement to provide land for companies.

43. The provisions of sections 39 to 42, both inclusive, shall not apply and the corresponding sections of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, shall be deemed never to have applied, to the acquisition of land for any Railway or other Company, for the purposes of which, under any agreement [3][with such company, the Secretary of State for India in Council, the Secretary of State, or any Government in British India is, or was,] bound to provide land.

How agreement with Railway Company may be proved.

44. In the case of the acquisition of land for the purposes of a Railway Company, the existence of such an agreement as is mentioned in section 43 may be proved by the production of a printed copy thereof purporting to be printed by order of Government.

PART VIII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Service of notices.

45. (1) Service of any notice under this Act shall be made by delivering or tendering a copy thereof signed, in the case of a notice under section 4, by the officer therein mentioned, and, in the case of any other notice, by or by order of the Collector or the Judge.

(2) Whenever it may be practicable, the service of the notice shall be made on the person therein named.

(3) When such person cannot be found, this service may be made on any adult male member of his family residing with him; and, if no such adult male member can be found, the notice may be served by fixing the copy on the outer door of the house in which the person therein named ordinarily dwells or carries on business, or by fixing a copy thereof in some conspicuous place in the office of the officer aforesaid or of the Collector or in the Court-house, and also in some conspicuous part of the land to be acquired:

LEG. REF.

1 Substituted by Act XVI of 1933. The old cls. (4) and (5) stood as follows:—

(4) the time within which, and the condition on which, the work shall be executed and maintained; and

(5) the terms on which the public shall be entitled to use the work.

2 Omitted by A.O., 1937.

3 Substituted by ibid.

SEC. 43.—In view of the provision in sec. 43 of the Land Acquisition Act that Ch. VII of the Act does not apply to the case of acquisition of land for a railway, such land is presumably acquired by the Government under the earlier sections of the Act, and becomes the property of the Government and not the property of the Railway Company. I.L.R. (1937) All. 511=1937 A.L.J. 249=1937 All. 428.

SEC. 45: NOTICE UNDER SEC. 9—SENT BY REGISTERED POST—IF VALID SERVICE.—A notice under sec. 9 may be validly served by sending by registered post to the person concerned, if the Collector or Judge so directs, under sec. 45 of the Act. 46 Bom.L.R. 696 =1945 Bom. 49.

SEC. 45 (3).—Temporary absence of a person to be served with notice, does not fall within the words "cannot be found" in cl. (3), sec. 45. 50 I.C. 70=17 A.L.J. 268.

Provided that, if the Collector or Judge shall so direct, a notice may be sent by post, in a letter addressed to the person named therein at his last known residence, address or place of business and registered under Part III of the [1][Indian Post Office Act, 1866, and service of it may be proved by the production of the addressee's receipt.

Penalty for obstructing acquisition of land.

46. Whoever wilfully obstructs any person in doing any of the acts authorised by section 4 or section 8, or wilfully fills up, destroys, damages or displaces any trench or mark made under section 4, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding one month, or to fine not exceeding fifty rupees, or to both.

Magistrate to enforce surrender.

47. If the Collector is opposed or impeded in taking possession under this Act of any land, he shall, if a Magistrate, enforce the surrender of the land to himself, and, if not a Magistrate, he shall apply to a Magistrate or (within the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay) to the Commissioner of Police, and such Magistrate or Commissioner (as the case may be) shall enforce the surrender of the land to the Collector.

Completion of acquisition not compulsory, but compensation to be awarded when not completed.

48. (1) Except in the case provided for in section 36, the Government shall be at liberty to withdraw from the acquisition of any land of which possession has not been taken.

(2) Whenever the Government withdraws from any such acquisition, the Collector shall determine the amount of compensation due for the damages suffered by the owner in consequence of the notice or of any proceedings thereunder, and shall pay such amount to the person interested, together with all costs reasonably incurred by him in the prosecution of the proceedings under this Act relating to the said land.

(3) The provisions of Part III of this Act shall apply, so far as may be to the determination of the compensation payable under this section.

49. (1) The provisions of this Act shall not be put in force for the pur-

SEC. 48.—The power of withdrawal given to the Government by sec. 48 does not render the agreement void for want of mutuality. 44 B. 797=58 I.C. 621=21 Bom. L.R. 1014. Where the Government decides to withdraw from the acquisition but no notification under sec. 48 (1) is issued as required by r. 5 of the rules framed under the Act, it is open to the Government to proceed with the acquisition if it changes its opinion as to withdrawal. A renotification under secs. 4 and 6 of the Act is not necessary and the acquisition would be quite lawful. (1946) 1 M.L.J. 337=59 L.W. 245. Sec. 48 of the Land Acquisition Act does not apply to the case in which there is no voluntary withdrawal by the Government but the proceedings come to an end by reason of a decree declaring the proceedings invalid. In such a case the proceedings automatically drop and the aggrieved party is left to choose his remedy in the ordinary Civil Courts. The Act does not provide a cheap remedy for such a grievance. The jurisdiction exercised by the Civil Court under the Act is a restricted one and the Court has no right to widen it and to act in contravention of the Act. 177 I.C. 958=1938 N.L.J. 54=1938 Nag. 169. The power to award compensation under sec. 48 (2) is conferred on the Collector and not on the Court; and the Court can have no jurisdiction unless the Collector in the first instance made an award and made a reference under Part III of the Act. 1938 N.L.J. 54=1938 Nag. 169. When proceedings are taken on behalf of a Municipal Board, the Board cannot withdraw, but the Government can. 51 I.C. 501=16 A. L.J. 669. There is nothing in this section to indicate or suggest that it is not open to the acquiring authority to make acquisition of any portion of the land in respect of which notice under sec. 9 has been issued. 41 C.W.N. 437. After acquisition and taking over possession there can be no withdrawal—Property must be reconveyed by Government to the owner to reinstate him in its ownership. 1927 R. 14=4 R. 291.

SEC. 49: RIGHT UNDER—WHEN AVAILABLE. —Sec. 49 requires that the claimant should be "owner" of the land to be acquired as well as of the house, manufactory or building of which he maintains it to be a part. Unity of ownership is a necessary pre-requisite. 45 C.W.N. 370=1941 Cal. 625=197 I.C. 365.

Acquisition of part of house or building.

pose of acquiring a part only of any house, manufactory or other building, if the owner desire that the whole of such house, manufactory or building shall be so acquired:

Provided that the owner may, at any time before the Collector has made his award under section 11, by notice in writing, withdraw or modify his expressed desire that the whole of such house, manufactory or building shall be so acquired:

Provided also that, if any question shall arise as to whether any land proposed to be taken under this Act does or does not form part of a house, manufactory or building within the meaning of this section, the Collector shall refer the determination of such question to the Court and shall not take possession of such land until after the question has been determined.

In deciding on such a reference the Court shall have regard to the question whether the land proposed to be taken is reasonably required for the full and unimpaired use of the house, manufactory or building.

(2) If, in the case of any claim under section 23, sub-section (1) thirdly, by a person interested, on account of the severing of the land to be acquired from his other land, the Provincial Government is of opinion that the claim is unreasonable or excessive, it may, at any time before the Collector has made his award, order the acquisition of the whole of the land of which the land first sought to be acquired forms a part.

(3) In the case last hereinbefore provided for, no fresh declaration or other proceedings under sections 6 to 10, both inclusive, shall be necessary; but the Collector shall without delay furnish a copy of the order of the Provincial Government to the person interested, and shall thereafter proceed to make his award under section 11.

MEANING OF TERMS.—'House' includes godowns pertaining to it and used for servants' dwelling. 37 I.C. 11=43 C. 665. An under-tenant is a person interested in the acquisition of land and so an "owner" for the purpose of sec. 49 and is competent to apply for a reference to the Civil Court. 13 I.C. 470=16 C.W.N. 927. The expression "owner" which occurs in sec. 49 of the Act is nowhere defined in the Act, and though the expression "person interested" as explained in sec. (3) (b) must obviously include "owner", the connotation of the two terms are by no means coincident. A "person interested" who cannot be strictly considered an owner, cannot avail himself of the rights conferred by sec. 49. The rights of a zamindar, a tenure-holder, the holder of a building lease, an occupancy raiyat, may conceivably ulfil the conception of ownership within the meaning of sec. 49 in certain circumstances. But each case must depend upon its own special facts. 45 C.W.N. 370= 1941 Cal. 625. "Award" means compensation in some form or other, whether it be the amount or its disposal. 23 C.W.N. 378 =50 I.C. 732=46 C. 861. The decision of a preliminary question raised on a reference under sec. 49 is not an award. (Ibid.) "Award or any part of the award" in sec. 54 means the decision or any part thereof as embodied in a formal document and would not include the judgment on which it is based. So it does not include the decision of the Court on a reference under sec. 49. 17 I.C. 117 (27 M. 353; 30 A. 176; 10 C.W.N. 250, Cons.). A decision under sec. 49 will not prevent a claimant from obtaining compensation for severance under sec. 23, sub-sec. (1), cl. (3). 17 I.C. 117. Acquisition of a portion of land—Owner desiring acquisition of whole—Fresh declaration—Effect. 28 I.C. 489=17 Bom.L.R. 192.

SEC. 49 (1) AND (2): APPLICABILITY AND SCOPE.—It cannot be held that sec. 49 (2) only applies to houses or buildings. Sec. 49 (1) applies to acquiring a part of a house, manufactory or other building, and compels the Local Government to acquire the whole of the same if the owner desires it. It does not give them the option which under sec. 49 (2) they possess in the case of an open plot of land. I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 217=196 I.C. 285=1941 Sind 152.

APPEAL.—No appeal lies to the High Court from an order of the Judge on a reference under sec. 49 which does not amount to an award. 23 C.W.N. 378=50 I.C. 732=46 C. 861. The order of Court on a reference by the Collector under sec. 49, proviso should be regarded as a decree from which an appeal lies to the High Court. 1931 M.W.N. 1266 =55 Mad. 391=1932 M. 55.

REVISION.—The refusal of a Collector to make a reference to the Civil Court, under the second proviso to sec. 49, the question whether the land proposed to be acquired did or did not form part of the petitioner's house, is a ministerial act, and the Collector does not thereby constitute himself a Court subordinate to the High Court. His order is, therefore, not subject to revision by the Acquisition of land at cost of a local authority or company.

50. (1) Where the provisions of this Act are put in force for the purpose acquiring land at the cost of any fund controlled or managed by a local authority or of any Company, the charges of and incident to such acquisition shall be defrayed from or by such fund or Company.

(2) In any proceeding held before a Collector or Court in such cases the local authority or Company concerned may appear and adduce evidence for the purpose of determining the amount of compensation:

Provided that no such local authority or Company shall be entitled to demand a reference under section 18.

Exemption from stamp-duty and fees.

51. No award or agreement made under this Act shall be chargeable with stamp-duty, and no person claiming under any such award or agreement shall be liable to pay any fee for a copy of the same.

Notice in case of suits for anything done in pursuance of Act.

52. No suit or other proceeding shall be commenced or prosecuted against any person for anything done in pursuance of this Act, without giving to such person a month's previous notice in writing of the intended proceeding, and of the cause thereof, nor after tender of sufficient amends.

Code of Civil Procedure to apply to proceedings before Court.

53. Save in so far as they may be inconsistent with anything contained in this Act, the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure shall apply to all proceedings before the Court under this Act.

High Court. 1938 Rang.L.R. 623=1939 Rang. 6.

SEC. 50.—Company or other local authority of a person interested and can ask for reference. I.L.R. (1939) 2 Cal. 401=43 C.W.N. 973=1939 Cal. 669. From sec. 50, it is clear that the party for whom the land is acquired can only assist the Collector on the question of the amount of compensation to be paid to the claimant. It cannot apparently assist the Collector on the question of the area acquired, though this may affect the amount of the compensation. The Secretary of State through the Collector is therefore a necessary party to an appeal to the High Court as well as to the proceedings before the District Judge. 1936 L. 564. See also 13 C.W.N. 116=4 I.C. 332. Persons not made parties to the reference need not be added by the Civil Court. 7 I.C. 10. Purchaser of property, at revenue sale added as a party—Revisional powers of High Court. See 6 I.C. 546=11 C.L.J. 420. A suit filed against the Provincial Government and the Nagpur Improvement Trust for a declaration that certain land acquisition proceedings for the purposes of the Trust are illegal, is not liable to be dismissed as against the Government for the reason that it is barred by limitation as against the Trust, when the suit is within time as against the Government. The plaintiff could have sued the Government alone, without claiming any relief against the Trust and the Trust was a proper party rather than a necessary party to the suit. I.L.R. (1945) Nag. 300=1945 N.L.J. 183=1945 Nag. 129.

SEC. 50 (2) AND SEC. 18.—A company or local authority on whose behalf land is being acquired is a "person interested" within the meaning of sec. 3 (b) of the Act, if it has an interest in the lands that are the subject of acquisition, and it has, therefore, a right to demand a reference under sec. 18 of the Act. This right is not taken away by the proviso to sec. 50 (2) of the Act. The proper interpretation of the proviso to sec. 50 (2) is that it relates only to that subsection and makes it clear that a company or local authority has not been granted a power to demand a reference as to compensation, by virtue of the power given therein to appear and adduce evidence before the Collector or the Court on the subject. It does not, therefore, take away the rights which the company or the local authority might enjoy as claimants or persons interested under sec. 18 of the Act. I.L.R. (1939) 2 Cal. 401=43 C.W.N. 973=1939 Cal. 669.

SECS. 50 AND 54.—Right of appeal—Acquisition at the instance of Municipal Committee—Proceedings on reference—Government discharged—Subsequent order of compensation under sec. 48 against Municipal Committee—Appeal by latter is incompetent. See 1938 N.L.J. 54=1938 Nag. 169.

SEC. 52: APPLICABILITY OF SECTION.—Sec. 52 does not apply to proceedings commenced by an owner of property to restrain the Calcutta Corporation and Improvement Trust from taking further steps in some pending land acquisition proceedings. 66 I. C. 600=48 I.C. 916=1921 C. 159.

SEC. 53: SCOPE OF SECTION.—Sec. 53 has the operation of putting proceedings before the Court on the same footing as proceedings in a suit. 36 B. 360=15 I.C. 512=14 Bom.L.R. 325.

[1][54. Subject to the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, applicable to appeals from original decrees, and notwithstanding anything to the contrary in any enactment for the time being in force, an appeal shall only lie in any proceedings under this Act, to the High Court from the award, or Appeals in proceedings before Court.

LEG. REF.

[1] Submitted by Act X of 1921, sec. 3.

APPLICABILITY.—Sec. 53 applies to an earlier stage in the proceedings before an award and has nothing to do with an appeal from the High Court. 39 I.A. 197=40 C. 21=23 M.L.J. 276=16 .C. 188 (P.C.). An appeal does not exist in the nature of things. A right of appeal from any decision of any tribunal must be given by statute. 40 C. 21 (P.C.). The section confers on the High Court only an authority to hear appeals from awards. It does not confer any power to act as a Court of appeal from the decrees of the Court specially constituted under the Local Rules. 54 M. 722=61 M. L.J. 312=1931 M.W.N. 290=33 L.W. 528 =1931 M. 586. In cases of acquisition of immovable property under sec. 10 of the Ancient Monuments Preservation Act, 1914, an appeal lies from the award of the Court under secs. 53 and 54 of the L.A. Act. 42 B. 100=43 I.C. 480=19 Bom.L.R. 937. Whether under the Act proceedings by way of execution can be taken to enforce the award, see 31 M.L.J. 827=38 I.C. 373=5 L.W. 472. On this section see 35 B. 146=8 I.C. 166; 22 B. 802; 36 B. 360=14 Bom.L.R. 325 (Second appeal). Award under the Act is not a decree or order capable of execution under C.P. Code. 35 B. 146=8 I.C. 166 =12 Bom.L.R. 839.

AWARD AND DECREE—DISTINCTION—APPEAL.—An award is nothing but a statement of the area of land, the compensation to be allowed and the apportionment among the persons interested in the land of whose claims the Collector has information. But when the sum has been deposited in Court under sec. 31, sub-sec. (2), the function of the award has ceased and the decision of a Court on the subsequent dispute between interested people as to the extent of their interests is not an award but a decree, from which no appeal is competent. 33 L.W. 528 =54 M. 722=1931 M. 586. See also 56 M.L.J. 378. The decision of a Court as to the right of the contending parties on a reference under sec. 30 of the Act is not an "award" within the meaning of sec. 54 of the Act and an appeal does not lie to the High Court from such a decision, but such a decision is a "decree" within the meaning of sec. 2 (2) of the C.P. Code and an appeal lies from it under sec. 96 of the same Code, which is made applicable to proceedings under the Act. As the appeal is under the C.P. Code and not under the L.A. Act, the forum of the appeal from such a decision of a subordinate Judge will not always be the High Court, but will depend upon the amount involved in the appeal. [49 I.A. 129; 45 M. 320 (P.C.), Ref. to.] See 54 M. 722=1931 M. 586. The Court-fee payable on such an appeal is the ad valorem fee under Art. I of the Sch. I of the Court-Fees Act. Where there was nothing as an award by the Civil Court, the High Court can only interfere by way of revision. 11 I.C. 690 =7 N.L.R. 88. Sec. 54 indicates that an appeal shall be only from the award or any part of the award. The addition of the word "only" after appeal must be taken to signify that the Legislature intended that an appeal should not be from any order unless such an order can be construed as an award. The words "in any proceeding" in the section do not have the effect of extending the right of appeal. 54 C. 712=102 I. C. 479=1927 C. 533; 59 M. 554=1936 M. 514=71 M.L.J. 76. (2), cl. (1) of that section. 104 I.C. 397 (and cases referred to therein). Sec. 54 makes no departure from the ordinary rule of the C. P. Code that the memorandum of objections should not be confined to the subject-matter of the appeal. 35 M.L.J. 83=48 I.C. 1003. Collector is a necessary party in an appeal to High Court. See 166 I.C. 575=1936 Lah. 564. As to appeal from a decision on reference under sec. 32 (2), see 17 Luck. 506 =1942 Oudh 141.

SPECIAL CASES.—Where a District Judge dismissed a reference as time barred, no appeal lies to the High Court against his order. 39 I.C. 637 (1). An order passed on an application for setting aside a decision by the L.A. Judge ex parte as the claimant was not present when the case was called is not appealable as the order is not an award. 15 I.C. 925=39 C. 393. No appeal lies from the dismissal of an application to set aside an ex parte award made in the course of L.A. proceedings. (39 C. 393 and 54 C. 312, Foll.; 11 C.W.N. 430, Diss.) 59 C. 1057=1932 C. 558. So the memorandum of appeal from an application to set aside an ex parte award cannot be converted into a memorandum of appeal from the award itself, when the latter has become barred by time. 59 C. 1057=36 C.W.N. 352=1932 C. 558. An order directing refund of the money paid as compensation under the Act is not an award or a portion of an award within sec. 54 and hence is not appealable. But it may be revised if the order be passed without jurisdiction. 63 I.C. 1=3 Lah.L.J. 421=1921 L. 153. Award giving compensation to three persons in certain shares—Objections by them regarding amount—Reference made by Collector—Two of them absent——Decree passed in favour of person who appeared and case of others dismissed for default—Restoration petition dismissed —Appeal—Revision. 1935 Pesh. 92. SECS. 54 AND 26.—The word "only" in sec. 54 does not restrict the right of appeal but is intended to make it celar that the forum of appeal in land acquisition cases is always the High Court and that section does not affect the right of appeal from the judgment of one Judge to a Division Bench under cl. 10 of the Letters Patent. Sec. 26 clearly makes the award of a Civil Court a judgment and decree, and it necessarily follows that the decision of the High Court on appeal from such judgment and decree is also a judgment and decree. An Act to provide for cases in which Mines or Minerals are situate under land which it is desired to acquire under the Land Acquisition Act, 1870.[1]

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for cases in which mines or minerals are situate under land which it is desired to acquire under the Land Acquisition Act, 1870;[1] It is hereby enacted as follows:

Short title, commencement and local extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE LAND ACQUISITION (MINES) ACT, 1885; and

(2) It shall come into force at once.

(3) It extends in the first instance to the territories administered by the Governor of Madras in Council and the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal; but any other Provincial Government may, from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, extend this Act to the whole or any specified part of the territories under its administration.

Saving for mineral rights of the Crown.

2. Except as expressly provided by this Act, nothing in this Act shall affect the right of [2][the Crown] to any mines or minerals.

Declaration that mines are not needed.

3. (1) When the Provincial Government makes a declaration under section 6 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870,[3] that land is needed for a public purpose or for a Company, it may, if it thinks fit, insert in the declaration a statement that the mines of coal, iron-stone, slate or other minerals lying under the land or any particular portion of the land, except only such parts of the mines or minerals as it may be necessary to dig or carry away or use in the construction of the work for the purpose of which the land is being acquired, are not needed.

(2) When a statement as aforesaid has not been inserted in the declaration made in respect of any land under section 6 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870,[3] and the Collector is of opinion that the provisions of this Act ought to be applied to the land, he may abstain from tendering compensation under section 11[4] of the said Land Acquisition Act in respect of the mines, and may—

(a) when he makes an award under section 14[5] of that Act, insert such a statement in his award;

(b) when he makes a reference to the Court under section 15[5] of that Act, insert such a statement in his reference; or

(c) when he takes possession of the land under section 17[6] of that Act, publish such a statement in such manner as the Provincial Government may, from time to time, prescribe.

(3) If any such statement is inserted in the declaration, award or reference, or published as aforesaid, the mines of coal iron-stone, slate or other minerals under the land or portion of the land specified in the statement, except as aforesaid, shall vest in [1][the Crown] when the land so vests under the said Act.

SEC. 1.—The principle of sec. 23 (2) of the Land Acquisition Act is not applicable to acquisitions under this Act. 15 Pat. 510 =17 Pat.L.T. 279=1936 Pat. 513.

SEC. 3 (1): EXCEPTION TO RESERVATION —CONSTRUCTION.—The words "except only such parts as it may be necessary to dig .....in the construction of the work, for the purpose of which the land is being acquired" in sec. 3 (1) of the Land Acquisition (Mines) Act, should be narrowly construed so as to include only such parts of the minerals as may be actually necessary to dig in constructing the work. SECS. 3 AND 7: "MINERALS LYING UNDER" —MEANING OF—MINERALS LYING BENEATH ADJACENT LAND.—The expression "minerals lying under the land" used in the Land Acquisition (Mines) Act, can mean nothing else than minerals lying vertically under the land. The natural meaning of the words "lying under" or under-lying" (between which there is no difference) is lying vertically under. Minerals beneath or under adjacent land cannot be included. 72 I.A. 11 =47 Bom.L.R. 621=I.L.R. (1945) Kar. 127 P.C.=1945 P.C. 56=49 C.W.N. 295=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 249 (P.C.).

Notice to be given before working mines lying under land.

4. If the person for the time being immediately entitled to work or get any mines or minerals lying under any land so acquired is desirous of working or getting the same, he shall give the Provincial Government notice in writing of his intention so to do sixty days before the commencement of working.

Power to prevent or restrict working.

5. (1) At any time or times after the receipt of a notice under the last foregoing section and whether before or after the expiration of the said period of sixty days, the Provincial Government may cause the mines or minerals to be inspected by a person appointed by it for the purpose; and

(2) If it appears to the Provincial Government that the working or getting of the mines or minerals, or any part thereof, is likely to cause damage to the surface of the land or any works thereon, the Provincial Government may publish [2][* * *] a declaration of its willingness, either—

(a) to pay compensation for the mines or minerals still unworked or ungotten, or that part thereof, to all persons having an interest in the same; or

(b) to pay compensation to all such persons in consideration of those mines or minerals, or that part thereof, being worked or gotten in such manner and subject to such restrictions as the Provincial Government may in its declaration specify.

(3) If the declaration mentioned in case (a) is made, then those mines or minerals, or that part thereof, shall not thereafter be worked or gotten by any person.

(4) If the declaration mentioned in case (b) is made, then those mines or minerals, or that part thereof, shall not thereafter be worked or gotten by any person save in the manner and subject to the restrictions specified by the Provincial Government.

[3][(5) Every declaration made under this section shall be published in such manner as the Provincial Government may direct.]

Mode of determining persons interested and amount of compensation.

6. When the working or getting of any mines or minerals has been prevented or restricted under section 5, the persons interested in those mines or minerals and the amounts of compensation payable to them respectively shall, subject to all necessary modifications, be ascertained

LEG REF.

1 Substituted by A.O., 1937, for "the Government".

2 The words "in such manner as the Governor-General in Council may from time to time direct", were repealed by Act XXXVIII of 1920, sec. 2 and Sch. I.

3 Inserted by ibid.

SEC. 5.—Whenever the Government makes a declaration under sec. 5 (2), the working of the mines is restricted for all time and "by any person", and Government becomes liable to compensate all persons having an interest in the working of the mine and thus affected by the restrictions imposed. The compensation is thus in no case restricted to the actual worker. The restrictions which are imposed must ex necessitate rei be permanent. Having regard to the scheme of the Act, piecemeal dealing with the total interest in the coal is not contemplated, and the embargo which is to be perpetual involves payment of compensation to all interests affected. The moment the declaration is made, the full amount of compensation becomes payable by reason of the coal coming under a perpetual embargo. 15 Pat. 510=17 Pat.L.T. 279=1936 Pat. 513.

SECS. 5 AND 6: SCOPE AND EFFECT OF.—The object of the Land Acquisition (Mines) Act is that all persons interested shall be compensated when the person entitled to work the mines has been restricted. The effect of secs. 5 and 6 of the Act is merely to provide that the restriction shall not be imposed unless the Government be willing to compensate all persons interested. The obligation to compensate follows upon the imposition of the restrictions and is not dependent on an announcement by the Government that they are willing to pay such compensation. The effective part of the declaration is the restriction which would have in the manner provided by the Land Acquistion Act, 1870,[1] for ascertaining the persons interesed in the land to be acquired under that Act, and the amounts of compensation payable to them, respectively.

If Provincial Government does not offer to pay compensation, mines may be worked in a proper manner.

7. (1) If before the expiration of the said sixty days the Provincial Government does not publish a declaration as provided in section 5, the owner, lessee or occupier of the mines may, unless and until such a declaration is subsequently made, work the mines or any part thereof in a manner proper and necessary for the beneficial working thereof, and according to the usual manner of working such mines in the local area where the same are situate.

(2) If any damage or obstruction is caused to the surface of the land or any works thereon by improper working of the mines, the owner, lessee or occupier of the mines shall at once, at his own expense, repair the damage or remove the obstruction, as the case may require.

(3) If the repair or removal is not at once effected, or, if the Provincial Government so thinks fit, without waiting for the same to be effected by the owner, lessee or occupier, the Provincial Government may execute the same and recover from the owner, lessee or occupier the expense occasioned thereby.

Mining communications.

8. If the working of any mines is prevented or restricted under section 5, the respective owners, lessees and occupiers of the mines, if their mines extend so as to lie on both sides of the mines the working of which is prevented or restricted, may cut and make such and so many airways, headways, gateways or water-levels through the mines, measure or strata, the working whereof is prevented or restricted, as may be requisite to enable them to ventilate, drain and work their said mines; but no such airway, headway, gateway or water-level shall be of greater dimensions or section than may be prescribed by the Provincial Government in this behalf, and, where no dimensions are so prescribed, not greater than eight feet wide and eight feet high, nor shall the same be cut or made upon any part of the surface or works, or so as to injure the same, or to interfere with the use thereof.

Provincial Government to pay compensation for injury done to mines;

9. The Provincial Government shall, from time to time, pay to the owner, lessee or occupier of any such mines extending so as to lie on both sides of the mines, the working of which is prevented, or restricted, all such additional expenses and losses as may be incurred by him by reason of the severance of the lands lying over those mines or of the continuous working of those mines being interrupted as aforesaid, or by reason of effect against the whole world. 15 Pat. 510 =17 Pat.L.T. 279=1936 Pat. 513.

SEC. 6: COMPENSATION—AWARD OF LUMP SUM ON ARBITRATION.—When the compensation payable under sec. 6 has been arrived at by arbitration proceedings and awarded in a lump sum, it is not permissible to go into evidence in order to explain the award, although it may well be that there has been an over-payment. 15 Pat. 510=17 Pat.T. T. 279=1936 Pat. 513.

MINES WORKED BY LESSEE UNDER LOYALTY HOLDERS—COMPENSATION FOR.—In the case of mines worked by a lessee under royalty holders, the amount of compensation jointly payable to the royalty holders and the lessee cannot exceed in the aggregate the value of the coal locked up, which would otherwise have been raised and sold, less the working costs. The value so ascertained has to be divided up amongst the claimants, each of the lessors or royalty holders taking out of such sum his appropriate royalty, and the balance going to the lessee working the mine as his profit. The payment by the Government of the whole amount of compensation to one of the several claimants is no defence to a claim by another claimant who has lost his profit by reason of the restrictions imposed by the Government. 15 Pat. 510=17 Pat.L.T. 279=1936 Pat. 513.

AMOUNT OF COMPENSATION—PRIVATE AGREEMENT AS TO—ENFORCEABILITY.—Notwithstanding the provisions of sec. 6, it is competent for the parties to enter into an agreement as to the amount of compensation payable under the Act, and an agreement so made can be enforced in the ordinary way. 15 Pat. 510=17 Pat.L.T. 279=1936 Pat. 513.

SEC. 7.—See 72 I.A. 11=I.L.R. 1945 Kar. P.C. 127=1945 P.C. 56=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 249 (P.C.), cited under sec. 3, *supra.

the same being worked in such manner and under such restrictions as not to prejudice or injure the surface or works, and for any minerals not acquired by the Provincial Government which cannot be obtained by reason of the action taken under the foregoing section; and if any dispute or question arises between the Provincial Government and the owner, lessee or occupier as aforesaid, touching the amount of those losses or expenses the same shall be settled as nearly as may be in the manner provided for the settlement of questions touching the amount of compensation payable under the Land Acquisition Act, 1870.[1] and also for injury arising from any airway or other work.

10. If any loss or damage is sustained by the owner or occupier of the lands lying over any such mines, the working whereof has been so prevented or restricted as aforesaid (and not being the owner, lessee or occupier of those mines), by reason of the making of any such airway or other works as aforesaid, which or any like work it would not have been necessary to make but for the working of the mines having been so prevented or restricted as aforesaid, the Provincial Government shall pay full compensation to that owner or occupier of the surface lands for the loss or damage so sustained by him.

Power to officer of Provincial Government to enter and inspect the working of mines.

11. For better ascertaining whether any mines lying under land acquired in accordance with the provisions of this Act are being worked, or have been worked, or are likely to be worked so as to damage the land or the works thereon, an officer appointed for this purpose by the Provincial Government may, after giving twenty-four hours notice in writing, enter into and return from any such mines or the works connected therewith; and for that purpose the officer so appointed may make use of any apparatus or machinery belonging to the owner, lessee or occupier of the mines, and use all necessary means for discovering the distance from any part of the land acquired to the parts of the mines which have been, are being or are about to be worked.

Penalty for refusal to allow inspection.

12. If any owner, lessee or occupier of any such mines or works refuses to allow any officer appointed by the Provincial Government for that purpose to enter into and inspect any such mines or works in manner aforesaid, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

If mines worked contrary to provisions of this Act, Provincial Government may require means to be adopted for safety of land acquired.

13. If it appears that any such mines have been worked contrary to the provisions of this Act, the Provincial Government may, if it thinks fit, give notice to the owner, lessee or occupier thereof to construct such works and to adopt such means as may be necessary or proper for making safe the land acquired, and the works thereon, and preventing injury thereto; and if, after such notice, any such owner, lessee or occupier does not forthwith proceed to construct the works necessary for making safe the land acquired and the works thereon, the Provincial Government may itself construct the works and recover the expense thereof from the owner, lessee or occupier.

Construction of Act when land acquired has been transferred to a local authority or Company.

14. When a statement under section 3 has been made regarding any land, and the land has been acquired by the Government, and has been transferred to, or has vested, by operation of law, in a local authority or Company, then sections 4 to 13, both inclusive, shall be read as if for the words "the Provincial Government" wherever they occur in those sections [2][except in section 5, sub-section (5), and section

(2) When the duty on such goods has been paid or the goods have been found by the Land Customs Officer to be free of duty, the Land Customs Officer shall grant a permit certifying that duty has been paid on such goods or that the goods are free of duty, as the case may be.

(3) Any Land Customs Officer, duly empowered by the Chief Customs authority in this behalf, may require any person in charge of any goods which such Officer has reason to believe to have been imported, or to be about to be exported, by land from, or to, any foreign territory to produce the permit granted for such goods; and any such goods which are dutiable and which are unaccompanied by a permit or do not correspond with the specification contained in the permit produced, shall be detained and shall be liable to confiscation:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to any imported goods passing from a foreign frontier to a land customs station by a route prescribed in that behalf.

(4) The Chief Customs authority may, by notification[1] in the Official Gazette, direct that the provisions of this section, or any specified provisions thereof, shall not, in any land customs area specified in the notification, apply in respect of goods of any class or value so specified.

Personal baggage.

6. A Land Customs Officer empowered in this behalf by the Chief Customs authority shall pass free of duty any goods imported or exported by land by any passenger, if he is satisfied that the goods are the passenger's personal baggage in actual use.

Penalties.

7. [2][(1)] Any person who—

(a) in any case in which the permit referred to in section 5 is required, passes or attempts to pay any goods by land out of or into any foreign territory through any land customs station without such permit; or

(b) conveys or attempts to convey to or from any foreign territory or to or from any land customs station any goods by a route other than the route, if any, prescribed for such pasasge under this Act; or shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding, where the goods are not dutiable fifty or, where the goods or any of them are dutiable, one thousand rupees, and any dutiable goods in respect of which the offences has been committed shall be liable to confiscation.

(c) aids in so passing or conveying any goods or, knowing that any goods have been so passed or conveyed, keeps or conceals such goods or permits or procures them to be kept or concealed;

2 Sec. 7 has been numbered as sub-sec. (1) and sub-secs. (2) and (3) newly added by Act XIX of 1931.

SEC. 7: CARRYING NON-DUTIABLE GOODS WITHOUT PERMIT—ENQUIRY INTO OFFENCE.—Where a person carries non-dutiable goods from foreign territory to British territory without a permit, the offence if any, would be one to be dealt with only by the Land Customs Officer himself under sec. 7 and would not constitute an offence for which a complaint could be made to a Magistrate. 1933 M. 888 (2)=65 M.L.J. 837.

SEC. 7 (1) (c): ONUS.—The onus is on the prosecution to prove that the goods were taken by land from foreign territory to British territory at a time when such goods are dutiable. 1933 M. 888 (2)=65 M.L.J. 837. When a person is charged for an offence under sec. 7 (1) (c) of the Land Customs Act the onus is on the prosecution to show that dutiable goods had been taken by land form a foreign territory. Where the case for the prosecution was that the accused had previously purchased certain bars of silver in Karaikal, had arranged to bring them to a place in British India and was caught in the processs of removing them from that place to another place in British India, (2) that in the case of non-dutiable was not liable to be convicted in the absence of proof that the goods had been passed by land from the French territory into British India. (2) that in the case of non-dutiable goods, for which the accused had no permit, the offence could be dealt with only by the Land Customs Officer under sec. 7 and would not constitute an offence for which a complaint could be made to a Magistrate. Where the confession of the accused is the only evidence against him, it must be taken as a whole and nothing can be read into it which is not contained there. 65 M.L.J. 837=1933 M. 888 (2).

[1][(2) Where any dutiable goods, or any goods in respect of which a notification under sectio n19 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, prohibiting the bringing or taking by land of such goods into British India or any specified part thereof, has been issued, are passed by land out of any foreign territory and the Land Customs Officer is of opinion that an offence under sub-section (1) has been committed in respect of such goods and that the penalty provided in that sub-section is inadequate, he may make a complaint to a magistrate having jurisdiction.

(3) Such magistrate shall thereupon inquire into and try the charge brought against the accused person and, upon conviction. may sentence him to imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to six months, or to fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, or to both, and may confiscate the goods in respect of which the offence has been committed.]

Goods not to be passed on certain days or at certain times.

8. No goods other than personal baggage or goods belong to [2][the Crown] or mails shall be delivered or passed at any land customs station, except with the special permission of the Land Customs Officer in charge thereof,—

(a) on any public holiday within the meaning of section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, or on any day on which the passage and delivery of goods at such land customs station has been prohibited by the Chief Customs authority by notification, in the Official Gazette; or

(b) on any day except between such hours as the Chief Customs authority may, by a like notification,[3] appoint.

Application of Act VIII of 1878.

9. (1) The provisions of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, which are specified in the Schedule, together with all notifications, orders rules or forms issued, made or prescribed thereunder, shall, so far as they are applicable, apply for the purpose of the levy of duties of land customs under this Act, in like manner as they apply for the purpose of the levy of duties of customs on goods imported or exported by sea.

(2) For the purpose of such application the said provisions, notifications, orders, rules and forms may be construed with such alterations as may be necessary or proper to adapt them for the said purpose, but not so as otherwise to affect the substance thereof, and in particular—

(a) references to bills of entry and to shipping bills shall be deemed to be references respectively to applications for permits to import and applications for permits to export such as are referred to in section 5;

(b) references to a Chief Customs Officer shall be deemed to be references to a Collector of Land Customs;

(c) references to a Customs Collector shall be deemed to be references to a Land Customs Officer for the time being in charge of a land Customs

THE LANDHOLDERS' PUBLIC CHARGES AND DUTIES ACT (II OF 1853).[1]

Short title given, Act XIV of 1897.

Declared in force—

throughout British India except as regards the Scheduled Districts Act: XV of 1874, S. 3; in the Sonthal Parganas Reg. 3 of 1872, S. 3 as amended by Reg. 3 of 1899, S. 3; [4th February, 1853.

Act to remove doubts as to the liability of all subjects of Her Majesty to the same jurisdiction as Natives in respect of public and Police duties and public charges incident to the holders of land or their local Agents or Managers.

Preamble.

WHEREAS by virtue of Act No. IV of 1837 it is lawful for any subject of Her Majesty to acquire and hold in perpetuity, or for any term of years property in land, or in any emoluments issuing out of land, in any part of the territories under the Government of the East India Company; and whereas doubts have arisen whether all subjects of Her Majesty acquiring or holding property in land or in any emoluments issuing out of land, or acting as local agents or managers of such property, are subject to the same jurisdiction as Natives for enforcing the discharge of public and police duties incident to the holding of such property, or for the enforcement of public charges and assessments upon or in respect thereof; and whereas it is just and reasonable that all persons who may think fit to hold such property, or to be the local agents or managers thereof, should be liable to the public burthens and duties incident thereto, and in case of neglect or refusal to discharge the same, should be subject to the same jurisdictions as Natives;

It is therefore declared and enacted as follows:—

Non-exemption from public charges or duties of landholders, etc., by reason of place of birth, or of descent.

1. No person whatever, being the owner, holder or farmer of any property in land or in any emoluments issuing out of land, in any part of the said territories, whether in perpetuity or for a term, or, being a local agent or manager of any such property, is, by reason of his place of birth, or by reason of his descent, exempt from any public charge or assessment, or from any duty connected with the police, or with the salt or opium revenue, or from any duty whatsoever of a public nature, to which he would otherwise be subject, as the owner or holder of such property, or as a local agent or manager thereof.

Amenability to laws, etc., for default in respect of such charges and duties.

2. For the non-payment of any such public charge or assessment, or for the breach of any such duty as aforesaid, or for any neglect or misconduct in the discharge thereof, every person, whatever may have been his place of birth, or his descent, shall be subject to the same laws, regulations and procedure, and to the same jurisdiction, as if he were a Native of the said territories.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to loans of money by the Government for agricultural improvements.[2]

LEG. REF.

1 For the Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1882, Pt. V, p. 954; for Report of the Select Committee, see ibid., 1883, Supplement, p. 1296; for proceedings in Council, see ibid., 1882, Supplement, pp. 494 and 1697; ibid., 1883, Supplement, p. 2071.

2 Instruments executed by persons taking loans or by their sureties, as security for the repayment of such loans, are exempted from stamp-duty—see the Indian Stamp Act, 1889, Sch. I, Art. 40. Exemption (1), General Acts, Vol. V and Notification under sec. 9, Gen. R. and O., and sec. 2 (2) of this Act.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to loans of money by the Government for agricultural improvements; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE LAND IMPROVEMENT LOANS ACT, 1883.

Local extent, commencement.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, but shall not come into force in any part of British India, until such date as the Provincial Government [1][* * *] may by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint in this behalf.

Acts XXVI of 1871 and XXI of 1876 repealed.

2. (1) The Land Improvement Act, 1871, and Act XXI of 1876 (An Act to amend the Land Improvement Act, 1871), shall, except as regards the recovery of advances made before this Act comes into force and costs incurred by the Government in respect of such advances, be repealed.

(2) When in any Act, Regulation or Notification passed or issued before this Act comes into force, reference is made to either of those Acts, the reference shall, so far as may be practicable, be read as applying to this Act or the corresponding part of this Act.

"Collector" defined.

3. In this Act, "Collector" means the Collector of land-revenue of a district, or the Deputy Commisisoner, or any officer empowered by the Provincial Government by name or by virtue of his office to discharge the functions of a [2]Collector under this Act.

Purposes for which loans may be granted under this Act.

4. (1) Subject to such rules as may be made under section 10, loans may be granted under this Act, by such officer as may, from time to time, be empowered in this behalf by the Provincial Government, for the purpose of making any improvement, to any person having a right to make that improvement, or, with the consent of that person, to any other person.

(2) "improvement" means any work which adds to the letting value of land, and includes the following, namely:—

(a) the construction of wells, tanks and other works for the storage, supply or distribution of water for the purposes of agriculture, or for the use of men and cattle employed in agriculture;

(b) the preparation of land for irrigation;

LEG. REF.

1 The words "with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council" in secs. 1 and 4 (f) were repealed by sec. 2 of the Land Improvement and Agriculturists' Loans (Amendment) Act, 1906 (VIII of 1906), General Acts, Vol. VI.

2 Cf. S. 3 (10) of the General Clauses Act (X of 1897). For officer empowered in Sind, see Bombay, Gazette, 1901, Part I, p. 1094.

SEC. 4.—The words of sec. 4, are unambiguous and can only be held to apply to improvements which have not been effected at the time when the loan was granted and cannot be held to apply to improvements which had already been carired out at the time when the loan was made. Therefore the Government cannot be allowed to have priority in respect of advances applied for and made after the improvements were carried out with funds belonging to a private individual. A comparison of sec. 4 of the Land Improvement Loans Act and sec. 4 of the Agriculturists' Loans Act would show that if a loan would be granted under the Land Improvement Loans Act, it would not be granted under the Agriculturists' Loans Act. I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 1017=1939 Mad. 711 (1939) 2 M.L.J. 23. A mortgagee under the Land Improvement Loans Act cannot be given priority in respect of lands other than those for whose benefit the loan was granted. There is no justification for giving priority in respect of a mortgage of properties which are not intended to be benefitted by the loan granted under the Act. 1938 M.W.N. 289=1938 Mad. 583. A loan granted for the purpose of weeding the land and for making a stone pavement in a part of it is one for a purpose which falls under the Land Improvement Loans Act. A loan for such a purpose does not come under the Agriculturists' Loans Act. 41 Bom.L.R. 257=1939 Bom. 183.

(c) the drainage, reclamation from rivers or other waters, or protection from floods or from erosion or other damage by water, of land used for agricultural purposes or waste land which is culturable;

(d) the reclamation, clearance, enclosure or permanent improvement of land for agricultural purposes;

(e) the renewal or reconstruction of any of the foregoing works, or alterations therein or additions thereto; and

(f) such other works as the Provincial Government [1][* * * * *] may, from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare to be improvements for the purposes of this Act.

Mode of dealing with application for loans.

5. (1) When an application for a loan is made under this Act, the Officer to whom the application is made may, if it is, in his opinion, expedient that public notice be given of the application, publish a notice, in such manner as the Provincial Government may, from time to time, direct, calling upon all persons objecting to the loan to appear before him at a time and place fixed therein and submit their objections.

(2) The Officer shall consider every objection submitted under sub-section (1), and make an order in writing either admitting or overruling it:

Provided that, when the question raised by an objection is, in the opinion of the officer, one of such a nature that it cannot be satisfactorily decided except by a Civil Court, he shall postpone his proceeding on the application until the question has been so decided.

Period for repayment of loans.

6. (1) Every loan granted under this Act shall be made repayable by instalments (in the form of an annuity or otherwise) within such period from the date of the actual advance of the loan, or, when the loan is advanced in instalments [2][from the date of the advance of the instalment actually paid] as may, from time to time, be fixed by the rules made under this Act.

(2) The period fixed as aforesaid shall not ordinarily exceed thirty-five years.

(3) The Provincial Government [3][* * * * ] in making [3][ * * * *] the rules fixing the period shall, in considering whether the period should extend to thirty-five years, or whether it should extend beyond thirty-five years, have regard to the durability of the work for the purpose of which the loan is granted, and to the expediency of the cost of the work being paid by the generation of persons who will immediately benefit by the work.

Recovery of loans.

7. (1) Subject to such rules as may be made under section 10, all loans granted under this Act, all interest (if any) chargeable (thereon) and costs (if any) incurred in making the same, shall, when they become due, be recoverable by the Collector in all or any of the following modes, namely:—

LEG. REF.

1 The words "with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council" omitted by Act (VIII of 1906), sec. 2.

2 Substituted for "from the date of the actual advance of the last instalment" by sec. 2 of Act XVIII of 1899.

3 The words "and Governor-General in Council" and the words "and sanctioning" were repealed by sec. 3 of Act VIII of 1906.

SEC. 7.—The effect of sec. 7 (1) (e) is to create a charge upon the property for the benefit of which the loan is taken. 1939 N. L.J. 235. See also 69 P.R. 1869; 25 Mad. 572. A loan advanced under the Land Improvement Loans Act is, subject to the proviso to sec. 7 (c), a first charge on the land for the improvement of which the loan is advanced; and the statutory charge created by sec.7 is enforceable against the land even in the hands of a bona fide purchaser for value without notice of the charge. The purchaser cannot seek to exempt the land he has purchased from the charge by replying on sec. 100, T.P. Act. 41 Bom.L.R. 257= 1939 Bom. 183. The words of the proviso to sec. 7 clearly mean that the interests of third parties (e.g., the rights of an occupancy tenant) are protected, but that the interest of the borrower and the interest of a mortgagee or charge holder from the mortgagor

(a) from the borrower—as if they were arrears of land-revenue due by him;

(b) from his surety (if any) as if they were arrears of land-revenue due by him;

(c) out of the land for the benefit of which the loan has been granted—as if they were arrears of land-revenue due in respect of that land;

(d) out of the property comprised in the collateral security (if any)—according to the procedure for the realisation of land-revenue by the sale of immovable property other than the land on which that revenue is due:

Provided that no proceeding in respect of any land under clause (c) shall affect any interest in that land which existed before the date of the order granting the loan, other than the interest of the borrower, and of mortgagees of, or persons having charges on, that interest and, where the loan is granted under section 4 with the consent of another person, the interest of that person, and of mortgagees of, or persons having charges on, that interest.

(2) When any sum due on account of any such loan, interest, or costs is paid to the Collector by a surety or an owner of property comprised in any collateral security, or is recovered under sub-section (1) by the Collector from a surety or out of any such property, the Collector shall, on the application of the surety of the owner of that property (as the case may be), recover that sum on his behalf from the borrower, or out of the land for the benefit of which the loan has been granted, in manner provided by sub-section (1).

(3) It shall be in the discretion of a Collector acting under this section to determine the order in which he will resort to the various modes of recovery permitted by it.

Order granting loan conclusive on certain points.

with regard to the property would be extinguished by a sale under sec 7 (1) (c) even though the mortgage may have been created before the date of the loan. 195 IC. 849=43 Bom.L.R. 600=1941 Bom. 300. The Government has a first charge on the land for the takavi loan granted to the agriculturist for improving that land. 26 N.L.R. 340=1930 N. 195=13 N.L.J. 23; 1926 All. 574. Proceedings of Collector in recovering loans under sec. 7 (1) "as if they were arrears of land revenue" is neither a "suit" nor execution of decree of Court. 109 I.C. 145=5 Rang. 806=1928 Rang. 81. The non-inclusion of condition 14 of the conditions appended to form I annexed to the rules under the Land Improvement Loans Act, in a bond for a takavi loan under the Act, as provided by R. 12 of the rules, does not have the effect of depriving the Collector of the power to proceed under sec. 7 (1) (c) of the Act. 182 I.C. 635=41 Bom.L.R. 257=1939 Bom. 183. It is clear on a perusal of sec. 7 that it was the intention of the Legislature that the liability for the takavi loan should rest primarily on the land for the benefit of which the loan was taken. Sub-Cl. (3) of sec. 7 gives the Collector absolute discretion to determine the order in which he should resort to the various modes of recovery permitted by the section. 41 Bom.L.R. 157=1939 Bom. 183. The failure of the Collector to send a copy of the order to the Sub-Registrar for registration as required by sec. 89 of the Registration Act cannot affect the operation of sec. 7 of the Land Improvement Loans Act. The Registration Act itself provides no penalty for non-compliance with the provisions of sec. 89. There is also no provision in the Land Improvement Loans Act which requires that a copy of the order sanctioning the loan should be sent to the Sub-Registrar. 41 Bom.L.R. 257=1939 Bom. 183. Sec. 161, U.P. Land Revenue Act has to be read with sec. 7 of this Act. 24 A.L.J. 718=1926 All. 574.

SECS. 7 AND 12.—Under sec. 7 the land for which the advance is made for improvement is a security to the Government for the purpose of securing the repayment of advance. 27 I.C. 391. Where the certificate executed by the Collector at the time of granting loan and registered under sec. 12 stated that, for repayment of the loan with interest, the immovable property specified in the margin and the land on which the improvement was to be made was hypothecated to the Government, the Government obtains a perfectly good charge on the land and is entitled to enforce the charge by sale in the ordinary manner. 27 I.C. 391. The language of the proviso to sec. 7 (1) shows the intention of the Legislature to give land improvement loans priority over existing encumbrances. 18 N.L.J. 193.

of land specified therein, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be conclusive evidence—

(a) that the work described is an improvement within the meaning of this Act;

(b) that the person mentioned had at the date of the order a right to make such an improvement; and

(c) that the improvement is one benefiting the land specified.

Liability of joint borrowers as among themselves.

9 When a loan is made under this Act to the members of a village community or to any other persons on such terms that all of them are jointly and severally bound to the Government for the payment of the whole amount payable in respect thereof, and a statement showing the portion of that amount which as among themselves each is bound to contribute is entered upon the order granting the loan and is signed by each of them and by the officer making the order, that statement shall be conclusive evidence of the portion of that amount which as among themselves each of those persons is bound to contribute.

Power to make rules

10 The Provincial Government [1][* * * * * *] may, from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules consistent with this Act to provide for the following matters, namely:—

(a) the manner of making applications for loans;

(b) the officers by whom loans may be granted;

(c) the manner of conducting inquiries relative to applications for loans, and the powers to be exercised by officers conducting those inquiries.

(d) the nature of the security to be taken for the due application and repayment of the money, the rate of interest at which, and the conditions under which, loans may be granted, and the manner and time of granting loans;

(e) the inspection of works for which loans have been granted;

(f) the instalments by which, and the mode in which, loans, the interest to be charged on them and the costs incurred in the making thereof, shall be paid;

(g) the manner of keeping and auditing the accounts of the expenditure of loans and of the payments in respect of the same; and

(h) all other matters pertaining to the working of the Act.

Exemption of improvements from assessment to land-revenue.

11. When land is improved with the aid of a loan granted under this Act, the increase in value derived from the improvement shall not be taken into account in revising the assessment of land-revenue on the land:

Provided as follows:—

(1) Where the improvement consists of the reclamation of waste-land, or of the irrigation of land assessed at unirrigated rates, the increase may be so taken into account after the expiration of such period as may be fixed by rules to be framed by the Provincial Government [2][* * * * * *];

(2) nothing in this section shall entitle any person to call in question any assessment of land-revenue otherwise than as it might have been called in question if this Act had not been passed.

fied copy of a law report decision is admissible). Unauthorized reports are on the same footing as unreported cases. 24 O.C. 319=1921 O. 257. But see also 4 Rang. 146=1926 Rang. 164 (F.B.). (Decision reported in a private publication not authorized by any Local Government is not absolutely binding). The Court has a discretion to hear a case cited from an unauthorised report. In exercising its discretion in any particular occasion, the Court should give due weight to the practice prevailing in the Courts with reference to any particular report the decision from which is cited at the bar. I.L.R. 1931 M. 366=130 I.C. 190=1931 M. 71=1930 M. W.N. 955. All that the Law Reports Act does is to ensure that Judges who have no access to the decisions themselves shall be provided with accurate copies of them. If an officially certified copy of a judgment of the High Court were to be produced in a lower Court, the lower Court would be bound to treat it in the same way as it would an officially reported judgment. A lower Court is bound by an unpublished ruling of its own High Court but not by an obiter dicta. Hence a single Judge of the High Court is bound by the decision of the Division Bench, even though the decision is not reported. It is the decision and not the opinion of the Court nor the report of it that makes the precedent. I.L.R. (1944) Nag. 342=1944 N. L.J. 1=1944 Nag. 44 (F.B.). The Act has no application to a decision of the Privy Council, and a Court is at liberty to refer to an authorized report of a decision of the Privy Council, and if satisfied that it is a correct report, it is bound to follow it. 48 M. 846=1926 M. 20=49 M.L.J. 498. A view expressed in a judgment of a High Court which has not been officially published even without reasons is entitled to respect, and any examination of it ought to start with the Governor-General of India assembled for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations;

And whereas it is also expedient to consolidate the laws relating to the local extent of certain Acts and Regulations in the Presidencies of Fort St. George and Bombay, and in the Lower and the North-Western Provinces of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called THE LAWS LOCAL EXTENT ACT, 1874.

Interpretation clause

2. In this Act the expression "Scheduled Districts" means the territories mentioned in the sixth schedule hereto annexed.

Local extent of Acts in first schedule.

3. The Acts mentioned in the first schedule hereto annexed are now in force throughout the whole of British India, except the Scheduled Districts.

Local extent of enactments in second schedule.

4. The enactments mentioned in the second schedule hereto annexed are now in force throughout the whole of the territories now subject to the Government of the Governor of Fort Saint George in Council, except the Scheduled Districts subject to such Government.

Local extent of enactments in third schedule.

5. The enactments mentioned in the third schedule hereto annexed are now in force throughout the whole of the territories now subject to the Government of the Governor of Bombay in Council, except the Scheduled Districts subject to such Government.

Local extent of enactments in fourth schedule.

LEG REF.

[1] The Little Cocos Island has been transferred to the administration of the Governor of Burma and ceased to be a Scheduled District on the 29th November, 1882, see the Little Cocos and Preparis Islands Laws Act, 1883 (VIII of 1883), Bur. Code.

[2] The Lushai Hills, which include the North and South Lushai Hills and the Mokokchang Sub-division of the Naga Hills District have now become Scheduled Districts for the purposes of the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874 (XIV of 1874), see Appendix B to that Act, supra, but they are not Scheduled Districts within the meaning of the Laws Local Extent Act, 1874.

"Short Title:—The Legal Practitioners Act, 1846" See the Indian Short Titles Act, 1897 (XIV of 1897). General Acts, Vol. IV. The Act has been declared, by the Laws Local Extent Act, 1874 (XV of 1874), S. 4, to be in force in the Madras and Bombay Presidencies, except as regards the Scheduled Districts. It has been declared, by notification under S. 3 (a) of the Scheduled Districts Act 1874 (XIV of 1874), to be in force in the Scheduled Districts of Sind, See Gazette of India, 1880, Pt. I, p. 672. It has been declared under S. 3 (d) of the same Act that Act I of 1846 is not in force in the Scheduled Districts of Ganjam and Vizagapatam see Fort St. George Gazette, 1858 Pt. I, p. 667 and Gazette of India, 1898 Pt. I, p. 872. It is repealed in places to which the Pleaders, Mukhtars and Revenue Agents Act, 1865 (XX of 1865) is extended by S. 3 of that Act, and in places to which the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879 (XVIII of 1879), applies by the Legal Practitioners Act, 1884 (IX of 1884), S. 9. It has been repealed in so far as it applies to Burma, by the Burma Laws Act, 1898 (XIII of 1898) S. 18 (1) and Sch. B, Bur. Code.

4. [1][* * * *] The office of pleader in the Courts of the East India Company shall be open to all persons of whatever nation or religion: Provided that no person shall be admitted a pleader in any of those Courts unless he have obtained a certificate in such manner as shall be directed by the Sadr Courts that he is of good character and duly qualified for the office, any law or regulation to the contrary notwithstanding:

Office of pleader open to persons duly certificated.

5. Provided, [2][* * * *] that every barrister of any of Her Majesty's Courts of Justice in India shall be entitled as such to plead in any of the Sadr Courts of the East India Company, subject, however, to all the rules in force in the said Sadr Courts applicable to pleaders whether relating to the language in which the Court is to be addressed or to any other matter.

Right of barrister to plead in all Courts.

6. [1][* * * ] [3][ * * *] Section 52, Regulation II, 1827 of the Bombay Code, shall cease to be enforced, excepting for the purpose specified in section 7 of this Act.

Enactment to cease to have force, except for specified purposes.

7. [1][* * * ] Parties employing authorized pleaders in the said Courts shall be at liberty to settle with them by private agreement the remuneration to be paid for their professional services, and [4][] it shall not be necessary to specify such agreement in the vakalatnama:

Private agreement between parties and pleaders.

Provided that when costs are awarded to a party in any regular suit, original or appeal, decided on the merits, against another party, the amount to be paid on account of fees of pleaders shall be calculated according to the rules contained in [5][the section of the Regulation] specified in section 6 of this Act; and that when costs are awarded in other cases the amount to be paid on account of such fees shall be one-fourth of what it would have been in a regular suit decided on its merits.

Calculation of pleaders' fees out of costs awarded in regular suits.

In other cases.

8. [1][* * * *] Private agreements between parties and their pleaders respecting the remuneration to be paid for professional services shall not be enforced otherwise than by a regular suit.

Enforcement of private agreements.

9. [1][* * ] [6][ * ] Persons taking [7][] opinion from authorised pleaders shall be at liberty to settle with them by private agreement the remuneration to be paid for such opinions.

Remuneration for opinions.

10. [1][* * * *] Whenever a pleader has rendered himself liable to a fine in the Court of a principal Sadr Amin or Sadir Amin it shall be competent to such Principal Sadr Amin or Sadir Amin to impose such fines: Provided that

SEC. 10.—A pleader who presses a Court to put a question which the Court considers improper, and insist on a note being made of his request, is not liable to fine under Act I of 1846. No opinion was offered on the point whether such conduct on the part of a pleader amounted to an offence under sec. 228 of the Penal Code. Where the pleader under the above circumstances was fined for an offence under sec. 228 without being called on to make a statement in his defence, held, that the procedure was irregular and that, though there was no appeal from the order, the High Court could in revision interfere with the order on account of such irregularity. 7 B. An Act to amend the Law relating to Pleaders in the Courts of the East India Company.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law relating to Pleaders in the Courts of the East India Company; It is enacted as follows:—

1. [Repeal of enactments.] Rep. by the Repealing Act, 1870 (XIV of 1870).

Pleader not bound to attend Court except at hearing of cause in which he is employed.

2. [1]No pleader shall be bound to attend in any of the Courts of the East India Company, on any day fixed for the transaction of civil business, or to notify to the Court his inability to attend, unless he shall be employed in some cause or business which, according to the practice of the Court, may be heard or transacted therein on that day, anything in any law or regulation to the contrary notwithstanding.

Right of Supreme Court attorneys to plead in all Sadr Courts.

3. Every attorney on the roll of any of Her Majesty's Supreme Courts of Judicature in India shall be entitled as such to plead in any of the Sadr Courts of the East India Company, subject however to all the rules for the time being in force in the said Sadr Courts respectively, applicable to barristers pleading therein, whether relating to the language in which the Court is to be addressed or to any other matter.

Barristers and attorneys of Supreme Courts not required to produce certificate of character, etc., but may plead in all subordinate Courts.

4. That part of section 4. Act No. I of 1846 which provides that no person shall be admitted a pleader in any of the Courts of the East India Company, unless he have obtained a certificate in such manner as shall be directed by the Sadr Courts that he is of good character and duly qualified for the office, shall not extend to barristers or attorneys of any of the said Supreme Courts; but every such barrister and attorney shall be entitled as such to plead in any of the Courts of the East India Company subordinate to the Sadr Courts, subject to all the rules in force in the said subordinate Courts respectively applicable to pleaders therein, so far as such rules relates to the language in which the Court is to be addressed or to any other matter connected with pleading therein.

An Act to consolidate and amend the Law relating to Legal Practitioners

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to Legal Practitioners in the Lower Provinces of Bengal, the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, Oudh,

LEG. REF.

[1] For the Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1878, Pt. V, p. 381. For Reports of the Select Committee, see ibid., 1879, Pt. V, pp. 51 and 841; for Civil Rules of Practice made by the High Court of Madras under this Act, the Code of Civil Procedure and certain other Acts, for observance by Subordinate Civil Courts in that Presidency except the Madras Small Cause Courts. See Fort St. George Gazette, 1905, Supplement, p. 1. See now civil Rules and Circular Orders, 1928 by Madras High Court. This Act has been declared in force in Angul and the Khondmals by the Angul District Regulation, 1894, (I of 1894), sec. 3, Ben. Code, and by notification under sec. 3 (a) of the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874 (XIV of 1874), in the Districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardaga and Manbhum and Pargana Dhalbhum and the Kolhan in the District Singbhum, see Gazette of India, 1881, Pt. I, p. 504. The District of Lohardaga, now called the Ranchi District (Calcutta Gazette, 1899, Pt. I, p. 44) included at this time the District of Palamu which was separated in 1894. The whole Act, except sec. 36 as substituted by sec. 4 of Act XI of 1896, is rethe Central Provinces and Assam, and to empower each of the Local Governments of the rest of British India to extend to the territories administered by it such portions of this Act as such Government may think fit; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title commencement.

1. This Act may be called THE LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT, 1879, and shall come into force on the first day of January, 1880.

peated in the North-Western Frontier Province by the N.W.F. Province Law and Justice Regulation, 1901 (Reg. VII of 1901), sec. 5, Sch. III, P. and N. W. Code

1 Under this power the Act has been extended, subject to certain omissions; and so far only as it relates to judicial Courts, Civil and Criminal to the Madras Presidency, except the Scheduled Districts, from 1st April, 1882, see Fort St. George Gazette, 1881, Pt. I, pp. 491 and 707, Secs. 3 and 4 of the Act have been extended to the Regulation Districts of the Bombay Presidency, see Bombay Government Gazette, 1885, Pt I, p. 290. Sections [except cls. (a), (b), (c). (d) and (f) thereof] 34, 36 and 40 have been extended to the whole of the Bombay Presidency, except the Province of Sind (Bombay Gazette, 1904, Pt. I, p. 1635) and to the Province of Sind (Ibid., 1905, Pt. I, p. 634).

Ch. I, sec. 40, Sch. II, and so much of Chs. III, V, VI, and VII as relates to pleaders, have been extended to Coorg, see Mysore Gazette, 1879, Pt. I, p. 335; see also Notification No. 44, dated 11th November, 1891, Coorg District Gazette, sec 1899, Pt. I, p. 122, extending secs. 3, 13 and 36 as amended by Act XI of 1896 so far as they relate to pleaders. Sec. 3 and Chs. II, III, V to VIII, and the second schedule were extended to Lower Burma, with effect from 16th April, 1900, see Burma Gazette, 1900, Pt. I, p. 320, Bur.R.M. Burma Gazette, 1908, Pt. I, p. 18 (extending sec. 20). Secs. 4 and 41 were extended to Ajmer-Merwara by the Chief Commissioner's Notification No. 28 C. C., dated 21st April, 1927. See Gazette of India, 1927 Pt. III-A, p. 214.

SEC. 1: CONSTRUCTION OF ACT AND SCOPE.—(Per Full Bench).—The Act does not merely consolidate the pre-existing law but also amends it, which implies both addition to and derogation from the pre-existing law. It is a complete Code in itself as regards the subject it deals with. 1930 A.L.J. 402=1930 All. 225 (F.B.). (Per Full Bench): Inherent powers of the Supreme Court of Calcutta were not conferred on the Allahabad High Court by the Indian High Courts Act of 1861 and no power to exercise inherent disciplinary jurisdiction over legal practitioners independently of the Legal Practitioners Act and the Indian Bar Councils Act now exists in the Allahabad High Court in respect of their professional or other misconduct. 1930 A.L.J. 402=1930 All. 225 (F. B.). No minor can appoint an attorney and if he does, the attorney has no valid appointment under which he can act. 1934 A.L.J. 387=35 Cr.L.J. 1053=1934 All. 589.

JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT TO REINSTATE DEBARRED PLEADER—CONSIDERATIONS.—The High Court has jurisdiction, in the exercise of its general power of superintendence over pleaders, to reinstate on the Roll and to re-admit a pleader who had been struck off the Roll for professional misconduct. I.L.R. (1937) Bom. 99=38 Bom.L.R. 1161=1937 Bom. 48. As to the considerations to be had by the High Court in cases of reinstatement after disbarment, see I.L.R. (1937) B 99; I.L.R. (1937) All. 411 =1936 A.L.J. 1396=1937 All. 50 (F.B.); 14 Rang. 390=1936 Rang. 368 (S.B.); I.L.R. (1937) Bom. 99=38 Bom.L.R. 1161; 1939 Rang. 142=1939 Rang.L.R. 213 (S.B.); 45 M. L.J. 639; I.L.R. DUTIES OF LEGAL PRACTITIONERS.—When a solicitor takes up a case and undertakes to conduct it he is bound, whether his client is rich or poor, to proceed with due diligence, and honestly to prosecute or defend the claim, even if he is not put in funds; for it is open when he takes up the case to assure himself whether his client is a person of substance, or if necessary to insist on a sufficient advance at the outset to cover all probable costs. 34 Bom.L.R. 703=138 I.C. 957=1938 Bom. 363. It is an unwritten rule of the bar that where two counsel have been briefed in a case appearing on the daily board, one or other counsel must return his brief in good time if there is a chance of neither being able to attend when the case is called on. 34 Bom L.R. 1425=1923 Bom. 634. A resolution by the Bar Association that no member thereof should appear for the prosecution in any criminal case against any other member is a flagrant and unwarranted interference with the rights of legal practitioners, contrary to the best traditions of the Bar and to all accepted notions of forensic propriety. 59 C. 709=36 C.W.N. 294=1932 Cal 370. It is incumbent on counsel to prepare cases before coming to Court. The time of the Court should not be taken by search for relevant passages during trial in Court; client should also supply counsel with the necessary copies and records. I.L.R. (1939) All. 447=1939 A.L. J. 118=1939 All. 603.

DUTY OF LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—CLIENTS WITH CONFLICTING INTERESTS.—There is no such thing as a general agency between pleader and client. The contract of agency

Local extent

This section and section 2 extend to the whole of British India

The rest of this Act extends, in the first instance, only to the territories respectively administered by the Lieutenant-Governors of the Lower Provinces of Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and the Punjab, and the Chief Commissioners of Oudh, the Central Provinces and Assam. But any other Provincial Government may from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, extend all or any of the provisions of the rest of this Act to the whole or any part of the territories under its administration becomes complete when the Vakalat is executed and ends with the termination of the suit 50 M 249=1927 Mad. 157=51 M L. The pleader in the mofussil is not merely an Advocate He is the confidential legal adviser of his client and does for him those things which in the Presidency towns are often done by solicitors A pleader must not accept a vakalatnama when he knows that he cannot act for his client throughout the proceedings. 14 Bom L R. 700=16 I. AUTHORITY TO COMPROMISE.—An advocate has no authority to compromise the suit without a power of attorney from his client 8 R 290=127 I.C. 604=1930 R. 313 A vakalatnama which empowers a pleader to file a compromise cannot be held to empower him to enter into a compromise and sign it for the party. 125 I.C. 171=1930 O. 112 But see 57 I.A 133=57 C 1311=58 M.L.J. 551 (P.C). Although a vakalat gives power to a pleader to compromise still if the compromise is purported to be entered into not on the basis of such power, the compromise would not be binding on the client. 161 I.C. 919=1936 Cal. 68. The power to compromise a suit is inherent in the position of an advocate The implied authority can however be countermanded by the express directions of the client. Where a legal practitioner was engaged by a pardanashin lady in an application for the appointment of a receiver but it appeared that the client had in fact conferred a general authority on the counsel and was also aware of the negotiations leading to the compromise, held, that the advocate could compromise the suit by virtue of his implied authority and that the compromise was binding on the client. 57 I. COUNSEL'S POWER TO MAKE ADMISSION IN OR REFER TO ARBITRATION OR COMPROMISE SUITS.—A counsel's powers to make admissions in or refer to arbitration or compromise suits in which he is instructed are as follows: (1) A counsel has authority to make admissions in Court on behalf of his client on matters of fact relevant to the issues in the case in which he is engaged. Admissions on questions of law would not bind the client. (2) A counsel has authority to confess judgment, withdraw or compromise, or refer to arbitration the suit in which he is instructed if his doing so is for his client's advantage or benefit even though he has no express authority from his client. (3) A counsel cannot without express authority agree to compromise or refer to arbitration matters unconnected with the subject-matter of the suit in which he is instructed. (4) Where in the course of a suit counsel makes an admission as to a collateral matter, or gives up a doubtful claim which is not a subject-matter of the suit, there is a presumption that the counsel acts under instructions if the admission or the giving up of the doubtful claim is for the benefit of the client.

(5) It is a question of fact in each case whether the counsel acts under instructions when he compromises or refers to arbitration matters not involved in the suit and the Court on a consideration of the probabilities and the circumstances of the case can find that the counsel acted on instructions even though there is no direct evidence on the point. (6) A counsel has no power to make an admission in, or compromise or refer to arbitration, a suit, if he is instructed not to do so, without express authority from his client. 1935 A.L. J. 953=1935 All. 626. See also 58 B. 447=1934 B. 101; I.L.R. Where the power of attorney expressly confers the authority to settle the suit by a compromise it is not necessary for an advocate to consult his client before entering into the compromise if he acts in good faith. 15 L. 626=151 I.C. 786 (2) =1934 L. 393. Counsel in India have the same implied authority to compromise an action as have counsel in the English Courts. But if such authority is invoked to support an agreement of compromise the circumstances must be carefully examined. In the first instance the authority is an actual authority implied from the employment as counsel. It may however be withdrawn or limited by the client; in such a case the actual authority is destoryed or restricted; and the other party if in ignorance of the limitation, could only rely upon ostensible authority. But if in fact counsel has had his authority withdrawn or restricted, the Courts will not feel bound to enforce a compromise made by him contrary to the restriction, even though the lack of actual authority is not known to the other party. 62 I.A. 196=14 P. 545=1935 P.C. 119. See also 1943 M.W. N. 544=1943 Mad. 672=(1943) 2 M.L J. 168. The authority of a pleader who is authorised by his vakalatnama to compromise the suit in which he is engaged by a party does not extend to matters which are not the subject-matter of the suit. Where the pelader enters into a compromise which involves the sale of his client's property which is not in suit at all, the Court should not pass a decree in terms of the compromise unless the client himself is a party to it. 45 Bom. L.R. 1045=1944 Bom. 46. In an action by a transferee challenging a mortgage as collusive, a compromise to the effect that the mortgagee should buy out the palintiff for an agreed price, cannot be entered into by counsel as it is a matter collateral to the suit. 62 I.A. 196=1935 P.C. 119. Where a vakalatnama gives power to a vakil, to enter into a compromise, a compromise entered into by him is binding on his client especially when the compromise is eminently a fair and reasonable one. 1933 A. 955. Where a vakalatnama given by a party to his pleader merely authorises the latter to sign a compromise petition and does not give any specific authority to the pleader to negotiate with the other party and settle the terms of the compromise, any compromise entered into by the pleader without the consent of his client, which results in a decree, must be held to be unauthorized. 41 Bom.L.R. 994=1939 Bom. 490. Where the vakalatnama which was executed by a client contained among other things the following clause "avasyamanal (if necessary or expedient) you are to compromise the suit or raise contest." Held, that to decide whether it was necessary or expedient to compromise the suit, was within the discretion of the pleader, and not the Court, and that a compromise entered into by him was binding on his client. 146 I.C. 219=38 L.W. 341=1933 M. 734.

AGREEMENT TO ABIDE BY OATH—OFFER OF SPECIAL OATH TO OTHER SIDE—CLIENT—IF BOUND.—A pleader who holds a vakalatnama which distinctly authorizes him to file a petition of compromise with or without the signature of his client, to withdraw the suit by putting in a petition without the party's signature, and to take whatever steps the pleader considers necessary in the suit has clearly authority to agree to the case being decided on the oath taken by the other side in a special manner. It is not open to the party to plead that he is not bound by the act of his pleader, because he has not himself signed the oath agreement or to say that the pleader had no authority. 182 I.C. 791=20 P.L.T 131=1939 Pat. 222. Pleaders should be careful not to make any offer on behalf of their clients to be bound by any special oath except in the presence of the party or on express written authority to that effect. 172 I.C. 421=I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 310 =1938 Nag. 64.

ABANDONMENT OF PLEA.—Counsel for the defendant definitely gave up the plea regarding limitation after the evidence on all the issues had been taken; the question was held to be one of law, that the party was not bound by the statement of his counsel and that as the opposite party was not prejudiced, the plea can be taken in appeal by the party. 1933 L. 404. See also 147 I.C 95=1934 P. 25 [Abandonment of claim for damages. See also 29 I.A. 76=25 M. 367 (P. C.)]. If counsel deliberately abandons questions which are mixed questions of law, custom and fact, it is not open to the litigant to go behind the admission and re-agitate the same points in the Court of second appeal. 13 L. 185=1932 L. 343. See also 1935 L. 71=16 L 328. Where in the trial Court an issue is not pressed by the counsel and subsequent to that there is an authoritative decision on the point, the party is not bound by the admisison of his counsel in the trial Court and can raise the point in appeal. 1940 O. W.N. 1249=1941 O. 203. As to power to compromise or withdraw plea in income-tax proceedings, see 1940 I.T.R. 482.

AUTHORITY TO ACT—APPEARANCE WITHOUT VAKALATNAMA—PROCEDURE.—When an accused is represented by a pleader without vakalatnama in an appeal, the proper course is to adjourn the hearing of the appeal until it is produced and thus afford the accused an opportunity of being represented by a pleader. 56 I.C. 61=21 Cr.L.J. 413. A mukhtar though appearing in the trial Court cannot file an appeal unless his power of attorney authorises him to do so. Mere general words in power are not sufficient. (132 I.C. 895, Dist.) 1933 L 504. As to Advocate accepting vakalat and failing to appear at the hearing, see 1939 M.L.R. 16 (C.). It is ordinarily the duty of an advocate to be present, or to make suitable arrangements for the conduct of the case, and the Courts are not to be inconvenienced by the postponement of cases until the proper advocate is available. 1939 Rang. 183=1939 Rang.L.R. 514=182 I.C. 77. Vakil's name not entered in the body of vakalat is mere clerical error and would not vitiate the authority. (1946) 1 M.L.J. 274.

AUTHORITY — CONSRUCTION — GENERAL POWERS FOLLOWED BY SPECIFIC INSTANCES OF SPECIAL AUTHORITY.—Per F.B. (Mukerji, J., dissenting.)—In the case of an appointment of a vakil by vakalatnama to conduct a case, it is prima facie implied that he has full power to conduct the case in the way he considers best and therefore such a document should be construed liberally. If the vakalatnama confers very wide powers in very general terms on the vakil, and authorizes him to conduct the case and to take other proceedings and expressly states that whatever is done by the vakil should be accepted by the litigant and then it goes on to specify certain particularly important powers like those of appointing arbitrators and compromising disputes, etc., unless there is a special clause excluding his authority to act in a particular way in the course of the suit, such an authority should be implied. The mere fact that certain important powers are emphasised in particular does not in any way derogate from the general authority conferred upon him. It follows, therefore, that when general authority to conduct a case is conferred upon a vakil and it is followed by special powers to compromise a case and to refer the dispute to arbitration, the power to abide by the oath of a witness whether under the Oaths Act or by way of an agreement or compromise is necessarily implied. 146 I.C. 84=1933 A.L.J 1127=1933 A. 861 (F.B.).

AUTHORITY—PRESUMPTION OF—ISSUE OF NOTICE.—When a member of the Bar writes a letter purporting to be instructed by a client, there is a presumption, until the contrary is proved, that the letter is written under instructions. 144 I.C. 996=1933 R. 147.

ACTS REQUIRED FOR PROPER CONDUCT OF TRIAL —IMPLIED AUTHORITY OF PLEADER.—A counsel appearing in the case from the very nature of his duties and for the purposes of a proper conduct of the case must be deemed to have implied authority to admit or deny a document, to press or withdraw an issue in the case, to examine a witness or call no witness and do such other acts which are required for the proper management and conduct of the trial. 14 Luck. 723=1939 Oudh 257.

STATUS OF BARRISTER PRACTISING AS AN ADVOCATE IN INDIA.—The right of a Barrister-at-Law to appear in the High Court or in the Courts subordinate to it arises from his enrolment as an Advocate and not otherwise. The peculiar position of a Barrister-at-Law in England disappears here on his enrolment as an Advocate; his rights, duties and disabilities are the same as those of any other non-Barrister Advocate. He can see the client, settle his fees, and act for him, with or without the intervention of a solicitor. A Barrister practising as an Advocate in the High Court can accordingly sue his client for recovery of fees due. (25 A. 509, overruled) 55 All. 570=1933 A.L.J. 451=1933 A. 417 (F.B.). See also I.L.R. (1943) Lah. 791=44 Cr.L.J. 181. (Status of pleader in Court). I. L.R. (1943) Lah. 791=44 Cr.L.J. 181. (Rules of conduct of Bench and the Bar.)

ADVOCATES AND PLEADERS—NO DISTINCTION. —Though the methods of appointments of advocates and higher or lower grade pleaders are different and the discipline by which they are controlled arises from different sources, their duties as representing their clients are similar and the principles applying in one class of legal advisers ought to be applied in the case of another. 1939 Rang.L.R. 514= 1939 Rang. 183 (S.B.).

ADVOCATE AND COURT —It is difficult to lay down any hard and fast rule as to what expresisons a lawyer can use with impunity while addressing the Court and what should ordinarily be tolerated by it. Hyper-sensitiveness on the one side or rudeness on the other must be avoided at all costs. An oversubservient Bar would be one of the greatest misfortunes that could happen to the administration of justice. At the same time, a lawyer is under obligation to do nothing that shall detract from the dignity of the Court, of which he is himself a sworn officer and assistant. He should at all times pay deferential respect to the judge, and scrupulously observe the decorum of the Court room. I.L.R. (1943) L. 791=44 P.L.R. 511=A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 14.

ETIQUETTE—MEMBER OF CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY—APPEARANCE FOR SOCIETY.—Merely becausea legal practitioner is a member of a Co-operative Society he is not prevented by any rule of professional etiquette from accepting instructions from the Society of which he is a member. There can be no impropriety in his doing so provided that his engagement is not directly due to his being a member. But it is improper for a legal practitioner who is a Director to appear for remuneration for the Society in his legal business. 56 M. 970= 1933 M. 682=65 M.L.J. 367.

DUTIES AND OBLIGATIONS IN DRAFTING PLEADINGS—GRAVE AND SERIOUS ALLEGATIONS IN AFFIDAVIT —It is well settled that although a legal practitioner has his duty towards his client, he has other duties and responsibilities as well and that he should not on the instructions of his client make a charge of fraud against another in an affidavit without satisfying himself that there are reasonable grounds for the allegation. But he has not got to satisfy himself that the statements made by his client were absolutely true. All that is incumbent on him is to satisfy himself that there are reasonable grounds for believing them. 59 L.W. 401=(1946) 2 M.L.J. 79 (F.B.).—Per Thom, J.—No counsel is entitled to frame a serious charge against a party to a litigation unless he is in possession of admissible and relevant evidence upon which, if accepted, counsel could reaosnably ask the Court to hold the allegations true. It may well be that the evidence in support of the allegations is untrue and it is certainly not the duty of a counsel in the ordinary course to test the truth of the witnesses whom he intends to put into the witness box but at the conclusion of the evidence which he has led he should be in a position to submit as a reasonable proposition to the Court that the evidence which he has led if accepted establishes the allegations for which he had made himself responsible. If he is not in possession of such evidence to support them he is not entitled to make grave and serious allegations. 1935 All. 425 (F.B.). Per Iqbal Ahmad, J.—It is in the interest of the administration of justice that too rigid a test of the conduct of an advocate in the matter of drafting pleadings should not be emphasized and that the test should be such as not to deter a counsel from fearlessly placing before the Court such allegations as their clients instruct them to make, so long as those allegations do not appear manifestly reckless and unfounded. It is no doubt the duty of counsel to use their own judgment, experience and discretion and not to make irrelevant or unduly insulting allegations in the pleadings, but it is equally their duty to embody the case of their clients in the pleadings fearlessly, provided the instructions received from the clients justify the case in the pleadings. While on the one hand a counsel is expected to be careful and not reckless in drafting the pleadings, he cannot, on the other hand assume the role of a Judge and refuse to embody allegations that his clients instruct him to make unless and until he has examined the evidence on the subject. A counsel is in one sense the mouthpiece of his client, but he does not guarantee or pledge himself for his client's veracity. Per Allsop, J.—On the one hand counsel must look to the interests of his client and not be deterred by fear or favour from making any allegations which in his interests it is necessary for him to make. On the other hand, he cannot take shelter behind his client and claim to be an entirely irresponsible instrument in his client's hands. There remains in him a duty and an obligation to his fellow citizens and he is certainly not entitled to make scandalous and serious allegations against those fellow citizens unless he has some basis upon which the allegations can be grounded. 155 I.C. 1043=1935 A. 425 (F.B.). See also I.L.R. (1945) All. 702 (As to the nature and scope of the privilege and protection attached to statements made in his professional capacity.

PRIVATE PLEADER.—A District Magistrate has no authority to direct other subordinate Magistrates to exercise their judicial discretion of allowing a person to practise as a private pleader in their Courts. Any person aggrieved by the refusal of any Magistrate to allow him to appear as a private pleader in any particular case should move the High Court in revision. 16 L.W. 879=1923 M. 183.

Authority to counsel "to act and appear for the party in the trial Court or any other Court" includes authority to present an appeal. 33 P.L.R. 34. A mukhtar though appearing in the trial Court cannot file an appeal unless his power-of-attorney authorises him to do so. Mere general words in power are not sufficient. (1932 I.C. 895, Dist.) 1933 L. 504.

COSTS—LIABILITY OF LEGAL PRACTITIONER FOR—CIRCUMSTANCES JUSTIFYING ORDER AGAINST PLEADER.—There is no justification for the assumption that sec. 35, C.P. Code, is not intended to cover any case where the act of a legal practitioner comes within the term 'misconduct' within the meaning of the Legal Practitioners and the Bar Councils Acts. A pleader may therefore be liable for costs of the proceedings taken by him in cases where the costs occasioned to his client are the direct result of the initiation and prosecution of the proceedings by him. Where an application for review purports to be made by a pleader personally on his own behalf and not on behalf of his client, the minor or his guardian, on grounds wholly untenable there is no justification for his action and he can be asked to pay the costs personally. 1942 Oudh 279=1942 O.W.N. 68.

AUTHORITY TO APPEAR.—Counsel who has not filed any vakalat from his client has no authority to appear for him. 12 Mys.L.J. 383.

APPEARANCE OF COUNSEL AGAINST INTEREST OF HIS CLIENT—IF PERMISSIBLE.—A counsel should not be allowed to appear against the interests of a person who has briefed him at one or other stage of the case. It is absolutely necessary for taking opinion that the party should lay all his cards before the counsel concerned, and it is only after he has thoroughly gone into the facts of the case that a lawyer can be in a position to advise his client In the circumstances it would be unfair to allow the counsel to appear against the same person later on, and an assurance on the part of that individual would also be of no avail in the matter. 1935 Pesh. 65 (1). It is undesirable for a member of the Bar to plead in a case concerning which he has a personal interest. 39 C.W.N. 274. See also (1945 M. 480=(1945) 2 M.L.J. 187. (Permisison for pleader to appear for a different party after previous appearance to one party, when can be granted by Court).

TRANSFER OF BRIEF—PLEADER APPEARING FOR ANOTHER—As to duty of pleader to be in attendance at time of hearing of case, see 1940 Rang. 162 (F.B.). Where a pleader appears for another who is unable at the moment to attend Court, he ought to let the Court know that he is so appearing. 33 I.C. 831=20 C.W.N. 283. As to failure of pleader to make careful arrangements for conduct of case, see 183 I.C. 580=1939 Rang. 262. A question relating to the rival claims of different sections of the legal practitioners of the High Court cannot be settled by a single Judge or a Division Bench of the Court. 25 C.L.J. 401=41 I.C. 313=21 C.W.N. 654. Proceedings under the Act are quasi criminal, and are barred by acquittal in previous criminal proceedings. 88 I.C. 279=26 Cr.L.J. 1111=1925 R. 110. In the absence of misconduct of pleader or other justifying cause the client is not entitled as of right to change his pleader without making satisfactory arrangements to pay the fees of the pleader who had charge of the case till then. 58 L.W. 34=1945 Mad. 190=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 56.

ACCEPTING BRIEF FOR OPPOSITE PARTY AGAINST PREVIOUS CLIENT—DUTIES.—See 38 M. 650=25 M.L.J. 567; 8 R. 446=1930 R. 355; 9 Mys.L.J. 166.

CHANGE OF SIDES BY LAWYER.—Change of sides as such by a lawyer is not forbidden by law. Change of sides is forbidden if there are confidential communications by one side which may be made use of when the lawyer represents the opposite party. It is forbidden if the lawyer obtains his own discharge and acts for the opposite party. It is also forbidden if the lawyer accepts a retainer from the opposite party without first offering his services to his original client. A lawyer is, therefore, not guilty of professional misconduct in accepting a brief for the opposite party if he has no confidential communication of his original client in his possession at that time and the matters in which he had been retained had come to an end and the original client had refused to avail himself further of his services. I.L.R. (1946) Lah. 173=1946 Lah. 301 (F.B.) A pleader who acted gratuitously as a friend in drawing up a draft plaint at the request of the plaintiff who filed the plaint himself and to whom no confidential information was imparted, is not guilty of professional misconduct in appearing for the defendant at a later stage. 1946 Lah.. 329 (F.B.). See also (1945) 2 M.L.J. 187.

APPEARANCE—POWER OF COURT TO RESTRAIN —PLEADER LIKELY TO BE WITNESS IN CASE—DUTIES OF PLEADER.—That a Judge or Magistrate has authority to restrain a pleader from appearing for either party in a case, when it would be manifestly improper for the pleader to do so, cannot be gainsaid but a very strong case must be made out before an order restraining a pleader from acting in a particular case is passed. The mere fact that the defence asserts that the pleader for the prosecution will be required as a witness for the defence, and that the Magistrate himself thinks that he will be a material witness for the defence, are not sufficient grounds for restraining the pleader from appearing in the case for the prosecution. A pleader who is conducting a case is nevertheless a competent witness therein and there is no harm in his giving evidence in a case in which he is appearing. But it is desirable that a pleader should not appear in a case if he knows or has reason to believe that he will be an important witness in the case. If he accepts the brief not knowing or having reason to believe that he will be such a witness but discovers subsequently that he is a witness on a material question of fact, he should retire from the case. 1939 Rang.L.R. 224=1939 Rang. 342. Accused has a right to choose any advocate he wants. Prosecution cannot fetter that choice by summonning the advocate as a witness. On the other hand the Court is bound to see that the administration of justice is not in any way embarrassed. If an advocate is called as a witness by the other side, it can safely be left to the good sense of the advocate to determine whether he can continue to appear as an advocate, or whether by doing so he will embarrass the Court or the client. If a Court comes to the conclusion that a trial will be embarrassed by the appearance of an advocate who has been called as a witness by the other side, and if, notwithstanding the Court's expression of its opinion, the advocate refuses to withdraw in such a case the Court has inherent jurisdiction to require the advocate to withdraw. But the prosecution or the party calling the opposite party's advocate as a witness must in such a case establish to the satisfaction of the Court that the trial will be materially embarrassed if the advocate continues to appear as advocate for his client. 41 Bom.L.R. 282 =1939 Bom. 150 See also 1938 M. 878=48 L.W. 276=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 446.

FEES.—When an Advocate enters into a contract with his client, it is appropriate that in order to avoid any future misunderstanding as to the amount of the fees to be charged for various works, there should be a clear written contract between the parties and the amount charged should be clearly mentioned and agreed to by the client. 1936 A.L.J. 300 =1936 All. 359 (F.B.). See also I.L.R. (1944) 1 Cal. 445=1944 Cal. 189 (Solicitor's lien for costs cannot prevail over monies in his hands ear-marked for a specific purpose). Before the relationship of advocate and client arises by concluding a contract of service, is open both to the client and the advocate to bargain for services in such methods as they may deem proper. But after the relationship arises, the advocate should not use his privileged and responsible position to obtain anything more than a fair and just remuneration. 1937 Rang. 299. In India as at English Common Law, a solicitor has a particular lien which does not depend on actual possession of the property, as distinguished from possessory lien. This lien is not liable to be defeated on the ground that the assignee of a decree or the attaching creditor of the solicitor's client had no express notice of the lien. The fact of there being a fund in Court amounts to notice of the existence of a solicitor's lien. (51 B. 855, Foll.) 60 M.L.J. 133=1931 M. 183. See also 1940 Cal. 179= I.L.R. (1939) 1 Cal. 212=43 C.W.N. 290 (This lien is not defeated by the insolvency of the party). The lien of an attorney or solicitor is really an equity claimed on his behalf and is subject to all the equities between the attorney's client and any other party or parties interested in the property over which the lien is claimed. An attorney has no higher rights than his client. A plaintiff's right to set-off costs payable to him by the defendant against the sum found due from him to the defendant on the taking of accounts in the same suit is not affected by the defendant's solicitor's lien. The Courts in India have complete discretion to allow a set-off, whether in the same action or in different actions, and it extends to the setting off of costs against costs and also in a proper case to the setting off of debts or damages against costs and vice versa. The discretion has to be exercised judicially, having regard to the facts and circumstances of each case. The circumstances considered by the Court are matters relating to the attorney whose lien is sought to be affected irrespective of his client because as between the parties themselves there can hardly be a ground for resisting a set-off. After a set-off has already been allowed an attorney's lien is not protected. 41 Bom.L.R. 1091=I.L.R. 1939 Bom. 892=1939 Bom. 518. Costs are in theory such indemnity for the actual expenses of litigation as the Court allows. They are an indemnity to the party in whose favour they are allowed and not to the attorney engaged by that party. An attorney's lien for costs is not a charge. But the Court assist the attorney either by making a charging order as under the English practice or by making a payment order, the course generally adopted in India. In a case where the judgment-debtor under a decree in favour of the attorney's client is unquestionably liable to pay, the Court will, without much difficulty, make an order for direct payment to the attorney of his wages by the judgment-debtor, if it is satisfied that the attorney has taken reasonable, though not exhaustive, steps to recover his wages from his client. Where the judgment-debtor has a right of set-off as, for example, when he holds a cross-decree, the attorney cannot intercept the right to set-off between the parties unless there is a fraudulent intention on their part to deprive him of his costs. 48 C.W.N. 727. Where a solicitor is engaged by the next friend of a minor plaintiff, the client is the next friend and it is to the next friend, and not to the minor, that the solicitor looks for his costs. Though the solicitor has a lien enforceabe against the next friend, the lien does not exist against the minor. Where, therefore, there is a change of next friend and a new next friend comes in, the solicitor engaged by the former next friend is bound to hand over to the new next friend the papers and documents, etc., though he may not have received his costs of the suit from the old next friend. He cannot withhold the documents, etc., from the new next friend by pleading his lien. I.L.R. (1938) Bom. 749 =40 Bom.L.R. 694=1938 Bom. 418. See also 1942 O.W.N. 68. General and special lien distinguished, see 1932 B. 363=34 Bom.L.R. 703. The solicitor's lien never precludes a fair and honest arrangement between the parties unless the solicitor is in a position to prove that there was a fraudulent intention on the part of the plaintiff and defendant to cheat him of the costs payable to him by the party. 1932 B. 352=34 Bom.L.R. 721. Nature of an advocate's lien, see 55 M. 455=62 M.L.J. 185. The question whether an attorney's lien should or should not be allowed to intercept a set-off between the parties to the suit is in India a matter of discretion. The lien has no overriding priority.. 34 Bom.L.R. 1429=1932 B. 619. The sum deposited by a party under O. 45, r. 7, C.P. Code, to be available for the payment of the costs of the respondents in case their Lordships of the Privy Council ordered such costs to be paid is not the subject-matter of dispute or the part of the action and, therefore, after the appeal is allowed, a lien cannot be claimed on that amount by a legal practitioner appearing for the appellant before the High Court. Quaere—Whether an Advocate is entitled to claim the same lien which an ordinary Solicitor would be entitled to in any land. 1932 A.L.J. 764=1933 A. 3. Pleader's fees are to be allowed to a party on the basis of what is actually paid, or what might reasonably have been paid, whichever is less. 1928 N. 289=111 I.C. 843. A pleader including in his fee ceritficate the fee promised but not actually paid to him, under a misapprehension of law and not dishonestly cannot be said to be guilty of misconduct. 58 A. 307=38 Bom.L.R. 731=40 C.W.N. 933=1936 P.C. 176=71 M.L.J. 631 (P.C.). There may be cases in which the fee due to a vakil may be adjusted, otherwise than by actual payment of money. Such an adjustment, however, should be, something more than a mere agreement to pay. When a promissory note, especially, a negotiable instrument, is given, it may not be dishonest even if no fee was received and it may be too strong an expression to describe such a certificate as a false certificate. It is doubtful if Note (ii) to r. 30 of the Legal Practioners' Rules is strictly correct. 30 L.W. 977 =1930 M. 413=57 M.L.J. 780. Fees of junior counsel—Two-thirds scale adopted for taxation purposes. See 58 C. 505=1931 C. 523. According to the rules, only such sum can be taxed as legal practitioner's fee as has been actually paid and certified by the legal practitioner to whom it has been paid. Where a receiver of an insolvent's estate who happens to be a legal practitioner conducts his own case and does not pay any fees to any legal parctitioner, the Court cannot direct any legal fees to be taxed as costs. 163 I.C. 831=1936 A.L.J. 698=1936 All. 489. Where several pleaders are engaged by a party to a litigation, in the absence of any agreement as to the amount of their fees, each pleader is entitled to his fees up to the full fee assessed at the hearing. It is not the rule that all of them should divide among them a single hearing fee of the amount assessed as pleader's fee in the case. 20 Pat.L.T. 352=18 Pat. 213. Where undue influence is not apparent, and a solicitor has agreed to accept taxed costs in the event of success so as to lighten the burden on his client in the event of failure, the agreement cannot be looked upon with disfavour, and the Court will respect the terms of such an agreement of employment. Where a solicitor for a respondent to a Privy Council appeal agrees to accept a reduced fee, stipulating that in the event of the client's success in the appeal he should be paid the full taxed costs, that agreement cannot be regarded as invalid or unenforceable either in practice or in law. It is competent to the solicitor to recover the amount covered by his bill of costs from the amount of security deposited by the appellant. The High Court has power to pass a summary order directing payment out of such amount to the solicitor to whom costs are due from the respondent. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 307=41 Bom.L.R. 410=1939 Bom. 250. Where a decree grants two reliefs, viz., possession of immovable property, and costs, the fee allowable on a petition for execution of the portion relating to costs will be only one-fourth of the fee permissible on the amount awarded as costs. SUIT FOR ACCOUNTS.—Even if there is no "general agency" between a counsel and client, nevertheless a suit for accounts can be maintained by the client against his counsel in respect of the moneys entrusted to the latter in the several suits in which he was engaged. (50 M. 249, Foll.). 140 I.C. 564 =33 P.L.R. 1074=1933 L. 60.

TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN ADVOCATE AND CLIENT.—A pleader advanced moneys to his client and obtained a mortgage in favour of his son. In a suit on the mortgage it is incumbent on the plaintiff to prove utmost good faith; and all evidence regarding it should be preserved. Pleaders who deal with their clients must take care not only that the transaction is fair, but also that they are in a position to prove that it was fair. 12 Luck. 435 =1937 O. 87=1936 O.W.N. 1033=164 I.C. 945. Transactions of mortgage between a solicitor and client to secure the repayment of money advanced at the time are not ordinarily subjected by Courts to the same jealous scrutiny as, for instance, a gift from a client to a solicitor, or purchases or sales at under-value between a solicitor and client. If the money was sorely needed and was paid, the mortgagor had its benefit, the rate of interest was reasonable and the terms neither excessive nor onerous there is no reason why the transaction should not stand as a valid mortgage between the parties. 67 I.A. 431=I.L.R. 1940 K.P.C. 419=191 I.C. 94=52 L.W. 777=1940 P.C. 204 (P.C.). R. 13 of the rules of Court framed under the Legal Practitioners Act, prohibits practitioners from purchasing any interest in any decree either from their clients or any other person. Such a purchase and execution of such a decree for a sum known to him to be in excess of that which was actually due, amount to a grave professional misconduct. I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 399=1938 Mad. 276 (F. B.). Where the relationship between a legal practitioner and his client becomes that of debtor and creditor, the pleader being allowed to retain and use the client's money as a loan, failure by the debtor to pay the money on demand does not amount to professional misconduct. Lawyers should not, except in very exceptional cases, accept loans from their clients. Where a lawyer has withdrawn money for a client and has been permitted to retain it, a document evidencing the transaction should in every case be drawn up. It is essential, in cases where the relationship of pleader and client has been changed to one of debtor and creditor, that the clearest evidence of such a change should be obtainable. But once the relationship of pleader and client is changed into one of debtor and creditor, no question of misconduct can arise, because failure by the debtor to pay the money on demand does not amount to professional misconduct. To borrow money from the client who places confidence in the pleader, when the latter is aware that it would be extremely difficult for him to repay it is most reprehensible. No lawyer should ever borrow money from a client unless he is sure that he can repay it when the client demands repayment. 18. Pat. 580=20 P.L.T. 607=1939 Pat. 343 (S.B.). An attorney of a trustee cannot apply for payment of his costs out of the trust estate unless he gets an order against the trustee under Ch. XXXVIII, R. 48. He must also show that the estate is indebted to the trustee for the amount claimed by him. Matters of this description cannot be investigated in a chamber application. 49 C.W.N. 263. R. 17 of the Madras Rules only prohibits a practitioner from purchasing from his client or from any other person any interest in a decree passed by the Court in which he practises, but there is no rule prohibiting a practitioner from bidding at an auction held in execution proceedings instituted by him on behalf of his client. The words "or other person" in r. 73 of O. 21, C.P. Code, does not include a legal practitioner who has no duty to perform in connection with the sale. Desiliability of a rule prohibiting a practitioner from bidding either in his own name or in the name of another at a Court sale held in execution of a decree obtained by his client pointed out. I.L.R. (1946) M. 521=1946 M. 245 =(1946) 1 M.L.J. 218 (F.B.).

OBLIGATION OF COUNSEL NOT TO MAKE STATEMENTS BASED ON SURMISES.—When counsel take on themselves the responsibility of making statements of fact to the Court, the Court is entitled to assume that those statements are true in every particular, so that it may implicitly rely upon them. This is a rule which admits of no qualification and it is an honourable obligation of the Bar and of great value in the administration of justice. It is therefore improper on the part of counsel to make statements of fact before the Court which are based on mere surmises or guesses. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. (F.C.) 52=1940 F.C. 25=(1940) 1 M.L.J. (Supp.) 28.

SEC. 3: LEGAL PRACTITIONER.—The right of a Barrister-at-Law to appear in the High Court or in the Courts subordinate to it arises from his enrolment as an Advocate and not otherwise (25 A. 509, overruled.) 55 A. 570=1933 A. 417=1933 A.L.J. 451 (F.B.).

SOLICITOR—PERSONAL LIABILITY FOR COSTS. —Once a solicitor is on record, the opposing party is entitled to look to him, if successful for his costs, if it turns out that the so-called plaintiff is a non-existent person. (Case-law discussed.) 58 B. 1=145 I.C. 641 =1933 B. 317=35 Bom.L.R. 554.

CARE IN CHOOSING CLERKS—CHECK ON THEM. —There is a duty cast upon members of a monopolistic profession, like the legal profession, to exercise care and due diligence in the persons whom they employ, and if they choose to employ a person known by them to be irresponsible without taking adequate steps to keep a close personal check upon his actions, then they are themselves at fault and become liable to be called to account. 1938 Nag. 370.

TOUT.—To declare a person a tout it must be proved that he gets the employment in any legal business from any practitioner for moving for such practitioner. Merely looking after people's cases and writing petitions does not make a person a tout. 62 I.C. 829 =22 Cr.L.J. 589. A person to be a tout must have been paid or proposed to be paid for bringing a client. 6 P. 567=102 I.C. 340= 1927 P. 282. See also 28 I.C. 918. A munsif may refuse to recognize a person as pleader's clerk, if he be not a bona fide clerk. 10 C.W.N. 49. If the enquiry is entrusted to a Subordinate Court it is the Subordinate Court which must be satisfied that the person is proved to be a tout. Where the Joint Magistrate held on enquiry that the person was not a tout but the District Magistrate without further enquiry and without notice to the party declared him a tout, held, that the order was illegal. 1930 A.L.J. 961=1930 A. 611. It is reasonable and legitimate inference of fact that if a man attends Court every day, works after the cases of clients, even pays to pleaders and realizes costs and engages pleaders and also realizes their fees, he is not rendering gratuitous service such as a casual friend or acquaintance may do. 56 C. 800=115 I.C. 602 (2)=1929 C. 196.

ATTORNEY—CHANGE BY LITIGANT—RIGHT OF ATTORNEY IN RESPECT OF COSTS.—A litigant has the right to employ any attorney he likes and to change him for another attorney in the course of the same proceeding if he so wishes, provided that he does not thereby cause delay or injustice to any other party or inconvenience to the Court. If he has not paid costs to the attorney whom he wishes to discharge that would affect his right to obtain papers and documents on which the attorney might claim a lien for his unpaid costs. But it is not open to an attorney to say that his client shall continue to employ him in the suit or proceeding until all the costs due to him are paid. 35 Bom.L.R. 298=1933 B. 182. It is clear that, in the absence of misconduct on the part of the advocate on record, the client is not entitled to the sanction of the Court for a change of the advocate, without making a satisfactory arrangement to pay the advocate who has had charge of the case till then. If the client proposes to abandon him when the case is ready for hearing and to engage another advocate, it is only proper that the advocate on record should be paid his full fee before the change of vakalat is sanctioned. 1945 M. 190=58 L.W. 34=(1945) 1 M. L.J. 56. No order for change of attorney should be made unless provision is made for payment of costs to the attorney subject of course to this that no such provision will be made where the attorney has by his own conduct or misconduct discharged himself. 60 C. 1273=37 C.W.N. 998=1934 C. 58.

ATTORNEY—LIEN—KINDS OF—PASSIVE OR RETAINING LIEN—NATURE OF.—The rights of an attorney in India are the same as the rights of a solicitor in England, except in so far as the latter have been diminished or increased by statute. A solicitor in England is entitled to three kinds of lien to protect his right to recover his costs from his client, namely: (i) a passive or retaining lien; (ii) a common law lien on property recovered or preserved by his efforts; (iii) a statutory lien enforceable by a charging order. Indian statutory law contains no provision for the last mentioned lien but the other two kinds of lien are available in India. The lien on property recovered or preserved by the efforts of the solicitor is a particular lien and not a general lien and it is not available for the general balance of account between the attorney and his client but extends only to the costs of recovering or preserving the property in suit. The passive or retaining lien is not affected or curtailed by sec. 171 of the Contract Act. This lien enures in favour of the solicitor in respect of all deeds, papers or other personal chattels which come into his possession in the course of his professional employment. This is a general lien but with reference to moneys recovered by the solicitor for his client, he has no such general lien. Whether he obtains possession of the money which is the fruit of his exertions or whether it is still in deposit in Court, in either case, his lien or right to be paid out of those funds is confined to the costs incurred in respect of those funds, subject only to this, that he has the ordinary rights of set off which one creditor has against another. 60 C. 1442=149 I. SEC. 4.—Sec. 4 does not apply to Advocates enrolled by any High Court under the Bar Councils Act, in view of sec. 38 of the Legal Practitioners Act as amended by sec. 19 of the Bar Councils Act. Therefore an advocate of the Bombay High Court enrolled as such by that Court who is not ordinarily prac-

Provided that no such vakil [2][or pleader] shall be entitled to practise under this section before a Judge of the High Court, Division Court or High Court exercising original jurisdiction in a Presidency-town.

Attorneys of High Court.

Every person now or hereafter entered as an attorney on the roll of any High Court shall be entitled to practise in all the Courts subordinate to such High Court and in all revenue-offices situate within the local limits of the appellate jurisdiction of such High Court, and every person so entered who ordinarily practises in the Court on the roll of which he is so entered or some Court subordinate thereto shall, notwithstanding anything herein contained, be entitled as such, to practise in any Court in British India other than a High Court established by Royal Charter on the roll of which he is not entered and in any revenue-office.

The High Court of the province in which an attorney practises under this section may from time to time, make rules declaring what shall be deemed to be the functions, powers and duties of an attorney so practising.

OF PLEADERS AND MUKHTARS.

Power to make rules as to qualifications, etc., of pleaders and mukhtars.

6. The High Court may, from time to time make rules[1] consistent with this Act as to the following matters (namely) :—

(a) the qualifications. admission and certificates of proper persons to be pleaders of the subordinate Courts, and of the revenue-offices situate within the local limits of its appellate jurisdiction, and, in the case of a High Court not established by Royal Charter [2][in respect of which the Indian Bar Councils Act. 1926, is not in force] of such Court;

(b) the qualifications, admission and certificates of proper persons to be mukhtars of the subordinate Courts, and, in the case of a High Court not established by Royal Charter, [2][in respect of which the Indian Bar Councils Act. 1926, is not in force] of such Court;

(c) the fees to be paid for the examination and admission of such persons; and (d) suspension and dismissal of such pleaders and mukhtars.

Publication of rules.

All such rules shall be published in the Official Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law; provided that, in the case of rules made by a High Court not established by Royal Charter, such rules have been previously approved by the Provincial Government.

Certificates to pleaders and mukhtars.

7. On the admission, under section 6, of any person as a pleader or mukhtar, the High Court shall cause a certificate, signed by such officer as the Court, from time to time appoints in this behalf, to be issued to such person, authorizing him to practise up to the end of the current year in the Courts and, in the case of a pleader, also the revenue-offices specified therin.

At the expiration of such period, the holder of the cetrificate, if he desires to continue to practise, shall, subject to any rules consistent with this Act which may, from time to time, be made by the High Court in this behalf, be entitled to have his certificate renewed by the Judge of the District Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction he then ordinarily practises, or by such officer as the High Court, from time to time, appoints in this behalf.

On every such renewal, the certificte then in possession of such pleader or mukhtar shall be cancelled and retained by such Judge or officer.

Every certificate so renewed shall be signed by such Judge or officer, and shall continue in force up to the end of the current year.

Every Judge or officer so renewing a certificate shall notify such renewal to the High Court:

[3][Provided that, on the admission as a pleader of any person who has been prviously entered as a Vakil or attorney on the roll of a High Court established by Royal Charter, the High Court may, in its discretion, issue to such person a certificate authorizing him to practise permanently in the Courts, and in the offices specified therein, and a certificate so issued shall not require to be renewed under this section.]

SEC. 8.—Appellate jurisdiction, meaning of. See 24 A. 348 (F.B.).

Pleaders on enrolment may practise in Courts and revenue-offices.

be enrolled in any Court or revenue-office mentioned therein and situate within the local limits of the appellate jurisdiction of the High Court by which he has been admitted; and, subject to such rules[1] consistent with this Act as the High Court or the Chief Controlling Revenue authority may, from time to time, make in this behalf, the presiding Judge or officer shall enrol him accordingly, and thereupon he may appear, plead and act in such Court or office and in any Court or revenue-office subordinate thereto.

Mukhtars on enrolment may practise in Courts.

9. Every mukhtar holding a certificate issued under section 7 may apply to be enrolled in any Civil or Criminal Court mentioned therein, and situate within the same limits; and, subject to such rules as the High Court may from time to time make in this behalf, the presiding Judge shall enrol him accordingly; and thereupon he may practise as a mukhtar in any such Civil Court and any Court subordinate thereto, and may (subject to the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure)[2] appear, plead and act in any such Criminal Court and any Court subordinate thereto.

No person to practise as pleader or mukhtar unless qualified.

10. Except as provided by this Act or any other enactment for the time being in force, no person shall practise as a pleader or mukhtar in any Court not established by Royal Charter unless he holds a certificate issued under section 7 and has been enrolled in such Court or in some Court to which it is subordinate:

Revenue-agents may appear, plead and act in Munsiffs' Courts in suits under Bengal Act VIII of 1869.

Provided that persons who have been admitted as Revenue-agents before the first day of January, 1880, and hold certificates, as such, under this Act in the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, may be enrolled in manner provided by section 9 in any Munsif's Court in the said territories, and on being so enrolled may appear, plead and act in such Court in suits under Bengal Act VIII of 1869[3] (to amend the procedure in suits between Landlord and Tenant) or under any other Act for the time being in force regulating the procedure in suits between landholders and their tenants and agents.

Power to declare functions of Mukhtars.

11. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Civil Procedure[4] the High Court may, from time to time, make rules declaring what shall be deemed to be the functions, powers and duties of mukhtars practising in the subordinate Courts, and, in the case of a High Court not etsablished by Royal Charter, in such Court.

Suspension and dismissal of pleaders and mukhtars convicted of criminal offence.

12. The High Court may suspend or dismiss any pelader or mukhtar holding a certificate issued under section 7 who is convicted of any criminal offence implying a defect of character which unfits him to be a pleader or a mukhtar, as the case may be.

SEC. 12: SCOPE OF SECTION.—The High Court has jurisdiction under this section to take action against a pleader who has been convicted of a criminal offence, though the offence was not one committed in his professional capacity. 59 M. 732=1936 Mad. 318 (F.B.)=70 M.L.J. 498 (F.B.). The use of word "may" in sec. 12 after the words "the High Court" shows that the discretion of the High Court in each particular case is absolute. 33 C.W.N. 829=1929 C. 771. It is not sufficient for the applicability of the section that the pleader has been convicted of a criminal offence. Though the Court cannot in the exercise of its disciplinary jurisdiction question the propriety of the conviction, it has yet to inquire into the nature of the crime in order to decide whether the offence was such as to imply defect of character rendering him unfit to continue in the profession. 12 Pat.L.T. 773=1931 P. 369 (F.B.). See also 1938 Rang. 394=1938 R.L.R. 125. Where a legal practitioner has been convicted of a criminal offence and his case is sent to the Bar Council for enquiry to determine if any disciplinary action was called for, the Bar Council should merely record the conviction and should call on the legal practitioner to show cause why action should not be taken against him. It is not open to it to justify the action of the legal practitioner. 1938 Rang. 394. A legal practitioner was convicted of criminal breach of trust and abetment thereof in respect of certain monies of a client. It was found that he was to a certain extent the victim of his senior. He paid the amount of defalcation after his conviction. The High Court in consideration of the fact that he was a victim of circumstances and had expressed his repentance and assured to lead an honourable life, suspended the practitioner for one year. 33 C. W. N. 829=1929 C. 771. Sec. 12 has no application unless the conviction shows the convict to be unfit to be a pleader. 27 N.L. R. 29=1931 N. 33 (S.B.). The words "criminal offence" used in sec. 12 mean an offence punishable under Penal Code as well as any act or omission made punishable by any law for the time being in force which is indictable and punishable criminally by Courts of justice. 12 Pat.L.T. 773=1931 P. 369 (F. B.). Sec. 12 contains no implication that disciplinary action against a pleader convicted of an offence cannot be based on his conduct when such conduct includes the commission of any offence for which he has been punished. Disciplinary action is not taken by way of punishment, but on consideration whether the person formerly admitted to practice is a proper person to continue to practise or not. No one can be admitted to practise until he makes a solemn declaration, and the inference is that one who has contravened his declaration and is likely to do so in future is not such a person. The fact that the motive of the pleader in taking part in a Civil Disobedience movement was to draw attention to the dissatisfaction with the forest policy of Government is no justification nor is the fact that he was only a participant and not a leader in the movement material in considering the necessity for disciplinary action. 27 N.L.R. 29=1931 N. 33 (S.B.). Conviction of pleader under Defence of India Rules for uttering anti-war slogans is no ground for disciplinary action. 46 C.W. N. 405=75 C.L.J. 428. In order to see when disciplinary action under sec. 12 should be taken against a pleader who has been convicted under r. 38 read with r. 34 (6) (e) of the Defence of India Rules, 1939, the Court must not merely accept the fact that he has been convicted but must consider the material upon which he has been convicted. Where the speech for which he has been convicted incites others to break the law which it is the duty of the Courts to administer, and to do acts tending to subvert order, the Court is entitled to take disciplinary action against him. I.L.R. (1941) Lah. 736=44 P.L.R. 471=A. I.R. 1942 Lah. 85 (F.B.). A pleader who was 60 years old and who had been of unblemished character was convicted under sec. 409, I.P. Code for embezzlement of client's money. Held, that the pleader was liable to be removed from the rolls notwithstanding his age and previous good character. 1938 Rang. 288. See also 1939 M. 906=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 632. But see 165 I.C. 601=1936 Lah. 717. A pleader is not entitled to go behind the conviction in order to show that his conviction was not justified either in law or on facts and that he committed no offence. 27 N.L.R. 29=1931 Nag. 33 (S.B.). Conviction of legal practitioner is sufficient without any further enquiry to justify the High Court in taking proceedings under sec. 12. It is not permissible to go behind the conviction and the pleader cannot be allowed to have indirect appeals against the judgment of conviction. 1929 C. 771; 59 M. 732=1936 M. 318=70 M. L.J. 498 (F.B.). Though it is not incompetent for the High Court to deal under Art. 8, Letters Patent, with charges of a criminal nature against a practitioner unless and until these have been investigated by a Criminal Court, it is eminently fitting that in such cases the criminal prosecution should precede any disciplinary decision. 58 I.A. 152=53 A. 183 =1931 P.C. 112=61 M.L.J. 130 (P.C.). The charges of professional misconduct must be clearly proved and should not be inferred from mere ground of suspicion however reasonable or from what may be a mere error of judgment or indiscretion. 1939 R.D. 641 (2)= 1940 A.W.R. (B.R.) 5 (1). Where the allegations against a legal practitioner amount to a criminal charge, the proper procedure is to prosecute him criminally in the first instance before bringing proceedings under the Legal Practitioners Act. Otherwise he is likely to be prejudiced inasmuch as these are summary proceedings in the nature of a summons trial. 178 I.C. 456=I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 138=1938 Cal. 783. See also 54 M. 857=1932 M. 131 =61 M.L.J. 148 (F.B.).

CONVICTION OF PLEADER—CONVICTION BY A FOREIGN COURT.—The conviction of a legal practitioner for perjury is a good ground for striking off his name from the roll of practitioners. Where the conviction is by a foreign Court, but the law is the same as in India and there has been a fair trial, the same principles will apply. An order of disbarment is not conclusive for all time; if circumstances change and the Court is convinced that the delinquent has been brought to a higher sense of honour and duty, the order can be cancelled. Disbarment of a member of the English Bar by the Benchers of his inn does not ipso facto lead to his being struck off the rolls of an Indian High Court. The matter would have to be decided under the discretion given by the Letters Patent. 45 M.L.J. 639=46 M. 903=1924 M. 265 (F.B.). Legal practitioners are officers of the Court and it is there clear duty to respect law themselves and to get it respected by others. If a legal practitioner disobeys an order promulgated by a public servant lawfully empowered to promulgate such order, his action amounts to defiance of law, and he is, therefore, liable to be dealt with under the disciplinary jurisdiction of the High Court. 42 P.L.R. (J. and K.) 77=1940 L. 107.

NO DISTINCTION ON PRINCIPLE CAN BE MADE BETWEEN POLITICAL OFFENCES AND OTHER KINDS OF LAW-BREAKING.—Pleader convicted of waging war against the King under Sec. 121, I.P. Code, has defect of character, which unfits, him to continue in practice. 59 M. 732 =1936 M. 318=70 M.L.J. 498 (F.B.). Where a pleader wilfully breaks the law upon one or two isolated occasions it may not be necessary for the Court to take any action under sec. 12 of the Legal Practitioners Act. Where, on the other hand, it is shown that the pleader has wilfully and habitually broken the law, then the Court may quite reasonably come to the conclusion that his acts imply such a defect of character as to render him unfit to practise as a pleader and in such a case the Court may dismiss him from practice. Where the acts of the pleader fall midway between the two extremes, then the Court may take a more lenient view and may think it sufficient to warn the pleader by inflicting upon him a period of suspenison or otherwise, that if he persists in breaking or defying the law, such conduct will inevitably lead the Court to the conclusion that he is totally unfit to practise in the Courts which have been established to enforce the law. 38 C.W.N. 276=1934 C. 242 (2). A pleader was prosecuted three times and convicted twice for semi-political offences. Held, that the case fell within the mediate position and warning with suspension was sufficient. 35 Cr.L.J. 592= 148 I.C. 57=1934 C. 242 (2). An order binding over a pleader under sec. 118, Cr.P. Code, may not be a conviction for an offence. But a pleader who is convicted under sec. 17 (2) of the Criminal Law Amendment Act is guilty of nothing short of an open and definant violation of law. Seeing that it is the duty of the members of the legal profession to assist the Courts to maintain and enforce obedience to law, such conduct in a pleader is such a defect of character as would unfit him to be a pleader, and make him liable to action under sec. 12 of the Act. 152 I.C. 943=1934 C. 808. Where a pleader was convicted under the Defence of India Rules for uttering a slogan to the effect that none should assist the British Government in their war efforts as it was the duty of everybody to resist all wars by non-violence. Held, that in the circumstances of the case the exercise of disciplinary jurisdiction under sec. 12 was not called for. 46 C. W.N. 405. In order to see whether disciplinary action under sec. 12 of the Legal Practitioners Act should be taken against a pleader who has been convicted under R. 38 read with R. 34 (6) (e) of the Defence of India Rules, 1939, the Court must not merely accept the fact that he has been convicted but must consider the material upon which he has been convicted. Where the speech for which he has been convicted incites others to break the law which it is the duty of the Courts to administer, and to do acts tending to subvert order, the Court is entitled to take disciplinary action against him. I.L.R. (1944) Lah. 736=1942 L. 85 (F.B.). See also 44 Cr.L.J. 743=1943 Cal. 371 (conviction of pleader under R. 38 (5), Defence of India Rules, does not imply defect of character and does not call for disciplinary action). 44 Cr.L.J. 707=1943 Cal. 370 (conviction under R. 56 of the Defence of India Rules, for taking out a peaceful and orderly procession in contravention of order implies a defect of character which unfits one to be a pleader). See also 1943 M. 475=(1943) 1 M. ILLUSTRATIONS.—Per Mitter, J.—Where a pleader has been convicted of criminal offences for misconduct committed strictly in his professional character, that prima facie renders him unfit to be a member of the profession. The mere fact of conviction of any criminal offence implying moral turpitude can be a sufficient basis in law for an order of suspension or dismissal of a pleader or mukhtar only but not of a vakil whose cases of misconduct are not provided for by the Legal Practitioners Act, but by paragraph 8 of the Letters Patent. 8 O.W.N. 167=1931 O. 161 (F.B.).

SECS. 12 AND 13.—The High Court can act upon the report submitted to it by the District and Subordinate Courts or suo motu take action for either suspension or dismissal of a pleader. 12 Pat.L.T. 773=1931 P. 369 (F. B.).

SECS. 12 TO 14: DISCIPLINARY JURISDICTION—HIGH COURT'S DISCRETION—IF CAN BE FETTERED BY LOCAL GOVERNMENT.—The Local Government have no locus standi in any way to fetter the discretion of the High Court to take or not take any action under Cl. 8, Letters Patent, or under the Legal Practitioners Act against any legal practitioner; the matter is one which is entirely within the discretion of the High Court. As the Local Government is not competent to claim that action should be taken against any particular legal practitioner, it has also no right or power either to abandon any proceedings or to condone the conduct of the legal practitioner so far as it comes within the purview of the disciplinary jurisdiction of the High Court so as to bind it in any way. 15 L. 354=1934 L. 251 (S.B.).

The proceedings under sec. 13 are of a quasi criminal nature, it is the duty of the applicant who is more or less in the position of complainant to go into the witness-box and substantiate his allegation before producing any other witnesses, and what is more important, to submit himself to cross-examination. 1930 L. 947. Provisions of the C. P. Code, are applicable to proceedings under sec. 13 of this Act. 21 C.W.N. 564; 23 C.W.N. 560. In a case a misappropriation of client's money by the Advocate, when the same has been brought to the notice of the Court, the charge cannot be permitted to be squared up or withdrawn. 1937 Mad. 696=(1937) 2 M. L.J. 160 (F.B.).

DISCIPLINARY ACTION BY HIGH COURT—CONSIDERATIONS.—The point to be considered in all cases of disciplinary action against a member of the Bar is whether his conduct involves unfitness on his part for the exercise of his profession. Moral turpitude which would entitle the Court to take action must be such as is connected with the pleader's profession or consist of any attack upon the system of which the Court forms part or embarrasses in any way the administration of justice by the Courts. A speech of a vakil alleged to injure the feelings of an important sect of the Mohammadans does not fall in any of these categories and is, therefore, not one which would induce the High Court of Jammu and Kashmir to take any action against him. The State imposes suitable penalties for the infringement of its laws and provides proper sanctions for the enforcement of such penalties and there is no reason why the disciplinary jurisdiction vested in the High Court should be employed merely in aid of the Criminal Law. 37 P.L.R. J. & K. 16.

PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT.—Per Krishnan, J.—The Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, deals with the Pleader only in his professional capacity and not in his private capacity though misconduct other than professional may fall under cl. (f). 38 M.L.J. 230=55 I.C. 198 (F. B.) Under sec. 13 the impropriety must be such as would render the continuance of the pleader in practice undesirable or unfit him for being a member of the profession. 38 M.L. J. 230. See also 88 I.C. 279=26 Cr.L.J. 1111 =1925 Rang. 110. Failure to make proper arrangements for conduct of case in his absence though it should not be encouraged by Courts is not misconduct deserving punishment under this section. 1939 Rang. 262. Finding of Criminal Court that pleader is not guilty should be accepted in proceedings under Legal Practitioners Act. Mere negligence does not amount to misconduct. I.L. R. 1945 M. 247=1945 M. 55=57 L.W. 567= (1944) 2 M.L.J. 317. The High Court has power to entertain a petition for the reinstatement of an advocate struck off the rolls. When a question of re-instatement arises what the Court has to see is whether the applicant, since he was disbarred, has honestly endeavoured to rehabilitate his character so that if restored to Bar he will be upright and honest and he can be expected to conduct himself as an officer of the Court and co-operate in the administration of law and maintenance of order. 24 Mys.L.J. 83.

MISCONDUCT—TEST—RULES FOR GUIDANCE.—The principles to be applied in considering whether certain conduct amounts to misconduct or not are as follows: (1) that the mere holding of certain views and expression of such views in language however emphatic or strong is no ground for taking disciplinary action against a legal practitoiner; (2) that mere conviction for an offence is not sufficient but the Court must look into the nature of the act on which the conviction is based to decide whether the legal practitioner is an unfit person to remain in profession; (3) that a legal practitioner is a part of the machinery provided for the maintenance of order and the enforcement of the law of the land; it is therefore inconsistent with his duties as legal practitioner to incite others either to boycott the Courts or to break the law which it is the duty of the Courts to administer; those who live by the law cannot preach the breaking of the law; (4) that organized breach of the peace, incitement to acts tending to subvert order is a reasonable cause to suspend or remove a legal practitioner; and (5) that acts involving moral turpitude or which imply general infamy make a legal practitioner unfit to remain on the rolls of the Court. 15 Lah. 354=1934 Lah. 251 (S.B.). A legal practitioner is not merely a lawyer but also a moral agent. As such he is a Judge of right or wrong, and an advocate of what is right. Search for truth is to be his ideal. The practice of law is a personal right or privilege limited to selected persons of good character. It is a franchise which may be revoked for misconduct, the test being whether the misconduct is such as shows him to be unfit or unsafe to discharge the duties of his office, or unworthy of confidence; no legal practitioner can disclaim responsibility for his acts. Just as he is entitled to enjoy the privileges of his profession, he has also peculiar obligations and responsibilities attached. 12 Mys.L.J. 292=39 Mys. H.C.R. 380. In an enquiry into charges of professional misconduct, it is the duty of the legal practitioner to be absolutely candid with the Court. He may unwisely maintain a stolid silence and take up the position that the case against him must be completely proved. In such case he runs a grave risk. On the other hand, if he elects to state his defence, it ought not to be a perversion of truth. 12 Mys.L.J. 222=39 Mys.H.C.R. 203. Misconduct is not necessarily the same thing as conduct involving moral turpitude. 15 Lah. 354=1934 Lah. 251 (S.B.). The motive of the informer in starting disciplinary action against an advocate is immaterial. 15 Lah. 354 (S.B.).

MADRAS RULES, R. 17—PURCHASE BY LEGAL PRACTITIONER AT SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE OF CLIENT—IF "MISCONDUCT".—R. 17 of the Rules framed by the High Court under the Legal Practitioners' Act only prohibits a practitioner from purchasing from his client or from any other person any interest in a decree passed by the Court in which he practises, but there is no rule prohibiting a practitioner from bidding at an auction held in execution proceedings instituted by him on behalf of his client. The words "or other person" in r. 73 of O. 21, C.P. Code, does not include a legal practitioner who has no duty to perform in connection with the sale. Desirability of a rule prohibiting a practitioner from bidding either in his own name or in the name of another at a Court sale held in execution of a decree obtained by his client pointed out. SEC. 13 (a): ACCEPTING VAKALATNAMAS.—Duty of a pleader. 33 I.C. 831=20 C.W.N. 283. Advocates accepting vakalat for withdrawal of money or for any such serious responsibility should satisfy themselves as to the bona fides of the person who offers it; and this is necessary even if there be no apparent circumstances to justify any suspicion. 16 Pat. 488=18 Pat.L.T. 407=1937 Pat. 433 (S.B.); 16 Pat. 123=17 Pat.L.T. 948=1937 Pat. 137 (S.B.). If a pleader acts bona fide in accepting vakalatnama but makes a serious mistake, there is no need for the Court to take up the matter again after a long time has elapsed. The rules should be strictly observed by pleaders in accepting vakalatnama. 65 I.C. 417=1922 Cal. 178. See also 19 Cr.L.J. 227=43 I.C. 819 (C.). Where an advocate appeared in certain criminal proceedings without filing a vakalatnama, though required by the rules of the Court, held, though the rules requiring the filing of a vakalatnama or mukhtarnama in criminal proceedings is an arbitrary rule having no moral sanction behind it, it is a rule which an officer of the Court must comply with but a disobedience of that rule did not amount to professional misconduct in the particular case. 12 Pat. 843=14 Pat.L.T. 709 =1933 Pat. 571 (S.B.). See also 13 Mys.L.J. 24; 12 Mys.L.J. 383. PLEADER NOT RENEWING CERTIFICATE.—It is not the law that a pleader who has not renewed his sanad for the year in which his conduct is called in question is no longer a "legal practitioner". He does come within sec. 13 and can be struck off the rolls for misconduct under sec. 13 even if he has not renewed his certificate. I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 17=56 L.W. 401 (2)=1943 M.W.N. 516=1943 Mad. 616=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 126 (F.B.). See also I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 633=1944 Mad. 244 =(1944) 1 M.L.J. 123.

PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT of a solicitor or pleader must be judged by the rules and standards of his profession. 23 S.L.R. 245=115 I.C. 318=30 Cr.L.J. 445=1929 Sind 121 (F.B.). A pleader who obtains adjournment of a case on grounds which, to his knowledge, were false is guilty of improper conduct. 54 M. 520=1931 M. 422=60 M.L.J. 393 (F.B.). Taking a personal interest in the litigation (as) financing the same and bargaining for a share of the profits may amount to misconduct on the part of an advocate. 1932 L. 584. See also I.L.R. (1943) Mad. 30=1942 M. 601=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 196 (F.B.). A solicitor acting for a client in any transaction, should not have a personal interest in that transaction without making full disclosure of the nature and extent of the interest to the client. 44 L.W. 315=163 I.C. 434=1936 P.C. 224 (P.C.). Where, a solicitor occupying the position of a trustee of an estate, while entering into certain transactions relating to the estate, considers his own interests in preference to and to the detriment of the interest of the beneficiaries of the estate of which he is a trustee, his action is such as would reasonably be regarded as disgraceful and dishonourable by his professional brethren of repute and competency and he is guilty of professional misconduct. 163 I. C. 434=44 L.W. 315=1936 P.C. 224 (P.C.).

SEC. 13 (b): GROSSLY IMPROPER CONDUCT —APPEARING ON OPPOSITE SIDES.—A professional gentleman should as far as possible stick to the side who first employed him. 28 I.C. 996=16 Cr.L.J. 420 (All.). See also 1930 P.C. 144=58 M.L.J. 635 (P.C.). In order to prevent a counsel appearing for the other party, he must have a definite retainer with a fee paid or he must have such confidential instructions from one of the parties as would make it improper for him to appear for the other party. 1939 R.D. 641 (2)= 1940 A.W.R. A pleader who acts for both the parties in the suit at one stage or other is guilty of professional misconduct. 45 I.C. 684=3 Pat.L.J. 390. Where a pleader accepted a brief against his standing clients at a time when his exclusive retainer by that party was still running, pleader acted not only in violation of the principals which govern the conduct of a legal adviser but also of the ordinary principles of good faith as between man and man and was guilty of grossly improper conduct. 32 Bom. A legal practitioner had acted for the appellant in a prior suit wherein the appellant asked that an award by an arbitrator in a dispute in respect of a conveyance should be set aside. A plea was therein filed that the respondent persuaded the appellant to execute a conveyance wherein the consideration was falsely stated. The later suit related to the same conveyance and the prayer of the appellant therein was that it should be set aside on the ground of fraud and failure of consideration. Held, that though the conduct of the legal practitioner in appearing for the respondent in the later proceeding was not dishonest, the Court could, considering the possibility of mischief to the other party, direct that he should not take any further part in the proceeding. 125 I.C. 262=8 R. 44=1930 Rang. 185. Pleader appointed as commissioner in the case cannot act as vakil for one of the parties. 100 I.C. 309=1927 Cal. 203. The mere fact that a lawyer is cited as a witness by the prosecution would not disqualify him from appearing as counsel for the accused in the case. No doubt it is not in accordance with professional etiquette for a lawyer who has given evidence as a witness for the prosecution to accept or to continue to hold a brief from the accused. But the mere citing of an Advocate as a witness by the Police does not operate as a disqualification. 1938 M. 878=48 L.W. 276 =(1938) 2 M.L.J. 466. Pleader entering record-room without permission of Judge incharge in defiance of standing order of District Judge not proper—Duty of pleader and of Judge-in-charge. 17 Pat. 261=1938 Pat. 385 (S.B.).

APPEARING FOR THE OPPOSITE PARTY WHEN NOT MISCONDUCT.—A pleader acting for one party in one proceeding is not debarred from appearing against that party in another proceeding unless his services were sought by the party in the latter case and refused by pleader on insufficient grounds. 1928 M. 592. See also 13 A.L.J. 475=30 I.C. 145 (F.B.); I.L.R. 1938 M. 399=1938 M.W.N. 220=1938 Mad. 276 (F.B.). It cannot be said that there is anything professionally wrong in acting for an opposite party when the proceedings are different. I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 399=1938 Mad. 276 (F.B.). That a pleader was merely consulted by complainant at one stage, does not preclude him from appearing for the accused in proceedings regarding a totally different incident. 8 L. 671=1928 L. 65. See also 128 I.C. 354=1930 Rang. 355. A Hindu pleader allowed his father to purchase the very property in respect of which he was working for his client. The transaction took place with the knowledge and consent of his client. But in spite of this knowledge the client allowed the same pleader to continue to work for him. Further, when the pleader appeared for his father against him in a case arising out of the sale transaction, he did not raise any objection against the conduct of the pleader for more than 18 months. Held, that though the pleader did not act up to the standard of propriety which was expected of a member of the legal profession, who must enjoy the complete confidence of the litigant public and the Court and though technically his appearing subsequently against him was improper, yet no disciplinary action was justified. 1938 Pat. 28=1938 P.W.N. 115=172 I.C. 849 (S.B.).

SEPARATE APPEARANCES FOR SAME PARTY IN DIFFERENT CAPACITIES—PROPRIETY.—A solicitor appearing for a client who is interested in two different capacities can state the case of his client in respect of each capacity, but he cannot appear separately for the same person; nor is the since party entitled to appear by separate counsel or separate solicitors in different capacities. 37 Bom.L.R. 49=1935 B. 119.

PLEADER ACTING AS ARBITRATOR.—Where a pleader who had been engaged by the plaintiff withdrew on behalf of defendant money, which he knew was payable to the plaintiff, and took a conspicuous part as arbitrator in a matter in which he was seriously and personally concerned, he was guilty of professional misconduct. 41 I.C. 328=2 P.L.J. 259. Pleader getting himself appointed arbitrator holding out promise to a party is guilty of serious misconduct. 162 I.C. 576=1936 Pesh. 113.

PLEADER BECOMING PROMOTING DIRECTOR OF COMPANY ON MONTHLY REMUNERATION.—A pleader practising in the mofussil is governed by the rules framed by the High Court under the Legal Practitioners Act and the directions given by the High Court from time to time. Where a pleader became a promoting director of a Company with a fixed monthly remuneration without the permission of the High Court, but the Company never in fact carried on business and the pleader never received any remuneration from it.

Held, that the pleader offended against r. 13 of the rules framed by the High Court under the Legal Practitioners Act and the circular order of the High Court of 1916, but the offence being of a technical nature did not call for action. An Advocate should not act as a promoter of a trading Company but he can act as the legal adviser of a Company of which he is a director subject to his remuneration being fixed beforehand. I.L.R. 1944 M. 161=1943 M.W.N. 587=56 L.W. 491=A.I.R. 1943 Mad. 665=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 273 (F.B.).

PLEADER LIKELY TO BE WITNESS IN A CASE.—As to whether such vakil can accept brief, see 5 P. 777=8 P.L.T. 510=1927 P. 61; 117 I.C. 66=1930 L. 361 (2)=48 L.W. 276=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 446=1938 M. 408. Though it is undesirable that a lawyer should appear in a case in which he knows or has reason to believe that he would be an important witness there is no harm in his giving evidence in a case in which he is appearing. 12 Pat. 359=1933 Pat. 306. Pleader appearing for party—Propriety of giving evidence as witness. See 1942 M. 691=44 Cr.L.J. 114=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 479 (F.B.).

PLEADER COLLECTING EVIDENCE FOR CLIENT.—A pleader helping his clients by collecting evidence for them to be used on their behalf does not exceed his duties as their counsel. 134 I.C. 515=1931 L. 246.

ABANDONMENT OF CASE.—A pleader acts improperly in abandoning his client's case while in the midst of the client's examination-in-chief. After once taking up his client's case he ought to have seen that it was terminated. 14 Cr.L.J. 379=20 I.C. 139 (C.). See also 35 C.L.J. 403=26 C.W.N. 580=1923 C. 212.

ABANDONMENT OF ISSUE.—A vakil's general power in the conduct of a suit includes the abandonment of an issue, which in his discretion he thinks it inadvisable to press. 16 L. 328=1935 L. 71.

ACCOUNTS.—Duty of pleader to keep proper accounts. See (1943) 1 M.L.J. 487 (S. B.). There can be no professional misconduct when an advocate puts forward a bona fide claim to a lien on the papers of his client in respect of the outstanding fees. As an advocate fulfils the role of a solicitor also it may be argued that he is entitled to the advantages of a solicitor. Where the mother of a minor employs an advocate to act for her in her own suit as well as in a suit by her as next friend of her minor son, there is no obligation on the part of the advocate under r. 27, note 1, of the rules under the Legal Practitioners Act to keep separate accounts. What the rule requires is that he should keep accounts. 56 L.W. 344=44 Cr.L.J. 735=1943 Mad. 493=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 487=I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 71 (S.B.). If money is paid to an attorney by his client not on account of costs but for a special purpose, it is trust money. It is first his duty to enter the account properly in his own books, to put it into a ledger account or a proper account, and distinguish it from other moneys. If he has a general client's account in the bank, he must put it into that. If he has not, he is to open one and put it into that. He has no right to use the money. The fact that he can pay it back, or may be able to pay it back within a reasonable time, or immediately, makes no difference. I.L.R. (1943) 1 Cal. 81.

WILFUL NEGLECT TO APPEAR NOT EXCUSED BY NON-PAYMENT OF FEES.—It is not proper for Counsel either in the High Court or in the Courts below to merely state to the Court that he has no instructions. He should clearly specify what is the reason for his falling to proceed with the case. It may be that he has not received his fees; it may be that his instructions have been withdrawn or it may be some other reason. But whatever the reason is, he should clearly state it to the Court. 1936 A.L.J. 902=1936 All. 670. As to negligence see (1944) 2 M.L.J. 317 (F. B.). A pleader is guilty of misconduct if after receipt of full fees he wilfully neglects to appear and conduct the case. 37 M. 238=23 M.L.J. 447. Per Sankaran Nair, J.—In the absence of such an agreement or at least notice to the party in time, a vakil, must appear and conduct the case though the fee or a portion thereof remains unpaid. 37 M. 238=23 M.L.J. 447. See also 10 P.L. T. 723=1929 P. 337 (F.B.). When the client is, for some reason or other, putting off the settlement and payment of fee a legal practitioner would be well advised if he served a registered notice upon him in good time intimating to him that if the client did not settle and pay his fee he would repudiate all his responsibility as a pleader. 1930 L. 947, Per Curiam.—When a pleader accepts a vakalatnama in the ordinary form, he must attend Court on every occasion to protect the interests of the client concerned. Any limitations on his obligation by special agreement must be proved and the onus lies on the pleader. Non-payment is no justification for refusal to attend. 49 C. 732=26 C.W. N. 589=71 I.C. 81=1922 C. 515 (F.B.). Where a pleader signs a vakalatnama on the distinct understanding that a sum paid to him is really in the nature of a part-payment, and that the client will settle the proper fee afterwards and if the client fails to do so, it follows that mere acceptance of vakalatnama cannot cast upon the pleader the duty of defending the case. 129 I.C. 301=1930 L. 947. Taking fees as a pleader in a case where he is in fact a party is grossly improper conduct. 1925 O. 130 (2).

FAILURE TO MAKE CAREFUL ARRANGEMENTS IN A CASE shows a laxity in conduct which deserves no encouragement. 183 I.C. 580= 1930 Rang. 262.

SUPPLEMENTAL FEES.—To agree with a client for a present over and above his fees in the case of success, is disgraceful for an advocate. The failure of a barrister in exacting money as supplemental fee does not absolve him from his original obligation to his client and the Court. 16 I.C. 780=14 Bom.L.R. 691 (F.B.). In the absence of a special contract to the contrary the fees accepted by an Advocate must be taken to be for the whole case. A writing to evidence the terms of engagement between the advocate and the client is always desirable. 16 Cr.L.J. 707=30 I.C. 995.

GIVING IMPROPER ADVICE TO CLIENT.—Pleader advising payment of moneys from minor's estate to the sureties as consideration, held, there was no cause for proceeding against the pleader under sec. 13 (b) or (f). 38 M.L.J. 58=54 I.C. 163. A vakil of the High Court was suspended from practice for two years by the High Court under cl. 10 of the Letters Patent (Madras) for professional misconduct arising from the following acts he did, viz., (1) giving improper advice and getting a nominal sale for a low value; (2) pleading a false defence; (3) giving false evidence and suborning perjury. 39 I.C. 289=40 M. 69. It is well settled that although a legal practitioner has his duty towards his client, he has other duties and responsibilities as well and that he should not on the instructions of his client make a charge of fraud against another in an affidavit without satisfying himself that there are reasonable grounds for the allegation. But he has not got to satisfy himself that the statements made by his client were absolutely true. All that is incumbent on him is to satisfy himself that there are reasonable grounds for believing them. 59 L.W. 401= 1946 M. 538=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 79 (F.B.).

PUTTING IRRELEVANT QUESTIONS IN CROSS-EXAMINATION.—Protracted examinations of witnesses with questions which are quite irrelevant to the suit, and only tend to swell the size of the record, must be deprecated. It is an abuse which enormously increases the cost of litigation without any corresponding benefit to the parties and it is clearly within the powers of the High Court to direct an inquiry with a view to disciplinary action in flagrant cases which come under their notice at the hearing of appeals. 54 All. 912=1932 A.L.J. 198=1932 P.C. 69= 62 M.L.J. 457 (P.C.). As to defamatory suggestion against witnesses, see 29 N.L.R. 24= 1933 N. 47.

ERROR OF LAW.—Error of law is no professional misconduct. 20 C.W.N. 278=23 C. L.J. 237=43 C. 685.

Thus if money is paid for payment of stamp fees it is not open to the legal practitioner to appropriate the same or any part of it towards fees due to him 1930 M.W.N. 216. pentance and plea of indebtedness—Standard of professional conduct. 88 I.C. 360=1925 M. 797 (F.B.). A legal practitioner received money from the Court on behalf of his client and retained it in his own hands without any authority from the client so to retain it. Subsequently he chose to treat it as a loan and gave security which he felt himself at liberty to withdraw at his own will and pleasure. Held, that this was a grave offence which amounted to professional misconduct. 32 L.W. 435=129 I.C. 233=1930 M. 527 (F. (1941) Lah. 731=1941 Lah. 384 (F. B.). While misappropriation by a legal practitioner of monies belonging to his client is a very grave act of professional misconduct which would not make it possible to allow him to continue practising in the profession, the Court is not precluded from re-instating the practitioner when adequate punishment has been imposed and he has shown that he has rehabilitated himself in such a manner that he is fitted to be admitted into the profession again. I.L.R. 1940 Mad. 81=1939 Mad. 906=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 632 (F.B.); I.L. R. (1940) Mad. 84=1939 M. 917=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 630 (F.B.).

TAKING MORTGAGE IN LIEU OF FEES at exorbitant terms may amount to professional misconduct. 12 P. 843=14 Pat.L.T. 709=1933 P. 571 (S.B.).

SECS. 13 AND 14: ADVANCE OF MONEY TO FINANCE LITIGATION IN WHICH HE IS ENGAGED.—A pleader in India, like an Advocate, combines the functions of the solicitor and the Barrister in England. As he fulfils both roles he is subject to the disabilities of both. It would be manifestly improper for him to advance money to a client for the purpose of a litigation in which he is engaged. The safe rule to lay down is that a pleader or an advocate should not lend money to his client at any time for the purpose of an action in which he is engaged. 1942 M.W.N. 483=55 L.W. 481 =1942 Mad. 553=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 196 (F. B.).

MUKHTAR STANDING BAIL FOR ACCUSED IN CRIMINAL CASE AND TAKING INDEMNITY FROM PERSON NOT ACCEPTED AS SURETY.—There is nothing against a legal practitioner becoming a surety for an accused in a criminal case. But where a mukhtar enters into a contract of indemnity with, and receives money from, a third person, who has been rejected as a surety, becoming a surety, such an agreement constitutes public mischief, being opposed to public policy, and the mukhtar is guilty of unprofessional and highly improper conduct; and when the mukhtar further attempts to conceal the agreement from the knowledge of the Court, it has to be viewed as a serious aggravation rendering him liable to suspension. 14 Pat. 442=155 I.C. 430=16 P.L.T. 223=1935 P. 195 (F.B.).

NEGLIGENCE OF PLEADER.—Mere negligence does not found a petition for professional misconduct against a pleader. There must be moral delinquency in addition to negligence before a charge of unprofessional conduct can be brought home. Nor is there anything unprofessional in a pleader employing an unregistered clerk. The law allows a pleader to have two registered clerks but does not insist that any clerk should be registered. (1938) 2 M.L.J. 661=1938 M. 965 (F.B.). Mere negligence is not sufficient in itself to found a charge of profesisonal misconduct—Where a legal practitioner failed to certify the realisation of certain decree amounts, and it was found that it was due either to stupidity or to negligence or to both but that there was no element of moral delinquency, it was held that it did not amount to professional misconduct. I.L.R. (1940) All. 386=1940 A. L.J. 306=1940 All. 289 (S.B.). See also (1944) 2 M.L.J. 317 (Finding of criminal Court is binding). Negligent management of his office and permitting the clerks to cheat the clients and mislead them as to the progress of the case is misconduct for which he might be suspended from practice. 35 M. 543=39 I.A. 191=23 M.L.J. 114 (P.C.). (f) for any other reasonable cause.

C. 817 (2); 62 C. 158=1938 C. 484 (S.B.). Counsel failing to appear in murder case but engaging another counsel on smaller fee is guilty of grave impropriety in the discharge of his duty. 108 I.C. 257=29 Cr.L.J. 362 =1928 L. 448. Pleader engaged in two cases throwing away interests of unimportant client in favour of important client is guilty of professional misconduct. 10 Pat.L.T. 664 =116 I.C. 764=1929 Pat. 153 (F.B.). A vakil, who put before the Sessions Judge a statement which purported to be a petition from his clients and drafted on their instructions but which was in fact entirely his own invention and contained statements made recklessly without reasonable grounds is guilty of misconduct. 18 A.L.J. 419=56 I.C. 501=42 All. 45. An advocate in the exercise of his profession is bound to exercise reasonable skill and prudence but he is not expected to be infallible and unless the Court is satisfied that the act complained of was such that could not reasonably have been done by an advocate exercising reasonable skill and care, a suit for negligence is not maintainable against the advocate. 9 R. 575=1932 R. 1. A bona fide mistake on the part of the pleader may be condoned, but gross negligence on his part cannot justifiably be condoned so as to extend time under sec. 5 of the Limitation Act. The remedy of the client is only against the defaulting legal adviser. 1931 Rang. 80. Withdrawal of money on behalf of a guardian and payment to his relation is negligence and not grossly improper conduct. 1925 Cal. 146. Where it is shown that the judgment-debtor obtained copies of documents and gave them to his pleader and the latter did not produce the same at the proper time the Court may refuse to admit the same in appeal. The remedy of the party, if any, is to file a suit for damages against the pleader 32 P.L.R. 813=1932 L. 93. A pleader filed an application for withdrawal of money in Court deposit, and it was found that the money was already withdrawn, but the pleader had checked the account books of his client to ascertain the amount withdrawn from the Court. Held, that though the pleader should have been more careful it did not amount to misconduct or gross negligence. 1936 Cal. 658.

FAILURE TO KEEP ACCOUNTS.—Even if a legal practitioner has not much work, he is bound to keep accounts for whatever work he may have, and failure to keep accounts amounts to profesisonal misconduct. (1940) 2 M.L.J. 1031=1941 Mad. 63=I.L.R. (1941) Mad. 286 (F.B.).

SEC. 13 (f): MISCONDUCT OTHERWISE THAN PROFESSIONAL.—The phrase "for any reasonable cause" in the residuary cl. (f) of sec. 13 is not to be understood in an ejusdem generis sense but it covers cases other than those of professional misconduct in the ordinary sense, that which unfits a pleader for the practice of his profession, for instance conviction for a crime involving dishonesty or moral turpitude or gross and habitual contempt of Court. 38 M.L.J. 230=11 L.W. 122 =55 I.C. 198 (F.B.). See also 59 C. 709=36 C.W.N. 294=1932 C. 370. The jurisdiction under sec. 13, sub-sec. (f), is not confined to acts done in a professional capacity. Taking part in an organised resistance to law and assisting a movement involving grave danger to the public peace by a pleader may not have been done in a professional capacity but they are such as to render it necessary to enquire into the expediency of allowing him to conclude to practise. [40 C. 845 (P.C.), Foll.] Also where a pleader holds the view that it is desirable to disobey the law he is likely to advise his clients to break the law and it is undesirable in the public interests to allow one who sets a bad example to occupy the privileged position of a pleader. 27 N.L.R. 29=1931 Nag. 33 (S.B.). See also 11 Pat. 365=1931 Pat. 369 (F.B.). The mukhtar who advises his clients who had been acquitted in a criminal case to present some gratificaton to the Magistrate is guilty of misconduct. Mukhtar suspended for one year. 13 Pat.L.T. 574 =1932 Pat. 356 (S.B.). Where a pleader was convicted under Penal Code for intimidating and assaulting a woman in a most reprehensible manner, the conviction was not by itself sufficient to show defect of character which unfits him to be a pleader within the meaning of sec. 12. Though the words "any other reasonable cause" in sec. 13 seems to be wide enough to include the case, still the conduct was not such as to justify suspending him from practice. 1929 R. 352 (1). Sec. 13 (f) is not confined to the misconduct of a pleader as such but also covers his misconduct as a party to a suit. 8 P.R. 1915=28 I.C. 722. Entering deliberately into a false defence, with intent to defraud others, is a ground of action under secs. 13 and 14. 9 I.C. 362=12 Cr.L.J. 67 (C.). Pleader as suitor committing contempt of Court—Disciplinary action may be taken. 55 A. 148=1933 A.L.J. 251=1933 All. 224. But see also 1933 All. 492 (S.B.). Imputing dishonesty against officer of Court would amount to professional misconduct. 143 I.C. 359=56 C.L.J. 595=1933 Cal. 344. Also imputation of partiality and unfairness to judicial officer. 142 I.C. 828=1933 Rang. 34.

GENERAL RULE FOR ACCEPTING OR REJECTING CASES.—A lawyer must as a general rule take up a case for any member of the public if (1) a fair and proper fee is tendered to him; (2) adequate instructions are given; and (3) the case is of a class which the lawyer is accustomed to do. He can legitimately decline to take up the case, if he has an out-station engagement, or is engaged in some social function, is incapacitated by ill-health or any reason which a sensible man would recognize adequate. But to refuse to take up a case simply and solely on the ground that the advocate will not appear against a brother practitioner, or put forward untrue excuses is, in each case, professional misconduct and should be dealt with as such. 51 All. 893=1929 All. 367. See also 27 A.L.J. 1047=117 I.C. 104 =1930 All. 309 (1); 27 A.L.J. 616=30 Cr.L.J. 522=1930 A. 262.

Filing a false suit is misconduct. The words "any other reasonable cause" in sec. 13, cl. (f) are not to be considered ejusdem generis with causes enumerated in cls. (a) to (e). They include personal misconduct distinguished from a professional one. 12 I.C. 838=4 Bur.L.T. 275; 39 M. 1045=32 I.C. 326.

FALSE STATEMENTS.—See 121 I.C. 297=1929 Lah. 803; (1940) 1 M.L.J. (Supp.) 28 =1940 F.C. 25. Where a pleader retained in his service a suspected tout without dismissing him even after notice from the Bar Council and thereafter gave a false statement that he had dispensed with the services of that tout and stuck to that statement deliberately in a subsequent enquiry, he was guilty of professional misconduct under sec. 13 (f). 27 I.C. 156 (F.B.). It is a very serious matter for a legal practitioner knowingly to make a false statement in a pleading drafted by him. Where a pleader appearing for a plaintiff in a suit on a promissory note of which he was an endorsee for collection, inserted a false statement in the plaint that the instrument had been indorsed to his client for good consideration, while he knew well that no such consideration had passed. Held, that the offence was of such a nature that he should be suspended from practice for three months. I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 550=A.I.R. 1944 Mad. 268=(1944) 1 M.L.J. 233 (F.B.). It is the duty of the Court not only to protect the members of the public against disreputable members of the profession but it is also its duty to protect the profession itself against the loss of reputation brought upon it by the conduct of such members. It is not part of the etiquette of the members of the profession to tell lies in Court or to give perjured evidence on behalf of their clients. Where a mukhtar informed the Court that accused could not appear in Court as he was unwell that day, whereas in fact the accused had come to Court that day and had been talking to the mukhtar, held, that the conduct of the mukhtar was highly unworthy of a member of his profession and that he should be removed from the rolls. 15 P.L.T. 63=1934 P. 142 (S.B.). See also 16 P.L.T. 231=1935 P. 249 (S.B.). Members of the legal profession are expected to maintain not only a high standard of professional morality and ethics but they are also expected as men of education and culture and as members of an honourable profession to act in an honest, straightforward and upright manner. The conduct of a pleader who makes palpably false statements to wriggle out of an inconvenient situation cannot but be regarded as reprehensible and he is guilty of improper conduct involving moral turpitude. 1944 O.W.N. 122=A.I.R. 1944 Oudh 236. Duty to be scrupulously honest in giving evidence—Giving evasive and shuffling answers—Misconduct. 11 P.L.T. 665=1930 P. 493 (F.B.). A legal practitioner who makes one statement before the police in the course of an investigation of an offence and a diametrically opposite statement in the witness-box in the trial is guilty of the grossest misconduct. 121 I.C. 297=1929 L. 803 (2). An Advocate having regard to his education and training and in particular the profession in which he is engaged is expected to exercise a greater degree of caution and rectitude than ordinary persons in making statements on oath in a Court of Law. Where therefore an Advocate was convicted of perjury and disciplinary proceedings were started against him, the High Court marked their sense of disapprobation of the Advocate's conduct by ordering him to be suspended from practice for six months. 8 O. W.N. 267=1931 O. 161. A pleader in defending himself against charges of professional misconduct made certain statements. He was dealt with for making them under the disciplinary jurisdiction. It was contended in his defence that the statements made by him in defence must be regarded as having been made by an accused and were therefore protected, held, that the pleader was writing to the Court as a pleader and was responsible as such for the statements made by him. 14 Bom.L.R. 700=16 I.C. 788=36 B. 606. Where a pleader in order to recover fees due to him from his client for work done, made certain statements which, if true, would expose him to criminal prosecution. Held, that the conduct of the pleader though improper was not such as to call for action being taken under this Act. 14 I.C. 208=15 C.L.J. 224. The fact that a man is going to be injured professionally if he does not speak the truth is no valid excuse for telling a lie; but it is an attitude which is not uncommon and which is not of the most serious character. It is very different from the case of a professional man telling a lie fraudulently in the sense of wishing to assist his client, in deceiving the Court or even wishing to assist his client in a claim that he is making against another. In this case, the conduct of the pleader was disapproved but no action taken. 17 L.W. 558= 73 I.C. 329=1923 M. 485. Mukhtar having no practice as such but acting as professional identifier—Unprofessional conduct —False identification—Liability to be struck off the roll. 16 Pat. 121=17 Pat.L. T. 951=1937 Pat. 138 (S.B.).

GIVING FALSE INFORMATION TO CLIENT.—A pleader who gives his client false information that a certain order has been passed by a Court when no such order has been passed at all, is guilty of "fraudulent and grossly improper conduct in the discharge of his professional duty" within the meaning of sec. 13 (b) of the Act. 39 C.W.N. 283 =1938 C. 547. Where a charge against a pleader is that he was engaged by a certain client to file a criminal revision petition but he did not do so, and that in reply to a post-card sent to him by the client, his clerk falsely informed him, under the pleader's instructions, that the said revision had been filed, but there is no material on record beyond the bare word of the pleader's clerk that the false information in the post-card was given under the instructions of the pleader, the pleader cannot be held guilty of improper conduct. 163 I.C. 975=1936 Lah. 1013.

TAKING SIGNATURE OF CLIENT ON BLANK SHEETS OF PAPER FOR PREPARATION OF PLAINT. —It is most objectionable for legal practitioners to take their clients' signatures on blank sheets of paper. A practitioner who permits this to be done and induces his client to sign blank sheets of paper in order that they can be used for the preparation of a plaint, which would then be regarded as having been duly signed and verified by the client is guilty of unprofessional conduct. In order, however, to substantiate the charge of misconduct there must be evidence in support of it; suspicion is not sufficient, even if it is strong. 58 L.W. 56 =I.L.R. (1945) Mad. 317=1945 Mad. 133=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 174 (F.B.).

FALSE IDENTIFICATION.—A legal practitioner is guilty of professional misconduct if he identifies a person not known to him. 1 Lah. 410=21 Cr.L.J. 635=57 I.C. 818 (F.B.). See also 1941 P.W.N. 417=22 Pat. L.T. 679=1941 Pat. 179 (S.B.). It is not enough for a legal practitioner who comes forward as an identifier to rely merely upon the fact that he has been told by his clerk that he identifies the person. That does not entitle the mukhtar to pose as an identifier. The identification must be a genuine identification. Cases of careless identification by legal practitioners must be dealt with with great severity as they involve not only an offence on the part of the legal practitioner against the duties of his profession but also an offence against the state and public funds. 10 Pat.L.T. 641=1929 P. 339 (F. B.). See also 1930 P. 495 (1).

FALSE ATTESTATION.—See 13 I.C. 397=14 C.L.J. 606.

PLEADER EXPRESSING HIMSELF CARELESSLY IN DEPOSITION AS WITNESS.—Where a pleader expressed himself carelessly in his deposition before the Judge, it cannot be said that he was guilty of unprofessional conduct, though he was guilty of some degree of carelessness in expressing himself. 24 Pat.L.T. 81=1943 P.W.N. 50=1943 Pat. 62 (S.B.).

FILING FALSE FEES CERTIFICATE.—It is a very serious matter for a pleader or an advocate to file a false fees certificate with regard to fees which he has not received and the Court will take strong disciplinary action in any such case coming to its notice. 1941 Mad. 905=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 663 (S.B.). See also I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 550=1944 Mad. 268=(1944) 1 M.L.J. 233.

GRANT OF CERTIFICATE UNDER R. 8 OF JUDICIAL COMMITTEE RULES ON IMPROPER GROUNDS. —A legal practitioner who grants a certificate under r. 8, Judicial Committee Rules, 1925, in connection with the application by a condemned prisoner for leave to appeal to the Privy Council in forma pauperis that the case is a fit one to be heard before the Privy Council without any foundation and in utter disregard of the principles governing appeals to the Privy Council in criminal matters and merely for the purpose of obtaining a temporary respite for his client is guilty of quite a serious dereliction of duty and of an abuse of the process of the Court especially when the legal practitioner was not in any way concerned with the case before he was asked to give the certificate. 213 I.C. 201=A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 159 (S.B.). The giving of certificates under r. 8, Judicial Committee Rules, 1925, by a counsel in support of petitions by condemned prisoners for special leave to appeal in forma pauperis in circumstances which do not warrant the granting of such certificates, shows an utter disregard of the solemn and serious responsibilities of counsel who is called upon to certify and the counsel so certifying is guilty of the charge of gross professional misconduct. I.L.R. 1943 Lah. 409=A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 210 (F.B.). R, an advocate, was proceeded against by disciplinary action for having given improper certificates in a petition for special leave, to appeal to the Privy Council in forma pauperis. It was found that the Registrar's letter was not circulated by the Secretary of the Bar. Held, that in these circumstances R should not be suspended. Direction to pay costs of Advocate-General was sufficient. 221 I.C. 98 =A.I.R. 1945 Pesh. 33.

PERJURY.—Perjury by members of the legal profession, apart from the question that it is a criminal offence, is a very serious matter from the point of view of the profession. Apart from the fact that it harms the profession, it sets a very bad example to the general public and is a great block in the administration of justice. Therefore, if and when cases of perjury by members of the legal profession are discovered the member concerned deserves the most severe punishment which the High Court can give in the exercise of its disciplinary jurisdiction on the legal profession. Where the perjury was committed by a young inexperienced pleader which showed that it was not intended to deceive the Court or to practise any fraud upon it. Held, that suspension from practice for six months was sufficient. 1935 Pat. 249=16 P.L.T. 231 (S.B.).

CRIMINAL CONVICTION (see Notes under sec. 12, supra).—Where the person committing the offence does not bring the fact to the notice of the High Court at the time of his admission, as a pleader, when required to give all necessary information at the time of his enrolment, he commits another serious offence of deceiving the authorities and the High Court is entitled to take him to task for it. Persons applying for being admitted to be pleaders should fully and frankly disclose all the circumstances of their past career with the knowledge that the High Court would take into consideration every matter which ought properly to be dealt with by it. 175 I.C. 124=1938 Rang. 159. Even if a person is convicted of a criminal offence it is necessary for the Court, before taking disciplinary action, to know whether his conduct necessitates such action. Where the judgment in the criminal case does not disclose what exactly the conduct of the practitioner was, the Court may give the accused the benefit of the doubt. 15 N.L.R. 90. When criminal proceedings are taken against a pleader or an advocate and finally concluded, they must be taken to have been rightly decided, and the question to be determined in a subsequent enquiry as to whether the advocate or pleader ought to have disciplinary action taken against him is whether upon a perusal of the facts and circumstances disclosed in the evidence in the criminal proceedings his offence has been one implying a defect of character which unfits him to be a pleader or advocate. Such a defect of character normally involves moral turpitude. 1938 Rang.L.R. 125 (S.B.); 1938 R. 394. In a case where an advocate was convicted of the offence of defamation, the High Court, while holding that no disciplinary action was called for on their part observed that responsible citizens, when afforded the opportunity of making charges against persons (whether known to them or not) of which they had not ascertained the truth, should be careful not to aggravate the defamatory nature of the matter by lending their support to an important acceptance of it without careful investigation into its nature. 1938 Rang.L.R. 125 (S.B.); 1938 R. 394. A person who is convicted of an offence of receiving stolen goods is not fit to be a pleader. 175 I.C. 126=1938 Rang. 1160. An offence of the character of one under sec. 377, I.P. Code, committed by a pleader or advocate cannot be ordinarily condoned. Where, however, the offence was committed very early in life, it ought not to debar the person committing it, who is making an honest attempt to reform, from ever seeking respectable society or from being a member of an honourable profession. 175 I.C. 124=1938 Rang. 159. A pleader convicted of criminal breach of trust may come under this section. 1940 Rang. 242. A pleader who was suspended for six months after a conviction for breach of Salt Act did not apply for restoration of certificate but was again convicted under sec. 17, Criminal Law Amendment Act. He made no appearance to a notice under sec. 14. Held, that his name should be removed from the rolls. 140 I.C. 295 (1)=1932 Pat. 300 (S.B.).

ALTERING DOCUMENT AFTER EXECUTION.—Where with a view to avoid paying a penalty as required by the stamp law a solicitor altered a deed materially after its execution, he was struck off the rolls. 31 M.L.J. 107 (P.C.). Fabrication of documents by mukhtar. 13 Pat.L.T. 552=1932 Pat. 289 (S.B.). Altering survey number in petition is misconduct. 87 I.C. 843=1926 C. 223.

TAMPERING WITH COURT'S RECORDS.—To tamper with the Court's records is a serious matter and a pleader would be acting without due care and caution and without sense of responsibility in allowing it to be done by his clerk. 36 I.C. 874=20 C.W.N. 1069. Conduct of the pleader in tampering with Court records cannot be easily excused. Such misconduct deserves suspension from practice, though the pleader concerned happens to be young and inexperienced. 17 Pat.L.T. 266=1936 Pat. 418 (S.B.). The removal from the Court by a mukhtar of a complaint amounts to gross misconduct. 43 I.C. 93. A pleader by virtue of his position is an officer of the Court and it is his duty to protect all minor officials of the Court from any temptation; consequently a pleader should not induce a peshkar of the Court to take a document which has been filed in the Court to the pleader's house for the inspection of his clients. 10 Pat.L.T 715=1929 Pat. 338 (S.B.).

TAMPERING WITH EVIDENCE.—Advocates and pleaders retained in a case ought to be extremely careful in approaching and questioning persons who to their knowledge have been approached or cited by the other side for the purpose of giving evidence so as to give no room for any suspicion that they are attempting to tamper with the evidence or with the witnesses. 1929 M. W.N. 384 (F.B.). See also 46 I.C. 819; 171 I.C. 503=1937 Rang. 345. Where a pleader bribes certain witnesses who are likely to be summoned by the opposite side in connexion with an election petition, into swearing affidavits to the effect that they do not know anything about the matter and also tries, during hearing of the petition, to tamper with other witnesses by offering their bribes his conduct is such as disentitles him to remain on the roll of pleaders. 1938 Rang. 294. Visiting handwriting expert and talking about criminal case under investigation on behalf of person involved in case —Propriety—Liability to suspension. 17 Pat.L.T. 348=1936 Pat. 423 (S.B.).

RETENTION OF CLIENT'S MONEYS.—See 1933 Sind. 65. See also 1933 Lah. 575; 1933 Sind 45; 39 Mys.H.C.R. 553.

BRIBERY.—The High Court dismissed a mukhtar for having received a sum of money from one of the persons against whom a case was pending for the purpose of bribing the police acting as a go between. 39 I.C. 305=21 C.W.N. 516. For a legal practitioner to suggest that an official or any one should be bribed amounts to grave professional misconduct. The fact that bribes of this nature have been given by others is no excuse. See 47 L.W. 156=1938 M. 264=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 410 (F.B.). The fact that proceedings in respect of such offence are instituted against a pleader as the result of a grudge makes no difference to the gravity of the offence and cannot be pleaded in excuse. 1938 Mad. 264=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 410 (F.B.); 17 Pat.L.T. 263=1936 Pat. 337 (S.B.). Bribery or attempted bribery by advocate is the grossest professional misconduct and an advocate found guilty of an offence like bribery or attempted bribery cannot in any circumstances suffer so slight a penalty as suspension for four years. It is an offence which can necessarily only be purged after strenuous efforts and after a long period during which he has tried his best to reinstate himself in society. No doubt the door is not inevitably and permanently shut to persons who are debarred: they may after the lapse of a suitable period of time, provided their conduct has been uniformly satisfactory, ultimately reach reinstatement. But reinstatement is not a matter of course and it is not something which can be hoped for within a brief period of time. 1939 Rang.L.R. 213=1939 Rang. 142 (S.B.).

FORGERY.—If a pleader is found guilty of endeavouring to appear on behalf of a person by whom he had never been instructed and seeks to justify his conduct by the production of a forged document, it would not be a matter for suspension for a month or a year: he would be totally unfitted to exercise the responsible duties of a pleader and would have to be struck off the rolls of pleaders forthwith. 183 I.C. 756=1939 Rang 312.

TAKING PART IN POLITICS.—The jurisdiction of the High Court to take action against legal practitioners is not confined to acts in professional capacity but may extend to other activities, e.g., organized resistance to payment of tax which entails grave danger to the public peace. 49 C. 845=49 I.A. 319 =1922 P.C. 351=44 M.L.J. 32. As to criticism of administration, see 38 M.L.J. 230 =55 I.C. 198=1930 M.W.N. 105 (F.B.). As to conviction for sedition, see 15 Lah. 354= 35 Cr.L.J. 1010=1934 Lah. 251 (F.B.). See also 1943 Cal. 371; 1943 Cal. 370. It is the duty of a legal practitioner to assist the Court. If he appears in Court and makes a demonstration which has the effect of interfering with the work of the Court and the administration of justice, he does something which a member of the legal profession certainly ought not to do and is guilty of grossly improper conduct. Such conduct amounts to "reasonable cause" for which the Court has power to take action against him. I.L.R. (1943) Mad. 459=56 L.W. 14 =1943 Mad. 130=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 8 (S.B.). A pleader wrote to the District Magistrate enclosing a pamphlet which called upon that official to "quit India here and now". In the coverng letter also the pleader requested the Magistrate "to quit India here and now". He also sent a letter to the special officer appointed to carry out the duties of a superseded District Board enclosing a copy of the pamphlet and requesting the special officer to resign his post immediately. On these the pleader was prosecuted and convicted under r. 34 (6) (c) of the Defence of India Rules (1939). The pamphlets were sent at a time when many parts of India were in a very agitated state and there was threat of an invasion of India by Japan. Held, that the pleader did something which he should not have done as a member of the legal profession and his action constituted misconduct and misconduct of such a nature that the High Court was justified in taking disciplinary action under sec. 13 (f). 56 L. W. 220=A.I.R. 1943 Mad. 475=(1943) 1 M. L.J. 396 (S.B.).

CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE.—Where certain practising barristers and pleaders joined the movement called the Satyagraha Sabha and signed a pledge whereby they undertook to refuse civilly to obey such laws as a committee to be hereafter appointed may think fit. Held, that the barristers and pleaders had, by signing the pledge, rendered themselves amenable to the disciplinary jurisdiction of the High Court, but that under the circumstances a warning was enough. 22 Bom.L.R. 13=54 I.C. 679=44 B. 418. See also 60 C. 1453=1933 C. 731=145 I.C. 316 (Expression 'defect of character' in sec. 12 includes acts other than those of moral turpitude). 27 N.L.R. 29=1931 N. 33. Certain pleaders had collectively agreed upon abstention from Court to assist the boycott movement. Held, that the pleaders were guilty of unprofessional conduct within the meaning of sec. 13 (b) and (f). Order for suspension for three months passed. (49 C. 732, Ref. 10). 132 I.C. 900=35 C.W.N. 223 =1931 C. 706. Practising pleaders wishing to remain on the rolls must remember that those who live by the law should keep the law and not encourage others in its berach by publicly extolling and glorifying persons sentenced and by showing hearty sympathy towards seditious and disloyal movement. 25 S.L.R. 131=1931 S. 33. A pleader who gives formal and public expression of his approval of the breach of the laws of the land is not a proper person to hold office of the pleader. Ibid.

SPEECH INCITING BREAKING OF LAWS AND DEFYING OF DISPERSAL ORDERS.—The speech inciting the audience to break those laws which the All-India Congress Committee might declare should be broken and the speech in which the speaker exhorts the audience to resist orders for dispersal attract the disciplinary jurisdiction of the High Court. 15 L. 354=1934 L. 251 (S.B.).

TAKING PART IN UNLAWFUL ASSOCIATION. —It is not necessary for the exercise of this jurisdiction that the act of the Vakil should have subjected him to anything like general infamy or imputation of bad character. 12 Pat.L.T. 725=1923 P. 185 (2).

INTIMIDATING A WITNESS.—To prevent any one from giving evidence is professional misconduct. 19 Cr.L.J. 803=46 I.C. 819 (F.B.). See also 1929 M.W.N. 384. As to display of temper by counsel see 12 Mys.L. J. 202=39 Mys.H.C.R. 380.

TUTORING WITNESS UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION.—It is very improper for a legal practitioner to tutor a witness inside or outside court, and when the tutoring takes place in court and in spite of warnings, the professional misconduct is all the greater. 55 L. W. 799 (1)=A.I.R. 1942 Mad. 701=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 621 (S.B.)=I.L.R. (1943) Mad. 81.

COUNSEL ISSUING ELECTION MANIFESTO.— It is a well-recognised rule of etiquette in the legal profession that no attempt should be made to advertise oneself directly or indirectly. The issuing of circular letters or election manifestoes by a lawyer with his name, profession and address printed thereon, appealing to the members of his profession practising in the lower Court, who are of course in a position to recommend clients to counsel practising in the High Court, is obviously an indirect way of advertisement. It does not however amount to any professional misconduct, but only to a breach of professional etiquette. 1934 A. 1067=153 I.C. 667 (S.B.).

ATTEMPT TO BRING INFLUENCE ON JUDGE.—A pleader attempting to bring influence on a Judge, before whom he is arguing an appeal through a relative of the Judge, is guilty of gross misconduct. His act is highly reprehensible and it is in the interest of the legal profession that serious notice should be taken of such acts and severe punishment is called for in such a case. 164 I.C. 384=1936 Lah. 732. Where however the pleader concerned is inexperienced, and expresses his repentence at once and makes no denial of what he had done, and the offence is not viewed by the public with that disfavour that it should, he need not be censured but warned and ordered to pay the costs of the proceedings. 1936 Lah. 732.

RECKLESS ALLEGATIONS IN TRANSFER APPLICATION.—No doubt an advocate cannot pledge himself for the truth of his client's allegations, but should take some steps to verify the truth of the allegations he is instructed to make. An advocate is to assist the Court in the administration of justice and is not a mere mouthpiece of his client. If an advocate makes reckless and false allegations against a Magistrate in the application for transfer on the instructions of his client without taking any steps to verify the truth of those allegations, he is unfit to enjoy the privileges conferred upon him by law and must be visited with punishment. I.L.R. (1944) Kar. 135=A.I.R. 1944 Sind 155.

LETTERS ADDRESSED BY PLEADER TO GOVERNOR RELATING TO ORDERS PASSED BY A DISTRICT MUNSIF AND MAKING FALSE ACCUSATIONS.—A first grade pleader practising at Markapur wrote a letter as "the leader of the Bar at Markapur" to the Governor of Madras in which he accused the local District Munsiff of being a sympathiser with the satyagraha movement and that on a particular day he granted an application of an advocate for adjournment of a case made on the ground that he desired to go to another town to see a friend offering satyagraha. It was found on inquiry that the statements were false and that the action of the pleader in making the communication was the result of animosity towards the District Munsiff. Held, as the letter related to orders passed by the District Munsiff and the accusations were made by the pleader as the "leader of the local Bar" it was idle for him to suggest that his misconduct should be regarded as being entirely dissociated from his status as a legal practitioner. In the circumstances, there was "reasonable cause" for taking disciplinary action against him. 55 L.W. 502=1942 Mad. 360=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 234 (F.B.).

CONTEMPT OF COURT BY LEGAL PRACTITIONER.—No power to punish for contempt of an inferior Court now exists independently of the I P. Code, and the contempt of Courts' Act and no disciplinary power over legal practitioners or power to punish for contempt outside the provisions of I.P. Code is vested in the subordinate Courts. 125 I.C. 477=54 A. 619=1930 A. 225 (F.B.). A mukhtar addressed certain letters to a magistrate in connection with a copy for which he had applied, and the contents of the letters were grossly insulting; the mukhtar could be proceeded against under sec. 13 (f). 52 I. A legal practitioner who writes a letter to a judicial officer abusing him in a particular manner is guilty of grossly improper conduct. 44 I.C. 123=161 P.L.R. 1917. Letter by a pleader which contains vulgar abuse of a Magistrate and a demand for an apology apparently followed by the threat of further proceedings is highly improper. 25 Bom.L.R. 264=73 I.C. 353=1923 B. 234. Imputing racial antipathy to a Judge and charging him with having allowed such feelings to influence him in passing unfavourable orders. A belated apology in the High Court was held to be insufficient. 67 I.C. 504; 23 Cr.L.J. 408 (L.). A pleader addressing a letter to a Commissioner appointed to investigate a case to report in his client's favour is guilty of professional misconduct. 18 P. R. 1915=28 I.C. 722. Where a pleader addressed to the Commissioner of the District a most disrespectful letter and circulated it freely among his subordinates, he was guilty of misconduct though the matter was one of a private nature between the pleader and that officer. 28 I.C. 722. See also 147 I.C. 330=35 Cr.L.J. 433=1934 A. 317; 12 Mys.L.J. 292=39 Mys.H.C.R. 380; 61 C. 522 =152 I.C. 58=1934 C. 723. A letter published by a pleader alleging that a certain Judge is indolent and takes credit for cases not tried but compromised, even if written in good faith and even if it does not constitute the offence of libel, amounts to misbehaviour. 44 I.C. 338=11 S.L.R. 81 (F.B.). See also 35 C.L.J. 403=26 C.W.N. 580=1923 C. 212; =1933 R. 34. An advocate deliberately making false allegations involving imputations upon the fairness and impartiality of judicial officers in proceedings connected with an execution case to which he was himself a party cannot be punished under the disciplinary side under Bar Councils Act. 1932 A.L. J. 773=1932 A. 492 (S.B.). See also 1934 P. 598 (S.B.). Instructions from a client are no excuse whatever for a pleader exceeding his duty towards the Courts. A conditional apology is valueless. 25 Bom.L.R. 264 =73 I.C. 353=1923 B. 234. See also 33 P. L.R. 785. Although it is perfectly true in one sense that a legal adviser must accept statements of fact from his client, yet in applications for transfer, statements imputing prejudice or unfairness or corruption to the Magistrate should not be made unless the statements of the client as letsed by the adviser are found sustainable. 8 P. 575=10 Pat.L.T. 711=1929 P. 151 (F.B.). A statement made by a counsel before the Judges of a Full Bench to the effect that his instructions are that his client does not wish the matter to be argued before the Bench as constituted, amounts to a contempt of Court. 33 P.L.R. 872. As to making reckless allegations in pleadings, see 152 I.C. 313=15 P.L.T. 560=114 P. 10=1934 P. 598. CONDUCT OF CASE—INTIMIDATION BY JUDGE —DUTY OF COUNSEL TO PROTEST.—It is the duty of the members of the Bar if their clients are prematurely threatened from the Bench, not to adopt an attitude which may appear pusillanimous but to protest then and there that they resent such observations, and if necessary, after consultation with their attorney instructing them to apply for a transfer of the case to the list of another Judge. 62 C. 223=60 C.L.J. 179=39 C.W.N. 61= 1935 C. 231.

TRYING TO KNOW THE EFFECT OF A JUDGMENT BEFORE ITS DELIVERY AMOUNTS TO PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT.—See 75 I.C. 728=5 Pat.L.T. 350=1924 Pat. 131.

ACTS NOT AMOUNTING TO MISCONDUCT.— Where a pleader allowed another person to sign in the name of his client an application filed in Court, as his client had a swollen hand and could not himself sign it, he committed a breach of his professional duty, but in the circumstances it was not necessary that the Court should take disciplinary action against him. 14 Rang. 152=1936 Rang. 177. Pleader employing unregistered clerk, against R. 978 (2) (iii) of the Calcutta High Court is not guilty of misconduct under sec. 13 (f) so long as this clerk is not employed in doing the work of the registered clerk and is not allowed to have access to the Court staff. 41 C.W.N. 929=170 I.C. 251=1937 C. 408. Where a solicitor acting for a plaintiff who had been refused a warrant for the detention of the defendant by a Court started a criminal process on the same subject-matter and obtained his warrant from a different Court, almost as a matter of course, his conduct does not necessarily involve any punishable contempt of the Civil Court. The law does not restrict a litigant to a single form of remedy and he may pursue all the legal remedies appropriate to his grievance. 14 Bom.L.R. 471=23 M.L.J. 184=15 I.C. 72 (P.C.). Where a solicitor substituted the name of two witnesses in a summons on the ground that the persons originally summed were totally ignorant of the facts of the case. Held, no misconduct. 15 I.C. 72 (P.C.). Adjournment asked for in good faith to apply for transfer—Subsequent finding that sufficient grounds for transfer did not exist—Pleader responsible for the transfer application is not necessarily guilty of misconduct. 1928 A. 396 (S.B.)=(1924 A. 253, Dist.). Where a pleader who is one of the trustees of an institution fails to give information to the police when he finds that a co-trustee of his has misappropriated the trust money but rather prefers to deal with his co-trustee mercifully and makes himself morally responsible for the defalcation and undertakes responsibility for the defalcation which had arisen, he cannot be held to be guilty of any kind of misconduct justifying disciplinary action, even though he may have been negligent in his duties as trustee. 175 I.C. 156 =1938 Rang. 158.

Demand of Exorbitant Fees cannot by itself amount to professional misconduct. 58 M.L.J. 635=34 C.W.N. 534=1930 P.C. 144 (P.C.). See also 1937 Rang. 299. Where a legal practitioner deliberately ignores the language of the fee certificate prescribed by the High Courts by r. 1, Ch. 21, and adopts a fee certificate form of his own which materially and subtsantially differs from the form prescribed by the High Court and which entirely nullifies the object of the High Court in prescribing the form of the certificate, he is guilty of serious professional misconduct. 1934 A.L.J. 333=1934 A. 109 (2) (S.B.). Where an advocate retains the judgment of the trial Court with the intention of getting himself engaged in appeal without any valid excuse for retaining the judgment, the advocate is guilty of professional misconduct. 12 P. 843=14 P. L.T. 709=1933 P. 571 (S.B.). The filing of a memorandum of appeal on the last day of limitation without sufficient Court-fee knowing full well that it is understamped and hoping that the Court would be persuaded to accept the deficiency later is certainly not in consonance with the high traditions of the profession to which the advocate belongs. An advocate who is approached by a client to so file an appeal should refuse to file it unless the full amount of the Court-fee was first paid. The High Court will not tolerate practice of this nature. Per Mockett, J.— It is undesirable for practitioners to lend themselves to the practice of deliberately filing appeals understamped. A civil suit for damages for defamatory statement made on oath or otherwise by counsel, party or witness in a judicial proceeding is governed not by sec. 499 of the Penal Code but by the principles of justice, equity and good conscience, which are identical with the corresponding rules of English Common Law. The protection under the law extends to all statements made by a party, pleader or witness in the suit, no matter whom it may relate to, whether it is the opposite party or his witness, so long as it is not irrelevant to the matter in hand. 14. If any such pleader or mukhtar practising in any subordinate Court or in any revenue-office is charged in such Court or office with taking instructions except as aforesaid, or with any such misconduct as aforesaid, the presiding officer shall send him a copy or the charge and also a notice that, on a day to be therein appointed, such charge will be taken into consideration.

BURDEN OF PROOF.—In proceedings against a legal practitioner the burden of proving the charges against the practitioner is on the complainant. The complainant's evidence in such cases needs corroboration. 54 M. 857= 61 M.L.J. 148=1932 M. 131 (F.B.).

LAWYER BLINDLY FOLLOWING CLIENT'S INSTRUCTIONS.—When their clients ask them to write in a pleading or petition accusations of dishonesty, criminality, etc., against anybody, or instruct them to ask questions of that nature the lawyers are not to blindly follow the instructions. They must satisfy themselves that apart from the relevancy of those accusations or questions, there are materials on which those accusations can be made or questions asked, and that the accusations and suggestions are not recklessly made. If they do not do so, they are guilty of professional misconduct. 1934 P. 398= 13 P. 550 (S.B.). See also 1935 A.L.J. 29 =1935 A. 117. If however the pleader acts in good faith and with due care and caution, he will be protected. See 152 I.C. 313= 15 P.L.T. 160=1934 P. 598 (S.B.). The pleader was addicted to drinking. In defending an accused, he came to Court in so drunken a condition that he was unable to conduct the case on behalf of his client. On another occasion, he came to Court "hopelessly drunk" and not properly dressed and insulted the Court; again on another occasion, he assaulted the bench clerk. Held, that he was not fit to be entrusted with the responsible duties of the legal profession and that his name should be struck off the list of the pleaders. 12 Rang. 180=150 I.C. 236=1934 Rang. 156. Practice and Procedure where a Court has reason to believe that a practitioner is guilty of professional misconduct; it cannot allow proceedings to be dropped as the result of an agreement between the practitioner and the complainant. SEC. 14. SCOPE OF SECTION—NATURE OF PROCEEDING UNDER THE SECTION.—The procedure under the Act is neither criminal nor civil but purely designed for the purpose of discipline. Such disciplinary proceedings under S. 14 are not proceedings of a Court of civil jurisdiction and S. 141, C.P. Code, cannot apply to them. 1 P.L.J. 576=37 I. C. 484. Woodroffe, J.—Proceedings under this section are quasi criminal proceedings and the pelader may be examined on oath. 49 C. 732=26 C.W.N. 589=1922 C. 515 (F. B.). Mookerjee, J.—The proceedings are neither civil nor criminal in their nature. It is only where, in the course of proceedings before it, a Subordinate Court has reason to suppose that a pleader has been guilty of misconduct, that the Subordinate Court can inquire as to the misconduct without reference to the High Court. He cannot do so if the alleged misconduct has taken place before proceedings have been started in the Court. 171 I.C. 503=1937 Rang. 345.

PLEADER GUILTY OF CRIMINAL OFFENCE.—Proceedings under the Act being summary proceedings a pleader should not be proceeded thereunder for what are in reality grave criminal charges. 1 P.L.T. 571=58 I.C. 150=5 P.L.J. 601. See also 47 C. 1115= 57 I.C. 931=24 C.W.N. 755; 31 C.W.N. 584=54 C. 721=1927 C. 536; 115 I.C. 318 =1929 S. 121=23 S.L.R. 245.

STANDARD OF PROOF.—The standard of proof of guilt under Legal Practitioners Act is not different from other legal proceedings and should be such as to leave no reasonable doubt in the mind of the Court that the

Such copy and notice shall be served upon the pleader or mukhtar at least fifteen days before the day so appointed.

On such day, or on any subsequent day to which the enquiry may be adjourned, the presiding officer shall receive and record all evidence properly produced in support of the charge, or by the pleader or mukhtar, and shall proceed to adjudicate on the charge.

If such officer finds the charge established and considers that the pleader or mukhtar should be suspended or dismissed in consequence, he shall record his finding and the grounds thereof, and shall report the same to the High Court; and the High Court may acquit, suspend or dismiss the pleader or mukhtar.

Suspension pending investigation.

Any District Judge, or with his sanction any Judge subordinate to him, [1][any Judge of a Court of Small Causes of a presidency-town], any District Magistrate, or with his sanction any Magistrate subordinate to him, and any Revenue Authority not inferior to a collector, or with the collector's sanction any Revenue Officer subordinate to him, may, pending the investigation and the orders of the High Court, suspend from practice any pleader or mukhtar charged before him or it under this section.

Every report made to the High Court under this section shall—

(a) when made by any Civil Judge subordinate to the District Judge, be made through such Judge;

(b) when made by a Magistrate suobrdinate to the Magistrate of the District,[2] be made through the Magistrate of the District[2] and the Sessions Judge;

(c) when made by the Magistrate of the District,[2] be made through the Sessions Judge;

(d) when made by any Revenue-Officer subordinate to the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority, be made through such Revenue-Authorities as the Chief Controlling Revenue-Authority may, from time to time, direct.

Every such report shall be accompanieid by the opinion of such Judge, Magistrate or Revenue-Authority through whom or which it is made.

RE-INSTATEMENT.—The High Court has power to reinstate a legal practitioner who had been dismissed for misconduct of any description. Before doing so it should be clearly convinced by actual facts that the delinquent has reformed his character. 1 P. 684=71 I.C. 122=1922 P. 604; 14 C.L.J. 113=11 I.C. 997=16 C. W. Where persons are struck-off the rolls, the door is not irrecoverably shut behind them, but after years of industry straightforwardness of life, and conduct which shows repentance and determination to amend, they may ultimately find their way back to the honourable profession which they once disgraced. That leniency of outlook results from the consideration that it is impossible to shut out from a man of education, who has once borne a good character, the hope that he may rise again. But it does not mean that persons who have been properly removed from the rolls should come again and again with repeated applications within months, or even within a few short years, after the event. See also 1939 Rang.L.R. 213=1939 Rang. 142; 41 Cr.L.J. 272=1940 Rang. 32. Before the Court could re-admit an Advocate who has been struck off the rolls for misappropriation of monies belonging to his client, the Court must be fully satisfied that the Advocate has fully regained his character and is fitted for re-admisison into the ranks of an honourable profession. The Court would require solid facts and cogent reasons. Mere opinion is not sufficient. An Advocate can only be re-admitted if he can show that he has become worthy to act as an Advocate. His re-admission does not depend on the fact that he has been suspended or struck of the rolls for several years. In deciding such matters the Court has a duty to the public, and where the Advocate has been guilty of misappropriation it must be shown that there is no likelihood of such an offence being committed again. I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 81=1939 M. 906=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 632 (S.B.); I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 84=1939 Mad. 917=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 630 (F.B.). There is inherent power in the High Court to restore a pleader whose name has been struck off the rolls, although there is no express provision for a review of an order made under the Legal Practitioners' Act. 1935 All. 321 (F.B.). See also notes under S. 41, infra.

INQUIRY INTO MASCONDUCT OF PLEADER—JURISDICTION, PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—Where the charge brought against a legal practitioner amounts to an allegation of the commission of a serious crime, the proper procedure to follow is to launch a prosecution for that crime, and if a conviction is obtained to institute proceedings under the Legal Practitioners Act. 1943 P.W.N. 53=44 P.L.T. 79=A.I.R. 1943 Pat. 52 (S.B.). Under S. 14 the enquiry should be conducted only by the presiding officer of the Court who tried the case in which the alleged misconduct occurred. But under S. 13 of the Act, the High Court has power to transfer the enquiry to another Court. 1944 N L.J. 244=A.I.R. 1944 Nag. 273 (2). If a pleader or mukhtar practising in a Court commits an offence of professional misconduct in connection with any instructions which he has received from his client generally or in connection wtih any particular case, then it is within the jurisdiction of any Court before whom such pleader or mukhtar is practising, if brought to its notice, that the practitioner has committed any unprofesisonal conduct, to take action against him, and those proceedings would be entirely within jurisdiction. The presiding officer of the Court in which the pleader or mukhtar practises has ample jurisdiction to initiate proceedings, though the particular matter in reference to which he commits the act complained of might not be before that Court. 18 Pat.L.T. 961=1938 Pat. 17=17 Pat. 96 (S.B.). Where a Subordinate Court after drawing up a charge against a pleader and holding an inquiry is of opinion that no report should be sent to the High Court and that the proceedings should be dropped, the District Judge has no jurisdiction to forward those proceedings to the High Court recommending suspension. He has no jurisdiction to forward the proceedings which were never initiated by him or to act on the evidence which was never recorded by him. A reference to the High Court by the District Judge in such a case is ultra vires. 17 Pat. 261=1938 Pat. 385 (S.B.). If the District Judge disagrees with the findings of the Subordinate Court, he is at liberty to draw up fresh proceedings and after giving notice to the pleader record himself all the evidence in support of the charge or to refute the charge, and then after adjudicating thereon he can report to the High Court if in his view the conduct of the pleader deserves a punishment to be meted out by the High Court. It is also open to the High Court to draw up fresh proceedings and then to dispose of the matter after giving notice to the pleader and after hearing his defence, if any. 17 P. 261. If a Court thinks there has been any breach of profesisonal etiquette, or any matter calling for the exercise of disciplinary powers, in the conduct of the pleader or advocate in the case, it should decide on the merits of the case and reserve such question for further consideration after the disposal of the suit. 40 A. 147=44 I.C. 28 =16 A.L.J. 64. If in the course of a proceeding a subordinate Court has reason to think that a pleader has committed misconduct in the course of his professional duty, the presiding officer of that Court can under S. 14 institute porceedings against him and inquire into the alleged misconduct. In such a case even though no charge is made by a person concerned, the framing of the charge need not be directed by the High Court. 55 L.W. 845=A.I.R. 1942 Mad. 691=(1942)

2 M.L.J. 479 (F.B.). Inquiry should ordinarily be made by the presiding officer of the Court where the misconduct is alleged to be committed. 1928 A. 396 (S.B.). See also I L R. (1940) Mad. 433=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 259 (F.B.).

PROCEDURE OF S. 14 MUST BE STRICTLY FOLLOWED.—The proceedings must be separate and distinct and cannot be made part of criminal proceedings. The report of the High Court must be accompanid by the opinion of the officer making the report. 9 I.C. 247=15 C.W.N. 764. S. 14 includes a charge under Cl. (f) of S. 13 (as amended by Act XI of 1896), and Subordinate Courts have jurisdiction to take proceedings 152 P.R. 1919=54 I.C. 982. See also 1939 Pat 343=18 Pat. 580=20 Pat.L. T. 607. Failure to formulate precise charges not fatal to proceedings in absence of prejudice. A charge of profesisonal misconduct of a pleader can be enquired into only by the presiding officer of the Court in which the pleader practises. 32 M.L J. 402=41 I.C. 305. The enquiry under S. 14, cannot be delegated to another officer 1 Pat.L J. 576=37 I C. 484. Under S 14 the proceedings could be instituted only by the Magistrate in whose Court the alleged misconduct or offence took place. 1 Pat L T. 379=57 I.C. 277. Inquiry by superior Court is invalid. The enquiry contemplated by S. 14 must be made by the presiding officer of the Court in which the misconduct was alleged and not by the presiding officer of a superior Court. 4 Pat. L.T. 97=71 I.C. 703. An Additional District Magistrate should follow the procedure laid down in S. 14 (c) with reference to a report by a District Magistrate and forward the report through the Sessions Judge. 27 C.W.N. 88=1922 C. 550. The District Magistrate acted improperly in relying upon his own recollections of facts when they differed from those of other witnesses and it was undesirable for him to sit as a Judge to determine the matters in respect of which he might have been called upon to report or examined as a witness. I Pat.L.T. 379 =57 I.C. 277. S. 14 is material even when any pleader is acting in his professional capacity on behalf of his client in a proceeding in a Revenue office. If he is guilty of professional misconduct he would bring himself within the disciplinary jurisdiction. 56 C.L.J. 595=1933 C. 344.

JURISDICTION.—District Judge to institute the proceedings under S. 14. See 49 C. 850=35 C.L.J. 520=67 I.C. 985=1922 C. 484 The expression "such Court" in the first clause of S. 14 cannot be construed to mean the Court in which the misconduct is alleged to have been committed. The section only means that any Court in which a pleader practises is competent to inquire into a charge of misconduct if the charge is brought in that Court. 72 I.C. 521=24 Cr.L.J. 409 (R.). Infliction of punishment on the legal practitioner is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the High Court. (15 C.W.N. 764, Dist.). 59 C. 709=36 C.W.N. 294=1932 C. 370. A District Judge, on being informed by a person who is admittedly at enmity with a legal practitioner that the legal practitioner is using his private motor as a public conveyance for passengers has no jurisdiction to hold any inquiry himself into the mater under S. 14 without having referred the matter previously to the High Court. The proper course is to report the matter to the High Court in order that it may take such steps as it deems fit under S. 13 or otherwise. 162 I.C. 485= 1936 Rang. 189. S. 13 contemplates the High Court directing an inquiry before action is taken. Unless the tribunal is constituted, beforehand. the inquiry cannot be lawful. Approval of a tribunal ex post facto is repugnant to the spirit of the Act and the wording of S. 13. If the tribunal conducting the inquiry has not been validly constituted, acquiescence in the proceedings would not turn it into a lawful tribunal. A District Judge who is directed to hold an inquiry under S. 12 must hold it himself and has no power to delegate it to an Additional District Judge without reference to the High Court and without obtaining the sanction of the High Court beforehand. Nor has the District Judge authority under S.3-A of the Madras Civil Courts Act to transfer his duty to the Additional District Judge. I L.R. (1940) Mad. 433=1940 Mad. 370=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 259 (F.B.).

IRREGULAR REFERENCE—EFFECT.—For a proper reference to the High Court the formalities required by S. 14 ought to be fulfilled and in the absence of those formalities being strictly complied with, the reference is no valid reference. 1929 A.L.J. 1042=118 I. C. 712=1929 A. 655 (F.B.). The High Court would exercise its disciplinary jurisdiction even though the reference under S. 14 with regard to the alleged misconduct of a pleader is not made by the trial Court in whose Court the occurrence has taken place but by the appellate Court which has no power to refer it. It would be necessary however that the High Court should make an enquiry. What the nature of that enquiry ought to be is clearly a matter for the discretion of the Court. 1922 P. 608 (2)=1 P. 689=4 Pat.L.T. 235=71 I.C. 209. act coming under Cl (f) to S. 13. Where proceedings are commenced under Cl. (b) to S. 13, but it is found that the act comes under Cl. (f) to S. 13, the High Court may avail itself even if the subordinate Court in such cases would have no jurisdiction to make the inquiry it did. 39 I.C. 305=21 C.W. N. 516. The fact that the pleader concerned had become a vakil of the new High Court at Lahore since the action was taken under S. 14 by a lower Court could not affect the jurisdiction of that Court. 152 P L.R. 1919=54 I.C 982

POWER OF SUSPENSION.—Investigation in para. 5 of S. 14 means investigation in the High Court. It is only after a report to the High Court under para. That power is given to suspend under para. 5. 13 C.L.J. 45=9 I.C. 225=15 C W N 269 The District Judge cannot suspend any pleader from practice until he has recorded his finding that he ought to be suspended or dismissed. Suspension pending investigation is not proper. 1937 M W.N. 460=1937 Mad. 672. See also 163 I C. 586=1936 Rang. 249

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS PENDING—RENEWAL OF PLEADERS' CERTIFICATE.—Where a prosecution is ordered against a legal practitioner instead of proceeding according to S. 14, the Judge ought not to wait until the result of the criminal proceedings are known before renewing the pleader's certificate, 38 A. 182=14 A.L.J. 82=33 I.C. 632. The fact that criminal proceedings in connection with an offence under S. 193, I. P. Code, are pending against a mukhtar is not a sufficient reason within the meaning of R. 452 of the Rules of the Court of 4th April, 1898, for refusing to renew his certificate, unless the Ditsrict Judge also takes action under S. 14. 1901 A.W.N. 60. See also I.L R. A report to High Court under S. 14 recommending the dismissal of a mukhtar having no licence to practise in a Revenue Office for gross misconduct, does not lie where the misconduct was committed in the capacity, not of a mukhtar, but as a private individual and came to light in a proceeding wherein he was not a party but only a witness. 23 I. C. 746=19 C.L.J. 110. A proceeding under this Act which is not properly initiated is not a judicial proceeding in the course of which a prosecution may be directed by the Court under S. 476, Cr.P. Code. 15 C. W.N. 269=13 C.L.J. 457=9 I.C. 225 Proceedings against several pleaders are to be separate and distinct. 15 C.W.N. 764 =9 I.C. 247. An inquiry into the professional misconduct of a pleader being of a quasi judicial nature the Court must have strict proof of the pleader's misbehaviour. 11 Bom.L.R. 1150=4 I C. 266. The section does not limit the consideration of a charge to the Court in which the misconduct is alleged to have been committed. 188 P. L R. 1901. A Court subordinate to the High Court is competent to try offences falling under Cls. (c) and (f) of S. 13. 3 A.L.J. 811=29 A. 61.

MISCONDUCT—APPEARANCE FOR OPPOSITE SIDE.—Proper professional conduct is not a mere matter of compliance with technical rules. It is one of which every one who aspires to be called a gentleman should have an instinctive apprehenison. The conduct of a pleader who had already taken instructions from a defendant and received his confidence in the matter of the genuineness of a Small Cause Court suit but who notwithstanding that confidence accepts the instructions of the other side in a title suit referring to same subject-matter, deserves the severest ensure. 15 P.L.T. 305=150 I.C. 16=1934 P. 352 (S.B.). See also 1938 Pat. 28 (S B.); 1928 Mad. 592; 13 A.L.J. 475; (F.B.); 8 R. 446=1930 Rang. 355; 11 C.W. Where a subordinate Court dismisses a petition against a pleader charging him with profesisonal misconduct, it has no power to award costs. But when the matter is taken up by the High Court under S. 15 of the Legal Practitioners Act, the High Court can, if it deems just—as for instance where the complaint is found to be vexatious—itself pass an order for payment of costs. See now Mad. Powers to make rules for mukhtars on appellate side of High Court.

16. Notwithstanding anything contained in any letters patent or in the Code of Civil Procedure, section 37, clause (a), any High Court established by Royal Charter may, from time to time, make rules consistent with this Act as to the following matters (namely) :—

(a) the qualifications and admission of proper persons to be mukhtars practising on the appellate side of such Court;

(b) the fees to be paid for the examination and admission of such persons;

(c) the security which they may be required to give for their honesty and good conduct;

(d) the suspension and dismissal of such mukhtars; and

(e) declaring what shall be deemed to be their functions, powers and duties;

and may prescribe and impose fines for the infringement of such rules, not exceeding in any case five hundred rupees; and such fines when imposed, may be recovered as if they had been imposed in the exercise of the High Court's ordinary original criminal jurisdiction.

CHAPTER IV.

OF REVENUE-AGENTS.

Power to make rules as to qualifications, etc., of revenue agents.

17. The Chief Controlling Revenue-authority may, from time to time, make rules[1] consistent with this Act as to the following matters (namely) :—

(a) the qualifications, admission and certificates of proper persons to be Revenue-agents;

(b) the fees to be paid for the examination and admission of such persons;

(c) the suspension and dismissal of such revenue-agents; and

(d) declaring what shall be deemed to be their functions, powers and duties.

Publication of rules.

Certificates to revenue-agents.

18. On the admission of any person as a revenue-agent under section 17, the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority shall cause a certificate, signed by such officer as such Authority from time to time appoint in this behalf, to be issued to such person, authorizing him to practise up to the end of the current year in such revenue-offices as may be specified therein.

At the expiration of such period, the holder of the certificate, if he desires to continue to practise, shall be entitled to have his certificate renewed by the Secretary of the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority, or by any other officer authorized by such Authority in that behalf.

On every such renewal, the certificate then in the possession of such revenue-agent shall be cancelled and retained by such Secretary or other officer.

Every certificate so renewed shall be signed by such Secretary or other officer and shall continue in force so the end of the current year.

Every officer so renewing a certificate shall notify the renewal to the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority.

Enrolment of revenue agent.

19. Every revenue-agent holding a certificate issued under section 18 may apply to be enrolled in any revenue-office mentioned therein and situate within the limits of the territory under the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority; and subject to such rules as the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority may, from time to time, make in this behalf, the officer presiding in such office shall enrol him accordingly, and thereupon he may practise as a revenue-agent in such office and in any revenue-office subordinate thereto.

No person to act as agent in revenue-offices unless qualified.

20. Except as provided by this Act or any other enactment for the time being in force, no person, other than a pleader duly qualified under the provisions hereinbefore contained, shall practise as a revenue-agent in any revenue office, unless he holds a certificate issued under section 18 and has been enrolled in such office or some other office to which it is subordinate:

Provided that any person duly authorized in this behalf may, with the sanction of the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority, or of an officer empowered by the Provincial Government in this behalf, transact all or any business in which his principal may be concerned in any revenue-office.

The sanction mentioned in this section may be general or special, and may at any time be revoked or suspended by the Authority or officer granting the same.

Dismissal of revenue-agent convicted of criminal offence

21. The Chief Controlling Revenue-authority may suspend or dismiss any revenue-agent holding a certificate issued under this Act who is convicted of any criminal offence implying a defect of character which unfits him to be a revenue-agent.

Suspension and dismissal of revenue agents guilty of unprofessional conduct

22. [1][The Chief Controlling Revenue-authority may also, after such inquiry as it thinks fit, suspend or dismiss any revenue-agent holding a certificate as aforesaid—

(a) who is guilty of fraudulent or grossly improper conduct in the discharge of his professional duty, or

(b) who tenders, gives or consents to the retention, out of any fee paid or payable to him, for his services, of any gratification for procuring or having procured the employment in any legal business of himself or any other revenue-agent, or

(c) who, directly or indirectly, procures or attempts to procure the employment of himself, as such revenue-agent through, or by the intervention of, any person to whom any remuneration for obtaining such employment has been given by him, or agreed or promised to be so given, or

(d) who accepts any employment in any legal business through a person who has been proclaimed as a tout under section 36, or

(e) for any other reasonable cause.]

Procedure when revenue-agent is so charged in subordinate office

23. If any revenue-agent holding a certificate issued under this Act is charged with any such conduct in any office subordinate to the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority, or in the Court of any Munsif, the officer at the head of such office, or such Munsif, as the case may be, shall send him a copy of the charge, and also a notice that, on a day to be therein appointed, such a charge will be taken into consideration.

Such copy and notice shall be served upon the person charged at least fifteen days before the day so appointed. On such day or on any other day to which the enquiry may be adjourned, the officer or Munsif shall receive all evidence properly produced in support of the charge, or by the person charged, and shall proceed to adjudicate on the charge.

If the officer or Munsif finds the charge established, and considers that the person charged should be suspended or dismissed in consequence, he shall record his finding and the grounds thereof, and report the same to the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority; and such Authority shall proceed to acquit, suspend or dismiss him.

LEG. REF.

[1] Substituted by Act XI of 1896, S. 3.

Any Revenue-officer not inferior to a Collector, and, with the Collector's sanction, any Revenue-officer subordinate to him, or any Munsif in his district, may, pending the investigation and the orders of the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority, suspend from practice any revenue-agent charged before him under this section.

Where any officer acting under this section is subordinate to the Commissioner of a Division, he shall transmit the report through such Commissioner, who shall forward with the same an expression of his own opinion on the case.

Power to Chief Controlling Revenue authority to call for record.

24. The Chief Controlling Revenue-authority, in any case in which a revenue-agent has been acquitted under section 23 otherwise than by an order of the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority, may call for the record and pass such order thereon as seems fit.

CHAPTER V.

OF CERTIFICATES.

Fee for certificates

25. Every certificate, wheher original or renewed, issued under this Act shall be written upon stamped paper of the value prescribed therefor in the second schedule hereto annexed, [1][and such description as the Provincial Government may, from time to time, prescribe.][2]

Provided that a certificate issued on or after the first day of July in any year may be written on stamped paper of half the value so prescribed:

[3][Provided also that no stamped paper shall be required in the case of a certificate, whether original or renewed, authorizing, under section 7, a vakil or attorney on the roll of a High Court established by Royal Charter to practise as a pleader.]

Dismissed practitioners to surrender certificates.

26. When any pleader, mukhtar or revenue-agent is suspended or dismissed under this Act, he shall forthwith deliver up his certificate to the Court or officer at the head of the office before or in which he was practising at the time he was so suspended or dismissed, or to any Court or officer to which the High Court or Chief Controlling Revenue-authority (as the case may be) orders him to deliver the same.

CHAPTER VI.

OF THE REMUNERATION OF PLEADERS, MUKHTARS AND REVENUE-AGENTS.

High Court and Chief Controlling Revenue-authority to fix fees on civil and revenue proceedings.

27. The High Court shall, from time to time, fix and regulate the fees payable by any party in respect of the fees of his adversary's advocate, pleader, vakil, mukhtar or attorney upon all proceedings (a) on the appellate side of such Court (b) in the case of a High Court not established by Royal Charter, on its original side, and (c) in subordinate Courts [4][and in respect of the fees of his adversary's revenue-agent appearing, pleading or acting under section 10].

The Chief Controlling Revenue-authority shall, from time to time, fix and regulate[5] the fees payable upon all proceedings in the revenue-offices by any party in respect of the fees of his adversary's advocate, pleader, vakil, attorney, mukhtar or revenue-agent.

PENALTIES.

On persons illegally practising as pleaders, mukhtars or revenue-agents.

32. Any person who practises in any Court or revenue-office in contravention of the provisions of section 10 or section 20 shall be liable, by order of such Court or the officer at the head of such office, to a fine not exceeding ten times the amount of the stamp required by this Act for a certificate authorizing him so to practise in such Court or office, and, in default of payment, to imprisonment in the civil jail for a term which may extend to six months.

He shall also be incapable of maintaining any suit for, or enforcing any lien with respect to, any fee or reward for, or with respect to, anything done or and disbursement made by him as pleader, mukhtar or revenue-agent, whilst he has been contravening the provisions of either of such sections.

On suspended or dismissed pleader, etc., failing to deliver certificate.

33. Any pleader, mukhtar or revenue-agent failing to deliver up his certificate as required by section 26 shall be liable, by order of the Court, authority or officer to which or to whom, or according to whose orders, the delivery should be made, to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and in default of payment to imprisonment in the civil jail for a term which may extend to three months.

SEC. 28: ORAL AGREEMENT INVALID.—A suit by a pleader for fees based upon an alleged oral agreement cannot succeed because it is not a valid agreement as it is a special agreement and any special agreement is to be in writing under the provisions of sec. 28. 26 C.W.N. 709=67 I.C. 874=1922 C. 567. See also 20 I.C. 47 (1) =20 C.L.J. 424.

FAILURE TO FILE AGREEMENT.—Even an illegal agreement if not actually filed under sec. 28 cannot be acted on and if the pleader acted bona fide and in good faith no action ought to be taken on it. 12 Cr.L.J. 12=9 I.C. 130=8 A.L.J. 151.

Repeal of sec. 28, Legal Practitioners Act, is not retrospective. The repeal of the section does not affect rights created before it came into force. 1927 P. 178=6 P. 614= 101 I.C. 559. SEC. 32.—The term "practising" in sec. 32 does not connote the doing of acts habitually or often, but signifies the performance of an act by a person as a professional man which as a private individual, he could not do. 26 A. 380=1904 A.W.N. 57 (1). Where a pleader does not apply for renewal of his sanad within the time prescribed, he fails to comply with R. 11 of the rules under the Legal Practitioners Act. He has therefore no right to appear in a case until his sanad is actually renewed, though if he applies within time complying with R. 6, he would as a matter of practice be permitted to appear in cases pending renewal of his sanad. If a pleader who has not complied with R. 11, appears in a case before removal of his sanad he renders himself liable to punishment under sec. 32. I.L. R. (1944) Mad. 633=57 L.W. 87 (1)=A.I. 34. Any pleader, mukhtar or revenue-agent who, under the provisions of this Act, has been suspended or dismissed, and who, during such suspension or after such dismissal, practises as a pleader, mukhtar or revenue-agent in any Court or revenue-office, shall be liable, by order of such Court or the officer at the head of such office to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and in default of payment to imprisonment in the civil jail for a term which may extend to six months.

On suspended or dismissed practitioner practising during suspension or after dismissal.

35. Every order under sections 32, 33 or 34 shall be subject to revision by the High Court where the order has been passed by a subordinate Court, and by the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority where the order has been passed by an officer subordinate to such Authority.

Revision of fines.

SEC. 36: SCOPE OF SECTION.—See 31 A. 59 =6 A.L.J. 22. Sec. 36 creates a special jurisdiction but does not define the details of the mode in which that jurisdiction is to be exercised. The course to be adopted should be such as would do substantial justice to the parties brought before the Court. An enquiry under sec. 36 cannot be conducted in the manner prescribed in Cr.P. Code, regarding enquiries altogether of a different nature. 44 M.L.J. 437=69 I.C. 433=1923 M. 188 (2). JURISDICTION AND PROCEDURE.—Proceedings to declare a man a tout are not judicial ones but are only of a departmental nature. 166 I.C. 643=38 Cr.L.J. 316= 1937 Sind 4. Under sec. 36 of the Act it is not necessary that there should be a petition at all; it does not contemplate the case of a party making definite allegations against an alleged tout. 44 M.L.J. 437=69 I.C. 433=1923 M. 188 (2). The proceedings under sec. 36 are of a quasi criminal nature and it is doubtful whether consent of the persons claimed against can validate any irregularity in the procedure. 32 Cr.L.J. 672=1931 L. 57=12 L. 385=131 I. The insertion of names of persons in the list of touts should be made after conducting a proper enquiry under sec. 36. 132 I.C. 41=1930 A. 796. Before directing inclusion of a person's name in the list of touts it is necessary under sec. 36 to give the person an opportunity of showing cause against the inclusion. The duties cannot be delegated by any of the officers mentioned therein to their subordinates. 1919 Pat. 273=22 Cr.L.J. 66=59 I. C. 322 (S.B.). Notice to show cause why a person should not be declared a tout must be given to him and evidence should be taken in his presence to show that he is a tout. 5

Pat.L.W. 229=42 I.C. 996 (F.B.). The District Judge is bound to examine witnesses named by the person sought to be declared as a tout. The District Judge ought not to import his own personal knowledge in a case unless he informs the person of the nature and source of the information and allows himself to be cross-examined thereupon. 120 P.L.R. 1909. Where the District Judge sends to the Senior Subordinate Judge the names of persons suspected to be touts for the purpose of enquiry and report, the District Judge should on receipt of such report pass final orders as to the inclusion of the persons in the list of tourts. 32 Punj.L.R. 9.

PROOF.—Proof by general repute or otherwise is necessary before a person can be declared a tout under the section. 11 P. L.R. 1912=15 I.C. 307; 44 I.C. 125=40 All. 153; 3 I.C. 982. If a resolution is based on general repute the Court may attach less weight to it, but it cannot be said that such a resolution is invalid or legally inadmissible in evidence and cannot be taken into consideration by the Court. 1931 A. 711. If a number of respectable pleader's in a particular district are found to be of opinion that a person is a tout, the fact is sufficient to justify the District Judge in holding that the person charged is by general repute a tout. 3 I.C. 982. In a proceeding under sec. 36 certain legal practitioners who had been produced as defence witnesses by some of the persons proceeded against gave evidence in favour of those who had cited them and at the same time deposed that the rest were known to them by reputation or otherwise as touts. Held, that such evidence could not be relied on as evidence against those persons on whose behalf the witnesses had not been cited. 12 Lah. 385=1931 L. 57. Where it appeared to the High Court, on evidence, that certain persons habitually acted as touts, they were asked to show cause why an order should not be made under sec. 36 and, on their failing to give evidence that they were living by honest and legitimate means, they were included in the list of touts and a copy thereof ordered to be hung up in every Court. 1896 A.W.N. 107. The decision of a Court determining that a person is a tout must be based on substantial legal evidence. 13 Cr.L.J. 510=15 I.C. 654 (C.). The person aganist whom the evidence is directed must have an opportunity of cross-examining the witnesses. 15 I.C. 654 (C.). See also 3 I.C. 982.

ILLEGAL GRATIFICATION FOR FURNISHING CASES.—A letter written by a High Court Vakil to another practising in the mofussil asking the latter to send up cases to him and agreeing to share the fees, renders him culpable under sec. 36 and the High Court has jurisdiction to take up the case and suspend the pleader, as his conduct amounts to a "reasonable cause" within sec. 8 of the Letters Patent of March 17, 1866. 17 A. 498=22 I.A. 193 (P.C.).

DIVISIONAL JUDGE IN THE PUNJAB.—Power of, to declare a person as tout. 108 P.L.R. 1904.

CHIEF COURT'S POWER OF INTERFERENCE (PUNJAB).—See 3 P.R. 1900 (Cr.) cried 22 P.R. 1904 (Cr.) 7; 3 I.C. 982.

POWER OF JUDICIAL COMMISSIONER'S COURT TO INTERFERE IN REVISION.—In cases under sec. 36, the Judicial Commissioner's Court has power to interfere in revision in the exercise of its general power of superintendence and control over Subordinate Courts. 28 N.L.R. 4=137 I.C. 66=1932 N. 50. See also 1941 Lah. 1=I.L.R. (1941) Lah. 133; (1938) 2 M.L.J. 100=1938 M. 634.

REVISIONAL JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT—CONFLICT OF AUTHORITIES.—Proceedings under sec. 36 are not governed by the Civil or the Criminal Procedure Codes and cannot be revised under the civil or criminal jurisdiction. But the High Courts have held that they have jurisdiction to interfere under sec. 15 of the High Courts Act. 18 P.R. (Cr.) 1914=25 I. C. 513; 45 A. 676=1924 A. 69. See also 1941 Lah. 1=I.L.R. (1941) Lah. 133; I. L.R. 1938 M. 988=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 100. The only provision under which the High Court would interfere with the order of a Subordinate Court under sec. 36 of the Legal Practitioners Act is 15 of the High Courts Act. The High Court ought not to interfere with the order of the Sessions Judge under sec. 36 of the Legal Practitioners Act on the ground that the finding of the latter was against the weight of evidence. 21 A. 181. The jurisdiction to revise is of an exceptional character and cannot be invoked except in furtherance of justice. If the Judge in passing the order had no clear conception of the law on the subject or, if he had failed to apply the law to the facts of the case and based his finding on mere suspicion or conjecture, the High Court would interfere with the order. I.L.R. 1938 Mad. 988 =1938 M. 634=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 100. Sec. 36 confers a special jurisdiction on Subordinate Courts; and an order passed by a District Judge under sec. 36 declaring a person a tout is an order which the High Court has power to revise under sec. 115, C. P. Code, being a case decided by a Court subordinate to the High Court. Sec. 439 of the Cr. P. Code does not apply to such a case. Nor can it be revised under the Government of India Act, 1935. I.L.R. 1938 M. 988=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 100. See also 1932 Nag. 50. The High Court cannot in its revisional jurisdiction interfere under sec. 115, C.P. Code, with an order under sec. 36. 56 I.C. 433=13 S.L.R. 212. An order under sec. 36 does amount to a judgment contemplated by sec. 224 (2), Government of India Act and is not open to revision under sec. 115, C.P. Code, any more than under the Cr.P. Code. Sec. 224 (2), Government of India Act, 1935, bars the interference by the High Court on the administrative side and hence the High Court has no power to question a decision under sec. 36, I.L.R. (1941) Lah. 133=192 I.C. 363=1941 Lah. 1. (Case law discussed.) The intention of the Legislature was not to allow anything of the nature of an appeal against the decision of a competent Court under sec. 36. 45 A. 676=21 A.L.J. 671=1924 A. 69. The High Court has power to revise orders passed under sec. 36 of the Legal Practitioners Act by reason of the power of superintendence vested in the Court by sec. 107 of the Government of India Act, but this power is of a very exceptional nature and cannot be invoked except in furtherance of justice. 129 I.C. 487=1930 L. 889. See also 56 B. 577=34 Bom.L.R. 1281=1932 B. 596. See also 3 I. SEC. 36 (1), EXPL.—Under sec. 36 (1) Explanation, the resolution is valuable evidence even though the facts on which the resolution is based are not disclosed. 28 N.L. R. 159=139 I.C. 900=1932 N. 141. A resolution or report of a Sub-Committee of only seven members out of an Association of about 22 members declaring certain persons to be touts is not a resolution by a majority of the members, and hence it cannot be used as evidence of general repute under the Explanation, 6 P. 567=1927 P. 282. Held, that revision lies to High Court from an order of the District Magistrate including the name of a person in the list of touts under sec. 36 of the Legal Practitioners Act. 1930 A.L.J. 961=1930 A. 641. The law does not require that all the members should be present at the meeting but requires that a meeting of the association should be convened for the purpose of considering whether a certain person is a tout; and if by a majority of the members present at such a meeting a resolution is passed, it is sufficient. 56 C. 800=115 I.C. 602 (2)=1929 C. 196. See also 28 N.L.R. 159=1932 N. 141. Nor does it matter that some of the members who voted had lost their voting capacity for non-payment of subscriptions, according to the rules of the Association. 165 I.C. 963=1936 Lah. 382. Nor does the fact that opportunity was not given to the persons to be declared touts to appear before the association to show cause why the resolution should not be passed. 1936 L. 382. To determine the regularity or otherwise of a Bar Association declaring certain persons to be touts any rules framed by the Association are irrelevant. See 118 I.C. 524=1928 A. 334=26 A.L.J. 790. In order to enable a Court to admit in evidence the resolution of the Bar Association declaring certain persons to be touts, it is necessary to establish that it was a meeting specially convened for the purpose of passing the resolution in question. Where it is not proved that all the members of the Association who were able to attend had been notified nor is it shown that those who were not notified were otherwise not capable of attending the meeting, the special meeting convened to declare certain persons touts cannot be said to have been properly convened and consequently the resolution passed threat is not a valid resolution, as contemplated by the Explanation to sec. 36 (1). 12 L. 385=1931 L. 57. For a meeting being specially convened within sec. 36, it is not necessary to state in the notice of the meeting, the particular nature of the charges made against the tout. 44 Cr.L.J. 582=A. I.R. 1943 Pesh. 54. After the amendment of the Act in 1926, while it is open to proceed under sec. 36 in the old way and call evidence, it can also avoid the calling of witnesses once a resolution is presented to it which satisfies the requirements of Act XV of 1926. 130 I.C. 629=1931 A. 315. The expression "majority of members present" in the Explanation to sec. 36 of the Legal Practitioners Act is not the same thing as majority of members voting. Where the only evidence on which a person was declared a tout was a resolution of the Bar Association and it appeared that at the meeting of the Association 64 were present but only 26 voted in favour of the resolution, 14 votes being against it and the rest being neutral, held, that there was no legal evidence on which the person could be declared a tout. 1930 A.L.J. 977=1930 A. 752=52 A. 939. On this Explanation, see also 26 A.L.J. 790= 1928 A. 334. The words 'any person', mean any named or specified person. So, the name of the person to be declared or not to be a tout should be before the meeting. 166 I.C. 643=1937 Sind 4. It is not proper for the District Judge to award costs of his inquiry against the Bar Association when he had invited it to assist him in the inquiry. 165 I. C. 963=1936 Lah. 382.

[1][Explanation.—The passing of a resolution, declaring any person to be or not to be a tout, by a majority of the members present at a meeting, specially convened for the purpose, of an association of persons entitled to practise as legal practitioners in any Court or revenue-office, shall be evidence of the general repute of such person for the purposes of this sub-section.]

SEC. 36 (2).—Under sec. 36 (2) the District Judge has the power to differ from or accept the report of Subordinate Court; where District Judge refuses to accept the

(2) No person's name shall be included in any such list until he shall have had an opportunity of showing cause against such inclusion.

[1][(2-A) Any authority empowered under sub-section (1) to frame and publish a list of touts may send to any Court subordinate to such authority the names of any persons alleged or suspected to be touts, and order that Court to hold an inquiry in regard to such persons; and the subordinate Court shall thereupon hold an inquiry into the conduct of such persons and, after giving each such person an opportunity of showing cause as provided in sub-section (2), shall report to the authority which has ordered the inquiry the name of each such person who has been proved to the satisfaction of the subordinate Court to be a tout; and that authority may include the name of any such person in the lists of touts framed and published by that authority:

Provided that such authority shall hear any such person who, before his name has been so included, appears before it and desires to be heard.]

(3) A copy of every such list shall be kept hung up in every Court to which the same relates.

(4) The Court or Judge may, by general or special order, exclude from the precincts of the Court any person whose name is included in any such list.

(5) Every person whose name is included in any such list shall be deemed to be proclaimed as a tout within the meaning of section 13, clause (e), and section 22, clause (d).]

[1][(6) Any person who acts as a tout whilst his name is included in any such list shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.]

report, the High Court will not interfere in revision unless the order is manifestly wrong. 134 I.C. 98=1931 L. 98 (2). That the order under sec. 36 (2) was passed by the District Magistrate without giving the applicant an opportunity of appearing before him and being heard is sufficient gorund for revision. (45 A. 676, Foll.) 27 N.L.R. 398=1931 N. 187.

SEC. 36 (2-A).—Order declaring person to be tout when he is not proved to be so, is illegal. 31 P.L.R. 212=1930 L. 405. The Senior Subordinate Judge was asked by the District Judge to hold an enquiry with regard to certain persons named in the list framed by a Bar Association. The name of the petitioner was included in the list and the matter was so reported. Held, that under sec. 36 (2-A) it was the duty of the petitioner who knew that he was included in the list to enter appearance before the District Judge and apply to be heard and it was not the duty of the District Judge to issue notice to him. 132 I.C. 846=1931 L. 543 (2). Proceedings under sec. 36 (2-A) are of a quasi-criminal nature. An order declaring a person to be a tout is one which very seriously affects his character and living. It is therefore incumbent upon the District Judge to satisfy himself that the conditions laid down by the Explanation to sub-sec. (1) for the admissibility of a resolution are duly fulfilled and satisfied. 34 Bom.L.R. 1281=1932 B. 596=56 Bom. 577.

SEC. 36 (2-A) PROVISO.—The District Magistrate delegating an inquiry to a subordinate cannot act on the report submitted by the latter recommending that a person should be declared a tout, if the person appears and desires to be heard. The District Magistrate cannot delegate the matter of hearing a person against whom a report has been made. 27 N.L.R. 398=1931 N. 187.

SEC. 36: REVISION—INTERFERENCE.—It is not for the Judicial Commissioner to interfere with the finding of the District Judge that a particular person acts as a tout unless it is shown that there has been some irregularity which amounts to a denial of justice. 44 Cr.L.J. 582=A.I.R. 1943 Pesh. 54.

SEC. 37.—For Regulations made under this section by the Government of Burma, see Burma Gazette, 1911, Part 1, p. 13. For Regulations in other Provinces, see Local Rules and Orders.

Provincial Government to appoint Examiners.

tions 6 and 17 respectively, the Provincial Government shall, from time to time, appoint persons to be examiners for the purposes aforesaid, and may, from time to time, make regulations for conducting such examinations.

Exemption of High Court practitioners from certain parts of Act.

38. Except as provided by sections 4, 5, [1][7], 16, [1][25], 27, 32 and 36 nothing in this Act applies to advocates, vakils and attorneys admitted and enrolled by any High Court under the letters patent by which such Court is constituted, or to mukhtars practising in such Court or to advocates enrolled [2][under section 41 of this Act]; [3][and, except as provided by section 36, nothing in this Act applies to persons enrolled as advocates of any High Court, under the Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926].

Suspension or dismissal of person holding mukhtar and revenue-agent's certificates.

39. When any person who holds a certificate as a mukhtar under section 7 and a certificate as a revenue-agent under section 18 is suspended or dismissed in one of such capacities, he shall be deemed to be suspended or dismissed, as the case may be, also in the other.

Pleaders, etc., not to be suspended or dismissed without being heard.

40. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, no pleader, mukhtar or revenue-agent shall be suspended or dismissed under this Act unless he has been allowed an opportunity of defending himself before the Authority suspending or dismissing him.

Power for certain High Courts to enrol advocates.

[4]41. (1) A High Court not established by Royal Charter [5][in respect of which the Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926, is not in force] may, four time to time, with the previous sanction of the Provincial Government, make rules as to the qualifications and admission of proper persons to be advocates of the Court, and, subject to such rules, may enrol such and so many advocates as it thinks fit.

(2) Every advocate so enrolled shall be entitled to appear for the suitors of the Court, and to plead or to act, or to plead and act, for those suitors according as the Court may by its rules determine, and subject to those rules.

4 Substituted by Act X of 1884, sec. 8, for the original section.

SEC. 40: SCOPE OF THE SECTION.—The provisions of sec. 40 apply to interim orders of suspension passed under sec. 14, para. 5; before an interim order of suspension is passed under sec. 14 (5) he must be asked to show cause under sec. 40 and a report must be sent to the High Court under sec. 14 (4). 15 C.W.N. 269=9 I.C. 225. See also 163 I.C. 586=1936 Rang. 249.

SEC. 41: SUSPENSION OF PRACTICE ON ENTERING GOVERNMENT SERVICE—APPLICATION FOR RENEWAL OF SANAD.—Where a practitioner is suspended from practice owing to his accepting a Government service, and he applies for renewal of the permission after his discharge from such service, he should make a full and true disclosure of the facts which led to his removal from service. 62 I.C. 831 (C.)=22 Cr.L.J. 591. In the enquiry under Legal Practitioners Act of an advocate, the conviction of the advocate by a competent Magistrate must be accepted as proper, and cannot be reopened. 44 A. 352 =65 I.C. 500=1922 A. 140 (F.B.). The power to rescind order under sec. 41 possessed by the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of Oudh vests in the Chief Court. But as the order passed by the Bench of the Judicial Commissioner's Court was confirmed by the Local Government, it should not be rescinded without its confirmation. 148 I.C. 299=1934 O. 140 (S.B.). Where a legal practitioner has been sufficiently punished by having remained debarred from practice for about fifteen years and he has tendered an unconditional apology the order under sec. 41 should be rescinded. 148 I.C. 299= 1934 O. 140 (S.B.). There is inherent power in the High Court to restore a pleader whose name has been struck off the rolls although there is no express provision for a review

(3) The High Court may dismiss any advocate so enrolled or suspend him from practice.

(4) Provided that an advocate shall not be dismissed or suspended under this section unless he has been allowed an opportunity of defending himself before the High Court which enrolled him, and [1][except in the case of the Chief Court of Oudh] unless the order of the High Court dismissing or suspending him has been confirmed by the Provincial Government.

THE LEGAL PRACTITIONERS (MADRAS AMENDMENT) ACT (III OF 1943).

[23*rd February,* 1943.

An Act further to amend the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, in its application to the Province of Madras.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, in its application to the Province of Madras, for the purposes hereinafter appearing;

AND WHEREAS, the Governor of Madras has, by a Proclamation under section 93 of the Government of India Act, 1935, assumed to himself all powers vested by or under the said Act in the Provincial Legislature;

LEG. REF.

[1] Inserted by sec. 2 and Sch. of Act XXXII of 1925.

Legal Practitioners Act. 156 I.C. 243=1935 A. 321 (F. B.).

NOW, THEREFORE, in exercise of the powers so assumed to himself, the Governor is pleased to enact as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called THE LEGAL PRACTITIONERS (MADRAS AMENDMENT) ACT, 1943.

Insertion of new section 15-A in Act XVIII of 1879.

2. After section 15 of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

High Court's power to pass orders as to costs.

"15-A. When passing an order under section 13, section 14 or section 15, the High Court may pass such order as it thinks fit as regards the payment of the costs of the inquiry under section 13, or of the inquiry under section 14 and the hearing in the High Court, as the case may be."

Amendment of section 36, Act XVIII of 1879.

3. In section 36 of the said Act—

(a) in sub-section (1), after the words "Sessions Judge," the words "Subordinate Judge, District Munsif," shall be inserted, after the words "District Magistrate", the words "Sub-Divisional Magistrate" shall be inserted, and after the words "Collector of a district," the words "the Madras City Civil Court" shall be inserted;

(b) in sub-section (2-A), for the words "may send to any Court", the words, brackets, figure and letter "may, of its own motion or on a report from the Committee referred to in sub-section (2-B), send to any Court" shall be substituted;

(c) after sub-section (2-A), the following sub-section shall be inserted, namely:—

"(2-B) (i) There shall be constituted at the Presidency-town of Madras a Committee consisting of seven legal practitioners in active practice appointed by the Chief Judge of the Court of Small Causes, Madras, after consulting the Principal Judge of the Madras City Civil Court, the Chief Presidency Magistrate and the representatives of the Advocates' Association and the Bar Association, Madras.

(ii) There shall be constituted at the headquarters of each District Judge and at the headquarters of each taluk comprised within the jurisdiction of a District Judge not being his own headquarters, a Committee consisting of not less than three and not more than five legal practitioners in active practice, appointed by the District Judge after consulting the salaried gazetted Judicial Officers, Civil and Criminal, at such headquarters or having jurisdiction over the taluk in which such headquarters are situated or any part of such taluk.

(iii) Every member of a Committee constituted under clause (i) or clause (ii) shall hold office for a renewable term of three years but may resign his office earlier or may be removed therefrom by the Chief Judge of the Court of Small Causes, Madras, or the District Judge, as the case may be, for sufficient cause recorded in writing. The Chief Judge or District Judge shall, subject to the provisions of clause (i) or clause (ii), as the case may be, have power to fill any vacancy in the Committee arising by resignation, death or removal.

(iv) The Committee constituted at the Presidency-town of Madras may be consulted in connexion with any action proposed to be taken under sub-section (1) or (2-A) by any Court which, or any Judge, Magistrate or Officer whose Court or Office, is situated at the Presidency-town of Madras.

(v) The Committee constituted at the headquarters of any District Judge may be consulted in connexion with any action proposed to be taken under sub-section (1) or (2-A) by any Court which, or any Judge, Magistrate or Officer whose Court or Office, is situated at such headquarters and also by any Court, Judge, Magistrate or Officer having jurisdiction over the taluk in which such headquarters are situated or any part of such taluk.

(vi) The Committee constituted at the headquarters of any taluk may be consulted in connexion with any action proposed to be taken under sub-section (1) or (2-A) by any Court, Judge, Magistrate or Officer having jurisdiction over the taluk or any part thereof.

(vii) Any Committee may report the name of any person alleged or suspected to be a tout to any Court, Judge, Magistrate or Officer entitled to consult it under clause (vv) or clause (v) or clause (vi), as the case may be, for such action as such Court, Judge, Magistrate or Officer may deem fit to take under this section.

(viii) Every Committee shall function solely in an advisory capacity and its opinion or report shall not be binding in any way on any Court, Judge, Magistrate or Officer", and

(d) after sub-section (6), the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

"(7) (a) If the offence referred to in sub-section (6) is alleged to have been committed by any person, the authority by which his name was included in the list of touts shall also be competent, notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, to take cognizance of and try such offence and sentence such person if found guilty.

(b) Any person sentenced under clause (a) by any authority other than the High Court may, notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, appeal—

(i) in case he is sentenced by a District Munsif or Sub-divisional Magistrate to the authority to which appeals ordinarily lie from decrees, sentences or orders passed by such District Munsif or Sub-divisional Magistrate; and

(ii) in other cases to the High Court.

(c) The provisions of Chapter XXXI of the Code aforesaid shall, so far as they are applicable, apply to appeals under clause (b) and the appellate authority may alter or reverse the finding or reduce or reverse the sentence appealed against."

THE LEGAL PRACTITIONERS (WOMEN) ACT (XXIII OF 1923).

[2nd April, 1923.

An Act for the removal of doubts regarding the right of women to be enrolled and to practise as legal practitioners.

WHEREAS it is expedient to remove certain doubts which have arisen as to the right of women to be enrolled and to practise as legal practitioners;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE LEGAL PRACTITIONERS (WOMEN) ACT, 1923.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

Definition.

2. In this Act, "Legal practitioner" means a legal practitioner as defined in section 3 of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879.

Women not to be disqualified by reason only of sex.

3. Notwithstanding anything contained in any enactment in force in British India or in the Letters Patent of any High Court or in any rule or order made under or in pursuance of any such enactment or Letters Patent, no woman shall, by reason only of her sex, be disqualified from being admitted or enrolled as a legal practitioner or from practising as such; and any such rule or order which is repugnant to the provisions of this Act shall, to the extent of such repugnancy, be void.

An Act to define in certain cases the rights of legal practitioners to sue for their fees and their liabilities to be sued in respect of negligence in the discharge of their professional duties.

WHEREAS it is expedient to define in certain cases the rights of legal practitioners to sue for their fees and their liabilities to be sued in respect of negligence in the discharge of their professional duties; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE LEGAL PRACTITIONERS (FEES) ACT, 1926.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

(3) It shall come into force on such date[2] as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

Interpretation.

2. For the purposes of this Act unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "legal practitioner" means a legal practitioner as defined in section 3 of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879; and

(b) a legal practitioner shall not be deemed to "act" if he only pleads, or to agree to "act" if he agrees only to plead.

SECS. 3 AND 4.—A legal practitioner can not only by private agreement settle with a client the terms and fee but also sue for his fee due under that agreement and the former cannot be said to stand in any confidential relation towards the latter in view of the plain language of secs. 3 and 4. Such a private agreement can be impugned like any other contract and in case the agreement is avoided then the fee would have to be computed according to the rules for the time being in force as provided in sec. 4. 132 I C. 719=1931 R. 104. Where the fee payable is not settled with the client under sec. 3 then under sec. 4 the pleader is entitled only to such fee as would come to on computation, in accordance with the law for the time being in force in regard to the computation of the costs to be awarded to a party in respect of the fee of his legal practitioner. 1931 P. 137=131 I.C. 542; 9 P. 865. Where a client engaged a pleader and filed a vakalatnama in his favour but it was not signed by the pleader, the pleader is entitled to his remuneration for the work done by him on the principle of quantum meruit. 1931 P. 137=131 I.C. 542. When there are several gentlemen retained by a client in the same vakalatnama, each of the vakils is entitled to claim from his client the full fee stipulated for by him and not merely a share in the single fee allowed as against the losing party. Appointment of leper asylums by Provincial Government.

Gazette, appoint any place to be a leper asylum if it is satisfied that adequate arrangements have been made or will be made for the accommodation and medical treatment of lepers therein, and may, by a like notification, specify the local areas from which lepers may be sent to such asylum.]

Appointment of Inspectors of lepers and Superintendents of Asylums.

4. Subject to any rules which may be made under section 16, the Provincial Government may appoint any Medical Officer of the Government or other qualified medical man to be an Inspector[1] of Lepers and any person to be a Superintendent[1] of a Leper Asylum, with such establishment as may, in its opinion, be necessary, and every Inspector or Superintendent so appointed shall be deemed to be a public servant.

Constitution of Board.

5. The Provincial Government shall constitute for every leper asylum appointed under section 3 a Board[2] consisting of not less than three members, one of whom at least shall be a Medical Officer of the Government.

Arrest of pauper lepers.

6. (1) Within any local area which has been specified under section 3 any police-officer [3][or any other person specially empowered by the Provincial Government by order in writing in this behalf] may arrest without a warrant any person who appears to him to be a pauper leper.

(2) Such police-officer [3][or other person] shall forthwith take or send the person so arrested to the nearest convenient police-station.

Person arrested how to be dealt with.

7. Every person brought to a police-station under the last foregoing section shall, without unnecessary delay, be taken before an Inspector of Lepers, who,—

(a) if he finds that such person is not a leper within the meaning of section 2, shall give him a certificate in Form A set forth in the schedule, whereupon such person shall be forthwith released from arrest;

(b) if he finds that such person is a leper within the meaning of section 2, shall give to the police-officer, in whose custody the leper is, a certificate in Form B set forth in the schedule, whereupon the leper shall, without unnecessary delay, be taken before a Magistrate having jurisdiction under this Act.

Procedure with regard to pauper lepers.

8. (1) If it appears to any Presidency Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class or to any other Magistrate authorised in this behalf by the Provincial Government, upon the certificate in Form B set forth in the schedule, that any person is a leper, and if it further appears to the Magistrate that the person is a pauper leper, he may, after recording the evidence on the above-mentioned points, and his order thereon, send the pauper leper in charge of a police-officer, together with an order in Form C set forth in the schedule, to a leper asylum, where such leper shall be detained until discharge by order of the Board or the District Magistrate:

Provided that, if the person denies the allegation of leprosy, the Magistrate shall call and examine the Inspector of Lepers, and shall take such further evidence as may be necessary to support or to rebut the allegation that the person is a leper, and may for this purpose adjourn the enquiry from time to time, remanding the person for observation or for other reason to such place as may be convenient, or admitting him to bail:

LEG. REF.

[2] For notifications constituting such Board, see the different Local Rules and Orders.

[3] These words were inserted by sec. 5 of the Lepers (Amendment) Act, 1920 (XXII of 1920).

Provided also that if any friend or relative of any person found to be a pauper leper shall undertake in writing to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that such pauper leper shall be properly taken care of and shall be prevented from publicly begging in any area specified under section 3, the Magistrate, instead of sending the leper to an asylum, may make the leper over to the care of such friend or relative, requiring him, if he thinks fit, to enter into a bond with one or more sureties, to which the provisions of section 514 of the Code of Criminal Procedure[1] shall be applicable.

(2) If the Magistrate finds that such person is not a leper, or that, if a leper, he is not a pauper leper, he shall forthwith discharge him.

Power to prohibit lepers from following certain trades and doing certain acts

9. (1) The Provincial Government may, by notification[2] in the Official Gazette, order that no leper shall, within any area specified under section 3,—

(a) personally prepare for sale or sell any article of food or drink or any drugs or clothing intended for human use; or

(b) bathe, wash clothes or take water from any public well or tank debarred by any municipal or local by-law from use by lepers; or

(c) drive, conduct or ride in any public carriage plying for hire other than a railway carriage; or

(d) exercise any trade or calling which may by such notification be prohibited to lepers.

(2) Any such notification may comprise all or any of the above prohibitions.

(3) Whoever disobeys any order made pursuant to the powers conferred by this section shall be punishable with fine which may extend to twenty rupees:

Provided that, when any person is accused of an offence under this section, the Magistrate before whom he is accused shall cause him to be examined by an Inspector of Lepers, and shall not proceed with the case unless such Inspector furnishes a certificate, in Form B set forth in the schedule, in respect of such person.

Conviction after previous conviction.

10. (1) Whenever any leper who has been convicted of an offence punishable under the last foregoing section is again convicted of any offence punishable under that section, the Magistrate may, in addition to, or in lieu of, any punishment to which such leper may be liable, require him to enter into a bond, with one or more sureties, binding him to depart forthwith from the local area specified under section 3 in which he is, and not to enter that or any other local area so specified until an Inspector of Lepers shall have given him a certificate in Form A set forth in the schedule.

(2) If any such leper fails to furnish any security required under subsection (1), the Magistrate may send him in charge of a police officer, with an order in Form D set forth in the schedule, to a leper asylum, where such leper shall be detained until discharged by order of the Board or the District Magistrate.

(3) The powers conferred by this section shall only be exercised by a Presidency Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class.

Penalty on person employing lepers in prohibited trade.

11. Any person who, within any area specified under section 3, knowingly employs a leper in any trade or calling prohibited by order under section 9 shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees:

LEG. REF.

[1] See now Act V of 1898.

[2] For notifications issued in exercise of the powers conferred by this section, see the different Local Rules and Orders.

Provided that the alleged leper shall be produced before the Magistrate and the Magistrate shall cause him to be examined by an Inspector of lepers, and shall not proceed with the case unless such Inspector furnishes a certificate in Form B set forth in the schedule in respect of such alleged leper.

Re-arrest of escaped lepers.

12. Whoever, having been sent to a leper asylum under an order of a Magistrate in Form C or Form D set forth in the schedule, escapes from, or leaves, the asylum without the permission in writing of the Superintendent thereof, may be arrested [1][without a warrant by any police-officer or by any other person especially empowered by the Provincial Government by order in writing in this behalf,] and upon arrest shall be forthwith taken back to the leper asylum.

Inspection by Board.

13. Two or more members of the Board, one of whom shall be the Medical Officer shall, once at least in every three months, together inspect the leper asylum for which they are constituted, and see and examine (a) every leper therein admitted since the last inspection, together with the order for his admission, and (b), as far as circumstances will permit, every other leper therein, and shall enter in a book to be kept for the purpose any remarks which they may deem proper in regard to the management and condition of the asylum and the lepers therein.

Order of discharge by Board.

14. Any two members of the Board, one of whom shall be the Medical Officer, may at any time, by an order in writing in Form E set forth in the schedule and signed by them, direct the discharge from the leper asylum of any leper detained therein under the provisions of this Act.

Appeals.

15. Any person, other than a pauper leper, in respect of whom an Inspector of Lepers has issued a certificate, in Form B set forth in the schedule, declaring him to be a leper, or has refused to issue a certificate in Form A set forth in the schedule, may appeal against the issue or refusal of any such certificate to such officer[2] as may be appointed by the Provincial Government in this behalf, and the decision of such officer shall be final.

Power of the Provincial Government to make rules.

16. The Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules[3] generally for carrying out the purposes of this Act, and in particular—

(a) for the guidance of all or any of the officers discharging any duty under this Act; and

(b) for the management of, and the maintenance of discipline in, a leper asylum.

Power to local authorities to expend funds and appropriate property to asylums.

17. Notwithstanding anything in any enactment with respect to the purposes to which the funds or other property of a local authority may be applied, any local authority may—

(a) establish or maintain, or establish and maintain, or contribute towards the cost of the establishment or maintenance or the establishment and maintenance of a leper asylum either within or without the local limits of such local authority;

(b) with the previous sanction of the Provincial Government and subject to such conditions as that Government may prescribe, appropriate any immovable property vested in, or under the control of, such body, as a site for, or for use as, a leper asylum.

Establishing a High Court in the North Western Provinces of the Bengal Presidency, dated 17th March, 1866.

Victoria, by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith. To all to whom these presents shall come, greeting: Whereas by an Act of Parliament passed in the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth years of Our reign, entitled "An Act for establishing High Courts of Judicature in India", it was amongst other things enacted that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, by Letters Patent under the Great seal of the United Kingdom, to erect and establish a High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, for the Bengal division of the Presidency of Fort William, aforesaid, and that such High Court should consist of a Chief Justice and as many Judges not exceeding fifteen, as Her Majesty might, from time to time, think fit to appoint who shall be selected from among persons qualified as in the said Act is declared: Provided always that the persons who at the time of the establishment of such High Court were Judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature and permanent Judges of the Court of Sudder Dewany Adawlut or Sudder Adawlut of the same presidency, should be and become Judges of such High Courts without further appointment for that purpose, and the Chief Justice of such Supreme Court should become the Chief Justice of such High Court, and that, upon the establishment of such High Court as aforesaid, the Supreme Court and the Court of Sudder Dewany Adawlut and Sudder Nizamut Adawlut at Calcutta, in the said Presidency, should be abolished:

Recital of Acts 24 and 25, Vict., c. 104.

And that the High Court of Judicature so to be established should have and exercise all such civil, criminal, admiralty and vice-admiralty, testamentary, intestate and matrimonial jurisdiction, original and appellate, and all such powers and authority for and in relation to the administration of justice in the said Presidency as Her Majesty might, by such Letters Patent, as aforesaid, grant and direct, subject, however, to such directions and limitations as to the exercise of original, civil and criminal jurisdiction beyond the limits of the Presidency town as might be prescribed thereby; and save as by such Letters Patent might be otherwise directed, and subject and without prejudice to the legislative powers in relation to the matters aforesaid of the Governor-General of India in Council, the High Court so to be established should have and exercise all jurisdiction, and every power and authority whatsoever in any manner vested in any of the Courts in the same Presidency abolished under the said Act at the time of the abolition of such last-mentioned Courts:

And whereas it is further declared by the said recited Act that it shall be lawful for Us by Letters Patent, to erect, and establish a High Court of Judicature in and for any portion of the territories, within Her Majesty's dominions in India, not included within the limits of the local jurisdicton of another High Court, to consist of a Chief Justice and such number of other

Judges, with such qualifications as were by the same Act required in persons to be appointed to the High Courts, established at the said Presidencies, as We from time to time might think fit and appoint; and that, subject to the directions of the Letters Patent, all the provisions of the said recited Act, relative to High Courts and to the Chief Justice and other Judges of such Courts, and to the Governor-General or Governor of the Presidency, in which such High Courts were established, shall, as far as circumstances may permit, be applicable to any new High Court which may be established in the said territories, and to the Chief Justice and other Judges thereof, and to the persons administering the Government of the said territories:

And whereas We did, upon full consideration of the premises, think fit to erect and establish, and by Our Letters Patent under the Great seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, bearing date at Westminster, the fourteenth day of May, in the twenty-fifth year of Our reign, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two did accordingly, for Us, Our heirs and successors, erect and establish at Fort William in Bengal, for the Bengal Division of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, aforesaid, a High Court of judicature which should be called the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, and did thereby constitute the said Court to be a Court of Record.

Establishment of High Court for the North-Western Provinces.

1. Now know Ye that we, upon full consideration of the premises, and of Our special grace, certain knowledge, and mere motion, have thought fit to erect and establish, and by these presents, We do accordingly, for Us, Our heirs and successors, erect and establish, for the North-Western Provinces of the Presidency of Fort William aforesaid, a High Court of Judicature, which shall be called the High Court of Judicature, for the North-Western Provinces, and We do hereby constitute the said Court to be a Court of Record.

Constitution and first Judges of the High Court.

2. And We do hereby appoint and ordain that the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces shall, until further or other provision shall be made by Us, or Our Heirs and Successors in that behalf, in accordance with the said recited Act, consist of a Chief Justice and five Judges, the first Chief Justice being Walter Morgan, Esquire, and the five Judges being Alexander Ross, Esquire; William Edwards, Esquire; William Roberts, Esquire; Francis Boyle Pearson, Esquire; and Charles Arthur Turner, Esquire, being respectively qualified, as in the said Act is declared.

Declaration to be made by Judges.

3. And We do hereby ordain that the Chief Justice and every Judge of the said High Court of Judicature, for the North-Western Provinces, previously to entering upon the execution of the duties of his office, shall make and subscribe the following declaration before such authority or person, as the Governor-General in Council may commission to receive it:—

"A, A.B., appointed Chief Justice (or a Judge) of the High Court of Judicature, for the North-Western Provinces, do solemnly declare that I will faithfully perform the duties of my office to the best of my ability, knowledge and judgment."

Seal.

4. And We do hereby grant, ordain and appoint that the asid High Court shall have and use, as occasion may require, a seal bearing a device and impression of Our Royal Arms, with an exergue or label surrounding the same, with this inscription: "The Seal of the High Court for the North-Western Provinces." And We do further grant, ordain and appoint that the said Seal shall be delivered to and kept in the custody of the Chief Justice, and in case of vacancy of the office of Chief Justice, or during any absence of the Chief Justice, the same shall be delivered over and kept in the custody of the person appointed to act as Chief Justice under the provisions of section 7 of the said recited Act; and We do further grant, ordain and appoint that, whensoever it shall happen that the office of Chief Justice or of the Judge to whom the custody of the said Seal be committed shall be vacant, the said High Court shall be and is hereby authorized and empowered to demand, seize and take the said Seal from any person or persons whomsoever, by what ways and means soever the same may have come to his, her, or their possession.

Writs, etc., to issue in name of the Crown and under Seal.

5. And We do hereby further grant, ordain and appoint that all writs, summons, precepts, rules, orders and other mandatory process to be used, issued or awarded by the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces, shall run and be in the name and style of Us, or of Our heirs and successors, and shall be sealed with the Seal of the said High Court.

Appointment of officers.

6. And We do hereby authorize and empower the Chief Justice of the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces, from time to time, as occasion may require, and subject to any rules and restrictions which may be prescribed by the Governor-General in Council, to appoint so many and such clerks and other ministerial officers as shall be found necessary for the administration of justice, and the due execution of all the powers and authorities granted and committed to the said High Court by these Our Letters Patent. [* * *] And it is Our further will and pleasure, and We do hereby, for Us, Our Heirs and Successors, give, grant, direct and appoint that all and every officers and clerks to be appointed as aforesaid shall have and receive respectively such reasonable salaries as the Chief Justice shall, from time to time, appoint for each office and place respectively, and as the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council, shall approve of: Provided always, and it is Our will and pleasure, that all and every the officers and clerks to be appointed as aforesaid shall be resident within the limits of the jurisdiction of the said Court so long as they hold their respective offices; but this proviso shall not interfere with or prejudice the right of any officer or clerk to avail himself of leave of absence under any rules prescribed by the Governor-General in Council, and to absent himself, from the said limits during the term of such leave in accordance with the said rules.

Admission of Advocates, Vakeels and Attorneys.

Powers of High Court in admitting Advocates, Vakeels and Attorneys.

7. And We do hereby authorize and empower the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces to approve, admit and enrol such and so many Advocates, Vakeels and Attorneys as to the said High Court shall seem meet; and such Advocates, Vakeels, and Attorneys shall be and are hereby authorized to appear for the suitors of the said High Court, and to plead or to act, or to plead and act, for the said suitors, according as the said High Court may by its rules and directions determine, and subject to such rules and directions.

In making rules, for the qualifications, etc. of Advocates, Vakeels and Attorneys.

8. And We do hereby ordain that the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces shall have power to make rules for the qualification and admission of proper persons to be Advocates, Vakeels and Attorneys-at-law of the said High Court, and shall be empowered to remove or to suspend from practice, on reasonable cause, the said Advocates, Vakeels or Attorneys-at-law; and no person whatsoever but such Advocates, Vakeels or Attorneys shall be allowed to act or to plead for, or on behalf of, any suitor in the said High Court, except that any suitor shall be allowed to appear, plead or act on his own behalf or on behalf of a co-suitor.

Civil Jurisdiction of the High Court.

Extraordinary original civil jurisdiction.

9. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature, for the North-Western Provinces, shall have power to remove, and to try and determine, as a Court of extraordinary original jurisdiction, any suit being or falling within the jurisdiction of any Court, subject to its superintendence, when the said High Court shall think proper to do so, either on the agreement of the parties to that effect, or for purposes of justice, the reasons for so doing being recorded on the proceedings of the said High Court.

Appeal from the Court of original jurisdiction to the High Court in its appellate jurisdiction.

10. [1][And We do further ordain that an appeal shall lie to the said High Court of Judicature at Allahabad from the judgment (not being a judgment passed in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction in respect of a decree or order made in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction by a Court subject to the superintendence of the said High Court, and not being an order made in the exercise of revisional jurisdiction, and not being a sentence or order passed or made in the exercise of the power

According to that paragraph, the High Court has a discretion to remove from practice on reasonable cause any vakil of the High Court and the order is conclusive. 131 I.C. 67=8 O.W.N. 267=1931 O. 161. CL. 10: EFFECT OF AMENDMENT OF CLS. 10 AND 27.—The Letters Patent of the Allahabad High Court has been amended by further Letters Patent, dated 9th December, 1927, in two material respects. Cl. 10 of the Letters Patent of the Court provided for an appeal to the High Court against the decision of a single Judge of the Court, but under the change now made such appeal will lie only when the Judge against whose decision it is intended to prefer an appeal certifies that the case is a fit one for appeal. Cl. 27 of the Letters Patent provided for the opinion of the senior Judge prevailing in certain cases when two Judges constituting a Division Bench differed in opinion. This clause has been amended so as to do away with the opinion of the senior Judge prevailing in any case. (32 C.W.N. Journal, p. xlvi). This amendment of Letters of superintendence under the provisions of section 107 of the Government of India, Act or in the exercise of criminal jurisdiction) of one Judge of the said High Court or one Judge of any division Court, pursuant to section 108 of the Government of India Act, and that, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore provided, an appeal shall lie to the said High Court from a judgment of one Judge of the said High Court or one Judge of any division Court, pursuant to section 108 of the Government of India Act, made in the exercise of appepllate jurisdiction in respect of a decree or order made in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction by a Court subject to the superintendence of the said High Court where the Judge who passed the judgment declares that the case is a fit one for apppeal; but that the right of appeal from other judgments of Judges of said High Court or of such Division Court shall be to Us, Our Heirs, or Successors in Our or Their Privy Council, as hereinafter provided.]

Patent is not retrospective in its operation in respect of right of appeal. 32 C.W.N. 1130=1928 C. 640 (F.B.)=48 C.L.J. 150; See also 55 M.L.J. (Short Notes) 37. Second appeal disposed of prior to date on which amendment took effect—Appeal preferred subsequent to that date—New provision applicable. 52 B. 753=30 Bom.L.R. 942=1928 B. 571. Under this Cl. 10 an appeal lies from an order of a single Judge passed in an appeal from an order. I.L. R (1937) All. 386=1936 A.L.J. 1926=1937 A. 165. The word "judgment" covers not merely final orders but also preliminary or interlocutory orders. 20 A.L.J. 801=45 A. 66=1923 All. 44. As to the test to determine whether an adjudication is or is not a judgment, see 45 A. 66. A final decision which effectually disposes of the appeal before the High Court amounts to a judgment whether it amounts to a decree or not. If it does not amount to a decre, it would amount to an order. The word "judgment" in cl. 10 should not be read in a restricted sense and an appeal lies against an order of remand pased by a single Judge under O. 41, R. 23. 1933 A.L.J. 127=1933 A. 262 (F.B.)=55 A. 326. As a general working rule there has grown up in the Allahabad High Court a practice regarding those matters which are mentioned in O. 41, R. 1, C. P. Code, as being generally appealable from a single Judge to a Bench. 20 A.L. J. 801=45 A. 66=1923 All. 44. Memoorandum of cross-objection is not maintainable in a Letters Patent appeal. 3 A. 198. As to the nature of Letters Patent appeal, see 148 I.C. 1175=1934 A. 551. See also 1922 A. 55; 21 A. 207; 188 I.C. 33 (F.B.) (Order of single Judge on Original Side deciding claim under C.P.C., O. 21, R. 58). No application other than the one made immediately after the delivery of the judgment could be entertained and hence no question of the sufficiency or insufficiency of the cause which prevented counsel from making such an application, or even of the existence or non-existence of a cause, can arise. 202 I.C. 162=1942 A.L.J. 326=1942 All. 260 (2).

CASES NOT APPEALABLE.—The order of a single Judge dismissing an application under S. 5, Limitation Act, and refusing to extend time is not a judgment within the meaning of Cl. 10, Letters Patent, and accordingly no appeal lies from that order. 19357 A.L. J. 681=1935 A. 620 (2). Order of single Judge on appeal from order of remand—Letters Patent appeal not maintainable. 1923 A. 396; also from the order of a single Judge of the High Court dismissing an apl peal from an order of the executig Court on an application under O. 21, R. 90 to set aside an execution sale. 39 A. 191= 39 I.C. 460=15 A.L.J. 46; order refusing stay of execution of decree. Code, is not a judgment within cl. 10; it is not appealable. 39 A. 147=36 I.C. 585=14 A.L.J. 1230. No appeal lies under cl. 10, Letters Patent, against an order dismissing an application under sec. 491, Cr. P. Code. 1934 A.L.J. 684=1934 A. 606; nor from an order of single Judge in first appeal pending before him declaring that a certain person is the legal representative of a deceased party. I.L.R. 1937 All. 381= 1936 A.L.J. 1381=1937 A. 192.

REVIEW.—No application for a review of judgment is allowable where the decree was given in an appeal under cl. 10 of the Letters Patent. 48 I.C. 476=16 A.L.J. 904. Appeal from Courts in the Provinces.

11. And We do further ordain that the said High Coust of Judicatuse for the North-Western Provinces, shall be a Court of Appeal from the Civil Courts of the North-Western Provinces, and from all other Courts subject to its superintendence, and shall exercise appellate jurisdiction in such cases as are subject to appeal to the said High Court by virtue of ny laws or regulations now in force.

Jurisdiction as to infants and lunatics.

12. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces shall have the like power and authority with respect to the persons and estates of infants, idiots and lunatics within the North-Western Provinces, as that which is exercised in the Bengal Division of the Presidency of Fort William, by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, but subject to the provisions of any laws or regulations now in force.

In the exercise of extraordinary original civil jurisdiction.

13. And We do further ordain that, with respect to the law or equity and rule of good conscience to be applied to each case coming before the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces, in the exercise of its extaordinary original civil jurisdiction such law or equity and rule of good conscience shall (until otherwise provided) be the law or equity and rule of good conscience which have been applied to such case by any local Court having jurisdiction therein.

By High Court in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction.

14. And We do further ordain that, with respect to the law or equity and rule of good conscience to be applied by the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces to each case coming before it in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction, such law or equity and rule of good conscience shall be the law or equity and rule of good conscience hear the appeal from the Letters Patent and not from the Code, because the Letters Patent provides that such an appeal should lie to a Bench and the Code makes no such provision and as S. 114 is not intended to provide for the review of judgments passed in the exercise of jurisdiction derived from other laws. 53 A. 535—1931 A. 241 (F.B.).

CL. 11.—No appeal lies against an order of remand by the District Judge in an appeal. See 48 A. 684=1926 Alll. 669; 23 A. L.J. 965=48 A. 104=1926 All. 113. The term "rival courts" does not cover a tribunal created under a particular statute for a particular purpose, e.g., a Court created under the U.P. Municipalities Act. 23 A.L.J. 385=47 A. 513=1925 A. 380 (F. B.).

CL. 12.—The jurisdiction of the Court of Chancery exists in the Allahabad High Court by reason of cl. 12 of Letters Patent, but the High Court will not exercise that jurisdiction in a case where an application was made by the father as member of a joint Hindu family to be apopinted guardian of the property belonging to his minor sons. 50 All. 709=1928 All. 709=26 A. L.J. 595. See also 112 I.C. 873. In a case where the father and the mother are living apart, and where each of them claims to have the custody of the child, the main question for the consideration of Court is, what would be more conducive to the child's welfare, i.e., whether the child would be better looked after by the mother or by the father The Court has also to take into consideration the personal law to which the parties are subject. 150 I.C. 149=1934 A.L.J. 399=1934 A. 722 (2). On an application under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent praying that the applicant may be be appointed guardian of the person of a minor, the High Court has jurisdiction to grant the relief prayed for, even though the more appropriate remedy would be to make application to the District Judge under S. 9 of the Guardians and Wards Act for the guardianship of the child. There is no general rule that the High Court should in all cases take action under cl. 12, as there may be cases in which complicated questions of fact have to be ascertained, and such cases might be more suitably dealt with in the Court of the District Judge where witnesses could be examined and cross-examined. 1934 A.L.J. 399=1934 A. 722 (2).

which the Court in which the proceedings in such case were originally instituted ought to have applied to such case.

Criminal Jurisdiction.

Ordinary original criminal jurisdiction of the High Court.

15. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature, for the North-Western Provinces, shall have ordinary original criminal jurisdiction in respect of all such persons within the said Provinces as the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal shall have criminal jurisdiction over at the date of the publication of these presents; and the criminal jurisdiction of the said last mentioned High Court over such persons shall cease at such date: Provided, nevertheless, that criminal proceedings which shall at such date have been commenced in the said last mentioned High Court shall continue as if these presents had not been issued.

Jurisdiction as to persons

16. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature, for the North-Western rPovinces, in the exercise of its ordinary original criminal jurisdiction, shall be empowered to try all pesrons brought before it in due course of law.

Extra ordinary original criminal jurisdiction.

17. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature, for the North-Western Provinces, shall have extraordinary original criminal jurisdiction over all persons residing in places within the jurisdiction of any Court now subject to the superintendence of the Sudder Nizamut Adawlut, and shall have authority to try at its discretion any such persons brought before it on charges preferred by any Magistrate or other officer specially empowered by the Government in that behalf.

No appeal from High Court exercising original jurisdiction.

Court may reserve points of law.

18. And We do further ordain that there shall be no appeal to the said High Court, from any sentence or order passed or made in any criminal trial before the Courts of original criminal jurisdiction, which may be constituted by one or more Judges of the High Court. But it shall be at the discretion of any such Court to reserve any point or points of law for the opinion of the said High Court.

High Court to review cases on points of law reserved by one or more Judges of the said High Court.

19. And We do further ordain that, on such point or points of law being so reserved as aforesaid, the said High Court shall have full power and authority to review the case, or such part of it as may be necessary, and finally determine such point or points of law, and thereupon to alter the sentence passed by the Court of original jurisdiction, and to pass such judgment and sentence as to the said High Court shall seem right.

Appeals from Criminal Courts in the Provinces

20. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature, for the North-Western Provinces, shall be a Court of Appeal from the Criminal Courts of the said Provinces and from all other Courts from which there is now an appeal to the Court of Sudder Nizamut Adawlut for the said Provinces, and shall exercise appellate jurisdiction in such cases as are subject to appeal to the said Court of Sudder Adawlut by virtue of any law now in force.

CL. 15.—See 12 A.W.N. 236. Jurisdiction of High Court—Hindu joint family—Application for appointment of guardian of property maintainable. 112 I.C. 873=26 A. L.J. 595=1928 All. 709=50 All. 709.

21. And We do further ordain that the said High Court shall be a Court of reference and revision from the Criminal Courts subject to its appellate jurisdiction, and shall have power to hear and determinen all such cases referred to it by the Sessions Judges or by any other officers now authorized to refer cases to the Court of Sudder Nizamut Adawlut of the North-Western Provinces, and to revise all such cases tried by any Officer or Court possessing criminal jurisdiction, as are now subject to reference or to revision by the said Court of Sudder Nizamut Adawlut.

Hearing of referred cases, and revision of criminal trials.

22. And We do further ordain that the said High Court shall have power to direct the transfer of any criminal case or appeal from any Court to any other Court of equal or superior jurisdiction, and also to direct the preliminary investigation or trial of any criminal case by any officer or Court otherwise competent to investigate or try it, though such case belongs in ordinary course to the jurisdiction of some other Officer or Court.

High Court may direct the transfer of a case from one Court to another.

Act under which punishments to be inflicted.

23. And We do further ordain that all persons brought for trial before the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces, either in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, or in the exercise of its jurisdiction as a Court of appeal, reference or revision, charged with any offence for which provision is made by Act No. XLV of 1860, called the "Indian Penal Code," or by any Act amending or excluding the said Act which may have been papssed prior to the publication of these prpesents, shall be liable to punishment under the said Act or Acts, and not otherwise.

Indian Penal Code.

24. And Wo do furher ordain that whenever it shall appear to the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinres, subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council, convenient that the jurisdiction and power by these Our Letters Patent, or by the recited Act, vested in the said High Court, should be exercised in any place within the jurisdiction of any Court, now subject to the superintendence of any Sudder Dewany Adawlut or the Sudder Nizamut Adamlut of the North-Western Provinces, other than the usual places of sitting of the said High Court, or at several such places by way of circuit, the proceedings in cases before the said High Court, at such place or places, shall be regulated by any law relating thereto which has been or may be made by competent legislative authority for India.

Judges may be authorized to sit in any places by way of circuit or special commission.

Testamentary and Intestate Jurisdiction.

25. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature, for the North-Western Provinces, shall have the like power and authority as that which is now lawfully exercised within the said Provinces, by the said High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, in relation to the granting of probates of last wills and testaments, and letters of administration of the goods, chattels, credits and all other effects whatsoever of persons dying intestate; and that the jurisdiction of the said last mentioned High Court in relation thereto shall cease from the date of the publication of these presents: Provided always that any proceedings already commenced in relation to any of the matters aforesaid in the said last mentioned High Court shall continue as if these presents had not been issued: Provided also that nothing in these Letters Patent contain-

Matrimonial jurisdiction.

Matrimonial jurisdiction.

26. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces shall have jurisdiction, within the said Provinces in matters matrimonial between Our subjects professing the Christian religion: Provided always that nothing therein contained shall be held to interfere with the exercise of any jurisdiction in matters matrimonial by any Court not established by Royal Charter within the said Provinces lawfully possessed thereof.

Powers of single Judges and Division Courts.

Single Judges and Division Courts.

27. And We do hereby declare that any function which is hereby directed to be performed by the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces, in the exercise of its original or appellate jurisdiction, may be performed by any Judge or by any Division Court thereof, appointed or constituted for such purpose [1][in pursuance of section 108 of the Government of India Act, 1915]; and if such Diviision Court is composed of two or more Judges, and the Judges are divided in opinion as to the decision to be given on any point, such point shall be decided according to the opinion of the majority of the Judges, if there shall be a majority; but if the Judges should be equally divided, [1][they shall state the point upon which they differ and the case shall then be heard upon that point by one or more of the other Judges and the point shall be decided according to the opinion of the majority of the Judges who have heard the case including those who first heard it.]

Civil Procedure.

28. And We do further ordain that it shall be lawful for the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces from time to time to make rules and orders for the purpose of adopting, as far as possible, the provisions of the Code of Civil Proredure, being an Act passed by the Governor-General in Council and being Act No. VIII of 1859, and the provisions of any law which has been or may be made, amending or altering the same, by competent legislative authority for India, to all proceedings in its testamentary, intestate and matrimonial jurisdictions, respectively.

CL. 27.—See 2 N.W.P. 117; 26 A. 10; 11 A. 176. Letters Patent appeal—Difference of opinion between two Judges—Procedure. 137 I.C. 58=1932 A. 195. When a Bench differ in opinion on certain points of law, under S. 98, C.P. Code, they may state those points and the hearing by the other Judges is confined to the specific points stated and cannot cover the whole case again. S. 98 is confined to points of law only but the newly added sub-S. (3) makes it subject to the provisions of the Letters Patent, Cl. 27 of which states that the points of difference may be referred to the other Bench. This clause is wider than S. 98 of the C. P. Code, because, it covers points of facts as well points of law. But in both cases, only the points of difference should be stated and not the whole case. 1933 A.L.J. 1127=1933 A. 861 (F.B.). See also I.L.R. (1938) All. 972=1938 A. Appeals to Privy Council.

Power to appeal.

30. And We do further ordain that any person or persons may appeal to Us, Our Heirs and Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, in any matter not being of criminal jurisdiction, from any final judgment, decree or order of the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces, made on appeal, and from any final judgment, decree or order made in the exercise of original jurisdiction by the Judges of the said High Court, or of any Division Court from which an appeal shall lie to the said High Court, under the provisions contained in the 10th clause of these presents: Provided, in either case, that the sum or matter at issue is of the amount or value of not less than 10,000 rupees, or that such

"FINAL ORDER"—Meaning of—Refusal of temporary injunction not final order. 1941 A.L.J. 508=1941 All. 367=I.L.R. (1941) All. 666.

PROCEEDING UNDER BAR COUNCILS ACT FOR MISCONDUCT OF ADVOCATE—LEAVE TO APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL.—When special power has been conferred upon the High Court under S. 10, Bar Councils Act, to get an inquiry made into the alleged misconduct of an advocate and on receipt of the finding to fix a date for the hearing of the case and to hear the parties concerned and then pass such final orders in the case as it thinks fit and make an order as to the payment of the costs of the inquiry and of the hearing in the High Court, and if necessary, later on to review its order, the High Court in such proceedings is acting judicially and not merely in an administrative capacity. The entire proceeding is a hearing before the High Court and orders for the payment of costs of such proceedings can be passed. No doubt, in essence, the action taken is a disciplinary action but the proceeding in itself is in the nature of a judicial proceeding and the inquiry is a public inquiry in which the parties concerned are entitled as of right to be heard. It cannot therefore be said that in such a judicial proceeding, the High Court is not excercising any 'jurisdiction' within the meaning of cl. 30, Letters Patent. Such a jurisdiction is not an appellate jurisdiction, nor is it a criminal jurisdcton. As it is the High Court only which passes final orders in the case on the receipt of the finding, it must be held to be exercising original jurisdiction and not any appellate jurisdiction. The order passed in such a proceeding is therefore an order passed in the exercise of original jurisdiction of the High Court, conferred upon it by the Indian Bar Councils Act, modifying to some extent the power conferred upon it by the Letters Patent. The High Court has therefore jurisdiction to grant leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council provided it is satisfied that it is a fit and proper case. In the case of an advocate the High Court found that not only was the filing of the fee certificate contrary to the rules framed by the High Court but that he acted in bad faith in filing it. The point raised was that there was some contradiction in the two sub-sections of the Rule at the time when the advocate had got his form of certificate printed, which contradictions had been lately removed by amendment, that there was latitude allowed to him inasmuch as it was provided that the certificate shall be 'so far as is possible' in the form prescribed and that in filing a certificate he had made it clear in it that he had not received the amount in cash but had accepted a promisory note in lieu of the fee. Held, that this was a case which should be certified as a fit one for appeal to the Privy Council under S. 109 (c), C. P. Code, or at any rate under Cl. 30, Letters Patent. 56 All. 702=1934 A.L.J. 722=1934 A. 898. As to principles governing grant of leave to apeal to Privy Council, see 1941 All. 9.

judgment, decree or order shall involve, directly or indirectly, some claim, demand or question to or respecting property amounting to, or of the value of, not less than 10,000 rupees; or from any other final judgment, decree or order made either on appeal or otherwise as aforesaid, when the said High Court shall declare that the case is a fit one for appeal to Us, Our Heirs or Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council: subject always to such rules and orders as are now in force, or may, from time to time, be made, respecting appeals to Ourselves in Council from the Courts of the said Provinces, except so far as the said existing rules and orders, respectively, are hereby varied: and subject also to such further rules and orders, as We may with the advice of Our Privy Council, hereafter make in that behalf.

Appeal from interlocutory judgment.

31. And We do further ordain that it shall be lawful for the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces at its discretion on the motion, or if the said High Court be not sitting, then for any Judge of the said High Court, upon the petition of any party who considers himself aggrieved by any preliminary or interlocutory judgment, decree, order or sentence of the High Court, in any such proceedings as aforesaid, not being of criminal jurisdiction, to grant permission to such party to appeal against the same to Us, Our heirs and Successors in Our or Their Privy Council, subject to the same rules, regulations and limitations, as are herein expressed respecting appeals from final judgments, decrees, orders and sentences.

Appeal in criminal cases, etc.

32. And We do further ordain that, from any judgment, order or sentence of the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces, made in the exercise of original criminal jurisdiction, or in any criminal case where any point or points of law have been reserved for the opinion of the said High Court in manner hereinbefore provided, by any Court which has exercised original jurisdiction, it shall be lawful for the person aggrieved by such judgment, order or sentence to appeal to Us, Our heirs or Successors in Council: Provided the said High Court shall declare that the case is a fit one for such appeal and under such conditions as the said High Court may establish or require, subject always to such rules and orders as We may, with the advice of Our Privy Council, hereinafter make in that behalf.

Rule as to transmission of copies of evidence and other documents.

33. And We do further ordain that, in all cases of appeal made from any judgment, order, sentence or decree of the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces, to Us, Our heirs or Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, such High Court shall certify and transmit to Us, Our heirs and Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, a true and correct copy of all evidence, proceedings, judgments, decrees and orders had or made in such cases appealed, so far as the same have relation to the matters of appeal, such copies to be certified under the seal of the said High Court, and that the said High Court shall also certify and transmit to Us, Our heirs and Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, a copy of the reasons given by the Judges of such Court, or by any such Judges, for or against the judgment or determination appealed against.

And We do further ordain that the said High Court, shall, in all cases of appeal to Us, Our heirs or Successors, conform to and execute or cause to be executed, such judgments and orders as We, Our heirs or Sucressors, in Our or Their Privy Council, shall think fit to make in the premises in such manner as any original judgment, decree or decretal orders or other order or rule of the said High Court, should or might have been executed.

Calls for Records, etc., by the Government.

34. And it is Our further will and pleasure that the said High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces shall comply with such requisition as may be made by the Government for records, returns and statements in such form and manner as such Government may deem proper.

High Court to comply with requisition from Government for records, etc.

Powers of Indian Legislature preserved.

35. And We do further ordain and declare that all the provisions of these Our Letters Patent are subject to the legislative powers of the Governor-General in Legislative Council, and also of the Governor-General in Council under section 71 of the Government of India Act, 1915, and also of the Governor-General in cases of emergency under section 72 of that Act and may be in all respects amended and altered thereby.

Powers of Indian Legislature preserved.

In witness whereof We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent. Witness Ourself at Westminster, the seventeenth day of March in the twenty-ninth year of Our reign.

For the High Court of Judicature for the Presidency of Madras.

Bearing date the Twentf-eighth day of December, in the Twenty-ninth year of the Reign of Victoria in the year of Our Lord, One thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.

Victoria, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith. To all to whom these Presents shall come, Greeting: Whereas by an Act of Parliament passed in the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth years of Our Reign, entitled "An Act for establishing High Courts of Judicature in India." It was, amongst other things, enacted that it should be lawful for Her Majesty, by Letters Patent undr the Great Seal of the United Kingdom, to erect and establish a High Court of Judicature at Madras, for the Presidenry of Madras aforesaid [at Fort William in Bengal, for the Bengal Division of the Presidenry of Fort William aforesaid] [at Bombay for the Presidency of Bombay aforesaid] and that such High Court should consist of a Chief Justice and as many Judges, not exceeding Fifteen, as Her Majesty might, from time to time, think fit to appoint, who should be selected from among persons qualified as in the said Act is declared: Provided always that the persons who at the time of the establishment of such High Court were Judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature, and permanent Judges of the Court of Sudder Dewany Adawlut or Sudder Adawlt of the same Presidency, should be and become Judges of such High Court, without further appointment for that purpose, and the Chief Justice of such Supreme Court should become the Chief Justice of such High Court, and that upon the establishment of such High Court as aforesaid, the Supreme Court and the Court of Sudder Dewany Adawlut and Faujdarry Adawlut at Madras [Calcutta] [Bombay] in the said Presidency, should be abolished:

Recital of Acts 24 & 25 Vict., c. 104.

And that the High Court of Judicature so to be established should have and exercise all such civil, criminal, admiralty and vice-admiralty, testamentary, intestate and matrimonial jurisdiction, original and appellate, and all such powers and authority for, and in relation to the administration of justice in the said Presidency as Her Majesty might, by such Letters Patent as aforesaid, grant and direct, subject, however, to such directions and limitation as to the exercise of original, civil and criminal jurisdiction beyond the limits of the Presidency-town, as might be prescribed thereby; and, save as by such Letters Patent, might be otherwise directed, and subject and without prejudice to the legislative powers in relation to the matters aforesaid of the Governor-General of India in Council, the High Court so to be established should have and exercise all jurisdiction, and every power and authority whatsoever, in any manner vested in any of the Courts in the same Presidency abolished under the said Act at the time of the abolition of such last mentioned Courts:

And whereas We did upon full consideration of the premises, think fit to erect and establish, and by Our Letters Patent under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland bearing date at Westminster, the twenty-sixth day of June in the Twenty-fifth Year of Our Reign, in the year of our Lord, One thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, did accordingly, for Us, Our heirs and Successors, erect and establish at Madras, for the Presidency of Madras aforesaid, a High Court of Judicature, which should be called the High Court of Judicature at Madras [at Fort William in Bengal for the Bengal Division of the Presidency of Fort William aforesaid, a High Court of Judicature which should be called the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal] [at Bombay, for the Presidency of Bombay aforesaid, a High Court of Judicature which should be called the High Court of Judicature at Bombay] and did thereby constitute the said Court to be a Court of Record; and whereas We did thereby appoint and ordain, that the said High Court of Judicature at Madras [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay] should, until further or other provision should be made by Us, or Our heirs and Successors in that behalf, in accordance with the recited Act, consist of a Chief Justice and five Judges, and did thereby constitute and appoint certain persons, being respectively qualified as in the said Act is declared, to be Judges of the said High Court.

And whereas by the said recited Act it is declared lawful for Her Majesty, at any time within three years after the establishment of the said High Court, by Her Letters Patent, to revoke all of such parts or provisions as Her Majesty might think fit of the Letters Patent by which such Court was established, and to grant and make such other powers and provisions as Her Majesty might think fit, and as might have been granted or made by such first Letters Patent:

And whereas by the Act of the twenty-eighth year of Our Reign, chapter fifteen, entitled "An Act to extend the term for granting fresh Letters Patent for the High Courts in India, and to make further provision respecting the territorial jurisdiction of the said Courts," the time for issuing fresh Letters Patent has been extended to the first of January, One thousand eight hundred and sixty-six:

And whereas, in order to make further provision respecting the constitution of the said High Court, and the administration of justice thereby, it is expedient that the said Letters Patent, dated the twenty-sixth of June, One thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, should be revoked, and that some of the powers and provisions thereby granted and made should be granted and made with amendments and additional powers and provisions by fresh Letters Patent.

Revocation of Letters Patent of 1862.

1. Now know ye that We, upon full consideration of the premises and of Our special grace, certain knowledge, and mere motion have thought fit to revoke, and do by these presents (from and after the date of the publication thereof, as hereinafter provided, and subject to the provisions thereof) revoke Our

MADRAS CASES.—Amended Letters Patent does not take effect retrospectively. The institution of a suit carries with it the implication that appeals then in force are preserved to it through the rest of its course unless the legislature has either abolished the Court to which an appeal then lay or has expressly or by necessary intendment given the act a retrospective effect. Where the plaint was presented on the 30th July, 1919, the second appeal was presented on the 15th July, 1924, and the same was decided on the 9th February, 1928, and a Letters Patent appeal was subsequently filed, but meanwhile, on the 31st January, 1928, the amended Let-said Letters Patent of the Twenty-sixth of June, One thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, except so far as the Letters Patent of the forty-first year of His Majesty King George the Third, dated the twenty-sixth of December, One thousand eight hundred, establishing a Supreme Court of Judicature at Madras [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay] were revoked or determined thereby.

High Court at Madras to be continued.

2 And We do by these presents, grant, direct and ordain that, notwithstanding the revocation of the said Letters Patent of the Twenty-sixth of June, One thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, the High Court of Judicature called the High Court of Judicature at Madras, shall be and continue, as from the time of the original erection and establishment thereof, the High Court of Judicature at Madras [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay] for the Presidency of Madras aforesaid [Bengal Division of Fort William aforesaid] [Bombay aforesaid]; and that the said Court shall be and continue a Court of Record, and that all proceedings commenced in the said High Court prior to the date of the publication of these Letters Patent shall be continued and depend in the said High Court as if they had commenced in the said High Court after the date of such publication, and that all rules and orders in force in the said High Court immediately before the date of the publication of these Letters Patent shall continue in force except so far as the same are altered hereby, until the same are altered by competent authority.

Judges of the said High Court to be continued.

3. And We do hereby appoint and ordain that the person and persons who shall immediately before the date of the publication of these Letters Patent be the Chief Justice or Judges or Acting Chief Justice or Judges, if any, of the said High Court of Judicature at Madras [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay] shall continue to be the Chief Justice and Judges, or Acting Chief Justice or Judges of the said High Court, until further or other provision shall be made by Us or Our heirs and Successors, in that behalf, in accordance with the said recited Act for establishing High Courts of Judicature in India.

Clerks, etc., of the said High Court to be continued.

4. And We do hereby appoint and ordain that every clerk and ministerial officer of the said High Court of Judicature at Madra [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay] appointed by virtue of the said Letters Patent of the Twenty-sixth June, One thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, shall continue to hold and enjoy his office and employment, with the salary thereunto annexed until he be removed from such office and employment; and he shall be subject to the like power of removal, regulations and provisions as if he were appointed by virtue of the Letters Patent.

Declaration to be made by Judges.

5. And We do hereby ordain that the Chief Jestice and every Judge who shall be from time to time appointed to the said High Court of Judicature at Madras [For William in Bengal] [Bombay] previously to entering upon the execution of the duties of his office, shall make and subscribe the following declaration before such authority or person as the Governor in Council may commission to receive it:—

"I, A.B., appointed Chief Justice or (a Judge) of the High Court of Judicature at Madras, do solemnly declare that I will faithfully perform the duties of my office to the best of my ability, knowledge and judgment."

Seal.

6. And We do hereby grant, ordain and appoint that the said High Court of Judicature at Madras [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay] shall have and use, as occasion may require, a seal bearing a device and impression of our Royal Arms, with an exergue or label surrounding the same, with this inscription, "The Seal of the High Court at Madras" [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay]. And We do further grant, ordain and appoint that the said seal shall be delivered to and kept in the custody of the Chief Justice and in case of the vacancy of the office of Chief Justice, or during any absence of the Chief Justice, the same shall be delivered over and kept in the custody of the person appointed to act as Chief Justice under the provisions of section 7 of the said recited Act: and We do further grant, ordain and appoint that, whensoever it shall happen that the office of Chief Justice or of the Judge to whom the custody of the said seal be committed shall be vacant, the said High Court shall be and is hereby authorised and empowered to demand, seize and take the said seal from any person or persons whomsoever, by what ways and means soever the same may have come to his, her or their possession.

Writs, etc., to issue in name of the Crown, and under seal.

7. And We do hereby further grant, ordain and appoint that all writs, summons, precepts, rules, orders and other mandatory process to be used, issued or awarded by the said High Court of Judicature at Madras [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay] shall run and be in the name and style of Us, or of Our heirs and Successors, and shall be sealed with the seal of the said High Court.

Appointment of officers.

8. And We do hereby authorise and empower the Chief Justice of the said High Court of Judicature at Madras [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay] from time to time, as occasion may require, and subject to any rules and restrictions which may be prescribed by the Provincial Government to appoint so many and such clerks and other ministerial officers as shall be found necessary for the administration of justice, and the due execution of all the powers and authorities granted and committed to the said High Court by these Our Letters Patent.

[1][* * *] And it is Our further will and pleasure, and We do hereby for Us, Our heirs and Successors, give, grant, direct and appoint that all and every the officers and clerks to be appointed as aforesaid shall have and receive respectively such reasonable salaries as the Chief Justice shall, from time to time, appoint for each office and place respectively, and as the Central Government shall approve of: Provided always, and it is Our will and pleasure that all and every the officers and clerks to be appointed as aforesaid shall be resident within the limits of the jurisdiction of the said Court, so long as they shall hold their respective offices: but this proviso shall not interfere with or prejudice the right of any other officer or clerk to avail himself of leave of absence under any rules prescribed by the Central Government in and to absent himself, from the said limits during the term of such leave, in accordance with the said rules.

Admission of Advocates, Vakeels and Attorneys.

Powers of High Court in admitting Advocates, Vakeels and Attorneys.

9. And We do hereby authorize and empower the said High Court of Judicature at Madras [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay] to approve, admit and enrol such and so many Advocates, Vakeels and Attorneys, as to the said High Court shall seem meet, and such Advocates,

CL. 10—BOMBAY CASES.—It must not be supposed that a Court of justice has not the power to remove an Attorney if he is unfit to be entrusted with a professional status and character. If an Attorney be found guilty of moral delinquency in his private character, there is no doubt that he may be struck off the Roll. Contempt of Court when committed by an Attorney in a private capacity can be of such a nature as to show professional unfitness. There can be no grosser contempt on the part of an Attorney than to allege that a Judge has acted with prejudice, bias and malice in the course of his judicial duties, that he decided a case not according to his own convictions but to please somebody else and that he abused his powers as a Judge and acted dishonesty and in bad faith. The fact that such allegations are contained in a notice sent by the Attorney under sec. 80, C. P. Code, to a Judge in respect of certain remarks made by the Judge in a judgment in a case in which the Attorney was a witness is no ground for holding that no offence is committed. No one by merely filing or threatening to file a suit and calling his communication a notice under sec. 80, C. P. Code, can insult and vilify a Judge in that manner. The fact that the scandalous allegations are contained in a notice under sec. 80, C. P. Code, cannot therefore prevent them from being contempt of Court, and the Attorney who makes such allegations renders himself liable to be dealt with under the disciplinary powers of the High Court under cl. 10. 195 I.C. 359=43 Bom.L.R. 250=1941 Bom. 228 =I.L.R. (1941) Bom. 548. Cl. 10 of the Letters Patent which empowers the High Court to remove or suspend from practice advocates, vakils, or attorneys on "reasonable cause", gives a wide discretion to the Court in regard to the exercise of this disciplinary authority. "Reasonable cause" in the clause means the same as professional or other misconduct under sec. 10 of the Bar Councils Act. "Misconduct" is a sufficiently wide expression, it is not necessary that it should involve moral turpitude. Any conduct which in any way renders a man unfit for the exercise of his profession or is likely to hamper or embarrass the administration of justice by the High Court or any of the Courts subordinate thereto may be considered to be misconduct calling for disciplinary action. CL. 10: CALCUTTA CASES.—Under cl. 10 of the Letters Patent, no persons have rights of audience in the Original Civil Jurisdiction of the High Court except advocates and attorneys and suitors in person. Where the suitor is a company, it cannot appear in person, not having as a legal entity any visible person. The company must appear either by counsel or solicitor, and the liquidator as such has no right of audience. 41 C.W.N. 424=I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 173. CLS. 11 AND 12—BOMBAY CASES: DECREE PASSED BY HIGH COURT—EXECUTION OUTSIDE LIMITS OF ORIGINAL CIVIL JURISDICTEON—POWERS OF HIGH COURT.—Rr. 386 and 387 of the Bombay High Court Rules (Original Side) are not ultra vires and the High Court of Bombay has the power to pass an order for execution of a decree passed by it anywhere within the presidency of Bombay. The Supreme Court of Bombay had such a power and there is nothing in the Letters Patent that deprives the High Court, which has succeeded to the powers of the Supreme Court under cl. 11 of the Letters Patent, of that power. CL. 12: BOMBAY CASES: GENERAL SUIT FOR LAND OR IMMOVABLE PROPERTY.—The High Court of Bombay has given a restricted meaning to the expression in 14 B. 353; 22 B. 701. But later decisions seem to put a liberal construction as was done by Calcutta and Madras High Courts. See 29 B. 249; 37 B. 494. In a case in which the cause of action has arisen in part only within the local limits of the orginal jurisdiction of the High Court, it is a condition precedent to the maintenance of the suit that the leave of the Court should have been first obtained. It is not a condition for the parties to waive. 56 B. 324=34 Bom.L.R. 236=1932 B. 291 (31 Bom.L.R. 1002=20 Bom.L.R. 468, over. 35 C. 394, Diss.) Any step which a plaintiff has to prove in order to establish his title to sue on a negotiable instrument is a meterial fact, and if any such event has taken place within the jurisdiction of the High Court, with leave granted under Cl. 12 of the Letters Patent, the High Court has jurisdiction to try the suit. The 1st defendant drew in Bombay five bills of exchange on the 2nd defendant who was residing at Calicut in the Madras Province in favour of the plaintiffs. These were endorsed over by the plaintiffs to a Bank in Calicut for collection, and when presented to the 2nd defendant were accepted by him. But on the due date he dishonoured them by non-payment. The plaintiffs having filed a suit in the Bombay High Court after obtaining leave under Cl. 12 of the Letters Patent, the 2nd defendant pleaded that the High Court of Bombay had no jurisdiction because he had accepted the Bills at Calicut and no part of the cause of action arose in Bombay as against him. The 1st defendant did not appear at all. Held, that the fact that the bills were drawn on defendant No. 2 was a material fact to be proved by the plaintiffs, to establish their claim, and as that fact took place in Bombay, the Bombay High Court had jurisdiction to try the suit with leave under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent. 1942 Bom. 15=43 Bom.L.R. 916= I.L.R. Railway carriage business is a business within the meaning of Cl. 12. As Government carry on the business of railway carriage under the name of the Eastern Bengal Railway amongst other places, at the head office in Calcutta, a suit can be brought in Calcutta against the Secretary of State in respect of a claim against the railway. The presentation of a petition to wind up a company on the basis of a claim under a decree passed against it by another Court, is part of the cause of action in a suit to obtain a declaration that that decree is a nullity. I.L.R. (1942) 1 Cal. 562=1943 Cal. 172. The Secretary of State for India in Council does not dwell or carry on business, or personally work for gain within the local jurisdiction of the High Court at Calcutta. 21 C. 1=40 C. 308, on appeal from 16 C.W.N. 747=15 I.C. 955. Where a person having headquarters elsewhere has also a house at Calcutta for temporary residence, which he was using from time to time as he pleased for a week or more at a time, he may be said to 'dwell' at Calcutta. 164 I.C. 907=40 C.W.N. 65.

THE CONSTRUCTION OF CL. 22, upon which all the High Courts are agreed is that, as regards suits for land, the High Court can take cognizance if the land is situate wholly within the local limits or where the land is situate in part only within such limits if leave has been first obtained; and that as regards suits other than those for land, the High Court has jurisdiction, if the cause of action has arisen in part only within the limits, if the leave of the Court shall have been first obtained or if the defendant dwells or carries on business or personally works for gain within these limits. 56 C. 940=1929 C. 358. Although the legislature had power in 1908 to override the Letters Patent, the Legislature has not by introducing sec. 21, C. P. Code, overriden the provisions of cl. 12. 56 C. 940=1929 C. 358. Neither the practice of the English Courts nor the practice of the Indian Courts in proceedings under the Divorce Act can apply to proceedings under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent which are governed by the procedure laid down in the Code of Civil Procedure. 57 C. 1089=34 C. W.N. 319=1930 C. 558. Where the parties to a marriage are not domiciled in India and the husband is a non-resident foreigner, the High Court has no jurisdiction to entertain a suit brought by the wife under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent for a declaration under sec 42 of the Specific Relief Act that her Christian marriage with the defendant has been dissolved as a result of her converison to Islam and the refusal of the defandant to embrace Islam when presented to him. Per Derbyshire, C.J.—Even the submission of the defendant to the jurisdiction of the Court will not avail the palintiff. 46 C.W.N. 465=I.L.R. (1942) 2 Cal. 165=1942 Cal. 325. An application to revoke a leave once granted under cl. 12 is maintainable. The party is not obliged to wait until the trial and to take the point by way of defence in his written statement. The application to revoke should, however be based on something better than a mere criticisim of the clarity of the pleadings. In granting leave or revoking it the Judge should go by the cause of action alleged. Where in the case of contracts part of the cause of action arises within the jurisdiction of the Court, the defendant cannot ask for revocation unless he shows that cl. 12 has no application at all. 58 C. 539=1931 C. 659. Per Rankin, C.J.—It cannot be said that the Judge in granting leave should not consider matters of evidence outside the plaint. APPLICATION FOR GRANT OR REVOCATION OF LEAVE—PRINCIPLES APPLICABLE.—From the judicial authorities, the following propositions may be enunciated:—(a) that an application lies for revoking leave granted under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent, (b) that such an application should be made at an early stage of the suit and delay and acquiescence may be a bar to such an application, (c) that if that application depends on difficult questions of law or fact the Court should not revoke leave on a summary application but should decide the question at the trial; (d) that if the defendant shows clearly that no part of the cause of action arose within jurisdiction, leave should be revoked as a matter of course; (e) that if only a part of the cause of action arose within jurisdiction, then it is a question of discretion for the Court to give or refuse leave or where leave has already been granted to revoke or maintain the leave; (f) that assignment is a very important part of the cause of action in a suit by the assignee; (g) that in giving or refusing leave or maintaining or revoking leave the Court will ordinarily take into consideration the balance of convenience and may, if the balance is definitely in favour of the defendant, apply the doctrine of forum conveniens; (h) that the Court may refuse leave or revoke leave on the ground of balance of convenience although there be no evidence of bad faith or abuse of process on the part of the plaintiff; (i) that if the cause of action is founded on an assignment within jurisdiction of a negotiable instrument, the Court will, in recognition of the principle of negotiability, insist on a far greater degree of balance of convenience in favour of the defendant and will more readily give or maintain leave than in other cases of assignment; (j) that if the Court is satisfied that the suit has been filed mala fide for the purpose of harassing or oppressing the defendant or might result in injustice, the Court should in all cases readily refuse leave or if leave has already been granted revoke the leave as a matter of course. 49 C.W.N. 357.

SUIT FOR LAND.—The test whether a suit is a suit for land or other immovable property is not a formal test, but regard is to be had to substance of the suit. 31 I.C. 581 =42 C. 942. The term 'suit for land or other immovable property' is not limited to suits in which the plaintiff seeks to recover possession of land or other immovable property. It means suit in which, having regard to the issue raised in the pleadings, the decree or order will affect directly the proprietary or possessory title to land or other immovable property. 104 I.C. 721=54 C. 655=1927 C. 768 See also 1937 Cal. 593=I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 644. The expression "suit for land" in cl. 12 covers only a suit for recovery of land. A suit for specific performance simpliciter of an agreement made in Calcutta for sale of land outside Calcutta is not a "suit for land", whether it is brought by the vendor or by the purchaser, and the Calcutta High Court has jurisdiction to entertain the suit. If, however, a suit is not one for specific performance simpliciter but also a suit for possession, the suit is a "suit for land", and the Court has, therefore, no jurisdiction to entertain such a suit. 49 C.W.N. 80. A suit for specific performance of an agreement to mortgage lands outside the jurisdiction is a suit for land. 48 C. 882=1922 C. 528. See also I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 644; 27 C.W.N. 65= 1922 C. 443=49 C. 670. Where the plaintiff sued to have it established that, on the death of the tenant for life, the title to the immovable property no longer remained in the Official Trustee in trust for the sons as they attained the age of 21 years but reverted to the estate of the settlor and that the property accordingly had become available to satisfy the claims of their creditors: Held, that the suit was one for land though the plaintiff did not claim a proprietary title in himself. 58 C. 768=1931 C. 651. Claim for damages for erecting masonry buttresses is a claim for land. 17 I.C. 500=39 C. 739; 42 C. 742. A suit to recover damages for breaking through plaintiff's mine or land and carrying away coal is a suit for land. 39 C. 739. A suit for damages in respect of injury to land is a suit for land, and so if the land is outside the original jurisdiction of High Court, the High Court cannot try it. 38 I.C. 571=44 C. 10. Where the plaintiff claimed that he was entitled to the whole of the residuary estate of the testator to the exclusion of certain other persons and for a declaration that the purported dedication of the properties made debutter under the will was void: Held, that the proceeding was a suit for land. 56 C. 979=1930 C. 258. A suit by trustees under a commosition deed regarding certain properties within the original jurisdiction of the Calcutta High Court does not cease to be a suit for land, merely because the properties have been entirely swept away by prior encumbrances 56 C. 940=1929 C. 358. Where in a suit on a mortgage, the mortgaged premises were outside the jurisdiction of the Court leave could not be granted under cl. 12. 49 C.L.J. 235= 1929 C. 373. A suit for land part of which only was situate within the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court and the other part was situate in the mofussil was brought on the Original Side without leave being obtained under cl. 12. Held, that as regards all properties outside the original jurisdiction of the High Court the suit was without jurisdiction and that effect must be given to the objection about jurisdiction though taken in the appellate Court for the first time. 56 C. 940=1929 C. 358. See also 41 C.W.N. 854; 41 C.W.N. 1135; 43 C.W.N. 365; 44 C.W.N. 214. Where a deed of composition for creditors was executed in Calcutta and it comprised certain properties outside and a suit was filed on the Original Side to enforce the deed without sanction under cl. 12, but the objection to jurisdiction was taken only in appeal, held, (1) that the plaintiff should have obtained leave to sue; (2) that the objection to jurisdiction could be raised in appeal; (3) that sec. 21, C.P. Code, did not abrogate the mandatory provisions of cl. 12; (4) that the suit could be proceeded with only as regards properties within the jurisdiction of the High Court on its Original side and that the mere fact that they were transferred subsequent to the institution of the suit did not affect the maintainability of the suit. 56 C. 940=1929 C. 358. Under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent in the case of a suit for land of which a part is within its jurisdiction, the High Court acquires jurisdiction over the entire suit provided that its leave is first obtained. When once it acquires jurisdiction to determine the suit, the decree that it passes is in no way different from a decree passed by the mofussil Court. Thus, an order for sale passed in a mortgage suit in respect of properties partly situate outside the original jurisdiction does operate as lis pendens. 58 C. 598=1931 C. 763. Sec. 92 of the C.P. Code, must be taken as overriding cl. 12 of the Letters Patent. A suit under sec. 92 of C.P. Code, cannot be instituted in the High Court when the subject-matter of the trust is situated outside the local limits of its jurisdiction, even though the defendants may dwell or carry on business within. 59 C. 357=1932 C. 444. Where the value of the Calcutta property mortgaged is almost infinitesimal and the intention of the parties was not to make that property an effective part of the security given in the mortgage, and it was included merely to confer jurisdiction on the High Court and not for any other purpose, held, that leave to institute the suit on the mortgage should not be granted under cl. 12, as the High Court had no jurisdiction to entertain the suit. 41 C.W.N. 854. But when the High Court grants leave under the clause, it holds that the property included in the mortgage was validly included in it and was intended to be so included and charged. And when a decree has been passed in such suit, it is not open to a party afterwards in a subsequent suit based on such decree to contend that the property was not really intended to be included in the mortgage and that the decree was therefore without jurisdiction. 41 C.W.N. 396=1937 C. 83.

LEAVE TO SUE.—Under cl. 12, the Court's leave should previously be obtained before it has jurisdiction to receive a suit for which leave is required. The grant of leave is a condition precedent to the Court having jurisdiction to receive such a suit, and it relates solely to the cause of action set forth in the plaint at that time. It is not available to confer jurisdiction in respect of a different cause of action newly introduced into the plaint by a subsequent amendment nor can fresh leave be given in respect thereof in the same suit. The Court can try the new cause of action only in another suit filed after obtaining leave. I.L.R. (1942) 2 Cal. 101. In a case in which the cause of action has arisen in part only within the local limits of the original jurisdiction of the High Court, it is a condition precedent to the maintenance of the suit that the leave of the Court should have been first obtained. It is not a condition for the parties to waive. 56 B. 324=34 Bom.L.R. 236=1932 B. 291 (31 Bom.L.R. 1002=29 Bom.L.R. 468, overr. 35 C. 394, Dis.). [But see 18 I.C. 898=17 C.W.N. 512; 56 Cal. 979 =1930 C. 258.] Where persons living outside jurisdiction are made parties to a suit but leave to sue is applied for and the High Court has granted it, the suit is valid as against them. 1937 C. 172=171 I.C. 632. See also (1940) 1 Cal. 497=44 C.W.N. 460 =1941 C. 236. The Calcutta High Court cannot grant leave to enforce a cause of action regarding properties partly within and partly without the ordinary original civil jurisdiction, and so a decree affecting properties outside those limits is void. 47 C. 770=56 I.C. 532=24 C.W.N. 633. A contract was signed by the manager of the defendant business in Calcutta; the defendant himself was a resident of Singapore. The defendant can be sued in the firm's name for damages for breach of contract in the Original Side of the High Court. 10 I.C. 895. Suit for damages for wrongful conversion of house in the Punjab—One of the joint tort-feasors residing in Calcutta—Leave to sue can be granted by Calcutta High Court. 32 C.W.N. 208=1928 C. 887. See also 1941 Cal. 291 (Suit for money lent in Calcutta to non-resident foreigner. Calcutta High Court has jurisdiction). The High Court has the power under the ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction conferred on it by cl. 12 to pass an order for judicial separation between Jews. 57 C. 1089=34 C.W.N. 319=1930 C. 358. The jurisdiction of the High Court as it stood in 1908 when the Code was republished depended upon sec. 9, High Courts Act of 1861. It was to have such power and authority as Her Majesty may by Letters Patent grant and direct. 56 C. 940 =1929 C. 358. In a suit by an assignee of a debt, the assignment is a part of the cause of action and upon that leave is invariably granted. It is impossible in practice to decide before the hearing of the suit whether an assignment is or is not bona fide. The Court would not be justified on a mere suspicion that the assignor might not have acted in the ordinary way of business in depriving the plaintiff of the right to bring a suit in the place where the assignment was made. 37 C.W.N. 1139=1934 C. 175. But where the sum at stake is not a large one and prima facie there is no issue likely to be raised which the tribunal at the place where the note was originally executed and where the defendant resides is not competent to try satisfactorily, and where the assignment of the promissory note was executed on the last day before the expiry of the period of limitation and collusively for the purpose mainly of giving the High Court jurisdiction which it would not otherwise possess, the case is one in which leave under cl. 12 ought not to be granted. 63 C. 435=40 C.W.N. 161=1936 C. 349. In such a case the High Court has power to recall the leave granted at the time of the filing of the plaint, the grant of leave at that stage being only ex parte. 63 Cal. 435. It is not usually right to grant leave under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent in a case where the part of the cause of action on which the jurisdiction depends is a matter with which the defendants have had nothing to do; and generally speaking, when people take an assignment of a promissory note, they should be prepared to enforce their claim either in the Court within whose jurisdiction the makers reside, or in a jurisdiction where a part of the cause of action with which the makers are directly concerned has arisen. In the case of a note executed by a mercantile firm, different considerations will prevail, for parties engaged in mercantile transactions must be held to contemplate the possibility of the note passing from hand to hand by negotiation and eventually getting into the hands of a party who may elect to sue in a Court which does not suit the convenience of the maker. 63 Cal. 526=40 C.W.N. 164= 1936 Cal. 219. But see 63 C. 908=40 C.W.N. 717; 40 C.W.N. 1349.

WAIVER OF OBJECTION TO JURISDICTION.—A defendant cannot be held to have waived his objection to jurisdiction, when the plaint alleged the cause of action to have arisen wholly within the original civil jurisdiction, if it afterwards turns out that a portion was beyond jurisdiction, and no leave was obtained. 38 I.C. 571=44 C. 10. Where a court has no jurisdiction, it cannot be cured by waiver or consent. I.L.R. (1942) 1 Cal. 149=1942 Cal. 496. An objection as to want of such leave might be waived and would be considered to have been waived if the defendant had taken any steps in furtherance of the suit to his trial. 18 I.C. 898=17 C.W.N. 512. But see 56 B. 324=137 I.C. 381=1932 B. 291; 56 C. 979=1930 C. 258 contra. The failure to obtain leave in a suit where leave is necessary under the Letters Patent goes to the root of the jurisdiction and the want of jurisdiction in the Court to entertain the suit cannot be overcome or waived by the consent or submission of the parties. 56 C. 979. See also I.L.R. (1942) 1 Cal. 149=1942 Cal. 596. Leave granted subsequent to presentation of plaint relates back to date of institution. 43 C.W.N. 1015.

13. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay,] shall have power to remove, and to try and determine, as a Court of extraordinary original jurisdiction, any suit being or falling within the jurisdiction of any Court, whether within or without the Presidency of Madras, [Bengal Division of the Presidency of Fort William] [Bombay], subject to its superintendence, when the said High Court shall think proper to do so, either on the agreement of the parties to that effect, or for purposes of justice, the reasons for so doing being recorded on the proceedings of the said High Court.

CLS. 12 AND 44: JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT—SUIT FOR RENT.—Sec. 144 of the B.T. Act as amended by Bengal Act IV of 1928, has not taken away the jurisdiction of the original side of the Calcutta High Court to entertain suits for rent, where the defendant resides within the local limits of the orginal side of that Court. Sec. 144 of the B.T. Act as it originally stood created an additional forum for suits for rent. By Bengal Act IV of 1928, however, a bar was imposed by enacting that no other Civil Court would have jurisdiction. The said Amending Act, being an Act of a Provincial Legislature, cannot affect the jurisdiction of the original side of the Calcutta High Court conferred by Cl. 12 of the Letters Patent. Cl. 44 of the Letters Patent gives powers only to the Indian Legislature the power to affect or modify the Letters Patent. The fact that the Amending Act was passed with the previous sanction of the Governor-General given under sec. 80-A of the Constitution Act of 1915 would not make it an Act of the Indian Legislature. 49 C.W.N. 552=1945 Cal. 425.

CLS. 13 AND 15: MADRAS CASES.—Cl. 13 of the Letters Patent merely contemplates the removal of a case filed in a mofussil Court to the High Court for trial and determination. But it does not mean that under the clause the High Court can withdraw a suit from a subordinate Court, which is closed for the summer recess, and having quashed an objectionable interim order send the suit back to the original Court for trial. Sec. 24, C.P. Code, however gives power to the High Court to transfer a suit to itself and afterwards retransfer it for trial to the Court in which it was originally filed. But, sec. 24, requires notice to the parties and an opportunity of being heard being given. I.L.R. (1945) Mad. 289=218 I.C. 267=1945 M.W.N. 1=58 L.W. 7=1945 Mad. 69=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 14 (F.B.). An order for transfer of a suit to the High Court under Cl. 13 is a "judgment" and appealable. 45 M.L.J. 153=1924 M. 90=47 M. 136. [35 M. 1=21 M.L.J. 1 (F.B.). Foll.] Application for transfer of suit from the Presidency Small Cause Court to the High Court is governed by Cl. 13, and must be made to the judge sitting on the original side of the High Court. 13 I.C. 860=22 M.L.J. 187. Case transferred to High Court from Judicial Commissioner, Coorg, is appealable under Cl. 15. 1922 M.W.N. 830=1921 M. 687. The powers of the High Court in a case transferred from the District Court are confined to those exercisable by a district Court but for the transfer. 38 M. 807=41 I.A. 314=1914 P.C. 41=27 M.L.J. 30 (P.C.). Where a suit is transferred from the City Civil Court to the High Court under Cl. 13 and tried by the High Court as a Court of Extraordinary Original Jurisdiction, the Court-fees payable are those in force in the High Court as a Court of Ordinary Original Jurisdiction (and not those payable under the Court-Fees Act) as the case is expressly governed by sec. 14 of the Madras City Civil Courts Act (VII of 1892). 60 M.L.J. 435=1931 M. 457.

CLS. 13 AND 14: BOMBAY CASES.—See 27 B. 575; 34 B. 564.

CLS. 13 AND 15: CALCUTTA CASES.—An order of a single Judge transferring a suit from the Small Cause Court to the High Court for trial is not a judgment and no appeal lies from the order. 60 I.C. 963=47 C. 1104. The question whether there should be a transfer 'for purposes of justice' within the meaning of Cl. 13 has to be determined by reference to the circumstances of each case, and the balance of convenience is certainly a matter for consideration. 54 C. 607=1927 C. 791. Joinder of several causes of action.

14. And We do further ordain that where plaintiff has several causes of action against defendant, such causes of action not being for land or other immovable property, and the said High Court shall have original jurisdiction in respect of one of such causes of action, it shall be lawful for the said High Court to call on the defendant to show cause why the several causes of action should not be joined together in one suit, and to make such order for trial of the same as to the said High Court shall seem fit.

Appeal from the Courts of original jurisdiction to the High Court in its appellate jurisdiction.

CL. 14.—The plaintiff filed a suit in Bombay against the ex-Maharaja of Indore for damages for false imprisonment and injury, for wrongful use and occupation, and for wrongful conversion and misappropriation of certain property. The defendant contended that the Court had no jurisdiction to entertain a suit for false imprisonment and personal injury. The Court granted leave under Cl. 12 and the question arose whether the cause of action could be considered under Cl. 14. Held, (1) that in order to give jurisdiction it was not necessary that the defendant should admit that at least one cause of action arose within the original jurisdiction; (2) that the words "such causes of action not being for land or other immovable property" in Cl. 14 means "excluding any cause of action which is for land or other immovable property"; (3) that the cause of action for false imprisonment though not one for land or other immovable property could be joined to the other two causes of action which arose within the jurisdiction; (4) that under the circumstances of the case it could not be said that the Court had no jurisdiction at all on the ground that the defendant was a non-resident foreigner. 53 B. 251=31 Bom.L.R. 7=1929 B. 100. CL. 15: EFFECT OF AMENDMENT OF CLAUSES 15 AND 49.—The Letters Patent of the High Court had been amended by further Letters Patent, dated 9th December, 1927, in two material respects. Sec. 15 provided for an appeal to the High Court against the decision of a single Judge but under the change now made such appeal will lie only when the Judge against whose decision it is intended to prefer an appeal certifies that the case is a fit one for appeal. Sec. 36 provided for the opinion of the Senior Judge prevailing in certain cases when two Judges constituting a Division Bench differed in opinion. The section has been amended so as to do away with the opinion of the Senior Judge prevailing in any case. 32 C.W.N Journal, p. 46. The amendment of this clause does not take effect retrospectively so as to take away a right of third appeal which the suitor had under the Letters Patent on the date of the institution of his suit. 32 C.W.N. 1130=1928 C. 640 (F. B.)=48 C.L.J. 150; 55 M.L.J. (Short notes) 37 citing S.R. No. 12176 of 1928. Otherwise in matters of procedure. 52 B. 753=30 Bom.L.R. 942=1928 B. 371. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as regards the grounds on which leave to appeal should be granted by a Judge under Cl. 15 of the amended letters patent against his decision passed in second appeal. The mere fact that there was a question of fact involved in the second appeal or that the second appeal was allowed and the decision of the lower appellate Court reversed or modified, or that the valuation of the second appeal was not insignificant, is not by itself, conclusive for the grant of such leave to appeal. Where the decision in second appeal was based on the construction of a deed of adoption which contained certain peculiar provisions: Held, that leave should be refused. Principles applicable to granting of leave to appeal elaborately discussed. 53 M. 405=1931 M. 202=58 M.L.J. 388. See also 56 M.L.J. 369.

MADRAS CASES: SCOPE OF CL. 15.—Cl. 15 is not controlled by sec. 105, C.P. Code, and it is open to a person, though he does not appeal against the order of remand to attack it in his appeal against the final decree. 30 L.W. 787=1929 M. 349.

An order by a single Judge of the High Court in an appeal from a decision or order of a Judge of the City Civil Court in a matter falling under the Arbitration Act is not open to appeal under Cl. 15 of the Letters Patent (Madras), in view of sec. 39 (2) of the Arbijurisdiction) of one Judge of the said High Court or one Judge of any Division Court pursuant to section 108 of the Government of India Act, and that notwithstanding anything hereinbefore provided an appeal shall lie to the said High Court from a judgment of one Judge of the said High Court or one Judge of any Division Court, pursuant to section 108 of the Government of India Act, made[1] in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction in respect of a decree or order made in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction by a Court subject to the superintendence of the said High Court, where the Judge who passed the judgment declares that the case is a fit one for appeal; but that the right of appeal from other judgments, of Judges of the said High Court or of such Division Court shall be to Us, Our Heirs or Successors in Our or Their Privy Council, as hereinafter provided.

LEG. REF.

1 MADRAS AMENDMENT—APPEAL TO THE HIGH COURT FROM JUDGES IN THE COURT.—In the fifteenth clause of the Madras Letters Patent between the words 'pursuant to sec. 108 of the Government of India Act, made' and the words 'in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction' the words 'on or after the first day of February, One thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine' shall be inserted. [N.B.—This Amendment is to come into force on 1st February, 1929.] [Amended by Letters Patent, dated 12th December, 1928.]

tration Act. Though Cl. 15 of the Letters Patent, if it stood alone, would allow an appeal, in view of Cl. 44 of the Letters Patent sec. 39 of the Arbitration Act must prevail over Cl. 15 of the Letters Patent and hence no appeal lies I.L.R. (1945) Mad. 564=1945 M.W.N. 164 (2)=58 L.W. 10 (1)=1945 Mad. 184=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 54. An order of a single Judge committing a party to prison for contempt of Court for alienating property in breach of an undertaking not to alienate the same, given by him in order to avoid an order for security for costs being made against him in a civil appeal, is clearly a "judgment," and is not an order in a criminal proceeding within the meaning of Cl. 15, but in a civil matter. Such an order is therefore open to appeal under Cl. 15. 56 L.W. 316=1943 M.W.N. 462=1943 Mad. 541=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 400.

MEANING OF WORDS "TRIAL".—The word "trial" includes an appeal under Cl. 15. 22 M.L.J. 44=12 I.C. 653.

CONSTRUCTION OF CL. 15.—Where it is doubtful whether the decision appealed from was in revision or second appeal but the party aggrieved had a right of second appeal, it must be construed as an appeal and a Letters Patent appeal would lie in an appropriate case. 1930 M. 489. In granting a certificate for leave to appeal under Cl. 15, it is not open to the Judge granting leave to limit the points fit for appeal; it is for the Court hearing the Letters Patent appeal to say what questions it will allow to be raised. I. L.R. (1941) Mad. 775=1941 Mad. 481=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 800 (F.B.). An order refusing to grant review of a judgment, in a second appeal, is an order made in the exercise of such second appellate jurisdiction. Hence a Letters Patent appeal from such an order is incompetent without the necessary leave under Cl. 15. I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 633=1938 Mad. 399=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 402.

"JUDGMENT".—Meaning of, see 52 M.L.J. 161=50 M. 380=1927 M. 498; 35 M. 1=21 M.L.J. 1 (F.B.); 47 M. 316=1924 M. 597=46 M.L.J. 138. The term "judgment" includes an order awarding costs even if they are discretionary and such order can be appealed against. 22 I.C. 551.

WHAT ARE JUDGMENTS.—[See also cases under "cases where appeal lies".] An order as to costs passed by a Judge, sitting on original side on a review of taxation by the taxing officer. 42 M. 352=36 M.L.J. 351 (F.B.). Order for transfer of a suit. 47 M. 136=1924 M. 90=45 M.L.J. 153. Order under Prov. Sm. C.C. Act, sec. 25. 39 M. 235=29 I.C. 846=29 M.L.J. 12. An order of a single Judge on an application for an ad interim injunction is a judgment if obtained. 21 L.W. 310=1925 M. 586. An order awarding a plaintiff maintenance pending the trial of her suit is a judgment and is appealable. 1925 M. 443=48 M.L.J. 395. Ex parte order granting or refusing to grant leave to sue, if and when judgment. See 50 M. 770=53 M.L.J. 329=1927 M. 846.

WHAT ARE NOT JUDGMENTS.—[See also under title "cases where no appeal lies."] An order refusing leave to amend is not a judgment. 3 L.W. 107=32 I.C. 423. Order adding a party is not a "judgment" and therefore is not appealable. 1930 M. 987=60 M. L.J. 237. So also an order of a single judge refusing an application to set aside his previous order excusing the delay in applying for leave to appeal in forma pauperis. 59 M. 656=43 L.W. 310=1936 M. 387=70 M.L.J. 306. See also 45 Bom.L.R. 602=1943 Bom. 318=I.L.R. 1943 Bom. 547. CASES WHERE APPEAL LIES.—[See also under "What are judgments".] An appeal lies against the order of a single judge of the High Court refusing to stay the execution of a decree. 47 M. 316=1942 M. 597= 46 M.L.J. 138. An order for a judge on the original side of the High Court giving leave to the plaintiff to sue in forma pauperis is a judgment and is appealable. 1925 M. 167= 47 M.L.J. 932. At the hearing of such an application even if the Government admits the pauperism of the plaintiff, the defendant should be given opportunities to prove he was not a pauper. 20 L.W. 845=1925 M. 167=47 M.L.J. 932. An appeal lies against an order on the original side setting aside the abatement of a suit. 31 I.C. 38=2 L.W. 948. (35 M. 1, Foll.) Appeal will lie against an order by a single Judge of the High Court rejecting a petition for revision of a small cause judgment. 27 M.L.J. 480=26 I.C. 57. See also 30 M. 311. Also from order of a single Judge of the High Court rejecting petition for revision of a small cause judgment. 27 M.L.J. 480=26 I.C. 57. See also 30 M. 311. Also from order of a single Judge of the High Court on a claim petition. 39 M. 1196= 28 I.C. 367. Where the Official Assignee applies to the Insolvency Judge for an order directing delivery of the insolvent's property and for committing to prison for contempt the wife and son of the insolvent who remain in the house and obstruct delivery, aiding the insolvent, but the Judge refuses the application, holding that he has no power to do so, such order of refusal is a "judgment" within the meaning of Cl.15; the Official Assignee being an aggrieved party under sec. 8 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, has a right of appeal. 1938 Mad. 927=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 609. Written statement—Amendment of, at plaintiff's instance—Order refusing. 1926 M. 64=49 M.L.J. 632. Order granting review and amending decree is a judgment and appealable. 1927 M.W.N. 411=1929 M. 261. See also 56 M. 915=1933 M. 570=65 M.L.J. 222 (F.B.).

CASES WHERE NO APPEAL LIES. [See also under "What are not judgments."] Interlocutory orders passed in Civil Revision Petition. 51 M. 165=1928 M. 169 (2)=54 M.L.J. 323. An order for compensation under sec. 250 of the Cr.P. Code is an order in a criminal trial and the judgment of the single Judge of the High Court in revision from that order is not open to appeal. 43 I.C. 624. No appeal lies from an order of a single Judge of the High Court staying the further trial of a suit. 30 I.C. 942=18 M.L.T. 312. Also against an order passed by a single Judge of the High Court in the exercise of its criminal revisional jurisdiction. 29 I.C. 96=2 L. W. 363. Also from order of a single Judge of the High Court passed in revision in proceedings under sec. 388, Cr.P. Code. 39 M. 472=28 M.L.J. 483=28 I.C. 662. Also against order of a single Judge on a revision against the order of Magistrate acting under sec. 118 of Cr. P. Code. 39 M. 539=28 I.C. 527=28 M.L.J. 307. Proceedings taken for binding over persons to keep the peace under Ch. VIII of Cr. P. Code, are criminal trials within Cl. 15. 39 M. 539. As to order refusing to grant review of Judgment in Second appeal. I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 633=1938 Mad. 399=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 402. No appeal lies at the instance of the judgment-debtor, under Cl. 15 against an order staying further proceedings on terms in an appeal preferred against the preliminary decree in a mortage suit. 1929 M. 197=56 M.L.J. 197. No appeal lies under Cl. 15 against the refusal of a single Judge of High Court to grant leave to appeal from the judgment passed by him in a second appeal. 30 L.W. 386=1930 M. 75 =52 M. 952=57 M.L.J. 398. Where during the pendency of an appeal the appellant died and an application having been made by one of the respondents claiming as legal representatives of the deceased, the Court brought him on record as appellant after going into the genuineness of a will under which he claimed, held, that the order was not a judgment within the meaning of cl. 15 and was not appealable. 56 M. 689=1933 M. 417=64 M.L.J. 493. See also 50 L.W. 202=1929 Mad. 800=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 414 (Order refusing to grant leave to appeal from an order under sec. 75 (3) of Provincial Insolvency Act). Whether an appeal lies under the clause against an order of the High Court under sec. 195, Cr.P. Code, is doubtful. 39 M. 768=38 I.C. 994.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—Before the amendment of 1927 in appeals governed by sec. 96, C.P. Code, when two Judges of the High Court were divided in opinion, the judgment of the Judge who confirmed the decree of the lower Court prevailed. 21 L.W. 721 =1925 M. 1032. But now a different procedure is prescribed. (See also Cl. 36.) In an appeal against orders in execution, if appellant dies, his legal representative can continue the same. 1928 M.W.N. 385=1926 M. 779=55 M.L.J. 497=51 M. 858.

REVIEW.—The High Court is competent to entertain an application to review a judgment passed in a Letters Patent appeal. Sec. 114, C P. Code, applies to judgments under the High Court's Letters Patent. 40 M. 651=32 M.L.J. 144.

STAY OF EXECUTION.—The fact that a part of a decree is declaratory is no bar to a stay of execution thereof being granted pending an appeal therefrom. 47 M. 316=1924 M. 597=46 M.L.J. 138. Where a second appeal was filed and an application was made for stay of execution of the decree of the lower Court and it was dismissed, held, that the order of dismissal was not appealable except with certificate as provided for under the amended Letters Patent. 30 L.W. 976=57 M.L.J. 783.

BOMBAY CASES.—Under cl. 15 of the Letters Patent as now amended, leave will be necessary as regards all decisions in second appeals by a single High Court Judge on and after 1st February, 1929. 31 Bom.L.R. 473 =1929 B. 241. See also 32 Bom.L.R. 185= 54 B. 331=1930 B 224; 30 Bom.L.R. 942 =52 B. 753=1928 B. 371.

"JUDGMENT".—'Judgment' in cl. 15 means a decision affecting the merits of the question between the parties by determining some right or liability. It may be final or preliminary or interlocutory, the difference between them being that a final judgment determines the whole cause or suit and a preliminary one only a part of it. 45 B. 428=59 I.C. 533=22 Bom.L.R. 1169=1921 B. 320; 53 I.C. 395=21 Bom.L.R. 955=44 B. 272. The term 'judgment' means in civil cases a decree and not a judgment in the ordinary sense. 1925 P.C. 155=27 Bom.L.R. 872 =49 ML.J. 25 (P.C.). See also I.L.R. (1940) Bom. 361=42 Bom.L.R. 377=1940 Bom. 196; 42 Bom.L.R 428=1940 Bom. 216=I.L.R. (1940) Bom. 426 (Order of single Judge confirming order of remand by appellate Court is appealable).

WHAT ARE JUDGMENTS.—Order giving liberty of withdrawing suit made after recording evidence and hearing argument. 45 B. 377=58 I.C. 1004=22 Bom.L.R. 1012= 1921 B. 267. An order of a single Judge of the High Court refusing to excuse the delay in presentation of the appeal. 42 B. 260=44 I.C. 913=20 Bom.L.R. 172. Also an order refusing to excuse the delay in presenting an application for leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council. 26 Bom.L.R. 395=48 B. 442= 1924 B. 399. Refusal to revoke arbitration. 34 B. 1. An order by a single Judge of the High Court issuing a writ of certiorari and setting aside an order made by an Assistant Judge in an election inquiry under sec. 15 of the Bom. Mun. Boroughs Act is a "judgment" within the meaning of cl. 15 and is appealable. Such an order is not made in the exercise of revisional jurisdiction but under the original jurisdiction of the High Court which is exercisable not merely over subordinate Courts but over other tribunals also. 46 Bom.L.R. 675=A.I.R. 1945 Bom. 7=I.L.R. (1944) Bom. 683.

WHAT ARE NOT JUDGMENTS.—A finding on a preliminary issue in a suit that it is maintainable. 27 Bom.L.R. 1496=1926 B. 136. A finding on a preliminary issue which does not involve the practical determination of the suit still amounts to a judgment and is appealable; owing to the peculiar framing of the suit in which the issue is raised, it does imply final determination. 32 Bom.L.R. 285=1930 B. 262. An order refusing directions in third party proceeding under rr. 130 and 131 of the High Court Rules is not a "judgment". 45 B. 428=59 I.C. 533=22 Bom.L.R. 1169 =1921 B. 320. Also order on original side setting aside abatement of suit. I.L.R. (1933) Bom. 704=40 Bom.L.R. 658=1938 Bom. 408. Order on original side of High Court in Chambers by a single Judge granting leave to sue in forma pauperis is not judgment. I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 547=45 Bom.L.R. 602=(1943) Bom. 318. Order allowing transfer of summary suit to short causes not a judgment. No appeal lies. 27 Bom.L.R. 99=86 I.C. 100= 1925 B. 159. An order by a single Judge on the original side of the High Court allowing amendment of the plaint in a suit by a sole partner of a firm in the firm name, permitting the substitution of the name of the partner for that of the firm, is merely an order regulating procedure and not one affecting the rights of the defendant, and is hence not appealable. 38 Bom.L.R. 529. Nor an order of the Court refusing to commit a party for breach of an undertaking given to the Court. 38 Bom.L.R. 571=164 I.C. 335=1936 B. 314. An order refusing to restrain the defendant by an injunction from prosecuting his suit in a foreign Court is not a "judgment". 53 I.C. 395=21 Bom.L.R. 955. An order granting to a plaintiff in an ejectment suit leave to amend the plaint by inserting further breaches of conditions in the lease after suit as a ground of ejectment is not a "judgment" within the meaning of cl. 15 of the Letters Patent, because it is not an order which affects the merits of the case; nor does it determine any right or liability. Hence such an order is not appealable. 48 B.L.R. 252=1946 B. 361. It is doubtful whether an order refusing to grant sanction to prosecute under sec. 195, Cr.P. Code, is a judgment. 24 Bom.L.R. 817=47 B. 270=1922 B. 455.

APPEAL.—An appeal does not lie against an order of a Judge refusing to grant leave to appeal under cl. 15. 32 Bom.L.R. 185= 1930 B. 224; or order excusing delay in filing appeal. I.L.R. (1940) Bom. 361=42 Bom.L.R. 377=1940 Bom. 196. An order of the Judge sitting in chambers refusing leave to sue in forma pauperis is appealable as a judgment. 1931 B. 166=32 Bom.L.R. 1647. See also 212 I.C. 637=I.L.R. 1943 B. 547= 1943 B. 318. An order extending the time for making an award is appealable. 32 Bom. L.R. 1650=55 B. 452=1931 B. 125. The right of appeal from the decision of one Judge in second appeal to the High Court and the right of appeal from the decision of more Judges than one to the Privy Council are governed mutatis mutandis by the same principles. In each case, the case must be certified to be a fit one for appeal. Though considerations of private or public importance as precedents and like matters must exist in a greater measure when a decision is requested from the Privy Council, than when a decision is invited from a Bench of the High Court, yet where there is no point in dispute which the Court could in the exercise of judicial discretion certify as being of great public or private importance and no important precedent governing numerous other cases, no leave can be granted form the decision of a second appellate Court. 34 Bom.L.R. 395=1932 B. 218. Where, at the time the second appeal was dismissed, no application for a certificate was made and subsequently at the time when the application was made the Judge who disposed of the appeal ceased to hold the office of Judge of the High Court, held, that a certificate cannot be granted by another Judge of the High Court and that an appeal under cl. 15 of the Letters Patent was not competent without a certificate. 54 B. 381=32 Bom.L.R. 624 =1930 B. 366. An order granting leave to defend on condition that the defendant should deposit in Court a sum of money by a date mentioned therein is a "judgment" within the meaning of cl. 15 from which an appeal lies. 56 B. 268=34 Bom.L.R. 252= 1932 B. 163. But an order fixing the date of sale or extending the time for sale of certain partnership property is in the nature of an order regulating the procedure under the order for sale and not a "judgment" within cl. 15 and is not appealable. 56 B. 237=34 Bom.L.R. 12=1932 B. 134. An order under sec. 10, C. P. Code, refusing to stay a suit is not a "judgment" within the meaning of cl. 15 and is not aapealable. 35 Bom.L.R. 15= 1933 Bom. 85=57 B. 364. But see 61 C. 670 =1935 C. 1, contra. An order dismissing a petition under sec. 39, Lunacy Act, to adjudge a person to be a lunatic is not a judgment, and is not appealable. 35 Bom.L.R. 38 =1933 B. 112=57 B. 371. Contempt arising out of comments upon a pending trial by persons some of whom are parties to the suit and some of whom are not is contempt of a criminal nature and the order passed in such proceedings is not appealable. 35 Bom.L. R. 9=1933 B. 108=57 B. 286. An order refusing the issue of a commission to examine witnesses is not a "judgment" within cl. 15 of the Letters Patent and no appeal lies from such an order. [35 M. 1 (F.B.); 1920 C. 894; 3 R. 293; 3 Rang. 605, Foll.; 2 I.C. 157, Expl.] 36 Bom.L.R. 272=1934 B. 168.

PRACTICE.—In an appeal the whole case is open and not merely the points on which the Judges differed. 48 B. 691=87 I.C. 199= 1925 B. 118.

CALCUTTA CASES.—Amendment of Letters Patent not retrospective. Cl. 15 of the amended Letters Patent does not take away a right of third appeal which the suitor had under the old Letters Patent on the date of the institution of his suit. 48 C.L.J. 150= 32 C.W.N. 1130=1928 C. 640 (F.B.). Otherwise in matters of mere procedure. See 52 B. 753=1928 B. 371. As to the effect of the amendment of 1927, see notes under cl. 15, Bombay Cases. A Judge hearing an application praying for leave to file an appeal under sec. 15, has no jurisdiction to entertain an application for the extension of the period of limitation under sec. 5 of the Limitation Act for filing the appeal. That would be a matter for the Division Bench that may be constituted by the Chief Justice for the purpose of hearing Letters Patent Appeals and if there is no such Bench, it will be for the Chief Justice to constitute a Division Bench to deal with the application for extension of time. 46 C.W.N. 131=I.L.R. (1942) 1 Cal. 403=1942 Cal. 606.

JUDGMENT.—The term 'judgment' means "decree or order". 47 I.C. 67=28 C.L.J. 205. Order of dismissal of an appeal without investigation of the merits, may be a judgment. (Ibid.) 'Judgment' means the sentence of law pronounced by the Court. 22 C.L.J. 452=20 C.W.N. 210. 'Judgment' signifies what is now termed 'decree' or 'order'. 31 I.C. 965=22 C.L.J. 525; 40 C.W. N. 1264=I.L.R (1937) 1 Cal. 149. As to whether an adjudication is a judgment, the test is what is its effect on the suit or proceeding in which it is made. 21 C.W.N. 921 =29 C.L.J. 225. By sec. 26 (2) of the Land Acquisition Act, introduced by the Amending Act of 1921, "judgment" includes a decision of the High Court in a L.A. appeal from an award of the L.A. Judge. The decision in such an appeal is appealable under cl. 15, 40 C.W.N. 1143=1936 C. 688. See also 45 C. W.N. 181 (Decision of Judge on election petition). An application for relief under the Bengal Money-Lenders Act is an original application, and an appeal lies under cl. 15 of the Letters Patent from a judgment of a Judge on the original side of the High Court dismissing such application. 46 C.W.N. 605 =1943 Cal. 169.

WHAT ARE JUDGMENTS.—Order of attachment before judgment. 50 C. 215=1923 C. 639. Also order setting aside abatement. 49 C. 62=1922 C. 335. Also order refusing to stay proceedings. 47 C. 611=24 C.W.N. 612. An order rejecting an application for judgment on admissions is a judgment and is appealable. 54 I.C. 836=23 C.W.N. 1017. An order refusing to set aside an award. 46 I.C. 687=45 C. 502. A decision of a single Judge of the High Court reversing in appeal an order of a District Judge and remanding the case for rehearing. 27 C.L.J. 418=22 C.W.N. 627. A decision that a suit being open to the objection of multifariousness cannot be entertained as framed. 45 C. 111=21 C.W.N. 794. A remand order nullifying the benefit of the decree is a judgment. 21 C.W.N. 921=41 I. C. 250. An order of a single Judge on the Original Side of the Calcutta High Court dismissing a suit for want of prosecution is a judgment and is appealable. 1924 C. 1025= 28 C.W.N. 916=51 C. 905. As to an order refusing an application for the appointment of a receiver based on a provision in the indenture of hypothecation, that on a breach of any one of the covenants contained therein, the plaintiff's assignor would be entitled to have a receiver appointed, the order has determined a right which is one of the matters in the controversy itself, and so is a judgment within the meaning of cl. 15. 39 C.W.N. 155=1935 C. 35. An order of a single judge of the High Court under sec. 9 of the Insurance Act directing the refund of the deposits under sec. 7 of that Act, is a 'judgment' within the meaning of cl. 15 of the Letters Patent and is appealable. So also an order under sec. 61 (1) and (2) of the Insurance Act reducing the amount of the insurance contracts. 46 C.W.N. 441= I.L.R. (1942) 2 Cal. 85=1942 Cal. 578.

WHAT ARE NOT JUDGMENTS.—Order restoring suit is not a judgment. 49 C. 616= 1922 C. 407. Order admitting appeal filed out of time. 32 C.W.N. 935=56 C. 135= 1929 C. 214. Suit on behalf of a lunatic— Application to take the plaint off the file— Dismissal of the application is not a judgment. 26 C.W.N. 242=1922 C. 172. Order refusing leave to file written statement is not a judgment and is not appealable. 49 I.C. 120=45 C. 818. Ordinarily an order of a Judge on the Original Side allowing or refusing an amendment is not a judgment. 45 C. 305=47 I.C. 129=22 C.W.N. 611. Order refusing to issue commission to examine witnesses is not a judgment. 55 I.C. 766=31 C.L.J. 162. The judgment given upon a case stated by the Commissioner of Income-tax under sec. 66 (2) of the Income-tax Act. 52 C. 546=29 C.W.N. 398=1925 C. 598. The opinion pronounced or delivered by a Judge on the Original Side of the High Court on a special request referred to him by the Registrar under r. 50, Ch. XXVI of the High Court Original Side Rules: 40 C.W.N. 1264 =I.L.R. (1937) 1 Cal. 149. An order setting aside an ex parte decree and the attachment in consequence thereof is not a "judgment". 30 C.W.N. 104=1926 C. 327. Transferring a suit under cl. 13 of the L.P. 47 C. 1104, See however 45 M.L.J. 152. An order of a Judge of the High Court in an appeal filed under the Tea Control Act refusing to strike out the Tea Licensing Committee as respondents, is not a "judgment" within the meaning of cl. 15. No appeal, therefore, lies from his order to a Division Bench of the High Court. 45 C.W.N. 454.

CASES WHERE APPEAL LIES.—Rulings under this clause before the amendment of 1927. [See also cases under "what are judgments".] An order refusing to stay a suit under sec. 10, C.P. CL. 16: CALCUTTA CASES.—An appellate Officer appointed by the Local Government under sec. 40 of the Bengal Agricultural Debtors Act is not a Civil Court within the meaning of sec. 16 of the Letters Patent. The Civil Courts contemplated by that clause do not cover Courts which are cerated by a special statute for a special purpose. 68 C.L.J. 407=42 C.W.N. 507=1938 Cal. 448 (1).

CLS. 16 AND 26: MADRAS CASES.—Under its superintending powers, the main function of the High Court is to see that the inferior tribunal does not usurp a jurisdiction which it does not possess or refuses to exercise a jurisdiction which it has and ought to exercise or acts illegally in the exercise of its jurisdiction. But it is no part of that function to substitute its own opinion for that of the Court superintended in matters assigned by the legislature to the cognizance of the latter. That can be done only when a right of appeal is given to it. Revisional jurisdiction over Board of Revenue regarding orders under sec. 173, Madras Estates Land Act, negatived. 55 M. 883=1932 M. 612=63 M.L.J. 450 (F.B.). High Court can entertain revision petition against a decree passed by a District Munsiff in an Agency tract. 59 M. 356=1936 M. 187=70 M.L.J. 204 (F.B.). Cl. 16 of the Letters Patent does not override the provisions of the Madras Civil Courts Act. The latter Act in effect prohibits an appeal being filed in the High Court, where it properly lies to the District Court. It is not therefore open to a Judge of the High Court to pass an order directing an appeal which properly lies to the District Court to be received in the High Court on the ground that at that time the District Court is closed for the summer vacation, and then transmit it to the District Court after the re-opening of that Court, and meanwhile to pass interim orders in the appeal. CL. 17: MADRAS CASES.—The High Court has jurisdiction to appoint a guardian for minors resident within the Presidency, though beyond the Presidency town, on the application of the father of the minors who is resident in Madras. Sec. 3 of the Guardian and Wards Act saves the power of the Chartered High Courts. 1937 M. 51=44 L.W. 904=71 M.L.J. 873. The jurisdiction can be exercised over infants in the mofussil in the Presidency provided they are subjects of His Majesty. The High Court under cl. 17 has jurisdiction to appoint a guardian of an infant residing in the mofussil, who is not a European British subject. 71 M.L.J. 873. Cl. 17 of the Letters Patent confers on the High Court the same power as Cl. 32 of the Charter of Supreme Court of 1800 conferred on that Court. There is no restriction in these clauses in regard to the Court's jurisdiction as to place or persons. 71 M.L.J. 873. CL. 17: CALCUTTA CASES.—The jurisdiction over infants which has been conferred on the High Court by Cl. 17 of the Letters Patent and which has been expressly preserved by sec. 3 of the Guardians and Wards Act, is operative on the person and estate of all infants within the Bengal Division of the Presidency. In exercising this jurisdiction, the High Court should follow the principles adopted by the Court of Chancery in England. This does not, however, mean it should ignore the principles embodied in the last mentioned Act. Where the Act is silent or the provisions thereof are contrary to or inconsistent with the principles of the Court of Chancery, the High Court will act in appropriate cases on the principles on which the Court of Chancery in England would act in similar circumstances. The Court of Chancery in England has been exercising paternal jurisdiction derived from the prerogative of the crown as parens patriae. A father who entrusts the custody and education of his boy to a third person but defrays the expenses therefor, does not disqualify himself from asserting his natural rights as the father. He is not unfit to be guardian of the person of the boy either within the meaning of sec. 19 of the Guardians and Wards Act or according to the principles on which the Court of Chancery in England would interfere with the rights of the father. But where the parents of a female child voluntarily make over that child to a third person, not as a temporary measure, but with a view to make a permanent arrangement for her future life and that person has been properly meeting all the expenses of the child for a number of years and is willing to continue to do so, and this long continued acquiescence has given rise to associations and expectations in the mind of the child that she would be continued to be brought up in the way she has been brought up so far, the parents by their conduct render themselves unfit to be a guardian of the person of the female child. I.L.R. (1943) 2 Cal. 554=A.I.R. 1944 Cal. 433. The High Court can, in the exercise of its inherent jurisdiction under Cl. 17 (and apart from the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890), appoint a guardian of an infant coparcener in an undivided Mitakshara family. 59 I.C. 570=138 I.C. 739=1932 C. 502. There is no restriction in the powers granted to either the Supreme Court or the High Court which limits the exercise of guardian jurisdiction to the Presidency town or to European British subjects. The High Court has power to appoint a guardian, even when the minor resides outside and has no property within the limits of the Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction of the High Court. 57 C. 533=1930 C. 598. But see 58 C. 919=1932 C. 91.

BOMBAY CASES.—The High Court has power and can make an order appointing a guardian in respect of undivided co-parcenary property of a minor Hindu co-parcener, in respect of a minor situate within the limits of the ordinary original jurisdiction of the High Court, that is, the town and island of Bombay. This jurisdiction extends to minors wherever in the Presidency they may be found, provided they are subjects of the British Crown. The jurisdiction of the High Court to sanction a contract for the benefit of a minor extends to a minor Hindu coparcener resident within the Bombay Presidency, who is a British subject. Where the manager of a joint Hindu family asks for sanction of a sale of joint family property including the interests of the minor coparcener, as being for the benefit of the minor, the Court ought not to make an order ex parte. The minor concerned should be made a respondent to the application, and he should be represented by a guardian ad litem, who should normally be an officer of the Court, and he should satisfy himself as to the interest of the minor, by requiring evidence as to the alleged necessity for the sale or as to the price being a good one, and as to how the proceeds of the sale are to be dealt with. If he requires funds to enable him to look into the matter properly, the party seeking the order must provide such funds. 43 Bom.L.R. 926=1941 Bom. 397=I.L.R. (1942) Bom. 238 (S.B.).

CL. 18: MADRAS.—The High Court has no power to entertain a petition for the adjudication of a debtor, who is outside the limits of the Presidency-town, as an insolvent, even though the mofussil Court having jurisdiction in the matter is at the time closed for summary recess. (52 M. 52=55 M.L.J. 690, Foll.). 57 M. 453=1934 M. 314=66 M.L.J. 428.

applied to each case coming before the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], in the exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction, such law or equity shall be the law or equity which would have been applied by the said High Court to such case if these Letters Patent had not issued.

In the exercise of extraordinary original civil jurisdiction.

20. And We do further ordain that, with respect to the law or equity and rule of good conscience to be applied to each case coming before the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], in the exercise of its extraordinary original civil jurisdiction, such law or equity and rule of good conscience shall be the law or equity and rule of good conscience which would have been applied to such case by any local Court having jurisdiction therein.

By the High Court in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction.

21. And We do further ordain that, with respect to the law or equity and rule of good conscience to be applied by the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], to each case coming before it in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction, such law or equity and rule of good conscience shall be the law or equity and rule of good conscience which the Court in which the proceedings in such case were originally instituted ought to have applied to such case.

Criminal Jurisdiction.

Ordinary original jurisdiction of the High Court.

22. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature at Madras [Bombay] shall have ordinary original criminal jurisdiction, within the local limits of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction, and also in respect of all such persons, beyond such limits over whom the said High Court of Judicature at Madras [Bombay] shall have criminal jurisdiction at the date of the publication of these presents.

[The corresponding provision of the Calcutta Letters Patent is as follows:—

"And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal shall have ordinary original criminal jurisdiction within the local limits of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction and also in respect of all such persons both within the limits of the Bengal Division of the Presidency of Fort William, and beyond such limits and not within the limits of the criminal jurisdiction of any other High Court or Court established by competent legislative authority for India as the said High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal shall have criminal jurisdiction over at the date of the publication of these presents".]

Jurisdiction as to person.

23. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], in the exercise of its ordinary original criminal jurisdiction, shall be empowered to try all persons brought before it in due course of law.

CL. 21: MADRAS CASES.—The High Court as appellate or revisional authority, has no jurisdiction to issue an injunction apart from and except in accordance with the provisions of O. 39. (35 L.W. 168. Diss. from.) 1933 M. 590=37 L.W. 110=64 M.L.J. 112=56 M. 563.

CALCUTTA CASES: APPLICABILITY OF ENGLISH COMMON LAW—EXTENT OF.—Although the English common law is enforced on the original side of Chartered High Courts, on the appellate side and in the mofussil Courts, the English common law is not and has not even been followed. 61 C. 841=38 C.W.N. 682=1934 C. 682.

CL. 22: CALCUTTA CASES.—Sec. 106 of the Government of India Act leaves the definition of the High Court's original criminal jurisdiction to be made by the Letters Patent and the High Court derives a particular original criminal jurisdiction from Cl. 22, Letters Patent. It is within the power of the Indian Legislature to alter and amend the Letters Patent and consequently within the Ordinance making power of the Governor-General under the Government of India Act. 37 C.W.N. 481=1933 C. 364=60 C. 814.

Extraordinary original criminal jurisdiction.

24. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], shall have extraordinary original criminal jurisdiction over all persons residing in places within the jurisdiction of any Court now subject to the superintendence of the said High Court, and shall have authority to try at its discretion any such persons brought before it on charges preferred by the Advocate-General, or by any Magistrate or other officer specially empowered by the Government in that behalf.

No appeal from High Court exercising original jurisdiction — Court may reserve points of law.

25. And We do further ordain that there shall be no appeal to the said High Court of Judicature at Madras [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], from any sentence or order passed or made in any criminal trial before the Courts of original criminal jurisdiction which may be constituted by one or more Judges of the said High Court. But it shall be at the discretion of any such Court to reserve any point or points of law for the opinion of the said High Court.

High Court to review on certificate of the Advocate-General.

26. And We do further ordain that, on such point or points of law being so reserved as aforesaid, or on its being certified by the said Advocate-General that, in his judgment, there is an error in the decision of a point or points of law decided by the Court of original criminal jurisdiction, or that a point or points of law which has or have been decided by the said Court should be further considered, the said High Court shall have full power and authority to review the case, or such part of it as may be necessary, and finally determine such point or points of law, and thereupon to alter the sentence passed by the Court of original jurisdiction, and to pass such judgment and sentence as to the said High Court shall seem right.

CLS. 24 AND 29: CALCUTTA CASES.—Under this section, the High Court has no power to take proceedings against persons, one of whom is not in India at all and the others are either Indian subjects or else residing within the original jurisdiction. 1932 C. 123=35 C.W.N. 1088. See also 1931 C. 646=1932 C. 394=35 C.W.N. 782; 35 C.W.N. 1086. Where certain British Indian subjects resident within the original jurisdiction were accused of offences committed outside British India, the complaint cannot be entertained by the High Court on its appellate side, Cls. 24 and 29 not being applicable to such a case. 1932 C. 229 =35 C.W.N. 1082. Where the Advocate-General appears on behalf of the accused and does not commence proceedings under cl. 24, it cannot be said that he ceases to be Advocate-General and an application by counsel for private party to be clothed with the powers of the Advocate-General cannot be maintained. 35 C.W.N. 1082=1932 C. 229.

CLS. 25 AND 26: MADRAS CASES: REVIEW. —The judgment of a special Criminal Bench of the High Court constituted under sec. 6 (b) of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1908, is open to review on a certificate granted by the Advocate-General under cl. 26. 35 M. 397=14 I.C. 896=13 Cr.L.J. 352=1912 M.W.N. 549=12 M.L.T. 1. The expression "point of law" in cl. 26 means the same thing as matter of law in sec. 418 of the Cr. P. Code. It includes such mis-direction or non-direction as would permit an appeal against the verdict of a jury. Any misdirection includes not only an error in laying down the law by which the jury are to be guided but also a defect in summing up the evidence or in not summing it up or in summing it up erroneously. 1930 M.W.N. 249. As to whether the presiding Judge can reserve a question, when a point was raised after reading out charge and accused called upon to plead, see 1936 M.W.N. 281=1936 M. 353=70 M.L.J. 635 (F.B.).

CLS. 25 AND 26: CALCUTTA CASES.—Under cls. 25 and 26 the Full Bench is not competent to order a retrial but should finally decide the matter on review. 47 C. 671=71 C. L.J. 402=24 C.W.N. 501 (F.B.). (44 C. 477; 2 B. 61; 17 C. 642, Ref.). As to right of appeal or revision in the case of trials on the Sessions Side of a High Court, see 44 C. 723 =21 C.W.N. 167.

CL. 26: BOMBAY CASES.—Under Cl. 26 of the Letters Patent if the Advocate-General certifies that there is a point of law involved in the case which requires further consideration, the High Court has to determine the point of law, and if it thinks that there has been an error in law, it can review the whole case and pass the requisite sentence or judgment. It is not, however, essential to set aside the conviction whenever there has been some error of law, but if the High Court thinks that the error of law has prejudiced the accused, it must set aside the conviction. I.L.R. (1942) Bom. 384=199 I.C. 202=44 Bom.L.R.27 =1942 Bom. 71 (F.B.) In dealing with a case coming before the High Court under Cl. 26, the High Court is not entitled to go into questions which are not covered by the certificate of the Advocate-General. The jurisdiction of the High Court under Cl. 26 is restricted to the point or points of law mentioned in the certificate of the Advocate-General as involving an error; and if the High Court comes to the conclusion that there has been no error with regard to the point or points of law mentioned in the certificate of the Advocate General, the High Court has no power to go into any other question, or to review the case generally, even to the extent of altering the sentence. 46 Bom.L.R. 566=A.I.R. 1944 Bom. 274 (F.B.)=I.L.R. (1945) Bom. 52. The failure of the Judge to comply with sec. 297, Cr.P. Code, is an error of law which brings the case within cl. 26 of the Letters Patent. But that clause does not entail that wherever any misdirection is found to exist, the Court has no option but to set aside the verdict. 60 B. 599=38 Bom.L.R. 19 =1936 B. 52 (F.B.). Although the wording of sec. 537, Cr.P. Code, does not apply to a case under cl. 26 of the Letters Patent, the Court ought to apply the principle which underlies that section, that is, that where there has been no illegality in the mode of trial, but some irregularity in the process of trial, the High Court is not entitled to set aside the verdict or judgment unless it is satisfied that irregularity has led to a miscarriage of justice, or has prejudiced the accused. 60 Bom. 599=38 Bom.L.R. 62 (F.B.). It is clearly open to the Court to consider, not so much what effect the misdirection has upon its mind sitting in place of a jury, but what the effect of the misdirection was or may have been upon the minds of the jury which tried the case; and in so doing, it must assume that the jury was a reasonably competent jury, though it must remember that a jury consists of laymen and that a misdirection may have more effect upon the minds of laymen than upon the mind of a trained Judge. 60 Bom. 599. According to the language of Cl. 26, the High Court must be satisfied that there has been an error in the decision of a point or points of law or that there is a point or points of law requiring further consideration before any question can arise of interference with the verdict of the jury. To justify such interference, the point of law in question must clearly be a substantial and important one and it must appear that there has been some error by which the accused has been prejudiced and the fair trial of the case affected. 44 Cr.L.J. 534=45 Bom.L.R. 281=A.I.R. 1943 Bom. 105. See also 46 Bom.L.R. 566=1944 Bom. 274 (F.B.).

CL. 26: CALCUTTA CASES.—The powers of the High Court are limited under cl. 26. 28 C.W.N. 170=1924 C. 257 (F.B.). Where a Judge in his discretion under sec. 239, Cr. P. Code, desires to try a number of accused jointly it is not a matter for interference on a certificate of the Advocate-General under Cl. 26. 38 C.L.J. 309 (F.B.). A defective summing up to the jury, unless it causes a failure of justice is no ground for reversing a conviction. 38 C.L.J. 309 (F.B.). Where there was a misdirection to the jury and it appeared that the accused was prejudiced thereby and the Advocate-General granted a certificate under cl. 26 of the Letters Patent, held, that the conviction must be set aside. Under cl. 26 the Court can review the entire case and determine the point of law reserved or certified; the word 'thereupon' means that the point is in favour of the prisoner. The Court cannot order a re-trial if the point is held in favour of the accused. Where improper evidence has been admitted the Court must consider whether such evidence could possibly have considerably influenced the minds of the jury and whether it was reasonably certain that the jury would, not might, have acted on the unobjectionable evidence if the wrongly admitted evidence or matter had not also been presented to them. 1929 C. 617 (F.B.). Per Rankin, C.J.—The phrase "to review the case" as used in cl. 26 of the Letters Patent applies as much where a point of law is reserved by the trial Judge as where the Advocate-General has given a certificate. I am far from saying that inordinate delay may not be a matter for consideration by the Advocate-General at the time when he is called upon to consider whether a certificate should be granted. Per Jack, J., dissenting.—In a proceeding under cl. 26, the Court can examine the evidence for itself and determine without reference to the probable verdict of a jury whether excluding the inadmissible evidence the residue is sufficient to justify the conviction. The fact that a retrial cannot be ordered ought to make the Court careful to avoid setting aside a conviction on immaterial grounds. 33 C.W.N. 1121 =1929 C. 617 (F.B.). Where the accused was prosecuted for offences under secs. 406 and 477, I.P. Code, but it appeared that the Judge had misdirected the jury on the question of law, namely, as to the ingredients forming the offence. Held, that it was a fit case for interference under cl. 26. 58 C. 1051=35 C.W.N. 425=1931 C. 184 (S.B.). Contents of certificate. 21 C.L.J. 377=30 I.C. 113=16 Cr.L.J. 561=19 C.W.N. 53 (F.B.). Once the Advocate-General grants a certificate the Court has to deal with the case. The statement of the trial Judge as to what took place before him is conclusive. 30 I.C. 113. When the Advocate-General, after considering the matter and exercising his judgment, refuses a certificate it is not within the province of the High Court to issue a Rule to call upon him to show cause why he should not issue a certificate. 63 C. 838. The refusal by the Advocate-General to give a certificate is not a matter which can be called in question by any proceeding in the High Court. The revisional jurisdiction of the High Court in criminal matters is limited to matters arising in the Criminal Courts subject to the appellate jurisdiction of the High Court. 63 Cal. 838.

CL. 26: MADRAS CASES—"DECISION ON A POINT OF LAW—WHAT CONSTITUTES.—Held, by the majority (Madhavan Nair and Curgenven, JJ., dissenting): A point of law referred to in cl. 26 of the Letters Patent means a point of law submitted to and decided by the trial Judge or any direction as to the law

Appeal from Criminal Courts in the Provinces.

27. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], shall be a Court of appeal from the Criminal Courts of the Presidency of Madras, [Bengal division of the Presidency of Fort William] [Bombay], and from all other Courts, subject to its superintendence, and shall exercise appellate jurisdiction in such cases as are subject to appeal to the said High Court by virtue of any law now in force.

Hearing of referred cases and revision of criminal trials.

28. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], shall be a Court of reference and revision from the Criminal Courts subject to its appellate jurisdiction, and shall have power to hear and determine all such cases referred to it by the Sessions Judges, or by any other Officers now authorized to refer cases to the said High Court, and to revise all such cases tried by any officer or Court possessing criminal jurisdiction ,as are now subject to reference or to revision by the said High Court.

High Court may direct the transfer of a case from one Court to another.

29. And We do further ordain that the said High Court shall have power to direct the transfer of any criminal case or appeal from any Court to any other Court of equal or superior jurisdiction, and also direct the preliminary investigation or trial of any criminal case by any officer or Court otherwise competent to investigate or try it, though such case belongs, in ordinary course, to the jurisdiction of some other officer or Court.

Criminal Law.

Offenders to be punished under Indian Penal Code.

30. And We do further ordain that all persons brought for trial before the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], either in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, or in the exercise of its jurisdiction as a Court of appeal, reference or revision, charged with any offence for which provision is made by Act XLV of 18600, called the "Indian Penal Code," or by any Act amending or excluding the said Act which have been passed prior to the publication of these presents, shall be liable to punishment under the said Act or Acts, and not otherwise.

given by him in the course of his summing up to the jury. The word 'decision' cannot be read so as to cover cases where the Judge has never applied his mind to the matter and has not pronounctd an opinion on it. Per Madhavan Nair and Curgenven, JJ., dissenting: All questions which have to be necessarily decided in a trial and which in effect have been decided by the Judge, though not expressly, would fall within the meaning of the word "decision". 68 M.L.J. (Supp.) 1 (F.B.). In an enquiry following the grant of a certificate by the Advocate-General the High Court has jurisdiction to say that the Advocate-General's certificate should not have been granted on the ground that there was no decision on a point of law involved in the case and if it came to that conclusion, the petition could straightaway be dismissed without any further consideration of the merits of the case. 58 M. 523=68 M.L.J. CLS. 27 AND 28: BOMBAY CASES.—Order of Chief Presidency Magistrate under Maintenance Orders Enforcement Act, 1921—Power of High Court to interfere in revision. 1928 B. 117=30 Bom.L.R. 350.

CL. 29: BOMBAY CASES.—Bombay High Court has no power to quash proceedings before Village Patil under the Cr. P. Code, but it has such power under the Letters Patent. 50 I.C. 491=21 Bom.L.R. 274 (10 Bom.L.R. 630, Rel.).

CL. 29: CALCUTTA CASES.—The second half of cl. 29 is addressed to the same subject-matter as the first-half. The section merely confers a power of transfer. If the High Court transfers the case to its file it assumes original jurisdiction. The High Court has no power under this clause to take proceedings against certain persons one of whom is not in India at all and others are either Indian subjects or else residing within the original jurisdiction of the High Court. 35 C.W.N. 1088=1932 C. 123. Exercise of jurisdiction elsewhere than at the ordinary place of sitting of the High Court.

Judges may be authorized to sit in any place by way of circuit or special commission.

31. And We do further ordain that whenever it shall appear to the Governor in Council convenient that the jurisdiction and power by these Our Letters Patent or by the recited Act, vested in the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], should be exercised in any place within the jurisdiction of any Court now subject to the superintendence of the said High Court other than the usual place of sitting of the said High Court, or at several such places by way of circuit, the proceedings in cases before the said High Court at such place or places shall be regulated by any law relating thereto, which has been or may be made by competent legislative authority for India.

Admiralty and Vice-Admiralty Jurisdiction.

Civil.

32. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], shall have and exercise all such civil and maritime jurisdiction as may now be exercised by the said High Court as a Court of Admiralty, or of Vice-Admiralty, and also such jurisdiction for the trial and adjudication of prize causes and other maritime questions arising in Inda as may now be exercised by the said High Court.

Criminal.

33. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], shall have and exercise all such criminal jurisdiction as may now be exercised by the said High Court as a Court of Admiralty, or of Vice-Admiralty, or otherwise in connection with maritime matters, or matters of prize.

Testamentary and Intestate Jurisdiction.

Testamentary and intestate jurisdiction.

34. And We do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], shall have the like power and authority as that which may now be lawfully exercised by the said High Court, in relation to the granting of probates of last wills and testaments, and letters of administration of the goods, chattels, credits, and all other effects whatsoever of persons dying intestate, within or without the Presidency of Madras, [Bengal Division of the Presidency of Fort William] [Bombay]: Provided always that nothing in these Letters Patent contained shall interfere with the provisions of any law which has been made by competent legislative authority for India, by which power is given to any other Court to grant such probates and letters of administration.

Matrimonial jurisdiction.

Powers of Single Judges and Division Courts.

Single Judges and Division Courts.

36. And We do hereby declare that any function which is hereby directed to be performed by the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], in the exercise of its original or appellate jurisdiction, may be performed by any Judge, or by any Division Court thereof, appointed or constituted for such purpose, [1][in pursuance of section 108 of the Government of India Act, 1915]; and if such Division Court is composed of two or more Judges and the Judges are divided in opinion as to the decision to be given on any point, such point shall be decided according to the opinion of the majority of the Judges if there shall be a majority, but if the Judges should be equally divided, [2][they shall state the point upon which they differ and the case shall then be decided according to the opinion of the majority of the Judges who have heard the case including those who first heard it]:

Civil Procedure.

Regulation of proceedings.

37. And We do further ordain that it shall be lawful for the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], from time to time to make rules and orders for the purposes of regulating all proceedings in civil cases which may be brought before the said High Court, including proceedings in its admiralty, vice-admiralty, testamentary, intestate and matrimonial jurisdiction respectively: Provided always that the said High Court shall be guided in making such rules and orders as far as possible by the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, being an Act passed by the Governor-General in Council, and being Act No. VIII of 1859, and the provisions of any law which has been made, amending or altering the same, by competent legislative authority for India.

LEG. REF.

1 Substituted by Amending Letters Patent, dated 11th March, 1919.

2 Added by the Letters Patent Amendment of 1927.

CL. 36: MADRAS CASES.—The amended cl. 36 applies to all pending cases. 52 M. 584 =1929 M. 497=57 M.L.J. 22 (F.B.). In all cases of equal division of opinion between the Judges of the High Court the procedure to be adopted is that prescribed in cl. 36 of the Letters Patent and not that mentioned in sec. 98, C. P. Code. 52 M. 563=1929 M. 641=57 M.L.J. 264 (F.B.). In the case of difference of opinion in revision cases cl. 36 and not sec. 98, C. P. Code, regulates the procedure. 32 I.C. 330=18 M.L.T. 591. Difference of opinion among Judges—Sanction under Cr. P. Code, sec. 195 (6)—Opinion of the senior Judge prevails. 39 M. 750=14 I.C. 305=22 M.L.J. 419 (F.B.); 1925 Mad. 281=47 M.L.J. 76. Proceeding before High Court under sec. 439, Cr. P. Code—Difference of opinion—Procedure. See 1932 M.W.N. 873.

BOMBAY CASES.—According to cl. 36, if the Judges are equally divided in opinion that of the senior prevailed. 45 B. 718= 48 I.A. 181=40 M.L.J. 519 (P.C.). [N.B.: This is not now good law in view of the amendment of the Letters Patent in 1927.] See also 26 Bom.L.R. 470=1925 B. 113=85 I.C. 778. Sec. 98 of the C. P. Code which provides for reference of the disputed point to one or more other Judges does not affect cl. 36 of the Letters Patent. (Ibid.) On a difference of opinion in an appeal from the Mofussil the procedure is governed by sec. 98 C. P. Code and not by cl. 36. 43 B. 433 and 492=50 I.C. 715=21 Bom.L.R. 157 (F.B.).

CALCUTTA CASES.—As regards the costs of an original side appeal the Judges having differed. Sec. 98, C. P. Code, is not applicable, but cl. 36 applies and the opinion of the Chief Justice prevailed. 58 I.C. 421= 24 C.W.N. 352. See also 18 C.W.N. 106= 16 I.C. 922=17 C.L.J. 75. [But sec. 66-A of the Income-tax Act enacted recently provides otherwise. See also the amended Letters Patent of 1927.]

CL. 37: MADRAS CASES.—R. 107 of the Criminal Procedure.

38. And We do further ordain that the proceedings in all criminal cases which shall be brought before the said High Court of Judicature at Madras,]Fort William in Bengal[ ]Bombay[, in the exercise of its ordinary original criminal jurisdiction, and also in all other criminal cases over which the said High Court had jurisdiction immediately before the publication of these presents, shall be regulated by the procedure and practice which was in use in the said High Court immediately before such publication subject to any law which has been or may be made in relation thereto by competent legislative authority for India; and that proceedings in all other criminal cases shall be regulated by the Code of Criminal Procedure prescribed by an Act passed by the Governor-General in Council, and being Act No. XXV of 1861, or by such further or other laws in relation to criminal procedure as may have been or may be made by such authority as aforesaid.

Regulation of proceedings.

Appeals to Privy Council.

39. And We do further ordain that any person or persons may appeal to Us, Our heirs and Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, in any matter not being of criminal jurisdiction, from any final judgment, decree or order of the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], made on appeal, and Power to appeal.

Appellate Side Rules of the High Court is authorised by cl. 37 of the L. P. and is therefore not ultra vires. 29 M.L.J. 784=31 I.C. 74. R. 105 of the High Court Appellate Side Rules does not contravene the provisions of the C. P. Code by limiting the right of appeal conferred by sec. 100, C. P. Code, or by varying the provisions of O. 41 as to the mode of disposing of appeals. (Ibid.)

BOMBAY CASES: POWER OF HIGH COURT TO MAKE RULES FOR REGULATING PROCEDURE IN SUBORDINATE COURT.—Cl. 37 does not empower the High Court to make rules and orders for the purpose of regulating proceedings in civil cases in Courts subordinate to it. For that purpose the High Court must resort to sec. 122, C. P. Code, or sec. 224 (1) (b) of the Government of India Act 1935. 47 Bom.L.R. 808.

CALCUTTA CASES.—O. 3, R. 4 (5) is inconsistent with the rules of the Calcutta High Court framed under cl. 37, Letters Patent and O. 3, R. 4 (5) being contrary to rules under cl. 37 the latter must prevail. 135 I. C. 789=1932 C. I=59 C. 370.

CL. 39: MADRAS CASES.—See (1939) 2 M. L.J. 667 (F.B.). 1939 M. 903=I.L.R. 1939 M. 770. An application for leave to appeal to Privy Council in an insolvency matter (original or appellate) lies under cl. 39 of the L. P. 22 L.W. 362=1925 M. 243. Deputy Collector sanctioning prosecution as Income-tax Officer—High Court order refusing to quash proceedings if appealable. 25 M.L.J. 565=21 I.C. 896. If the High Court has powers to allow an appeal to the Privy Council against an order in a disciplinary matter, such as suspending a vakil from practice, see 43 M.L.J. 382=1922 M. 440.

BOMBAY CASES: MEANING OF WORDS.—The meaning of "final" is that the judgment or order must finally determine the rights of the parties. 38 B. 421=61 Bom.L.R. 195.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—An award made in a land acquisition case by the High Court is not a decree. Nor is it a final judgment or order within the meaning of cl. 39. No appeal lies in such cases. 37 B. 506=17 I.C. 952=14 Bom.L.R. 1194. See on appeal 20 I. C. 763=17 C.W.N. 421 (P.C.). As to scope of cl. 39, see 55 B. 785=1932 B. 90=33 Bom.L.R. 1476. The decision of the High Court on a reference from the Chief Revenue Authority under Income-tax Act is a judgment within cl. 39, and an appeal lies to the Privy Council from the same. 64 I.C. 931= 9.3 Bom.L.R. 1102=1921 B. 128 (2). See also (1939) 2 M.L.J. 667 (F.B.)=1939 M. 903. A decision of the High Court on reference by case stated under sec. 51, Income-tax Act (now sec. 66) is not final but merely advisory, and as such is not open to an appeal. 47 B. 724=50 I.A. 212=45 M.L.J. 295= 1923 P.C. 148 (P.C.). But sec. 66-A provides for such appeal). Application under Sp. Rel. Act, sec. 45—Order refusing—Leave to appeal ought to be granted. 1921 B. 378 =64 I.C. 959=23 Bom.L.R. 1132. Order in civil extraordinary jurisdiction not appealable. 1923 B. 39. An order of the High Court rejecting the application of a legal representative to be brought on record not being final, but interlocutory, no appeal lies to the Privy Council. 38 B. 421=23 I.C. 373 =16 Bom.L.R. 195. No appeal lies to His Majesty in Council from he decision of a single Judge of the High Court in the exercise of appellate or revisional jurisdiction. To this extent, sec. 111, C. P. Code, overrides cl. 39 of the Letters Patent. (56 C. 512=46 M. 958, Foll.); 1931 B. 503=33 Bom.L.R. 1106.

CALCUTTA CASES.—By "final order" in cl. 39 is meant an order finally deciding any matter directly at issue in the case in res-from any final judgment, decree or order made in the exercise of original jurisdiction by Judges of the said High Court, or of any Division Court from which an appeal shall not lie to the said High Court under the provisions contained in the 15th clause of these presents: Provided, in either case, that the sum or matter at issue is of the amount or value of not less than Rs. 10,000 or that such judgment, decree or order shall involve, directly or indirectly, some claim, demand or question to or respecting property amounting to or of the value of not less than Rs. 10,000 or from any other final judgment, decree or order made either on appeal or otherwise as aforesaid, when the said High Court shall declare that the case is a fit one for appeal to Us, Our heirs or Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, subject always to such rules and orders as are now in force, or may from time to time be made, respecting appeals to Ourselves in Council from the Courts of the said Presidency, except so far as the said existing rules and orders respectively are hereby varied, and subject also to such further rules and orders as We may, with the advice of Our Privy Council, hereafter make in that behalf.

Appeal from interlocutory judgment.

40. And We do further ordain that it shall be lawful for the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], at its discretion, on the motion, or if the said High Court be not sitting, then for any Judge of the said High Court, upon the petition of any party who considers himself aggrieved by any preliminary or interlocutory judgment, decree, order or sentence of the said High Court in any such proceeding as aforesaid, not being of criminal jurisdiction to grant permission to such party to appeal against the same to Us, Our heirs and Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, subject to the same rules, regulations and limitation as are herein expressed respecting appeals from final judgments, decrees, orders and sentences.

Appeal in criminal cases, etc.

41. And We do further ordain that from any judgment, order or sentence, of the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], made in the exercise of original criminal jurisdiction, or in any criminal case where any point or points of law have been reserved for the opinion of the said High Court in manner hereinbefore provided, by any Court which has exercised original jurisdiction, it shall be lawful for the person aggrieved by such judgment, order or sentence to apepal to Us, Our heirs or Successors, in Council, provided the said High Court shall declare that the case is a fit one for such appeal, and under such conditions as the said High Court may establish or require subject always to such rules and orders as We may, with the advice of Our Privy Council, hereafter make in that behalf.

pect of the rights of the parties. See 9 I. C. 183=15 C.W.N. 848. The words "in any matter not being of criminal jurisdiction" govern all the classes of judgments or decree or orders which are hereinafter in that clause mentioned. Held, that no appeal lies to the Privy Council against a decision of the High Court sitting in criminal appeal and that the applition for leave was not maintainable. 58 C. 344=1931 C. 526.

CL. 41—CALCUTTA CASES.—The High Court is not empowered to grant leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council from its decision in a criminal appeal either under cl. 41 or any other provision of law. 38 C.L.J. 406=1924 C. 338. As to whether appeal lies to Privy Council from order on certificate by the Advocate-Generral, see 48 M.L.J. 543=52 I.A. 40=52 C. 197=29 C. W.N. 181=1 O.W.N. 935=1925 P.C. 1 (25 M. 61, Expl.). Criminal case—Leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council—Grounds for—Stay of execution of sentence. 28 C. W.N. 377=83 I.C. 580=1924 C. 545. Criminal proceedings however are, in practice, reviewed only if it is shown that by a disregard of the forms of legal process or by some violation of the principles of natural justice or otherwise, substantial and grave injustice has been done. 28 C.W.N. 377= 1924 Cal. 545. See also 52 I.A. 40=52 C. 197 (P.C.); I.L.R. (1939) 1 Cal. 187=43 C. W.N. 133=1939 Cal. 682 (Conditions for grant of certificate under cl. 41). There is no right of appeal to the Privy Council under cl. 41 of the Letters Patent, from an order of a single Judge passed in revisional

Rule as to transmission of copies of evidence and other documents.

42 And We do further ordain that, in all cases of appeal made from any judgment, order, sentence or decree of the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], to Us, Our heirs or Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, such High Court shall certify and transmit to Us, Our Heirs and Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, a true and correct copy of all evidence, proceedings, judgments, decrees and orders had or made in such cases appealed, so far as the same have relation to the matters of appeal, such copies to be certified under the seal of the said High Court. And that the said High Court shall also certify and transmit reasons given by the Judges of such Court, or by any of such Judges, for or against the judgment or determination appealed against. And We do further ordain that the said High Court shall, in all cases of appeal to Us, Our heirs or Successors, conform to and execute, or cause to be executed, such judgments and orders as We, Our heirs, or Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, shall think fit to make in the premises in such manner as any original judgment, decree or decretal orders, or other order or rule of the said High Court, should or might have been executed.

Calls for Records, etc., by the Government.

High Court to comply with requisition from Government for records, etc.

43 And it is Our further will and pleasure that the said High Court of Judicature at Madras, [Fort William in Bengal] [Bombay], shall comply with such requisitions as may be made by the Government for records, returns and statements, in such form and manner as such Government may deem proper Powers of the Indian Legislature preserved.

[1][44 And We do further ordain and declare that all the provisions of these Our Letters Patent are subject to the Legislative powers of the Governor-General in Legislative Council, and also of the Governor-General in Council under section 71 of the Government of India Act, 1915, and also of the Governor-General in cases of emergency under section 72 of the Act, and may be in all respects amended and altered thereby.]

Provisions of former Letters Patent, inconsistent with these Letters Patent, to be void.

45. And it is Our further will and pleasure that these Letters Patent shall be published by the Governor in Council, and shall come into operation from and after the date of such publication; and that from and after the date on which effect shall have been given to them, so much of the aforesaid Letters Patent granted by His Ma-criminal jurisdiction. 62 C. 389=39 C.W.N. 235=1935 C. 477.

MADRAS CASES: LEAVE TO APPEAL—QUESTION AS TO INADMISSIBILITY OF EVIDENCE.—The accused was convicted at the Criminal Sessions of the High Court of an offence under sec. 302, I. P. Code, and sentenced to death. He then applied to the Advocate General and obtained a certificate under cl. 26 of the Letters Patent on the ground that certain inadmissible evidence had been put to the jury at the trial. The majority of the Full Bench who heard the review application held that there was no decision on a point of law with reference to the question raised and dismissed the review application. At the same time the trial Judge acting under cl. 25 of the Letters Patent referred the question as to the admissibility of the evidence for further consideration by the High Court. The matter once again came up before a Full Bench and it was held that the evidence was admissible in law and that in any case there was ample evidence, quite apart from the evidence called in question, to support the conviction. The accused having applied for leave to appeal to the Privy Council. Held, that it was not a fit case for leave being granted as the Court had found that there was ample evidence to support the conviction apart from the evidence objected to. Jurisdiction of Privy Council in criminal cases pointed out. 68 M.L.J. (Supp) 93 (F.B); 1935 M. 793. Letters Patent constituting the High Court of Judicature at Lahore for the Provinces of Punjab and Delhi, dated 21st March, 1919.

GEORGE THE FIFTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India. To all to whom these Presents shall come, greeting: Whereas by an Act of Parliament passed in the Fifth and Sixth years of Our Reign and called the Government of India Act, 1915, it was amongst other things enacted that it should be lawful for Us by Letters Patent to establish a High Court of Judicature in any territory in British India whether or not included with the limits of the local jurisdiction of another High Court and to confer on any High Court so established any such jurisdiction, powers and authority as were vested in or might be conferred on any High Court existing at the commencement of that Act: and

WHEREAS the Provinces of the Punjab and Delhi are now subject to the jurisdiction of the Chief Court of the Punjab which was established by an Act of the Governor-General of India in Council, being Act No. XXIII of 1865, and was continued by later enactments and no part of the said Provinces is included within the limits of the local jurisdiction of any High Court.

Establishment of High Court at Lahore.

1. Now know ye that We, upon full consideration of the premises, and of Our special grace, certain knowledge, and mere motion, have thought fit to erect and establish, and by these presents We do accordingly, for us, Our Heirs and Successors, erect and establish, for the Provinces of the Punjab and Delhi aforesaid, with effect from the date of the publication of these presents in the Gazette of India, a High Court of Judicature, which shall be called the High Court of Judicature at Lahore, and We do hereby constitute the said Court to be a Court of Record.

Constitution and first Judges of the High Court.

2. And We do hereby appoint and ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall, until further or other provision be made by Us, or Our Heirs and Successors, in that behalf in accordance with section one hundred and one of the said recited Government of India Act, 1915, consist of a Chief Justice and six other Judges, the first Chief Justice being Sir Henry Adolphus Rattigan Knight, and the six other Judges being William Chevis, Esquire, Henry Scott Smith, Esquire, Shadi Lal, Esquire, Rai Bahadur Walter Aubin Le Rossignol, Esquire, Leycester Hudson Leslie Jones, Esquire, and Alan Brice Broadway, Esquire, being respectively qualified as in the said Act is declared.

Declaration to be made by Judges.

3. And We do hereby ordain that the Chief Justice and every other Judge of the High Court of Judicature at Lahore previously to entering in the execution of the duties of his office, shall make and subscribe the following declaration before such authority or person as the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab may commission to receive it:—

"I, A.B., appointed Chief Justice [or a Judge] of the High Court of Judicature at Lahore, do solemnly declare that I will faithfully perform the duties of my office to the best of my ability, knowledge and judgment."

Seal.

4. And We do hereby grant, ordain and appoint that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall have and use as occasion may require, a seal bearing a device and impression of Our Royal Arms, within an exergue or label surrounding the same, with this inscription, "The seal of the High Court at Lahore." And We do further grant, ordain and appoint that the said seal shall be delivered to and kept in the custody of the Chief Justice, and in case of vacancy of the office of Chief Justice, or during any absence of the Chief Justice, the same shall be delivered over and kept in the custody of the person appointed to act as Chief Justice under the provisions of section 105 of the Government of India Act, 1915; and We do further grant, ordain and appoint that, whensoever the office of Chief Justice or of the Judge to whom the custody of the said seal be committed is vacant, the said High Court shall be, and is hereby, authorized and empowered to demand, seize and take the said seal from any person or persons whomsoever, by what ways and means soever the same may have come to him, her or their possession.

5. And We do hereby further grant, ordain and appoint that all writs, summonses, precepts, rules, orders and other mandatory process to be used, issued or awarded by the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall run and be in the name and style of Us, or of Our Heirs and Successors, and shall be sealed with the seal of the said High Court.

Writs, etc., to issue in name of the Crown, and under seal.

6. And We do hereby authorize and empower the Chief Justice of the High Court of Judicature at Lahore from time to time, as occasion may require, and subject to any rules and restrictions which may be prescribed from time to time by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, to appoint so many and such clerks and other ministerial officers as may be found necessary for the administration of justice and the due execution of all the powers and authorities granted and committed to the said High Court by these Our Letters Patent. And it is Our further will and pleasure, and We do hereby, for Us, Our Heirs and Successors, give, grant, direct and appoint, that all and every the officers and clerks to be appointed as aforesaid shall have and receive respectively such reasonable salaries as the Chief Justice may, from time to time, appoint for each office and place respectively, and as the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council, may approve of: Provided always and it is Our will and pleasure, that all and every the officers and clerks to be appointed as aforesaid shall be resident within the limits of the jurisdiction of the said Court, so long as they hold their respective offices; but this proviso shall not interfere with or prejudice the right of any officer or clerk to avail himself of leave of absence under any rules prescribed from time to time by the Governor-General in Council, and to absent himself from the said limits during the term of such leave in accordance with the said rules.

Appointment of officers.

Admission of Advocates, Vakils and Attorneys.

7. And We do hereby authorize and empower the High Court of Judicature at Lahore to approve, admit and enrol such and so many Advocates, Vakils and Attorneys as to the said High Court may seem meet; and such Advocates, Vakils and Attorneys shall be and are hereby authorized to appear for the suitors of the said High Court and to plead or to act, or to plead and act, for the said suitors, according as the said High Court may by its rules and directions determine, and subject to such rules and directions.

Powers of High Court in admitting Advocates, Vakils and Attorneys.

8. And We do hereby ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall have power to make rules from time to time for the qualification and admission of proper persons to be Advocates, Vakils and Attorneys-at-Law of the said High Court, and shall be empowered to remove or to suspend from practice, on reasonable cause, the said Advocates, Vakils or Attorneys-at-Law; and no person whatsoever but such Advocates, Vakils or Attorneys shall be allowed to act or to plead for, or on behalf of, any suitor in the said High Court, except that any suitor shall be allowed to appear, plead or act on his own behalf, or on behalf of a co-suitor.

Power of High Court in making rules for the qualifications, etc., of Advocates, Vakils and Attorneys.

CL. 7.—Counsel in a Letters Patent appeal are not confined to the arguments addressed to the single Judge. 1926 L. 113=89 I.C. 958.

CL. 8.—Under cl. 8 only an advocate, vakil or attorney of a High Court can appear, act or plead for or an behalf of a suitor. An application therefore for leave to appeal in forma pauperis by a person who is not so qualified is not proper. 1937 L. 318=174 I.C. 239. Proceedings under—Nature of—Propriety of conviction cannot be gone into—Duties of legal practitioners. 4 L. 271=1924 L. 123 (S.B.). See also 1933 L. 577=143 I.C. 727=14 L. 532 (S.B.). There is a distinction between being a member of an unlawful association and assisting the operations of an unlawful association. The former interferes with the maintenance of law and order or is a danger to public

Civil Jurisdiction of the High Court.

9 And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall have power to remove and to try and determine as a Court of extraordinary original jurisdiction, any suit being or falling within the jurisdiction of any Court subject to its superintendence, when the said High Court may think proper to do so, either on the agreement of the parties to that effect, or for purposes of justice, the reasons for so doing being recorded on the proceedings of the said High Court peace and it may well be considered to render a man an improper person to be a practitioner in a Court of justice, but it by no means follows that a man who has committed an isolated act which assists the operations of an unlawful association is necessarily such an improper person. Much would depend upon the nature of the act done and the particular operation assisted. Where, apart from the conviction of the legal practitioner under sec. 17 (1) of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, for having assisted in the celebration of the Independenee Day, there was nothing on the record to show what exactly he did on the occasion. Held, that there was no reasonable cause within the meaning of cl. 8 to take disciplinary action: held also, that the speech made by the practitioner at a meeting organised by an unlawful association protesting against the arrest of a political leader did not warrant disciplinary action. 14 L. 532=1933 L. 577 (S.B.). An advocate received money from a client for filing an appeal. He did not file the appeal as he found out later that the appeal was barred by time. The explanation given by the advocate as to the application of the money was not quite satisfactory nor did the client give out the correct and true information to the Court, and the client's conduct also was not consistent with what normally would have happened under the circumstances of the case. Held, that having admitted the receipt of money, though it was for the advocate to account for its application, there was no reasonable cause established to enable the Court to remove or suspend the advocate from practice, that the Court cannot be uninfluenced by the conduct of the client in withholding the correct information and that the advocate should return the money received. 1933 L. 575=34 Cr.L.J. 954 (S.B). A, an advocate, allowed his clerk to enter into agreements with his clients to finance the litigation about property which they launched against others: the clerk was to be compensated for his labour and expenses by being given a share in the property in dispute if the cases be ultimately decided in favour of his clients; and in pursuance of this A appeared for those clients without receiving any fees in advance. It was proved that the advocate's clerk consulted him and showed him the papers before he entered into agreements with his clients and that he gave him advice regarding the prospect of the litigation. Held, that a counsel is expected to be free from any personal as distinguished from professional interest in litigation and the conduct of the Advocate in allowing his clerk to enter into such a transaction called for severe censure, but his conduct in advising him in the matter and then appearing for the litigants without receiving the usual fees in advance amounted to processional misconduct. 1932 L. 584.

CL. 9.—The word 'suit' in cl. 9 of the Letters Patent includes a proceeding in the Insolvency Court, and the High Court under its extraordinary powers has jurisdiction to transfer a proceeding in insolvency from the District Court to itself for disposal. 17 L. 582=160 I.C. 972=1936 L. 608.

CL. 10.—Under cl. 10 the authority to make the declaration that the case is a fit one for appeal is conferred only on the Judge who passed the judgment and on none other. No other Judge or Judges of the High Court have any jurisdiction to grant a certificate. 1935 L. 330 (1)=16 L. 602.

JUDGMENT.—In order to decide whether an adjudication should be treated as a "judgment", regard should be had, not to the form of the adjudication, but to its effect upon the suit or other civil proceeding in which it was made. 3 L. 188=1922 L. 380 (2). See also 1922 L. 185=77 I.C. 32. Judgment also includes an interlocutory judgment. 1 L. 348=55 I.C. 933=79 P.L.R. 1920. Order refusing transfer of case is not a judgment. 8 L. 681=1927 L. 540. Judgment—If synonymous with decree—Order staying further proceedings. See 10 L. 132=1928 L. 904. An order of the High Court transmitting the order of His Majesty in Council for execution is a judgment and is appealable. 11 L. 365=123 I.C. 277=1930 L. 674. An order of a single Judge of the High Court directing a decree of a Subordinate Judge to be registered under sec. 100 (2) of the Punjab Tenancy Act as a decree of a Revenue Court, by which the suit was triable, is not a judgment within the meaning of cl. 10 of the Letters Patent and is not, therefore, appealable. 17 L. 606=38 P.L.R. 611 =1936 L. 785. "Final order", meaning of. 5 L.L.J. 287=1923 L. 428. An order of a Judge in Single Bench on appeal holding that the trial Court had jurisdiction to try a suit and directing it to proceed with the suit, is a judgment within the meaning of cl. 10 and therefore appealable. 1942 L. 95= 44 P.L.R. 140 (F.B.)=I.L.R. (1942) Lah. 491.

CASES WHERE APPEAL LIES.—Where a Judge of the High Court refuses to set aside

[1][10. And We do further ordain that an appeal shall lie to the said High Court of Judicature at Lahore from the judgment (not being a judgment passed in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction in respect of a decree or order made in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction by a Court subject to the superintendence of the said High Court, and not being an order made in the exercise of revisional jurisdiction, and not being a sentence or order passed or made in the exercise of the power of superintendence under the provisions of S. 107 of the Government of India Act, or in the exercise of criminal jurisdiction) of one Judge of the said High Court or one Judge of any Division Court, pursuant to S. 108 of the Government of India Act, and that notwithstanding anything hereinbefore provided an appeal shall lie to the said High Court from a judgment of one Judge of the said Court or one Judge of any Division Court, pursuant to S. 108 of the Government of India Act, made in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction in respect of a decree or order made in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction by a Court subject to the superintendence of the High Court, where the Judge who passed the judgment declares that the case is a fit one for appeal: but that the right of appeal from other judgments of Judges of the said High Court or of such Division Court shall be to Us, Our Heirs or Successors in Our or Their Privy Council, as hereinafter provided]

Appeal to the High Court from Judges of the Court.

11. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore a dismissal of an appeal for default, his order of refusal is a judgment and is appealable. 1924 L. 412=71 I.C. 824. An order rejecting an application to re-admit an appeal dismissed for default amounts to a judgment and is appealable. 89 I.C. 795=1925 L. 617. A new point cannot be raised in an appeal under the Letters Patent. 1933 L. 685=34 P.L.R. 853. As to appeal from the decision of a single Judge who hears a reference under sec. 66, Income-tax Act, see 6 L. 30=1925 L. 336 (1). No appeal lies against an order passed in revision. 6 L. 250=1925 L. 624. As to appeal from an order of remand, see 1926 A. 669=48 A. 684. A Judge of the High Court disposing of a petition under sec. 491, Cr. P. Code, exercises criminal jurisdiction, and as such no appeal is competent under cl. 10 of the Letters Patent from his order rejecting the petition. I.L.R. (1945) Lah. 573.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—An appellant in Letters Patent appeal cannot put forward a new case not suggested in the Courts below and claim relief on that footing. 4 L.L.J. 293=1921 L. 326. See also 80 I.C. 321=1924 L. 468; 1923 L. 151=79 I.C. 281; 2 L.L.J. 1=55 I.C. 983. The point not raised before the Division Bench who heard the appeal cannot be taken in an appeal under Letters Patent. 30 Punj.L.R. 433=1929 L. 536; 31 Punj.L.R. 281=1930 L. 632. But see 1940 Lah. 204. Where a point is not taken before a single Judge of the High Court the Court will not allow it to be raised on Letters Patent appeal, nor will it remit the case on the point. 1925 L. 281(1)=89 I.C. 958. On interference with a finding of fact of the lower appellate Court by a single Judge of the High Court, it is open to a Division Bench in an appeal under cl. 10 to set aside his decision and restore that of the lower appellate Court. 5 L.L.J. 109. See also 89 I.C. 298 (1)=1925 L. 392 (1). Held, that in an appeal under cl. 10 of the Letters Patent, the High Court can set aside the judgment of a single Judge who has interfered with an erroneous finding of fact in second appeal. 31 Punj.L.R. 381=1931 L. 144. Application for leave under cl. 10—Conversion into petition for review on refusal of leave—Permisssibility. See 1935 L. 330 (1)=16 L. 602. Mistake in trial Court's decree apparent on record can be corrected in Letters Patent Appeal. 42 P. L.R. 7=1940 Lah. 204.

LIMITATION.—In appeals under cl 10 the provisions of the Limitation Act, sec. 4, do not apply. 2 L. 127=61 I.C. 327=1921 L. 26. New plea as to limitation not allowed in Letters Patent appeal. 80 I.C. 321=1924 L. 468.

CLS. 10 AND 26.—Under cl. 10 the declaration that the case is a fit one for further appeal to the Privy Council can only be made by the Judge who passed the judgment and cl. 26 does not confer such power on any other Judge. 34 P.L.R. 469=1933 L. 534 (1). Where a guardian for a minor is appointed by a single Judge in the exercise of his discretion, though an appeal is competent from his order, the fact that the making of the order is a matter of discretion is a good ground for refusing to exercise the appellate jurisdiction, unless the appellant succeeds in establishing a strong case, such as would justify interference in appeal. (71 I.C. 824 and 21 M.L.J. 1, Rel. on.3. 144 I.C. 672=1933 L. 881=14 L. 804.

Appeal from other Civil Courts in the Provinces of the Punjab and Delhi.

shall be a Court of Appeal from the Civil Courts of the Provinces of the Punjab and Delhi and from all other Courts subject to its superintendence, and shall exercise appellate jurisdiction in such cases as were, immediately before the date of the publication of these presents, subject to appeal to the Chief Court of the Punjab by virtue of any law then in force, or as may after the date be declared subject to appeal to the High Court of Judicature at Lahore by any law made by competent legislatipe authority for India.

Jurisdiction as to infants and lunatics.

12. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall have the like power and authority with respect to the persons and estates of infants, idiots and lunatics within the Provinces of the Punjab and Delhi as that which was vested in the Chief Court of the Punjab immediately before the publication of these presents.

Law to be administered by the High Court.

By the High Court in the exercise of extraordinary original civil jurisdiction.

13 And We do further ordain that, with respect to the law or equity to be applied to each case coming before the High Court of Judicature at Lahore in the exercise of its extraordinary original civil jurisdiction, such law or equity shall, until otherwise provided, be the law or equity which would have been applied to such case by any local Court having jurisdiction therein.

By the High Court in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction.

14. And We do further ordain that, with respect to the law or equity and rule of good conscience to be applied by the High Court of Judicature at Lahore to each case coming before it in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction, such law or equity and rule of good conscience shall be the law or equity and rule of good conscience which the Court in which the proceedings in such case were originally instituted ought to have applied to such case.

Criminal Jurisdiction.

Ordinary original criminal jurisdiction of the High Court.

15. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall have ordinary original criminal jurisdiction in respect of all such persons within the Provinces of the Punjab and Delhi as the Chief Court of the Punjab had such criminal jurisdiction over immediately before the publication of these presents.

Jurisdiction as to persons.

16. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore, in the exercise of its ordinary original criminal jurisdiction, shall be empowered to try all persons brought before it in due course of law.

Extraordinary original criminal jurisdiction.

17. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall have extraordinary original criminal jurisdiction over all persons residing in places within the jurisdiction of any Court subject to its superintendence, and shall have authority to try at its discretion any such persons brought before it on charges preferred by any Magistrate or other officer specially empowered by the Government in that behalf.

No appeal from High Court exercising original jurisdiction.

18. And We do further ordain that there shall be no appeal to the High Court of Judicature at Lahore from any sentence or order passed or made by the Courts of original criminal jurisdiction which may be constituted by one or more Judges of the said High Court. But it shall be at the discretion of any such Court to reserve any point or points of law for the opinion of the said High Court.

Court may reserve points of law.

19. And We do further ordain that, on such point or points of law being so reserved as aforesaid, the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall have full power and authority to review the case, or such part of it as may be necessary, and finally determine such point or points of law, and thereupon to alter the sentence passed by the Court of original jurisdiction, and pass such judgment and sentence as to the said High Court may seem right.

High Court to review cases on points of law reserved by one or more Judges of the High Court.

20. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall be a Court of Appeal from the Criminal Courts of the Provinces of the Punjab and Delhi and from all other Courts subject to its superintendence, and shall exercise appellate jurisdiction in such cases as were, immediately before the date of the publication of these presents, subject to appeal to the Chief Court of the Punjab by virtue of any law then in force, or as may after that date be declared subject to appeal to the High Court of Judicature at Lahore by any law made by competent legislative authority for India.

Appeals from other Criminal Courts in the Provinces of the Punjab and Delhi.

21. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall be a Court of reference and revision from the Criminal Courts subject to its appellate jurisdiction, and shall have power to hear and determine all such cases referred to it by the Sessions Judges, or by any other officers in the Provinces of the Punjab and Delhi, who were, immediately before the publication of these presents, authorized to refer cases to the Chief Court of the Punjab, and to revise all such cases tried by any officer or Court possessing criminal jurisdiction in the Provinces of the Punjab and Delhi, as were, immediately before the publication of these presents, subject to reference to or revision by the Chief Court of the Punjab.

Hearing of referred cases and revision of criminal trials.

22. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall have power to direct the transfer of any criminal case or appeal from any Court to any other Court of equal or superior jurisdiction, and also to direct the preliminary investigation or trial of any criminal case by any officer or Court otherwise competent to investigate or try it, though such case belongs in ordinary course to the jurisdictios of some other officer or Court.

High Court may direct the transfer of a case from one Court to another.

Criminal Law.

23. And We do further ordain that all persons brought for trial before the High Court of Judicature at Lahore, either in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, or in the exercise of its jurisdiction as a Court of appeal, reference or revision, charged with any offence for which provision is made by Act No. XLV of 1860, called the "Indian Penal Code," or by any Act amending or excluding the said Act which may have been passed prior to the publication of these presents, shall be liable to punishment under the said Act or Acts, and not otherwise.

Offenders to be punished under Indian Penal Code.

CL. 15.—According to the Letters Patent, the original criminal jurisdiction of the Lahore High Court is co-extensive with that of the Chief Court of the Punjab, which had no original criminal jurisdiction to try any person except European British subjects. 115 I.C. 428=1929 L. 217.

Testamentary and Intestate Jurisdiction.

Testamentary and intestate jurisdiction

24. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall have the like power and authority as that which was immediately before the publication of these presents lawfully exercised within the provinces of the Punjab and Delhi by the Chief Court of the Punjab in relation to the granting of probates of last wills and testaments, and letters of administration of the goods, chattels, credits and all other effects whatsoever, of persons dying intestate: Provided always that nothing in these Letters Patent contained shall interfere with the provisions of any law which has been made by competent legislative authority for India, by which power is given to any other Court to grant such probates and letters of administration.

Matrimonial Jurisdiction.

Matrimonial jurisdiction.

25. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall have jurisdiction, within the Provinces of the Punjab and Delhi, in matters matrimonial between Our subjects professing the Christian Religion: Provided always that nothing herein contained shall be held to interfere with the exercise of any jurisdiction in matters matrimonial by any Court, not established by Letters Patent within the said Provinces, which is lawfully possessed of that jurisdiction.

Powers of Single Judges and Division Courts

Single Judges and Division Courts.

26. And We do hereby declare that any function which is hereby directed to be performed by the High Court of Judicature at Lahore, in the exercise of its original or appellate jurisdiction may be performed by any Judge, or by any Division Court thereof, appointed or constituted for such purpose in pursuance of S. 108 of the Government of India Act, 1915; and if such Division Court is composed of two or more Judges and the Judges are divided in opinion as to the decision to be given on any point, such point shall be decided according to the opinion of the majority of the Judges if there by a majority, but if the Judges be equally divided, [they shall state the point upon which they differ and the case shall then be heard upon that point by one or more of the other Judges and the point shall be decided according to the opinion of the majority of the Judges who have haerd the case including those who first heard it.][1]

LEG. REF.

1 Substituted by Amended Letters Patent, 1927.

CL. 26.—Under the old clause the opinion of the senior judge prevailed in case of difference of opinion among the judges, under certain circumstances. Under the amended section, there is no provision for the opinion of the senior judge prevailing in the case. See 32 C.W.N. (Journal), p. 46.

Cl. 26 of the Letters Patent (Lahore), and not sec. 98 of the C P. Code, applies in case of a difference of opinion between the judges of a Division Bench even in the case of an appeal from the moffusil (52 M. 563, Foll.). 142 I.C. 427=1933 L. 648 (1)=34 P.L.R. 584. When a point is referred to a third Judge under Cl. 26 on a difference of opinion between the two Judges hearing the appeal, the jurisdiction for the decision not only of the appeal as a whole but also of the point of difference, remains with the referring Bench. All that Cl. 26 lays down is a method by which in the case of a difference of opinion, the difficulty is to be resolved. Therefore, it would be the duty of the referee Judge to express an opinion on the point of points of difference and to return the case with his opinion to the Division Bench seized of the case which must pronounce the final judgment, according to the method provided by Cl. 26. If in the interval a change has occurred in the constitution of the Division Bench, in question, it would be necessary for the Chief Justice to constitute another Division Bench as the successor of the referring Bench. It is therefore the duty of the third or referee Judge to return his finding on the point of difference to the referring Bench for it to pronounce the decision of the appeal. The decree in such a case is that of the original Bench and not of any other Bench. I.L.R. (1945) Lah. 530=45 P.L.R 166=A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 84 (F.B.).

Civil Procedure.

Regulation of proceedings.

27. And We do further ordain that it shall be lawful for the High Court of Judicature at Lahore from time to time to make rules and orders for regulating the practice of the Court and for the purpose of adapting, as far as possible, the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, being an Act No. V of 1908 passed by the Governor-General in Council and the provisions of any law which has been or may be made, amending or altering the same, by competent legislative authority for India, to all proceedings in its testamentary, intestate and matrimonial jurisdiction, respectively.

Criminal Procedure.

Regulation of proceedings.

28. And We do further ordain that the proceedings in all criminal cases brought before the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall be regulated by the Code of Criminal Procedure, being an Act No. V of 1898, passed by the Governor-General in Council, or by such further or other laws in relation to criminal procedure as may have been or may be made by competent legislative authority for India.

Appeals to Privy Council.

Power to appeal in civil cases.

29. And We do further ordain that any person or persons may appeal to Us, Our heirs and Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, in any matter not being of criminal jurisdiction, from any final judgment, decree or order of the High Court of Judicature at Lahore made on appeal, and from any final judgment, decree or order made in the exercise of original jurisdiction by Judges of the said High Court, or of any Division Court, from which an appeal does not lie to the said High Court under the provisions contained in the 10th clause of the presents: Prvoided, in either case, that the sum or matter at issue is of the amount or value of not less than 10,000 rupees or that such judgment, decree or order involves, directly, or indirectly, some claim, demand or question to or respecting property amounting to or of the value of not less than 10,000 rupees; or from any other final judgment, decree or order made either on appeal or otherwise as aforesaid, when the said High Court declares that the case is a fit one for appeal to Us, Our heirs or Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council; but subject always to such rules and orders as are now in force, or may from time to time be made respecting appeals to Ourselves in Council from the Courts of the Provinces of the Punjab and Delhi, except so far as the said existing rules and orders respectively are hereby varied; and subject also to such further rules and orders as We may, with the advice of Our Privy Council, hereafter make in that behalf.

Appeal from interlocutory judgments.

30. And We do further ordain that it shall be lawful for the High Court of Judicature at Lahore at its discretion, on the motion, or, if the said High Court be not sitting, then for any Judges of the said High Court, upon the petition of any party who considers himself aggrieved by any preliminary or interlocutory judgment, decree or order of the said High Court, in any such proceedings as aforesaid, not being of criminal jurisdiction, to grant permission to such party to appeal against the same to Us, Our heirs and Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, subject to the same rules, regulations and limitations as are herein expressed respecting appeals from final judgments, decrees and orders.

Appeal in criminal cases.

31. And We do further ordain that from any judgment, order or sentence of the High Court of Judicature at Lahore, made in the exercise of original criminal jurisdiction or in any criminal case where any point or points of law have been reserved for the opinion of the said High Court, in manner provided by the 18th clause of these presents, by any Court which has exercised original jurisdiction, it shall be lawful for the person aggrieved by such judgment, order or sentence to appeal to Us, Our heirs or Successors in Council, provided the said High Court declare that the case is a fit one for such appeal, and that the appeal be made under such conditions as the said High Court may establish or require, but subject always to such rules and orders, as are now in force, or may from time to time be made respecting appeals to Ourselves in Council from the Courts of the Provinces of the Punjab and Delhi.

Rules as to transmission of copies of evidence and other documents.

32. And We do further ordain that, in all cases of appeal made from any judgment, decree, order or sentence of the High Court of Judicature at Lahore to Us, Our heirs or Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, such High Court shall certify and transmit to Us, Our heirs and Successors in Our or Their Privy Council, a true and correct copy of all evidence, proceedings, judgments, decrees and orders had or made in such cases appealed, so far as the same have relation to the matters of appeal, such copies to be certified under the seal of the said High Cuort. And that the said High Court shall also certify and transmit to Us, Our heirs and Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, a copy of the reasons given by the Judges of such Court, or by any of such Judges, for or against the judgment or determination appealed against. And We do further ordain that the said High Court shall, in all cases of appeal to Us, Our heirs or Successors, conform to and execute, or cause to be exercised, such judgments and orders as We, Our heirs or Successors in Our or Their Privy Council, may think fit to make in the premises in such manner as any original judgment, decree or decretal orders, or other order or rule of the said High Court, should or might have been executed.

Special Commissions and circuits.

33. And We do further ordain that whenever it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council, convenient that the jurisdiction and power by these Our Letters Patent, or by or under the Government of India Act, 1915, vested in the High Court of Judicature at Lahore, should be exercised in any place within the jurisdiction of any Court subject to the superintendence of the said High Court, other than the usual place of sitting of the said High Court, or at several such places by way of circuit, one or more Judges of the Court shall visit such place or places accordingly.

Proceedings of Judges on special commissions or circuit.

34. And We do further ordain that whenever any Judge or Judges of the High Court of Judicature at Lahore visit any place under the 33rd clause of these presents, the proceedings in cases before him or them at such place shall be regulated by any law relating thereto which has been or may be made by competent legislative authority for India.

Delegation of Duties to Officers.

Power to delegate duties.

35. The High Court of Judicature at Lahore may from time to time make rules for delegating to any Registrar, Prothonotary or Master or other official of the Court any judicial, quasi-judicial and non-judicial duties.

Calls for records, etc., by the Government.

High Court to comply with requisitions from Government for records, etc.

36. And it is Our further will and pleasure that the High Court of Judicature at Lahore shall comply with such requisitions as may be made by the Governor-General in Council or by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab for records, returns and statements, in such form and manner as he may deem proper.

Powers of ndian Legislatures.

Powers of Indian Legislatures preserved.

37. And We do further ordain and declare that all the provisions of these Our Letters Patent are subject to the legislative powers of the Governor-General in Legislative Council, and also of the Governor-General in Council under section seventy-one of the Government of India Act, 1915; and also of the Governor-General in cases of emergency under section seventy-two of that Act, and may be in all respects amended and altered thereby.

IN WITNESS whereof We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent.

WITNESS Ourself at Westminster the 21st day of March in the Year of Our Lord One thousand nine hundred and nineteen and in the ninth year of Our Reign.

BY WARRANT under the King's Sign Manual.

Letters Patent constituting the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur in the Central Provinces.

[2nd January, 1936.

George the Fifth, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, Ireland and the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To all to whom these Presents shall come, greeting:

Whereas in the Government of India Act, it was amongst other things enacted that it should be lawful for us by Letters Patent to establish a High Court of Judicature in any territory in British India whether or not included within the limits of the local jurisdiction of another High Court and to confer on any High Court so established any such jurisdiction, powers and authority as were vested in or might be conferred on any High Court existing at the commencement of that Act:

And whereas the Province known as the Central Provinces is now subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces which was established by an Act of the Governor-General of India in Council, being Act No. XIV of 1865, and was continued by later enactments and no part of the said province is included within the limits of the local jurisdiction of any High Courts:

Establishment of a High Court at Nagpur.

1. Now know ye that We, upon full consideration of the premises, and of Our special grace, certain knowledge, and mere motion, have thought fit to erect and establish, and by these presents We do accordingly for Us, Our heirs and successors, erect and establish, for the Central Provinces aforesaid, with effect from the date of the publication of these presents in the Gazette of India, a High Court of Judicature, which shall be called the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur, and We do hereby constitute the said Court to be a Court of Record.

Constitution and the first Judges of the High Court.

2. And We do hereby appoint and ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall, until further or other provision be made by Us, or Our heirs and successors, in that behalf in accordance with Section One hundred and one of the Government of India Act, ordinarily consist of a Chief Justice and not less than five other Judges, the first Chief Justice being Gilbert Stone, Esquire, and the other Judges being Frederick Louis Grille, Esquire, M. Bhawani Shankar Nyogi, Esquire, Ronald Evelyn Pollock, Esquire, Harold George Gruer, Esquire, and Vivian Bose, Esquire, being respectively qualified as in the said Act is declared.

Declaration to be made by the Judges.

3. And We do hereby ordain that the Chief Justice and every other Judge of the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur, previously to entering upon the execution of the duties of his office, shall make and subscribe the following declaration before such authority or person as the Governor of the Central Provinces may commission to receive it:—

"I, A, B, appointed Chief Justice (or a Judge) of the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur, do solemnly declare that I will faithfully perform the duties of my office to the best of my ability, knowledge and judgment."

Seal.

4. And We do hereby grant, ordain and appoint that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall have and use as occasion may require, a Seal bearing a devise and impression of Our Royal Arms, within an exergue or label surrounding the same, with this inscription, "The Seal of the High Court at Nagpur." And We do further grant, ordain and appoint that the said seal shall be delivered to and kept in the custody of the Chief Justice, and in case of vacancy of the office of Chief Justice, or during any absenec of the Chief Justice, the same shall be delivered over and kept in the custody of the person appointed to act as Chief Justice under the provisions of Section One hundred and five of the Government of India Act; and We do further grant, ordain and appoint that, whensoever the office of Chief Justice or of the Judge to whom the custody of the said Seal be committed is vacant, the said High Court shall be, and is hereby, authorised and empowered to demand, seize and take the said Seal from any person or persons whomsoever, by what ways and means soever the same may have come to his, or their possession.

Writs, etc., to issue in name of the Crown, and under seal.

5. And We do hereby further grant, ordain and appoint that all writs, summonses, precepts, rules, orders and other mandatory process to be used, issued or awarded by the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall run and be in the name and style of Us, or of Our heirs and successors, and shall be sealed with the Seal of the said High Court.

Appointment of officers.

6. And We do hereby authorize and empower the Chief Justice of the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur from time to time, as occasion may require, and subject to any rules and restrictions which may be prescribed from time to time by the Governor of the Central Provinces in Council, to appoint so may and such clerks and other ministerial officers as may be found necessary for the administratoin of justice and the due execution of all the powers and authorities granted and committed to the said High Court by these Our Letters Patent. And it is Our further will and pleasure, and We do hereby, for Us, Our heirs and successors, give, grant, direct and appoint, that all and every the officers and clerks to be appointed as aforesaid shall have and receive respectively such reasonable salaries as the Chief Justice may, from time to time,appoint for each office and place respectively, and as the Governor of the Central Provinces in Council may approve:

Provided always and it is Our will and pleasure, that all and every the officers and clerks to be appointed as aforesaid shall be resident within the limits of the jurisdiction of the said Court, so long as they hold their respective offices; but this proviso shall not interfere with or prejudice the right of any officer or clerk to avail himself of leave of absence under any rules prescribed from time to time by the Governor in Council, and to absent himself from the said limits during the term of such leave in accordance with the said rules.

Admission of Advocates, Pleaders and Attorneys.

Powers of High Court in admitting Advocates, Pleaders and Attorneys.

7. And We do hereby authorize and empower the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur to approve, admit and enrol such and so many Advocates, Pleaders and Attorneys as to the said High Court may seem meet; and such Advocates, Pleaders and Attorneys shall be and are hereby authorized to appear for the suitors of the said High Court, and to plead or to act, or to plead and act, for the said suitors, according as the said High Court may by its rules and directions determine, and subject to such rules and directions.

Powers of High Court in making rules for the qualifications, etc., of Advocates, Pleaders and Attorneys.

8. And We do hereby ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall have power to make rules from time to time for the qualification and admission of proper persons to be Advocates, Pleaders and Attorneys of the said High Court, and shall be empowered to remove, or to suspend from practice, on reasonable cause, the said Advocates, Pleaders or Attorneys; and no person whatsoever but such Advocates, Pleaders or Attorneys shall be allowed to act or to plead for, or on behalf of, any suitor in the said High Court, except that any suitor shall be allowed to appear, plead or act on his own behalf, or on behalf of a co-suitor.

Civil Jurisdiction of the High Court.

Extraordinary original civil jurisdiction.

9. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall have power to remove and to try and determine, as a Court of Extraordinary Original Jurisdiction, any suit being or falling within the jurisdiction of any Court, subject to its superintendence, when the said High Court may think proper to do so, either on the agreement of the parties to that effect, or for purpose of justice, the reasons for so doing being recorded on the proceedings of the said High Court.

Appeal to the High Court from Judges of the Court.

10. And We do further ordain that an appeal shall lie to the said High Court of Judicature at Nagpur from the judgment (not being a judgment passed in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction in respect of a decre or order made in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction by a Court subject to the superintendence of the said High Court, and not being an order made in the exercise of revisional jurisdiction, and not being a sentence or order passed or made in the exercise of the powers of superintendence under the provisions of Section One hundred and seven of the Government of India Act or in the exercise of criminal jurisdiction) of one Judge of the said High Court or one (1945) Nag. 286=1945 N.L.J. 128=A.I.R.

SL. 10.—The word "judgment" in cl. 10 means in civil cases a decree. Therefore, an order by a single Judge of the High Court allowing certain persons to be brought on the record as the legal representatives of a deceased respondent is not appealable. I.L.R. 1945 Nag. 156. Cl. 10 deals with appeals against judgments of one Judge of High Court or of one Judge of any Division Court and it has no application to judgments delivered previous to the constitution of the present High Court. I.L.R. 1936 Nag. 58=1936 Nag. 118. Though it is impossible to lay down any hard and fast rule as to the granting of leave to appeal under the Letters Patent, leave should not be granted where the matter in dispute is triffling, however interesting it may be. 1942 N.L.J. 506=1943 Nag. 23=I.L.R. (1943) Nag. 67. The condition of certificate that a case is a fit one for appeal under Cl. 10 applies only to those decrees or orders which are passed by a single Judge in the exercise of his second appellate jurisdiction and to no other cases. I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 141=1940 N.L.J. 37=1940 Nag. 39 (F.B.). An order reiecting an application for review is not a judgment within the meaning of the Letters Paten and a Letters Patent appeal does not lie. 1941 N.L.J. 617. 1942 Nag. 18=I.L.R. (1942) Nag. 41. Decision of Judge of H. C. in appeal against award under Workman's Compensation Act is not a Judgment" under Cl. 10. But Judge may refer any matter of importance to a Bench. I. L.R. (1939) Nag. 124=1939 N.L.R. 63=1939 Nag. 122.

In a Letters Patent appeal, the appellant is not entitled to urge grounds that are concluded by the decision in second appeal except the one to which leave was confined. I.L.R. (1944) Nag. 743=1944 N.L.. 337=A.I.R. 1944 Nag. 370. It is as competent for a judge to declare on what point of law he allows permission to appeal under Cl. 10 of the Letters Patent as it is for him to refer a case for opinion to a Divisional Bench. A prohibition against the judge who grants leave to appeal on deciding in what respect he does grant leave cannot be read into Cl. 10. I.L.R. (1943) Nag. 540=1943 N.L.J. 79 =A.I.R. 1943 Nag. 175. An order under O. 41 R. 5, C. P. Code, is not a decree and is therefore, not a judgment within the meaning of Cl. 10 of the Letters Patent. It is therefore not appealable. I.L.R. (1943) Nag. 453=1943 N.L.J. 389=A.I.R. 1943 Nag. 282. An order passed by a single judge of the High Court on a reference made under stc. 83 (2) of the C. P. Municipalities Act is merely advisory and no appeal lies from it under Cl. 10 of the Letters Patent. I.L.R. (1944) Nag. 827=1944 N.L.J. 499.

LIMITATION.—Appeals under Letters Patent may be held to be out of time if not filed within 30 days. I.L R. (1939) Nag. 124 =1939 N.L.J. 63=1939 Nag. 122. See same case as to whether intervening holidays should be excluded in computing the period of 30 days). Where according to the rules of the Court provision is made for filing of Letters Patent appeals alone during the long vacation, it cannot be said that the Court is closed so far as that business is concerned. So limitation for such an appeal is not affected by sec. 4, Limitation Act. I.L R. (1941) Nag. 563=1941 N.L.J. 284=1941 Nag. 216. Rule 13 of Chapter 4 of the Nagpur High Court Rules does not expressly exclude the operation of sec. 12 of the Limitation Act. The time taken for obtaining a copy of the judgment must, therefore, be excluded in calculating the period of limitation for an appeal under sec. 10 of the Letfers Patent. I.L. R. (1944) Nag. 714=1944 N.L.J. 455=1945 Nag. 52.

CLS. 10 AND 27 AND RULES FRAMED BY HIGH COURT, R. 10.—Refusal of leave—No second application lies. See I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 34 =1939 N.L.J. 535=1940 Nag. 47.

Judge of any Division Court, pursuant to Section One hundred and eight of the Government of India Act, and that notwithstanding anything hereinbefore provided, an appeal shall lie to the said High Court from a judgment of one Judge of the said High Court or one Judge of any Division Court, pursuant to Section One hundred and eight of the Government of India Act, made in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction in respect of a decree or order made in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction by a Court subject to the superintendence of the said High Court, where the Judge who passed the judgment declares that the case is a fit one for appeal, but that the right of appeal from other judgments of Judges of the said High Court or of such Division Court shall be to Us, our Heirs and Successors in Our or Their Privy Council as hereinafter provided.

Appeal from other Civil Courts in the Central Provinces.

11. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall be a Court of Appeal from the Civil Courts of the Central Provinces and from all other Courts subject to its superintendence, and shall exercise appellate jurisdiction in such cases as were, immediately before the date of the publication of these presents subject to appeal to the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces by virtue of any law then in force, or as may after that date be declared subject to appeal to the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur by any law made by competent legislative authority for India.

Jurisdiction as to infants and lunatics.

12. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall have the like powers and authority with respect to the persons and estates of infants, idiots and lunatics within the Central Provinecs as that which was vested in the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces immediately before the publication of these presents.

Law to be administered by the High Court.

By the High Court in the exercise of extraordinary original civil jurisdiction.

13. And We do further ordain that, with respect to the law or equity and rule of good conscience to be applied to each case coming before the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur in the exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction, such law or equity and rule of good conscience shall, until otherwise provided, be the law or equity and rule of good conscience which would have been applied to such case by any local Court having jurisdiction therein.

By the High Court in the exercise of appelllate jurisdiction.

14. And We do further ordain that, with respect to the law or equity and rule of good conscience to be applied by the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur to each case coming before it in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction, such law or equity and rule of good conscience shall be the law or equity and rule of good conscience which the Court in which the proceedings in such case were originally instituted ought to have been applied to such case.

Criminal Jurisdiction of the High Court.

Ordinary original criminal jurisdiction of the High Court.

15. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall have ordinary original criminal jurisdiction in respect of all such persons within the Central Provinces as the Court of Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces had such criminal jurisdiction over immediately before the publication of these presents.

Jurisdiction as to persons.

16. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur in the exercise of its ordinary original criminal jurisdiction, shal be empowered to try all persons brought before it in due course of law.

Extraordinary original criminal jurisdiction.

17. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall have extraordinary original criminal jurisdiction over all persons residing in places within the jurisdiction of any Court subject to its superintendence, and shall have authority to try at its discretion any such persons brought before it on charges preferred by any magistrate or other officer specially empowered by the Government in that behalf.

No appeal from High Court exercising original jurisdiction, Court may reserve points of law.

18. And We do further ordain that there shall be no appeal to the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur from any sentence or order passed or made by the Courts of original criminal jurisdiction which may be constituted by one or more Judges of the said High Court. But it shall be at the discretion of any such Court to reserve any point or points of law for the opinion of the said High Court.

High Court to review cases on points of law reserved by one or more Judges of the High Court.

19. And We do further ordain that, on such point or points of law being so reserved as aforesaid the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall have full power and authority to review the case, or such part of it as may be necessary and finally determine such point or points of law, and thereupon to alter the sentence passed by the Court of original jurisdiction, and to pass such judgment and sentence as to the said High Court may seem right.

Appeals from other Criminal Courts in the Central Provinces.

20. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall be a Court of Appeal from the Criminal Courts of the Central Provinces and from all other Courts subject to its superintendence, and shall exercise appellate jurisdiction in such cases as were, immediately before the date of the publication of these presents, subject to appeal to the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces by virtue of any law then in force, or as may after that date be declared subject to appeal to the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur by any law made by competent legislative authority for India.

Hearing of referred cases and revision of criminal trials.

21. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall be a Court of reference and revision from the Criminal Courts subject to its appellate jurisdiction, and shall have power to hear and determine all such cases referred to it by the Sessions Judges, or by any other officers in the Central Provinces, who were, immediately before the publication of these presents, authorised to refer cases to the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces and to revise all such cases tried by any officer or Court possessing criminal jurisdiction of the Central Provinces, as were immediately before the publication of these presents subject to reference to or revision by the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces.

High Court may direct the transfer of a case from one Court to another.

22. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall have power to direct the transfer of any criminal case or appeal from any Court to any other Court of equal or superior jurisdiction, and also to direct the preliminary investigation or trial of any criminal case by any officer or Court otherwis ecompetent to investigate or try it, though such case belongs in ordinary course to the jurisdiction of some other officer or Court.

Criminal Law.

Offenders to be punished under Indian Penal Code.

23. And We do further ordain that all persons brought for trial before the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur, either in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, or in the exercise of its jurisdiction as a Court of Appeal, reference or revision, charged with any offence for which provision is made by Act No. XLV of 1860, called the Indian Penal Code, or by any Act amending or excluding the said Act which may have been passed prior to the publication of these presents, shall be liable to punishment under the said Act or Acts, and not otherwise.

Testamentary and intestate jurisdiction.

Testamentary and intestate jurisdiction.

24. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shal have the like power and authority as that which was immediately before the publication of these presents lawfully exercised within the Central Provinces by the Court of Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces in relation to the granting of probates of last wills and testaments, and letters of administration of the goods, chattels, credits and all other effects whatsoever of persons dying intestate: Provided always that nothing in these Letters Patent contained shall interfere with the provisions of any law which has been made by competent legislative authority for India, by which power is given to any other Court to grant such probates and letters of administration.

Matrimonial Jurisdiction.

Matrimonial jurisdiction.

25. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall have jurisdiction within the Central Provinces in matters matrimonial between Our Subjects professing the Christian religion:

Provided always that nothing herein contained shall be held to interfere with the exercise of any jurisdiction in matters matrimonial by any Court, not established by Letters Patent within the said Province, which is lawfully possessed of that jurisdiction.

Powers of Single Judges and Division Courts.

Single Judges and Division Courts.

26. And We do hereby declare that any function which is hereby directed to be performed by the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur in the exercise of its original or appellate jurisdiction may be performed by any Judge or by any Division Court, thereof appointed or constituted for such purpose in pursuance of Section one hundred and eight of the Government of India Act; and if such Division Court is composed of two or more Judges and the Judges are divided in opinion as to the decision to be given on any point, such point shall be decided according to the opinion of the majority of the Judges if there be a majority, but, if the Judges be equally divided, they shall state the point on which they differ and the case shall then be heard upon that point by one or more of the other Judges and the point shall be decided according to the opinion of the majority of the Judges which have heard the case including those who first heard it.

Civil Procedure.

Regulation of Proceedings.

27. And We do further ordain that it shall be lawful for the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur from time to time to make rules and orders for regulating the practice of the Court and for the purpose of adapting as far as possible the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, being an Act No. V of 1908, passed by the Governor-General in Council and the provisions of any law which has been or may be made, amending or altering the same by competent legislative authority for India, to proceedings in its testamentary, intestate and matrimonial jurisdiction, respectively.

Criminal Procedure.

Regulation of Proceedings.

28. And We do further ordain that the proceedings in all criminal cases brought before the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall be regulated by the Code of Criminal Procedure, being an Act, No. V of 1898, passed by the Governor-General in Council, or by such further or other laws in relation to criminal proredure as may have been or may be made by competent legislative authority for India.

Appeals to Privy Council.

Power to appeal in civil cases.

29. And We do further ordain that any person or persons may appeal to Us, Our heirs and successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, in any matter not being of criminal jurisdiction from any final judgment, decree or order of the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur made on appeal, and from any final judgment, decree or order made in the exercise of original jurisdiction by Judges of the said High Court, or of any Division Court, from which an appeal does not lie to the said High Court under the provisions contained in the tenth clause of these presents:

Provided, in either case, that the sum or matter at issue is of the amount or value of not less than Rs. 10,000, or that such judgment, decree or order involves, directly or indirectly, some claim, demand or question to or respecting property amounting to or of the value of not less than 10,000 rupees; or from any other final judgment, decree or order made either on appeal or otherwise aforesaid, when the said High Court declares that the case is a fit one for appeal to Us, Our heirs or successors, in Our or Their Privy Council; but subject always to such rules and orders as are now in force, or may from time to time be made, respecting appeals to Ourselves in Council from the Courts of the Central Provinces except so far as the said existing rules and orders respectively are hereby varied; and subject also to such further rules and orders as We may, with the advice of Our Privy Council, hereafter make in that behalf.

Appeal from interlocutory judgments.

30. And We do further ordain that it shall be lawful for the High Court of Judicture at Nagpur at its discretion, on the motion, or, if the said High Court be not sitting, then for any Judge of the said High Court, upon the petition, of any party who considers himself aggrieved by any preliminary or interlocutory judgment, decree or order of the said High Court, in any such proceeding as aforesaid, not being of criminal jurisdiction to grant permission to such party to appeal against the same to Us, Our heirs and successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, subject to the same rules, regulations and limitations as are herein expressed respecting appeals from final judgments, decrees and orders.

Appeal in criminal cases.

31. And We do further ordain that from any judgment, order or sentence of the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur made in the exercise of original criminal jurisdiction, or in any criminal case where any point or points of law have been reserved for the opinion of the said High Court, in manner provided by the 18th clause of these presents by any Court which has exercised original jurisdiction, it shall be lawful for the person aggrieved by such judgment, order or sentence to appeal to Us, Our heirs and successors, in Council, provided that the said High Court declares that the case is a fit one for such appeal and that the appeal be made under such conditions as the said High Court may establish or require, but subject always to such rules and orders as are now in force, or may from time to time be made, respecting appeals to Ourselves in Council from the Courts of the Central Provinces.

Rules as to transmission of copies of evidence and other documents.

32. And we do further ordain that, in all cases of appeal made from any judgment, decree, order or sentence of the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur to Us, Our heirs and successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, such High Court shall certify and transmit to Us, Our heirs and successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, a true and correct copy of all evidence, proceedings, judgments, decrees and orders had or made, in such cases appealed, so far as the same have relation to the matters of appeal, such copies to be certified under the Seal of the said High Court. And that the said High Court shall also certify and transmit to Us, Our heirs and successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, a copy of the reasons given by the Judges of such Court, or by any of such Judges, for or against the judgment or determination appealed against. And We do further ordain that the said High Court shall in all cases of appeal, to Us, Our heirs or successors, conform to and execute, or cause to be executed, such judgments and orders as We, Our heirs or successor, in Our or Their Privy Council, may think fit to make in the premises, in such manner as any original judgment, decree or decretal orders, or other order or rule of the said High Court, should or might have been executed.

Special commissions and circuits.

33. And We do further ordain that whenever it appears to the Governor in Council of the Central Provinces subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council, convenient that the jurisdiction and power by these Our Letters Patent, or by or under the Government of India Act, vested in the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur should be exercised in any plcae within the jurisdiction of any Court subject to the superintendence of the said High Court other than the usual place of sitting of the said High Court, or at several such places by way of circuit, one or more Judges of the Court shall visit such place or places accordingly.

Proceedings of Judges on special commission or circuit.

34. And We do further ordain that whenever any Judge or Judges of the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur visit any place under the 33rd clause of these presents the proceedings in cases before him or them at such place shall be regulated by any law relating thereto which has been or may be made by competent legislative authority, for India.

Provisions regarding pending proceedings.

Provisions regarding pending proceedings.

35. And We do further ordain that all suits, appeals, revisions, applications, reviews, executions and other proceedings whatsoever pending immediately before the publication of these presents in the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces in the exercise of any jurisdiction vested in it by any law, shall be continued and concluded in the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur as if the same had been instituted in the said High Court; the said High Court shall in relation to all such proceedings exercise the jurisdiction given to it by these presents.

Delegation of duties to Officers.

Powers to delegate duties.

36. The High Court of Judicature at Nagpur may from time to time make rules for delegating to any Registrar, Prothonotary or Master or other official of the Court any judicial, quasi-judicial and non-judicial duties.

Calls for returns, etc., by the Government.

37. And it is Our further will and pleasure that the High Court of Judicature at Nagpur shall comply with such requisitions as may be made by the Governor-General in Council or by the Governor in Council of the Central Provinces for records, returns and statements, in such form and manner as he may deem proper.

High Court to comply with requisitions from Government for records, etc.

Powers of Indian Legislatures.

38. And We do further ordain and declare that all the proisions of these, Our Letters Patent, are subject to the legislative powers of the local legislature and of the Indian legislature, and also of the Governor-General in Council under Section Seventy-one of the Government of India Act; and also of the Governor-General under Section Seventy-two of that Act; and may be in all respects amended and altered thereby.

Powers of Indian Legislatures preserved.

In witness whereof We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent.

Witness Ourself at Westminster the 2nd day of January in the year of Our Lord One thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and in the Twenty-six year of Our Reign.

[9th Februady, 1916.

GEORGE THE FIFTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India. To all to whom these Presents shall come, greeting: Whereas by an Act of Parliament passed in the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Years of the Reign of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, and called the Indian High Courts Act, 1861, it was, amongst other things, enacted, by section one, that it should be lawful for Her Majesty, by Letters Patent under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom, to erect and establish a High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, for the Bengal Division of the Presidency of Fort William; and, by section two, that such High Court should consist of a Chief Justice and as many Judges, not exceeding fifteen, as Her Majesty, might, from time to time, think fit to appoint, who should be selected from among persons qualified as in the said Act was declared; and, by section eight, that upon the establishment of such High Court as aforesaid the Supreme Court and the Court of Sadar Diwani Adalat and Sadar Nizamat Adalat at Calcutta, in the said Presidency, should be abolished; and, by section nine, that the High Court of Judicature so to be established should have and exercise all such civil, criminal, admiralty and vice-admiralty, testamentary, intestate and matrimonial jurisdiction, original and appellate, and all such powers and authority for and in relation to the administration of justice in the said Presidency, as Her Majesty might by such Letters Patent as aforesaid grant and direct, subect, however, to such directions and limitations, as to the exercise of original, civil and criminal jurisdiction beyond the limits of the Presidency-town, as might be prescribed thereby; and that, save as by such Letters Patent might be otherwise directed, and subject and without prejudice to the legislative powers in relation to the matters aforesaid of the Governor-General of India in Council, the High Court so to be established should have and exercise all jurisdiction, and every power and authority whatsoever in any manner vested in any of the Courts in the same Presidency abolished under the said Act at the time of the abolition of such last mentioned Courts:

Recital of Acts 24 and 25 Vict., c. 164.

And whereas it was further declared by section sixteen of the said recited Act that it should be lawful for Us by Letters Patent to erect and establish a High Court of Judicature in and for any portion of territories within Our Dominions in India, not included within the limits of the local jurisdiction of another High Court, to consist of a Chief Justice and such number of other Judges, with such qualifications as were by the same Act required in persons to be appointtd to the High Courts established at the Presidencies of Fort William in Bengal, of Madras, and of Bombay, as We from time to time might think fit and appoint; and that it should be lawful for Us, by such Letters Patent, to confer on any new High Court which might be so established any such jurisdiction, powers and authority as under the same Act was authorized to be conferred on or would become vested in the High Court established in any of the said Presidencies; and that subject to the directions of the Letters Patent all the provisions of the said recited Act relative to High Courts and to the Chief Justice and other Judges of such Courts, and to the Governor-General or Governor of the Presidency in which such High Courts were established, should as far as circumstances might permit, be applicable to any new High Court which might be established in the said territories, and to the Chief Justice and other Judges thereof, and to the Persons administering the Government of the said territories:

Recital of establishment of High Courts at Fort William and Allahabad.

And whereas, upon full consideration of the premises, Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, by Letters Patent under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, bearing date at Westminster the Fourteenth day of May, in the Twenty-fifth Year of Her Reign, in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, did erect and establish a High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal for the Bengal Division of the Presidency of Fort William aforesaid, and did constitute that Court to be a Court of Record:

And whereas Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, by Letters Patent under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, bearing date at Westminster the Twenty-eighth day of December, in the Twenty-ninth Year of Her Reign, in the Year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, did revoke the said Letters Patent bearing date the Fourteenth day of May in the Year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, but notwithstanding that revocation did continue the said High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal and declared that the Court should continue to be a Court of Record:

And whereas, upon full consideration of the premises, Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, by Letters Patent under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, bearing date at Westminster the Seventeenth day of March, in the Twenty-ninth Year of Her Reign, in the Year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, did erect and establish a High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces, which said Court is situated at Allahabad in the Province of Agra and is now called the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad and did constitute that Court to be a Court of Record:

Recital of Act 1 & 2 Geo. 5, c. 18.

And whereas by an Act of Parliament passed in the First and Second Years of Our Reign, and called the Indian High Courts Act, 1911, it was enacted, amongst other things, by section one that the maximum number of Judges of a High Court of Judicature in India including the Chief Justice, should be twenty;

and, by section two, that Our power under section sixteen of the Indian High Courts Act, 1861, might be exercised from time to time and that a High Court might be established under the said section sixteen in any portion of the territories within Our Dominions in India, whether or not included within the limits of the local jurisdiction of another High Court; and that, where such a High Court was established in any part of such territories included within the limits of the local jurisdiction of another High Court, it should be lawful for us by Letters Patent to alter the local jurisdiction of that other High Court, and to make such incidental, consequential and supplemental provisions as might appear to be necessary by reason of the alteration of those limits:

Recital of Act 5 &6 Geo. 5, c. 61.

And whereas the said Indian High Courts Acts, 1861 and 1911, have been repealed and re-enacted by an Act of Parliament passed in the Fifth and Sixth Years of Our Reign, and called the Government of India Act, 1915.

And whereas certain territories formerly subject to and included within the limits of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal were, by Proclamation made by the Governor-General of India on the Twenty-second day of March in the Year of Our Lord One thousand nine hundred and twelve, constituted a separate Province, called the Province of Bihar and Orissa, and are now governed by a Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

Recital of creation of Province of Bihar and Orissa.

1. Now know ye that We, upon full consideration of the premises, and of Our special grace, certain knowledge, and mere motion, have thought fit to erect and establish, and by these presents We do accordingly for Us, Our Heirs and Successors, erect and establish, for the Province of Bihar and Orissa aforesaid, with effect from the date of the Publication of these presents in the Bihar and Orissa Gazette, a High Court of Judicature, which shall be called the High Court of Judicature at Patna, and We do hereby constitute the said Court to be a Court of Record.

Establishment of High Court at Patna.

2. And We do hereby appoint and ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall, until further or other provision be made by Us, or Our Heirs and Successors, in that behalf in accordance with section One hundred and one of the said recited Government of India Act, 1915, consist of a Chief Justice and six other Judges, the first Chief Justice being Sir Edward Maynard Des Champs Chamier, Knight, and the six other Judges being Saiyid Shurf-ud-din, Esquire, Edmund Pelly Chapman, Esquire, Basanta Kumar Mullick, Esquire, Francis Reginald Roe, Esquire, the Hon'ble Cecil Atkinson, and Jowala Persad, Esquire, being respectively qualified as in the said Act is declared.

Constitution and first Judges of the High Court.

3. And We do hereby ordain that the Chief Justice and every other Judge of the High Court of Judicature at Patna, previously to entering upon the execution of the duties of his office, shall make and subscribe the following declaration before such authority or person as the Lieutenant-Governor in Council may commission to receive it:—

Declaration to be made by Judges.

"I. A.B., appointed Chief Justice (or a Judge of the High Court of Judicature at Patna, do solemnly declare tha I will faithfuly perform the duties of my office to the best of may ability, knowledge and judgment."

4. And We do hereby grant, ordain and appoint that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall have, and use as occasion may require, a seal bearing a device and impression of Our Royal arms, within an exergue or label surrounding the same, with this inscription. "The Seal of the High Court at Patna." And We do further grant, ordain and appoint that the said seal shall be delivered to and kept in the custody of the Chief Justice, and in case of vacancy of the office of Chief Justice, or during any absence of the Chief Justice the same shall be delivered over and kept in the custody of the person appointed to act as Chief Justice under the provisions of section One hundred and five of the Government of India Act, 1915; and We do further grant, ordain and appoint that, whensoever the office of Chief Justice or of the Judge to whom the custody of the said seal be committed is vacant, the said High Court shall be, and is hereby, authorized and empowered to demand, seize and take the said seal from any person or persons whomsoever, by what ways and means soever the same may have come to his, her or their possession.

Writs, etc., to issue in name of the Crown and under seal.

5. And We do hereby further grant, ordain and appoint that all writs, summonses, precepts, rules, orders and other mandatory process to be used, issued or awarded by the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall run and be in the name and style of Us, or of Our Heirs and Successors, and shall be sealed with the seal of the said High Court.

Appointment of officers.

6. And We do hereby authorize and empower the Chief Justice of the High Court of Judicature at Patna from time to time, as occasion may require, and subject to any rules and restrictions which may be prescribed from time to time by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, to appoint so many and such clerks and other ministerial officers as may be found necessary for the administration of justice and the due execution of all the powers and authorities granted and committed to the said High Court by these Our Letters Patent. And We do hereby ordain that every such appointment shall be forthwith submitted to the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council and shall be either confirmed or disallowed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council. And it is Our further will and pleasure, and We do hereby, for Us, Our Heirs and Successors, give grant, direct and appoint that all and every the officers and clerks to be appointed as aforesaid shall have and receive respectively such reasonable salaries as the Chief Justice may, from time to time, appoint for each office and place respectively, and as the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council, may approve of: Provided always, and it is Our will and pleasure, that all and every the officers and clerks to be appointed as aforesaid shall be resident within the limits of the jurisdiction of the said Court, so long as they hold their respective offices; but this proviso shall not interfere with or prejudice the right of any officer or clerk to avail himself of leave of absence under any rules prescribed from time to time by the Governor-General in Council, and to absent himself from the said limits during the term of such leave in accordanie with the said rules.

Admission of Advocates, Vakils and Attorneys.

Powers of High Court in admitting Advocates, Vakils and Attorneys.

7. And We do hereby authorise and empower the High Court of Judicature at Patna to approve, admit and enrol such and so many Advocates, Vakils and Attorneys as to the said High Court may seem meet; and such Advocates, Vakils and Attorneys shall be and are hereby authorized to appear for the suitors of the said High Court, and to plead or to act, or to plead and act, for the said suitors, according as the said High Court may by its rules and directions determine, and subject to such rules and directions.

Powers of High Court in making rules for the qualification, etc., of Advocates, Vakils and Attorneys.

8. And We do hereby ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall have power to make rules from time to time for the qualification and admission of proper persons to be Advocates, Vakils and Attorneys-at-Law of the said High Court, and shall be empowered to remove or to suspend from practice, on reasonable cause, the said Advocates, Vakils or Attorneys-at-Law; and no person whatsoever but such Advocates, Vakils or Attorneys shall be allowed to act or to plead for, or on behalf of, any suitor in the said High Court, except that any suitor shall be allowed to appear plead or act on his own behalf, or on behalf of a co-suitor.

CL. 8.—Disciplinary Jurisdiction— General infamy of Vakil not necessary. T. 725=1923 Pat. 185 (2). 12 Pat.L.

Civil Jurisdiction of the High Court.

9. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall have power to remove, and to try and determine, as a Court of extraordinary original jurisdiction, any suit being or falling within the jurisdiction of any Court subject to its superintendence, when the said High Court may think proper to do so, either on the agreement of the parties to that effect, or for purposes of justice, the reasons for so doing being recorded on the proceedings of the said High Court.

Extraordinary original civil jurisdiction.

[1][10. And We do further ordain that an appeal shall lie to the said High Court of Judicature at Patna from the judgment (not being a judgment passed in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction in respect of a decree or order made in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction by a Court subject to the superintendence of the said High Court, and not being an order made in the exercise of revisional jurisdiction, and not being a sentence or order passed or made in the exercise of the power of superintendence under the provisions of section 107 of the Government of India Act, or in the exercise of criminal jurisdiction) of one Judge of the said High Court or one Judge of any Division Court, pursuant to section 108 of the Government of India Act, and that notwithstanding anything hereinbefore provided an appeal shall lie to the said High Court from a judgment of one Judge of the said High Court or one Judge of any Division Court pursuant to section 108 of the Government of India Act, made

Appeal to the High Court from Judges of the Court.

LEG. REF.

1 Amended by the Letters Patent, 1927—As to the effect of this amendment, see notes under Cl. 15 of the Madras Letters Patent.

CL. 9.—The mere non-recording of reasons where a case is removed from the Court of the Subordinate Judge to the High Court is only an irregularity which does not affect the jurisdiction of the High Court and does not make its decision illegal. 14 Pat.L.T. 258=12 P. 727=1933 P. 250.

CL. 10: SCOPE AND OBJECT.—See 3 Pat.L.J. 509=48 I.C. 348. Sec. 9 of the High Courts Act, 1861, is not inconsistent with the provision of the Letters Patent. 20 Pat.L.T. 404=1939 Pat. 425. A certificate of "leave to appeal" should not be granted merely on the ground that a point of law arises in the case. It is only when a case presents some difficulty and the Judge feels really that the matter before him requires further consideration by a larger Court that "leave" should be granted. If the Judge decides the case with confidence, that should indicate that it is not a fit case for appeal; and if he accepts the responsibility which is cast upon him by the Letters Patent his decision will be final. 13 P. 587=15 Pat.L.T. 456=1934 P. 466. If a single Judge by order reverses and remands a case for being tried anew, then this is a judgment, and can be appealed under Cl. 10. But it is not a judgment if the remand is made for a finding. 1924 P. 336. See also 1 P. 246=3 Pat.L.T. 343=1922 P. 384. An order of a Judge of the High Court sitting alone staying a criminal trial is not a judgment and is not appealable under Cl. 10. 3 Pat.L.J. 509=19 Cr.L.J. 1008=48 I.C. 348. No appeal lies under the Letters Patent from a decision of a single Judge of the High Court passed in revision. The words "which has been called for by the said Court" (which occurred in Cl. 10 prior to the amendment of 1929) are general in their application and refer both to the case in which the High Court has suo motu called for records and the case where the records have been called for on the application of one of the parties. In both cases, no appeal is competent. 10 P. 428=1931 P. 292. Ch. VII, R. 2 of the High Court Rules excludes the applicability of sec. 12 of the Limitation Act to appeals which are preferred under Letters Patent. 1921 P. 165=5 Pat.L.J. 701=2 Pat. L.T. 42=59 I.C. 179. Right of appeal given by the Letters Patent does not apply to administrative or disciplinary powers. 1 P. 590 =1922 P. 603. New point not to be raised in Letters Patent appeal. 19 Pat. 194=1940 Pat. 322. No application for review lies against a decision on appeal under the Letters Patent. [1931 A.L.J. 187 (F.B.). and 40 M. 651, Foll.] 12 Pat.L.T. 652=1931 P. 409. Where a Judge refuses to exercise his discretion under sec. 151, C. P. in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction in respect of a decree or order made in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction by a Court subject to the superintendence of the said High Court, where the Judge who passed the judgment declares that the case is a fit one for appeal; but that the right of appeal from other judgments of Judges of the said High Court or of such Division Court shall be to Us, Our heirs or Successors in Our or Their Privy Council as hereinafter provided.]

Appeal from other Civil Courts in the Province of Bihad and Orissa.

11. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall be a Court of Appeal from the Civil Court of the Province of Bihar and Orissa and from all other Courts subject to its superintendence, and shall exercise appellate jurisdiction in such cases as were, immediately before the date of the publication of these presents, subject to appeal to the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal by virtue of any law then in force, or as may after that date be declared subject to appeal to the High Court of Judicature at Patna by any law made by competent legislative authority for India.

Jurisdiction as to Infants and Lunatics.

12. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall have the like power and authority with respect to the persons and estates of infants, idiots and lunatics within the Province of Bihar and Orissa as that which was vested in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal immediately before the publication of these presents.

Law to be administered by the High Court.

By the High Court in the exercise of extraordinary original civil jurisdiction.

13. And We do further ordain that, with respect to the law or equity to be applied to each case coming before the High Court of Judicature at Patna in the exercise of its extraordinary original civil jurisdiction, such law or equity shall, until otherwise provided, be the law or equity which would have been applied to such case by any local Court having jurisdiction therein.

By the High Court in the exercise of appellate jurisdiction.

14. And We do further ordain that, with respect to the law or equity and rule of good conscience to be applied by the High Court of Judicature at Patna to each case coming before it in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction, such law or equity and rule of good conscience shall be the law or equity and rule of good conscience which the Court in which the proceedings in such case were originally instituted ought to have applied to such case.

Criminal Jurisdiction.

Ordinary original criminal jurisdiction of the High Court.

15. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall have ordinary original criminal jurisdiction in respect of all such persons within the Province of Bihar and Orissa as the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal had such criminal jurisdiction over immediately before the publication of these presents.

Jurisdiction as to persons.

46. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna, in the exercise of its ordinarp original criminal jurisdiction, shall be empowered to try all persons brought before it in due course of law.

CL. 12.—Applicability of Cl. 12—Submission to jurisdiction—Part of the cause of action outside jurisdiction—Waiver of objection. 1923 P. 562=5 Pat.L.T. 342.

17. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall have extraordinary original criminal jurisdiction over all persons residing in places within the jurisdiction of any Court subject to its superintendence, and shall have authority to try at its discretion any such persons brought before it on charges preferred by any Magistrate or other officer specially empowered by the Government in that behalf.

Extraordinary original criminal jurisdiction.

18. And We do further ordain that there shall be no appeal to the High Court of Judicature at Patna from any sentence or order passed or made by the Courts of original criminal jurisdiction which may be constituted by one or more Judges of the said High Court. But it shall be at the discretion of any such Court to reserve any point or points of law for the opinion of the said High Court.

No appeal from High Court exercising original jurisdiction.

Court may reserve points of law.

19. And We do further ordain that, on such point or points of law being so reserved as aforesaid, the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall have full power and authority to review the case, or such part of it as may be necessary, and finally determine such point or points of law, and thereupon to alter the sentence passed by the Court of original jurisdiction, and pass such judgment and sentence as to the said High Court may seem right.

High Court to review cases on points of law reserved by one or more Judges of the High Court.

20. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall be a Court of appeal from the Criminal Courts of the Province of Bihar and Orissa and from all other Courts subject to its superintendence, and shall exercise appellate jurisdiction in such cases as were, immediately before the date of the publication of these presents, subject to appeal to the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal by virtue of any law then in force or as may after that date be declared subject to appeal to the High Court of Judicature at Patna by any law made by competent legislative authority for India.

Appeals from other Criminal Courts in the province of Bihar and Orissa.

21. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall be a Court of reference and revision from the Criminal Courts subject to its appellate jurisdiction, and shall have power to hear and determine all such cases referred to it by the Sessions Judges, or by any other officers in the Province of Bihar and Orissa who were, immediately before the publication of these presents, authorised to refer cases to the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal and to revise all such cases tried by any officer or Court possessing criminal jurisdiction in the Province of Bihar and Orissa as were, immediately before the publication of these presents, subject to reference to or revision by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

Hearing of referred cases, and revision of criminal trials.

22. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall have power to direct the transfer of any criminal case or appeal from any Court to any other Court of equal or superior jurisdiction, and also to direct the preliminary invesitgation or trial of any criminal case by any officer or Court otherwise competent to investigate or try it, though such case belongs in ordinary course to the jurisdiction of some other officer or Court.

High Court may direct the transfer of a case from one Court to another.

CL. 17.—The High Court of Patna has jurisdiction to try persons against whom the Government Advocate with the previous sanction of the Local Government has exhibited an ex officio information. 1933 P.C. 124=64 M.L.J. 466=142 I.C. 335 (P.C.).

Criminal Law.

Offenders to be punished under Indian Penal Code.

23. And We do further ordain that all persons brought for trial before the High Court of Judicature at Patna, either in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, or in the exercise of its jurisdiction as a Court of appeal, reference or revision charged with any offence for which provision is made by Act No. XLV of 1860, called the "Indian Penal Code," or by any Act amending or excluding the said Act which may have been passed prior to the publication of these presents, shall be liable to punishment under the said Act or Acts, and not otherwise.

Admiralty Jurisdiction.

Civil.

24. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall have and exercise in the Province of Bihar and Orissa, all such civil and maritime jurisdiction as was exercisable therein immediately before the publication of these presents by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, as a Court of Admiralty, and also such jurisdiction for the trial and adjudication of prize cases and other maritime questions as was so exercisable by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

Criminal.

25. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall have and exercise in the Province of Bihar and Orissa all such criminal jurisdiction as was exercisable therein immediately before the publication of these presents by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal as a Court of Admiralty, or otherwise in connection with maritime matters or matters of prize.

Testamentary and Intestate Jurisdiction.

Testamentary and intestate jurisdiction.

26. Any We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall have the like power and authority as that which was immediately before the publication of these presents lawfully exercised within the Province of Bihar and Orissa by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, in relation to the granting of probates of last wills and testaments, and letters of administration of the goods, chattels, credits and all other effects whatsoever of persons dying intestate: Provided always that nothing in these Letters Patent contained shall interfere with the provisions of any law which has been made by competent legislative authority for India, by which power is given to any other Court to grant such probates and letters of administration.

Matrimonial Jurisdiction.

Matrimonial jurisdiction.

27. And We do further ordain that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall have jurisdiction, within the Province of Bihar and Orissa, in matters matrimonial between Our subjects professing the Christian religion: Provided always that nothing herein contained shall be held to interfere with the exercise of any jurisdiction in matters matrimonial by any Court, not established by Letters Patent within the said Province, which is lawfully possessed of that jurisdiction.

Powers of Single Judges and Division Courts.

Single Judges and Division Courts.

28. And We do hereby declare that any function which is hereby directed to be performed by the High Court of Judicature at Patna, in the exercise of its original or appellate jurisdiction, may be performed by any Judge, or by any Division Court thereof, appointed or constituted for such purpose in pursu-

Civil Procedure.

Regulation of proceedings.

29. And We do further ordain that it shall be lawful for the High Court of Judicature at Patna from time to time to make rules and orders for regulating the practice of the Court and for the purpose of adapting, as far as possible, the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, being an Act, No. V of 1908, passed by the Governor-General in Council, and the provisions of any law which has been or may be made, amending or altering the same, by competent legislative authority for India, to all proceedings in its testamentary, intestate and matrimonial jurisdiction, respectively.

Criminal Procedure.

Regulation of proceedings.

30. And We do further ordain that the proceedings in all criminal cases brought before the High Court of Judicature at Patna in the exercise of its ordinary original criminal jurisdiction, shall be regulated by the procedure and practice which was in use in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal immediately before the publication of these presents, subject to any law which has been or may be made in relation thereto by competent legislative authority for India; and that the proceedings in all other criminal cases shall be regulated by the Code of Criminal Procedure, being an Act, No. V of 1898, passed by the Governor-General in Council, or by such further or other laws in relation to criminal procedure as may have been or may be made by such authority as aforesaid.

Appeals to Privy Council.

Power to appeal in civil cases.

31. And We do further ordain that any person or persons may appeal to Us, Our Heirs and Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council in any matter not being of criminal jurisdiction, from any final judgment, decree or order of the High Court of Judicature at Patna made on appeal, and from any final judgment, decree or order made in the exercise of original jurisdiction by Judges of the said High Court, or of any Division Court, from which an appeal does not lie to the said High Court under the provisions contained in the 10th clause of these presents: Provided, in either case, that the sum or matter at issue is of the amount or value of not less than 10,000 rupees, or that such judgment, decree or order involves, directly or indirectly, some claim, demand or question to or respecting property mounting to or of the value of not less than Appeal from interlocutory judgments.

32. And We do further ordain that it shall be lawful for the High Court of Judicature at Patna, at its discretion, on the motion, or, if the said High Court be not sitting, then for any Judge of the said High Court, upon the petition, of any party who considers himself aggrieved by any preliminary or interlocutory judgment, decree or order of the said High Court, in any such proceeding as aforesaid, not being of criminal jurisdiction, to grant permission to such party to appeal against the same to Us, Our Heirs and Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, subject to the same rules, regulations and limitations as are herein expressed respecting appeals from final judgments, decrees and orders.

Appeal in criminal cases.

33. And We do further ordain that from any judgment, order or sentence of the High Court of Judicature at Patna, made in the exercise of original criminal jurisdiction, or in any criminal case where any point or points of law have been reserved for the opinion of the said High Court, in manner provided by the 18th clause of these presents, by any Court which has exercised original jurisdiction, it shall be lawful for the person aggrieved by such judgment, order or sentence to appeal to Us, Our Heirs or Successors in Council, provided the said High Court declares that the case is a fit one for such appeal and the appeal be made under such conditions as the said High Court may establish or require, but subject always to such rules and orders as are now in force, or may from time to time be made respecting appeals to Ourselves in Council from the Courts of the Province of Bihar and Orissa.

Rule as to transmission of copies of evidence and other documents.

34. And We do further ordain that, in all cases of appeal made from any judgment, decree, order or sentence of the High Court of Judicature at Patna, to Us, Our Heirs or Successors in Our or Their Privy Council, such High Court shall certify and transmit to Us, Our Heirs and Successors in Our or Their Privy Council, a true and correct copy of all evidence, proceedings, judgments, decrees and orders had or made in such cases appealed so far as the same have relation to the matters of appeal, such copies to be certified under the seal of the said High Court. And that the said High Court shall also certify and transmit to Us, Our Heirs and Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, a copy of the reasons given by the Judges of the said High Cuort, or by any such Judges, for or against the judgment or determination appealed against. And We do further ordain that the said High Court shall, in all cases of appeal to Us, Our Heirs or Successors, conform to and execute, or cause to be executed, such judgments and orders, as we, Our Heirs or Successors, in Our or Their Privy Council, may think fit to make in the premises, in such manner as any original judgment, decree or decretal orders, or other order or rule of the said High Court, should or might have been executed.

CL. 33: CONSTRUCTION AND SCOPE—CRIMINAL CASE—LEAVE TO APPEAL—GRANT OF.—The matter of appeals to His Majesty in Council from decisions of the High Court is limited by the Letters Patent under which the High Court's jurisdiction is exercised. While Cl. 31 of the Letters Patent refers to civil appeals, the matter of criminal appeals is dealt with by Cl. 33. The wording of Cl. 33 is very precise and must be strictly construed. Under that clause there is a right of appeal from any judgment or order or sentence made in the exercise of original criminal juridiction. Leave to appeal is also granted when a point or points of law have been reserved for the opinion of the High Court in the manner provided by Cl. 18. When the case does not fall under either of these two categories, there is no right of appeal. 14 P. 318=15 Pat.L.T. 833=1935 P. 66.

Exercise of jurisdiction elsewhere than at the usual place of sitting of the High Court.

Judges to visit Orissa by way of circuit.

45. And We do further ordain that, unless the Governor-General in Council otherwise directs, one or more Judges of the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall visit the Division of Orissa, by way of circuit, whenever the Chief Justice from time to time appoints, in order to exercise in respect of cases arising in that Division the Jurisdiction and power by these Our Letters Patent, or by or under the Government of India Act, 1915, vested in the said High Court: Provided always that such visits shall be made not less than four times in every year, unless the Chief Justice, with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, otherwise directs: Provided also that the said High Court shall have power from time to time to make rules, with the previous sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, for declaring what cases or classes of cases arising in the Division of Orissa shall be heard at Patna and not in that Division, and that the Chief Justice may, in his discretion, order that any particular case arising in the Division of Orissa shall be heard at Patna or in that Division.

Special commission and circuits.

36. And We do further ordain that whenever it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council, convenient that the jurisdiction and power by these Our Letters Patent, or by or under the Government of India Act, 1915, vested in the High Court of Judicature at Patna should be exercised in any place within the jurisdiction of any Court subject to the superintendence of the said High Court, other than the usual place of sitting of the said High Court, or at several such places by way of circuit, one or more Judges of the Court shall visit such place or places accordingly.

Proceedings of Judges on special commission or circuit.

37. And We do further ordain that whenever any Judge or Judges of the High Court of Judicature at Patna visit any place under the 35th or the 36th clause of these presents the proceedings in cases before him or them at such place shall be regulated by any law relating thereto which has been or may be made by competent legislative authority for India.

Delegation of Duties to Officers.

Power to delegate duties.

38. The High Court of Judicature at Patna may from time to time make rules for delegating to any Registrar, Prothonotary or Master or other official of the Court any judicial, quasi-judicial and non-judicial duties.

CL. 35.—Patna High Court Rules, Ch. XXII, R. 5 and Ch. II, R. 4—Vacation Judge—Power to hear case arising in Orissa, 130 I.C. 262=1931 P. 61. Under Cl. 35 read with R. 5 of Ch. XXII of the Rules of the High Court, the Vacation Judge has no jurisdiction to hear a matter which is required by those provisions to be heard in Orissa. The power given to the Vacation Judge by R. 4 in Chapter II of the Rules is confined to Patna as distinguished from Orissa. R. 5 cannot be read with, or as controlling, R. 4 of Chapter II and therefore the discretionary power of the Chief Justice under Cl. 35 of Letters Patent to order that any particular case arising in the Division of Orissa shall be heard at Patna does not vest in the Vacation Judge. The possible inconvenience arising from the absence of a Vacation Judge for Orissa is no reason for placing upon R. 4 an interpretation which it will not bear if regard is had to the other rules in Chs. II and XXII and Cl. 35 of the Letters Patent. 1931 P. 61=11 Pat. L.T. 862. Cessation of Jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

39. And We do further ordain that the jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal in any matter in which jurisdiction is by these presents given to the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall cease from the date of the publication of these presents, and that all proceedings pending in the former Court on that date in reference to any such matter shall be transferred to the latter Court:

Cessation of jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William over the province of Bihar and Orissa.

Provided, first, that the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal shall continue to exercise jurisdiction—

(a) in all proceedings pending in that Court on the date of the publication of these presents in which any decree or order, other than an order of an interlocutory nature, has been passed or made by that Court, or in which the validity of any such decree or order is directly in question; and

(b) in all proceedings [not being proceedings referred to in paragraph (a) of this clause] pending in that Court, on the date of the publication of these presents, under the 13th, 15th, 22nd, 23rd 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 32nd, 33rd, 34th or 35th clause of the Letters Patent bearing date at Westminster the twenty-eighth day of December, in the Year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, relating to that Court; and

(c) in all proceedings instituted in that Court, on or after the date of the publication of these presents, with reference to any decree or order passed or made by that Court:

Provided, secondly, that if any question arises as to whether any case is covered by the first proviso to this clause, the matter shall be referred to the Chief Justice of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, and his decision shall be final.

Calls for Records, etc., by the Government.

40. And it is Our further will and pleasure that the High Court of Judicature at Patna shall comply with such requisitions as may be made by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, for records, returns and statements, in such form and manner as he may deem proper.

High Court to comply with requisitions from Government for records, etc.

Powers of Indian Legislatures.

41. And We do further ordain and declare that all the provisions of these Our Letters Patent are subject to the legislative power of the Governor-General in Legislative Council, and also of the Governor-General in Council under section seventy-one of the Government of India Act, 1915, and also of the Governor-General in cases of emergency under section seventy-two of that Act, and may be in all respects amended and altered thereby.

Powers of Indian Legislatures preserved.

In witness whereof We have caused these Our letters to be made patent. Witness Ourself at Westminster the Ninth day of February, in the year of Our Lord One thousand nine hundred and sixteen and in the sixth year of Our Reign.

THE INDIAN LIGHTHOUSE ACT (XVII OF 1927).

[Rep. in part by Act I of 1938.]

[21*st September*, 1927.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the provision, maintenance and control of lighthouses by the Government in British India.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to the provision, maintenance and control of lighthouses by the Government in British India; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN LIGHTHOUSE ACT, 1927.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "Customs-collector" means an officer of customs exercising the powers of a Customs-collector under the Sea Customs Act, 1878, and includes any person appointed by the Central Government to discharge the functions of a Customs-collector under this Act;

(b) "district" means an area defined as a district for the purposes of this Act under section 3;

(c) "general lighthouse" means any lighthouse which the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare to be a general lighthouse for the purposes of this Act;

(d) "lighthouse" includes any light-vessel, fog-signal, buoy beacon, or any mark, sign or apparatus exhibited or used for the guidance of ships;

(e) "local lighthouse" means any lighthouse which is not a general lighthouse;

(f) "local lighthouse authority" means a Provincial Government, local authority or other person having the superintendence and management of a local lighthouse;

(g) "owner" includes any part-owner, charterer or mortgagee in possession and any agent to him a ship is consigned;

(h) "port" means any port, as defined in the Indian Ports Act, 1908, to which that Act extends; and

(i) words and expressions used in this Act and not otherwise defined have the same meanings respectively as in the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923.

Appointment of officers.

3. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette,—

(a) define areas to be districts for the purposes of this Act;

(b) appoint a person to be the Superintendent of Lighthouses in each district;

(c) appoint a person to be the Chief Inspector of Lighthouses in British India; and (d) appoint persons to be Inspectors of Lighthouses.

Advisory Committees.

4. (1) The Central Government shall appoint a Central Advisory Committee and shall consult it in regard to—

(a) the erection or position of lighthouses or of any works appertaining thereto;

(b) additions to, or the alteration or removal of lighthouses;

(c) the variation of the character of any lighthouse or of the mode of use thereof;

(d) the cost of any proposals relating to lighthouses; or

(e) the making or alteration of any rules or rates of dues under this Act.

(2) The Central Government may, if he thinks fit, appoint an Advisory Committee for any district for the purpose of advising in regard to any of the matters specified in sub-section (1) in so far as the interests of the district are affected thereby.

(3) Advisory Committees shall consist of persons representing interests affected by this Act or having special knowledge of the subject-matter thereof.

GENERAL LIGHTHOUSES.

Management of general lighthouses by the Central Government and delegation of management.

5. (1) The superintendence and management of all general lighthouses are vested in the Central Government.

(2) The Central Government may require any local lighthouse authority to undertake the superintendence and management of any general lighthouse situated in or adjacent to the local limits within which the authority exercise its powers, and shall pay to the authority such sums to defray the cost of superintendence and management as he may determine.

LOCAL LIGHTHOUSES.

Power to inspect local lighthouses.

6. (1) The Chief Inspector of Lighthouses may, at any time, and any Superintendent or Inspector of Lighthouses may, if authorised in this behalf by a general or special order in writing of the Central Government, enter upon and inspect any local lighthouse and make such inquiries in respect thereof or of the management thereof as he thinks fit.

(2) Every person having the charge of, or concerned in the management of, any lighthouse shall be bound to furnish to any officer authorised by or under sub-section (1) to inspect the lighthouse all such information regarding the same as the officer may require.

(3) Every local lighthouse authority shall furnish to the Central Government all such returns and other information in respect of the lighthouses under its supervision and management, or of any of them, as he may require.

Control of local lighthouses by the Central Government.

7. (1) If, after an inspection under section 6 or such other inquiry as he thinks fit, the Central Government is satisfied that a direction under this sub-section is necessary or expedient for the safety, or otherwise in the interests of shipping, he may direct any local lighthouse authority—

(a) to remove or discontinue or to refrain from moving or discontinuing any lighthouse under its superintendence and management or to make or refrain from making any variation in the character or mode of use of any such lighthouse, or

(b) to erect, place or maintain, or to refrain from erecting, placing or maintaining, any lighthouse within the local limits within which the local lighthouse authority exercises its powers.

(2) A local lighthouse authority shall not erect, place remove or discontinue any lighthouse or vary the character or mode of use of any lighthouse, unless it has given to the Central Government at least one month's notice in writing of its intention so to do:

Provided that, in cases of emergency, a local lighthouse authority may take such action as it deems necessary and shall give immediate notice of the same to the Central Government and, so far as is possible, to all shipping approaching or in the vicinity of the lighthouse.

(3) If a local lighthouse authority—

(a) fails to comply with any direction made under sub-section (1), or

(b) fails to exercise or perform, or exercises or performs in an improper, inefficient or unsuitable manner, any power or duty relating to the superintendence or management of lighthouses conferred or imposed upon it by or under any law for the time being in force, or

(c) fails to make adequate financial provision for the performance of any such duty,

the Central Government may, by order in writing, require the local lighthouse authority to comply with the direction, or to make arrangements to the satisfaction of the Central Government for the proper exercise of the power or performance of the duty, or to mane financial provision to the satisfaction of the Central Government for the performance of the duty, as the case may be, within such period as the Central Government may specify.

(4) If the local lighthouse authority fails to comply with an order made under sub-section (3) within the specified period or within such further time as the Central Government may allow, the Central Government may exercise the power or perform the duty or make the requisite financial provision, as the case may be, and the local lighthouse authority shall be liable to repay to the Central Government any expenditure incurred by it in so doing.

Management of local lighthouses by the Central Government.

8. The Central Government may, at the request of a local lighthouse authority, undertake the superintendence and management of any local lighthouse on its behalf, and the local lighthouse authority shall pay to the Central Government such sums to defray the cost of superintendence and management as may be agreed.

LIGHT-DUES.

Levy and collection of light-dues.

9. For the purpose of providing or maintaining or of providing and maintaining lighthouses for the benefit of ships voyaging to or from British India or between ports in British India, the Central Government shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, cause light-dues to be levied and collected in respect of every ship arriving at or departing from any port in British India.

Rates of light-dues leviable.

10. (1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, prescribe rates, not exceeding two annas per ton, at which light-dues shall be payable, and may prescribe, different rates for different classes of ships or for ships of the same class when in use for different purposes or in different circumstances.

(2) Light-dues payable in respect of a ship shall be paid by the owner or master of the ship on its arrival at, and on its departure from, any port in British India:

Provided that, if light-dues have been paid in accordance with the provisions of this Act in respect of any ship, no further dues shall become payable in respect of that ship for a period of thirty days from the date on which the dues so paid became payable.

(3) An order under sub-section (1) imposing, abolishing or varying light-dues shall not take effect till the expiration of thirty days from the day on which the order was notified in the Official Gazette.

Receipts for light-dues

11. Light-dues shall be paid to the Customs-collector who shall grant to the person paying the same a receipt in writing specifying—

(a) the port at which the dues have been paid;

(b) the amount of the payment;

(c) the date on which the dues became payable; and

(d) the name, tonnage and other proper description of the ship in respect of which the payment is made.

Ascertainment of tonnage.

12. (1) For the purpose of the levy of light-dues, a ship's tonnage shall be reckoned as under the Merchant Shipping Acts for dues payable on a ship's tonnage, with the addition required under section 85 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, with respect to deck cargo.

(2) In order to ascertain the tonnage of any ship for the purpose of levying light-dues, the Customs-collector may—

(a) if the ship is registered under any law for the time being in force in British India or under the law of any foreign country in respect of which an Order in Council has been made under section 84 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, that ships of that country shall be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted in their certificates of registry or other national papers (any such ship being hereafter in this section referred to as a registered ship), require the owner or master or other person having possession of the ship's register or other papers denoting her tonnage to produce the same for inspection and, if such owner, master or other person refuses or neglects to produce the register or papers, as the case may be, or otherwise to satisfy the Customs-collector as to the tonnage of the ship, cause the ship to be measured and the tonnage to be ascertained; or

(b) if the ship is not a registered ship and the owner or master fails to satisfy the Customs-collector as to the true tonnage thereof according to the mode of measurement prescribed by the law for the time being in force for regulating the measurement of registered ships, cause the ship to be measured and the tonnage thereof to be ascertained according to such mode.

(3) If any person refuses or neglects to produce any register or other papers or otherwise to satisfy the Customs collector as to the true tonnage of any ship when required to do so under this section, such person shall be liable to pay the expenses of the measurement of the ship and of the ascertainment of the tonnage, and, if the ship is a registered ship, shall further, on conviction by a Presidency Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class having jurisdiction in the port where the ship lies or in any port to which she may proceed be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

Recovery of light-dues, expenses and costs.

13. (1) If the owner or master of any ship refuses or neglects to pay to the Customs-collector on demand the amount of any light-dues or expenses payable under this Act in respect of the ship, the Customs-collector may seize the ship and the tackle, apparel and furniture belonging thereto, or any part thereof, and detain the same until the amount of the dues or expenses, together with the costs of the seizure and detention, is paid.

(2) If any part of such dues, expenses or costs remains unpaid after the expiry of five days following the date of seizure, the Customs-collector may cause the ship or other thing seized to be sold, and with the proceeds of the sale may satisfy the dues, expenses or costs remaining unpaid, together with the costs of the sale, and shall repay the surplus, if any, to the person by whom the same were payable.

Refusal of port clearance.

14. The officer whose duty it is to grant a port-clearance for any ship shall not grant the port-clearance until the amount of all light-dues, expenses and costs payable in respect of the ship under this Act and of any fines imposed thereunder has been paid, or until security for the payment thereof has been given to his satisfaction.

Determination of disputes as to liability for payment.

15. If any dispute arises as to whether light-dues, expenses or costs are payable in respect of any ship under this Act or as to the amount of such dues, expenses or costs, the dispute shall, on application made in this behalf by either of the disputing parties, be heard and determined by a Presidency

Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class having jurisdiction at the place where the dispute arises, and the decision of such Magistrate shall be final.

Light-dues payable at one port recoverable at another.

16. (1) If the master of any ship in respect of which any light-dues are payable at any port causes the ship to leave such port without having paid the same, the Customs-collector at that port may by writing require the Customs-collector at any other port in British India to which the ship may proceed or in which she may be to recover the dues remaining unpaid.

(2) Any Customs-collector to whom such a requisition is directed shall proceed to levy such sum as if it were payable under this Act at the port at which he is the Customs-collector, and a certificate by the Customs-collector at the port at which the light-dues first became payable, stating the amount payable, shall be sufficient proof in any proceeding under section 13 or section 15 that such amount is payable.

Penalty for evading payment of light-dues.

17. (1) If the owner or master of a ship evades or attempts to evade the payment of any light-dues, expenses or costs payable in respect of the ship under this Act, he shall, on conviction by a Presidency Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class having jurisdiction in any port to which the vessel may proceed or in which she may be found, be punishable with fine which may extend to five times the amount of the sum payable.

(2) In any proceeding before a Magistrate in a prosecution under sub-section (1), any such certificate as is mentioned in sub-section (2) of section 16, stating that the owner or master has evaded such payment, shall be sufficient proof of the evasion, unless the owner or master shows to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that the departure of the vessel without payment of the sum was caused by stress of weather, or that there was lawful or reasonable grounds for such departure.

Exemption from payment of light-dues.

18. The following ships shall be exempted from the payment of light-dues under this Act, namely:—

(a) any ship belonging to His Majesty [1][* *] or to a foreign Prince or State and not carrying cargo or passengers for freight or fares; and

(b) any ship of a tonnage of less than fifty tons;

and the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, exempt any other ships or classes of ships performing specified voyages from such payment, either wholly or to such extent only as may be specified in the notification.

Refund of excess payments.

19. Where light-dues have been paid in respect of any ship in excess of the amount payable under this Act, no claim to refund of such excess payment shall be admissible, unless it is made within six months from the date of each payment.

ACCOUNTS.

Accounts, etc.

20. (1) The Central Government shall cause to be maintained a separate account of all amounts received by way of light-dues, expenses, costs and fines under this Act and of all expenditure incurred for the purposes of this Act, and shall cause such account to be laid before the Central Advisory Committee, as soon as possible, after the close of each financial year.

(2) The Central Government shall cause to be laid before the Central Advisory Committee before the close of each financial year a statement of the estimated receipts under, and expenditure for the purposes of, this Act during the forthcoming year.

LEG. REF.

1 Words 'or the Government' omitted by the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937.

RULES.

Power to make rules.

21. (1) The Central Government may make rules consistent with this Act to carry into effect the purposes thereof.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—

(a) the powers and duties of the Chief Inspector of Lighthouses and of Superintendents and Inspectors of Lighthouses;

(b) the procedure and conduct of business of Advisory Committees constituted under this Act;

(c) the rate of travelling and subsistence allowance payable to members of Advisory Committees; and

(d) the period in respcet of which and the form in which the separate account referred to in sub-section (1) of section 20 shall be kept and the forms in which that account and the statement referred to in sub-section (2) of that section shall respectively be presented to the Central Advisory Committee.

LIMITATION ACT.

SCOPE OF ACT.—Act is a complete Code. Provision saving bar of limitation must be contained in, or necessarily implied from, the Act. 57 M. 549=1928 M. 509. Provisions of the Act are exhaustive—Analogical extension of saving clauses not allowed—Considerations of expediency or hardship immaterial. 32 C. W.N. 971=1928 C. 646. See also 1938 N.L. J. 336=1938 Nag. 534=I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 334; 40 Bom.L.R. 1134=1939 Bom. 1; 1940 Rang. 276 (F.B.); I.L.R. OBJECT OF ACT.—The intention of the law of limitation is, not to give a right where there is none, but to interpose a bar after a certain period to a suit to enforce an existing right. 20 I.A. 183=21 C. 8; 33 A. 356 =38 I.A. 87=21 M.L.J. 645 (P.C.); 44 M.L. A. 97; 17 C.W.N. 5=16 I.C. 742=16 C.L.J. 282; 39 M. 456=28 M.L.J. 57; 54 A. 525= 1932 A. 543; 1931 A.L.J. 1018=1931 A. 635 (F.B.). The Limitation Act does not create new obligations but only provides periods within which suits must be brought. 39 M. 456=28 M.L.J. 571; 17 C.W.N. 5=16 C.L.J. 282; 44 M.L.J. 303=1923 M. 462.

APPLICABILITY OF THE ACT.—The law of limitation is a branch of the adjective law

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN LIMITATION ACT, 1908.

I.C. 703=17 O.C. 254. The provisions of the Act do not govern suits and applications provided for by the Agra Tenancy Act. 1938 A. L.J. 208=1938 All 213. Act not retrospective and cannot revive a right to sue, a judgment or decree barred or unenforceable before the Act. 1922 P.C. 187=48 I.A. 335=26 C.W.N. 878=49 C. 203 (P.C.); 33 A. 356=38 I.A. 87=21 M.L.J. 645 (P.C.); 43 I.C. 50=33 M.L.J. 753; 40 M. 846=41 I.C. 546; 39 M. 645=29 M.L.J. 1. See also 1928 B. 28=29 Bom.L.R. 1563. If there has been an interval between the passing and the coming into force of a later Limitation Act, it is a clear indication that the Act was meant to have a retrospective operation. 43 M.L.J. 184=1922 M. 417 (2). New rules of limitation which are merely procedural apply to causes of action arising before their enactment. 1921 M. 650=62 I.C. 795=41 M.L.J. 65. Although it is not a matter of law, still it is a matter of uniform practice that civil revisions are entertained only if they are filed within three months of the date of the order sought to be revised. 1933 P. 582=147 I.C. 200. See also 30 S.L.R. 271=1936 Sind 172. Act applies to arbitration proceedings and an arbitrator is bound to give effect to all legal defences including a defence under any statute of limitation 56 C. 1048=1929 P.C. 103 (P.C.). See also 1931 M.W.N. 451=34 L.W. 507=1931 M. 319. It does not necessarily follow that awards which have not been decided in accordance with the law of limitation are on that account invalid. 34 L.W. 507=1931 M. 619. As regards the application of the statute of limitation, there is no analogy between the position of a debtor to, and a creditor of, a company in liquidation; and the winding up does not prevent the statute from running in favour of persons indebted to the company. 1933 P.C. 61=60 I.A. 13=54 A. 1067=64 M. L.J. 403 (P.C.). Per Boys, J.—The operative sections of the Limitation Act apply to all suits whether in the Civil or the Revenue Courts, while the schedules only refer to the particular matters there dealt with, and for the limitation affecting particular matters with which the Tenancy Act is concerned, reference must be made to the Tenancy Act for the period of limitation. 1930 A.L.J. 256=1930 A. 193 (F.B.). See 1938 A.L.J. 208=1938 All 213. The general provisions of the Limitation Act are founded mainly on equitable considerations which apply as much to the period of limitation prescribed by the special Act, as to the period of limitation prescribed by the Limitation Act. The principle of sec. 28 of the Limitation Act can be applied to a reference under sec. 66 (2) of the Income-tax Act. 9 P. 172=122 I.C. 810=1930 P. 14. Under the Limitation Act as amended in 1922, Secs. 4, 9 to 18 and 22 are applicable to a proceeding under the Agra Tenancy Act. 14 R.D. 248. See also 1938 All. 213. Also to Sikh Gurdwaras Act, 1930 L. 800. See also 1922 M. 268=43 M.L.J. 168=45 M. 785; 41 M.L.J. 84=1921 M. 654=44 M. 817. Where an appeal from the decree of the Consul-General is presented, his duty is only to take the memorandum of appeal when it is presented to him and transmit the same together with other papers to the High Court. He cannot decide whether the appeal is barred by time. It is only when the appeal comes on for hearing that the question of limitation can be taken. 1933 L. 681=146 I.C. 45=14 L. 656. Suit by reversionary heir—Time 'when the cause of action arises.' See I.L.R. (1943) Mad. 1=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 249 (P.C.)=46 C.W.N. 1008=1942 P. C. 54.

CONSTRUCTION.—The statute of limitation should be construed strictly. 47 I.C. 122; 27 I.C. 935 (2)=11 N.L.R. 18; 32 I.C. 536; 1929 L. 513; 1938 A.W.R. (B.R.) 200. See also 1939 All. 82=I.L.R. 1939 A. 207. The Act is strict and inflexible and does not admit of an equitable construction. 11 Pat.L.T. 403=1930 P. 455; 1932 P.C. 165=59 I.A. 283=M.L.J. 329 (P.C.); 1933 C. 422=144 I.C. 150. In a matter governed by the Act, which in some respects gives the Court a statutory discretion, the Court has no general discretion, outside the limits of the Act, to dispense with its provisions or to relieve a suitor from the operation of the Act in a case of hardship or mistake. 1935 P.C. 85=68 M.L.J. 65=62 I. A. 80=57 A. 242 (P.C.); 1935 A. 323; 1929 A. 677=118 I.C. 670; 1933 C. 422=144 I.C. 150; 1941 Rang. L.R. 1=1940 Rang. 276. The Courts in India are bound by the specific provisions of the Limitation Act and are not permitted to move outside the ambit of these provisions. There is no place in the law of limitation in India for a "general principle of limitation." It is not permissible to the Court to discover in the provisions of the Limitation Act general principles and to apply these principles to cases which are not specifically provided for by the Act itself. I.L.R. (1939) All. 207=1939 A.L.J. 29=1939 All. 82. The Courts should, as far as possible, place upon the Limitation Act, a construction favourable to the plaintiffs. 1930 M. 991=59 M.L.J. 881=54 M. 445. In determining the proper article of the Limitation Act applicable to a suit, what has to be considered is the "true effect of the suit and not its formal or verbal description." 37 P.L.R. 461=1934 L. 725; 1940 O. 134=1939 O.W.N. 1005=15 Luck. 157. If the plaintiff is entitled so to frame his suit as to make a certain article giving a favourable period of limitation applicable, it is not a valid objection to say that he could have framed it otherwise so as to make a less favourable article applicable. 1932 A.L.J. 317=1932 A. 358; 127 I.C. 881=1930 N. 300. See also 146 I.C. 811. Lapse of limitation, apart from sec. 28, bars only the remedy and does not extinguish the title of the claimant. 52 A. 979=1930 A. 858; 132 I.C. 661=1931 L. 668. Nor does it extinguish a debt. 53 A. 969=1932 A. 199. See also 54 A. 525=1932 A. 543. Courts are not at liberty to allow new periods of suspension not provided for in the Act. 40 M. 1040=43 I.C. 31=33 M.L.J. 320 (F.B.). As to construction of the Act, see also 67 I.C. 365=55 P.L.R. 1922 =1921 Lah. 335 (Particular articles to be applied in preference to general articles); 21 M.L.J. 1041=12 I.C. 695; 41 M. 18=33 M. L.J. 25. See also 1930 N. 366; 130 I.C. 157 =1931 N. 47; 127 I.C. 889=1930 N. 300. The provisions of the Limitation Act require to be very strictly interpreted. Limitation laws are very necessary, otherwise no person could remain certain that he would not be dragged before the Courts to answer for a debt allegedly incurred by some earlier ancestor of his. Persons who delay to enforce their claims in the Courts are guilty either of laches or must be held to delay to the uttermost extent for reasons of their own. It is not the duty of the Courts to attempt to interpret the law of limitation wherever possible in favour of the creditor. There must be no attempt to force the Limitation law to condone this suggested technical difficulty. 1946 A.M.L.J. 13. It is an elementary principle of law that where a remedy has existed by way of suit the remedy continues to exist unless it is taken away by statute either expressly or by necessary implication. It is incumbent upon the Court to examine the relevant section of the amending statute to find out whether the right of suit has been taken away. 59 L.W. 143=1946 M. 346=(1946) 1 M.L.J. 185. The Indian Limitation Act is not applicable to the case of a defendant and the party in possession is not affected by it. It refers only to the remedy of the plaintiff and not even to his rights and even though the remedy may be barred, the right may still exist. 1946 O.W.N. 1=21 Luck. 194=1946 Oudh 129. Special article of a special local Act must be applied in preference to general article. 105 I.C. 431=1927 N. 402. The first and the third columns of an article should be given the same meaning as in other columns. 40 M. 1040=33 M.L.J. 320 (F.B.). Where both first and third columns of an article do not apply to a case, the residuary article must be applied. 40 M. 1040=33 M.L.J. 320. The Court, in discovering the Article of the Limitation Act applicable to a suit, is not tied down to the statements in the plaint. In order to determine it, it is the duty of the Court to consider the facts and circumstances admitted and proved in the case. 15 Luck. 157=1940 O. 131=1939 O.W.N. 1005; 39 Bom L.R. 224=1937 Bom. 244. It is impossible for parties by consent or agreement to extend or alter the period of limitation. Parties cannot waive the statute. 178 I.C. 20=1938 Rang. 328. In considering whether a particular remedy is barred one looks not at the relief given but at the cause of action, that is, at the necessary allegations which have to be made and found before the relief sought can be given. I.L.R. (1939) Nag. 1=1938 N. 335 (F.B.). A statutory liability will be governed by the same articles as a Common Law liability, if the words of the articles are capable of covering it. 42 I.C. 502=33 M.L.J. 379. The sections in the Act govern and control the application of the articles, except where the language of a particular article clearly precludes the application of a section. 12 I.C. 695=21 M.L.J. 1041. Exemption from Limitation—Ground for—Not stated in execution application—Party not entitled subsequently to rely on it. 1933 S. 365. Obstruction to a right of way being a "continuing nuisance", limitation does not apply to such a case. 60 C.L.J. 213=1935 C. 201.

BURDEN OF PROOF.—When limitation is pleaded in defence the duty of proving that the suit is in time lies on the plaintiff. 1941 R.D. 672=1941 O.A. (Supp.) 617=1941 A. W.R. (Rev.) 677; 1942 O.W.N. (B.R.) 454.

ACT APPLIES TO CLAIMS, NOT DEFENCES.—Limitation Act does not bar defences to an action, e.g., plea of fraud. 20 C.W.N. 957=34 I.C. 37=1916 P.C. 172=31 M.L.J. 362 (P.C.); 37 Bom.L.R. 471=1935 B. 326=59 B. 502. See 35 I.C. 610=32 M.L.J. 84; 49 I.C. 115; 1928 C. 810=110 I.C. 571; 1929 A. 776 but the Act bars a plea of set-off. 66 I.C. 209=25 C.W.N. 800=1921 C. 67=48 C. 817. The Act does not bar the use of a mortgage as a shield, by way of equitable defence, though suit to enforce it is barred. 108 I.C. 149=1928 A. 99. See also 132 I.C. 767 =1931 O. 157; 138 I.C. 206=9 O.W.N. 387 =7 Luck. 655=1933 Oudh 9. A party in possession cannot be prejudicially affected by the law of limitation. 132 I.C. 661=1931 L. 688. Even if a claim based on certain facts is barred by efflux of time, a defence based on those facts is not so barred. 182 I.C. 510 =1938 Lah. 286. It is not the law that limitation can never affect a plea urged in defence. Where the plea rests on a right which the defendant had no occasion to urge until his possession was attacked, limitation would not ordinarily affect his defence; but when his defence raises a plea of some incohate and imperfect right, the establishment of which would depend upon a suit within a particular time, he should not be allowed to urge the defence if the suit which has not been brought would, at the time when he urged the defence, have been time-barred. 1939 Mad. 678=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 770. By the Punjab Laws Act, 1872, the Mahomedan Law is made applicable to the religious institutions of Muslims but only in so far as it has not been modified by legislation. Thus the Limitation Act applies though limitation is not an original principle of Mahomedan Law. The rules of limitation which apply to a suit are the rules in force at the date of the institution of the suit, limitation being a matter of procedure. The Limitation Act applies to immovables made waqf, notwithstanding that the ownership in such property is said to be in God. The Limitation Act provides a rule of procedure whereby British

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "applicant" includes any person from or through whom an applicant derives his right to apply:

(2) "bill of exchange" includes a hundi and a cheque:

(3) "bond" includes any instrument whereby a person obliges himself to pay money to another, on condition that the obligations shall be void if a specified act is performed, or is not performed, as the case may be:

Indian Courts do not enforce rights after a certain time, with the result that certain rights come to an end. It is impossible to read into the modern Limitation Acts any exception for property made waqf for the purpose of a mosque whether the purpose be merely to provide money for the upkeep and conduct of a mosque or to provide a site and building for the purpose. 67 I.A. 251=I.L.R. (1940) Lah. 493=52 L.W. 266=44 C.W.N. 957=42 Bom.L.R. 1100=1940 P.C. 116 =(1940) 2 M.L.J. 903 (P.C.).

STARTING POINT.—As to starting point of limitation, see 64 I.C. 447=19 A.L.J. 836= 1921 All. 73. When an appeal is preferred against an original decree after amendment but not attacking any point in the amendment, the period of limitation is computed from the date of the original decree. 43 A. 380=19 A.L.J. 152=192 I.A. 60. The period during which the execution of a decree is stayed by order of Court can be deducted in computing the period of limitation for executing a decree. 1923 C. 310 (2). Suspension of limitation period during pendency of Insolvency petition, see 1938 M. 19=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 703; 1937 M.W.N. 1182. Institution of administration suit does not save or suspend limitation. 38 Bom.L.R. 864=1936 Bom. 423. Time bona fide spent in appeal to administrative authorities may be deducted. 29 S.L.R. 382=1936 Sind 108. Decree incapable of execution—Time when begins to run. 1922 C. 136. Where a plaint is amended, it relates back to the date of the presentation of the plaint and limitation is counted from the date of the presentation. 63 I.C. 701. An order of Court cannot give a cause of action to a party to start a judicial proceeding. A cause of action briefly means "right and the infringement of the right". Where a party has an undoubted right and that right is infringed, a cause of action at once accrues to him. When it has so accrued and time has begun to run against him, an act of Court restraining him from interfering with or obstructing the opposite party, passed in a suit by that party, can never amount to an infringement of his right. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 173=40 Bom.L.R. 1134=1939 Bom. 1. A party cannot claim fresh period of limitation on the basis of an order of execution Court which referred him to a regular suit if so advised. 40 P.L.R. 768=1938 Lah. 437. So long as the attachment is in force, the decree must be considered to be under execution and the decree holder is not called upon to make any fresh application to that effect. If he files a fresh application during the pendency of the previous application, it is not subject to any limitation. 189 I.C. 585. Starting point in case of fresh cause of action. See 43 M. 845=59 I.C. 472=39 M.L.J. 312; 1938 M.W.N. 113 =1938 Mad. 429. The question whether an application for review gives a fresh starting point of limitation for a declaratory suit depends upon whether the application reopened the question already decided. 66 I.C. 205=1922 O. 148. The pendency of an arbitration before an arbitrator does not oust the jurisdiction of a Civil Court and the fact of the reference does not suspend the operation of limitation. 61 I.C. 807=6 P.L.J. 273 =1921 P. 166 (2). Condition that suit is to be filed "within two months". Starting point. See 1937 M.W.N. 1319. Where time is given to a party to pay a certain sum of money "by a certain date", it includes that date. The word "by" indicates the utmost limit of time, being the end or the expiry of the date or period indicated; and in reckoning a day it is to be taken as from midnight to midnight. Although a Court of Law is not expected to receive money after 5 P.M., or 6 P.M., if a tender is made at any time before midnight that day, it is a valid tender. 15 Mys.L.J. 503=42 Mys.H.C.R. 545. Where in a suit against two defendants, an interlocutory judgment is passed dismissing the suit against one of them, and a final judgment later on dismissing the suit against both, limitation for purposes of appeal begins to run from the date of the interlocutory judgment so far as the former defendant is concerned. 164 I.C. 718=1936 Rang. 313. Suit against two persons—Notice under sec. 80, C. P. Code, required against one only —Limitation period is extended against the other also. 32 S.L.R. 106=1937 Sind 281= 172 I.C. 622.

LACHES.—Defence of laches cannot prevail where a statutory period of limitation is prescribed. 41 C. 771=26 I.C. 284=18 C. W.N. 631. A plea of limitation which is apparent on face of record can be taken in appeal, though not taken in the trial Court, where such plea has not been waived. 1933 L. 1044 (1).

(4) "defendant" includes any person from or through whom a defendant derives his liability to be sued:

(5) "easement" includes a right not arising from contract, by which one person is entitled to remove and appropriate for his own profit any part of the soil belonging to another or anything growing in, or attached to or subsisting upon, the land of another:

(6) 'foreign country,' means any country other than British India:

(7) "good faith" nothing shall be deemed to be done in good faith which is not done with due care and attention:

(8) "plaintiff," includes any person from or through whom a plaintiff derives his right to sue:

(9) "promissory note" means any instrument whereby the maker engages absolutely to pay a specified sum of money to another at a time therein limited, or on demand, or at sight:

(10) "suit" does not include an appeal or an application: and

(11) "trustee" does not include a benamidar, a mortgagee remaining in possession after the mortgage has been satisfied, or a wrong-doer in possession without title.

PART II.

LIMITATION OF SUITS, APPEALS AND APPLICATIONS.

Dismissal of suits, etc., instituted, etc., after period of limitation.

3. Subject to the provisions contained in sections 4 to 25 (inclusive), every suit instituted, appeal preferred, and application made, after the period of limitation prescribed therefor by the first schedule shall be dismissed, although limitation has not been set up as a defence.

SEC. 2 (4): "DEFENDANT".—Subsequently born son in a joint Mitakshara Hindu family —Liability to be sued. See 3 P.L.T. 709 =1 P. 506=1922 P. 450. Independent trespasser claiming to be in possession in his own right does not derive liability through a former trespasser. 44 C. 858=44 I.A. 104= 32 M.L.J. 505 (P.C.). The definition of "defendant" in sec. 2 (4) must be read into sec. 13. (1945) 1 M.L.J. 275=58 L.W. 181=1945 Mad. 315.

SEC. 2 (5): EASEMENT.—See 1944 Pat. 261. "One Person".—An indeterminate and fluctuating body like the Sonthals and Ghatwals cannot acquire easement rights. 2 P.L.J. 323 =39 I.C. 868. A mere right to fish not excluding the rightful owner is a profit a prendre and falls within the definition of easement given in sec. 2 (5) of the Act. 148 I.C. 431=1934 P. 420. So also a right to cut bamboos in another's land. 155 I.C. 966 =16 Pat.L.T. 192=1935 P. 188.

SEC. 2 (7): "GOOD FAITH".—Wanton negligence on the part of a legal adviser is not "good faith". 3 P.L.J. 484=46 I.C. 509. See 13 I.C. 260=5 S.L.R. 181.

SEC. 2 (8).—The term "plaintiff" does not include "ghatwal". Ghatwal does not claim through his father. 17 C.W.N. 137=40 C. 173. Mere transfer of title does not prolong cause of action. 24 I.C. 216; 7 M.I.A. 323 (353). As to purchaser from Government, see 28 C.W.N. 66=1924 C. 394. A succeeding watandar claims under his predecessor. So, adverse possession against the previous holder operates equally as bar to a suit by the successor against the vendee of watan lands. 55 B. 21=129 I.C. 145=1931 B. 24.

SEC. 2 (10).— "Suit" does not include an appeal. 8 B.R. 397.

SEC. 3: SCOPE OF SECTION.—Sec. 3 is mandatory and a suit or an application shall be dismissed even if limitation has not been set up. 24 C.L.J. 467=21 C.W.N. 564; 39 I.C. 154=11 Bur.L.T. 73; 29 I.C. 476=19 C.W.N. 970. See also 155 I.C. 588=1935 N. 109; 152 I.C. 939=1935 A. 92; 62 I.A. 80 =57 All. 242=1935 P.C. 85=68 M.L.J. 665 (P.C.). But see 23 I.C. 360; 16 I.C. 418; 42 I.C. 536; 32 I.C. 785; 34 C. 941 (F.B.); 1933 A.L.J. 1283; I.L.R. (1937) Nag. 61=1936 Nag. 285; I.L.R. (1939) All. 990=1939 A.L. J. 1127=1940 All. 29. Sec. 3 is mandatory and leaves no room for equitable considerations. 167 I.C. 217=1942 Pat. 335. Sec. 3 applies to every suit including suits concerning mosques, religious endowments, and lands and buildings dedicated to religious uses. 40 P.L.R. 319=1938 Lah. 369. An application to execute an award under the Bombay Co-operatice Societies Act falls within sec. 3 and the Limitation Act is applicable to such an application. 40 Bom.L.R. 889=1938 Bom. 424. The principle is applicable even to an appellate Court. 1936 N. 285; I.L.R. (1937) Nag. 61. Though limitation is not pleaded or raised in the trial Court, the appellate Court before which the plea is first raised must take notice of it if it appears to that Court that the suit is barred by time. 20 Pat.L.T. 124=1939 Pat. 421. No doubt the plea of limitation can be urged at any stage having regard to sec. 3, but when a party does take the appropriate defence but does not put before the Court materials to sustain that defence, it is difficult for the Court sitting in appeal to give effect to the contention. 64 C.L.J. 513=1936 Cal. 382. Court has no power to relieve a suitor on the ground of hardship or mistake. 30 S.L.R. 242=165 I.C. 91=1936 S. 169 (Application under O. 22, r. 9, C. P. Code). A combination of claims in one action can be split into its component parts each of which comes under its own rule of limitation. 130 I.C. 574=1931 L. 309. A Court is not bound to take notice suo motu of the fact that an application made to the trial Court was barred by limitation. 1929 A. 485=121 I.C. 552. But see also 1930 A. 699; 1940 Rang.L.R. 273=1940 R. 207. In an application for transfer of execution, the transferring Court should investigate the question of limitation when raised, as it is the proper Court to decide such objections under sec. 39, C. P. Code. 1929 M. 199=29 L.W. 246. Any Court having an application for execution made to it must suo motu determine the question of limitation. It has not only power but duty to determine such question. 1930 A. 699. Sec. 3 is not affected by sec. 151, C. P. Code. 57 I.C. 15. Inherent powers of Court cannot be invoked to evade limitation. 43 M.L.J. 184 =1922 M. 417 (2). Court is assumed to have decided plea of limitation unless contrary is shown. 8 Pat.L.T. 494=1927 P. 261. The question whether a suit is within time must be decided primarily on the basis of the plaintiffs' own pleadings and not on the basis of defence set up. 1933 L. 404. See also 1933 L. 491=34 P.L.R. 841. It is in the discretion of the Judge or the officer appointed in that behalf to accept an application beyond office hours, and if the discretion is exercised in favour of a litigant it could not be said that the discretion was not properly exercised. Where an application for execution is presented to an officer appointed to receive such application on the last day of limitation beyond office hours, the presentation is valid. No ratification by the Judge is necessary for such presentation. I.L.R. (1938) Nag. 451=1938 Nag. 46. Sec. 3 is mandatory and leaves no room for equitable considerations. 197 I.C. 217=1942 P. 335.

"SUIT".—Sch. I prescribes periods of limitation for bringing suits and sec. 3 does not apply to defences. 1 P.R. 1916=32 I.C. 485; 40 I.C. 820=1917 M.W.N. 327; 40 I.C. 358 =5 L.W. 593. But see 41 M. 102=33 M.L.J. 309 (A person whose right to set aside an alienation is barred cannot attack the alienation by way of defence to a suit for possession brought by the alienee). Exemption from limitation cannot be recognised apart from what the Limitation Act itself provides. 37 M. 186=24 M.L.J. 96; 62 C. 66 =1935 C. 333. Disqualification of a proprietor under the Court of Wards Act is no ground for exemption from limitation. 16 I.A. 60=46 C. 694=23 C.W.N. 531=1918 P. C. 180=36 M.L.J. 210 (P.C.): 28 I.C. 818=19 C.W.N. 1193. An application to execute a decree of a Baroda Court sent to British Court is governed by the local law of the Court where the application to execute is filed and will be rejected if barred by that Act. 40 B. 504=18 Bom.L.R. 481. The Act applies to appeals from Revenue Courts to the District Judge. 25 I.C. 703=17 O.C. 254. The Act does not apply to a reference to a Judge on an order by a Deputy Registrar of the Chief Court. 38 I.C. 563=9 Bur.L.T. 226. Plea of prescriptive right, i.e., positive limitation cannot be taken at any stage. 1928 N. 203. Sec. 3 does not apply to the case of a claim by a liquidator against the company. 8 R. 581 =1931 R. 72. Application by Official Assignee under secs. 7 and 36, Presidency Towns Insolvency Act is equivalent to "suit" for the purpose of this section and Art. 109. 59 M. 1020=1936 M. 778=71 M.L.J. 289 (F.B.).

DATE OF INSTITUTION.—For purposes of Limitation Act a suit must be deemed to be instituted on the date on which the plaint is presented to the proper officer even in the case of suits where leave under Cl. 12 of the Letters Patent is necessary. Therefore a suit is within time if the plaint is presented to the proper officer within the period of limitation even though leave under Cl. 12 of the Letters Patent is obtained after the expiry of such period. 44 C.W.N. 604. Where a memorandum of appeal is presented to the Court on the last day of limitation with insufficient Court-fee and the deficiency in Court-fee is subsequently paid by the appellant of his own accord, the appeal must be deemed to have been presented only on the date when the Court-fee is paid in full, and is therefore out of time. 165 I.C. 57=14 L.W. 249. See also 1938 M.W.N. 257=1938 M. 560=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 135. When an amendment has been allowed and a date has been fixed for filing the amended plaint the presentation of the amended plaint relates back to the original presentation of the plaint, and the date of the original presentation of the plaint has to be taken to be the date of institution of the suit for the purpose of sec. 3. 14 Rang. 383=1936 Rang. 508. Where a plaint in a suit presented within the period of limitation is returned for want of pecuniary jurisdiction, and the plaint is reduced in its scope in order to get over the difficulty of want of jurisdiciton and represented to the same Court on a date on which a new suit would be barred, it may be treated as a continuation of the previous, suit; the Court returning the plaint has power to receive the plaint with a reduced scope on re-presentation. 49 L.W. 25=1939 M.W.N. 449=1939 Mad. 397. See also 1940 Mad. 689=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 590. Registration of a document having been refused on 3—11—1928, a suit was instituted on 1—12—1928 under sec. 77 of the Registration Act. The defendant who was a lunatic died on 15—12—1928, without a guardian ad litem having been appointed at all. His heirs were substituted on 18—1—1929. Held, the suit was instituted on 1—12—1928 and not on 18—12—1929, when the heirs of the deceased defendant were substituted; it cannot be said that, because there was no guardian ad litem appointed for the lunatic defendant, there was no legally instituted suit against him. 38 C.W.N. 900=1934 C. 833. Where the person against whom an appeal is to be presented is a minor, the appointment of a proper guardian is not a necessary preliminary to the filing of an appeal, although it is necessary before the appeal can be properly heard and disposed of. The appeal therefore must be deemed to have been presented in time by calculation of the date when it was actually presented. 1936 P.W.N. 321=1936 Pat. 153.

CONSENT OR AGREEMENT OF PARTIES—WAIVER.—Where the plea of limitation is waived though the suit is time-barred, the decree following is a consent decree and thus not appealable. 47 I.A. 200=18 A.L.J 625 =24 C.W.N. 1055 (P.C.)=39 M.L.J. 68 (P. C.). There is no estoppel against a statute. Willingness to pay barred instalments in previous suit does not operate as estoppel. 24 I.C. 507.

ONUS.—The plaintiff must prove from his own allegation that his suit is not barred by limitation. He cannot rely on defendant's allegations. 6 P.R. 1912=12 I.C. 453 (2). Burden of proof—Suit for recovery of deposit—Plaintiff's case prima facie within time—Defendant must plead and prove that particular demand was made and refused beyond period of limitation. 1934 A. 11.

PLEA WHEN CAN BE RAISED.—The question of limitation can be taken at any time in the course of proceedings. 1 Pat.L.J. 221=36 I. C. 960. See also 35 I.C. 337; 20 I.C. 360; 1933 N. 130=29 N.L.R. 272. PERIOD TO OBTAIN SANCTION NOT EXCLUDED. —Where the plaintiff who wanted to sue a native prince applied to the Government of India for previous sanction and it took four years to obtain the same and by that time the suit had become barred, the four years period could not be deducted. 30 Bom.L.R. 1463.

EXPLANATION — "SUIT INSTITUTED".—A mere claim against a company in compulsory liquidation is not by virtue of the explanation to sec. 3 a "suit instituted" within the meaning of sec. 3. The "Explanation" merely enacts that in the case of a suit (i.e., a proceeding instituted by the presentation of a plaint) against a company which is being wound up by the Court, the institution of such a suit is for purposes of sec. 3 advanced to an earlier date, namely, the date when the claim was first sent in to the Official Liquidator. 60 I.A. 13=54 A. 1067=1933 P.C. 63=64 M.L.J. 403 (P.C.). A suit is instituted on the day on which the plaint is presented. 27 C. 814; 31 C. 75; even if insufficiently stamped provided the deficiency is supplied within the time allowed by Court. 27 Cal. 814; 31 Cal. 75. See also 1940 Mad. 689=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 590; 1939 Mad. 397. The presentation of a plaint to a Court which has no jurisdiction to try the suit cannot be said to be the institution of the suit, even though the plaint has been accepted as being in order and registered. But when a plaint is presented to a Court having jurisdiction and that Court accepts the plaint as being in order, it must be held that the suit has been instituted. Merely because at some later stage, as the result of a finding on the value of the subject matter of the suit, it is found that the plaint should have been presented to another Court having jurisdiction and that the plaint is returned for presentation to that Court, it does not mean that the suit has not been instituted. And when a plaint has been so returned and re-presented to the Court having jurisdiction, the date of institution of the suit is the date on which the plaint was originally presented and not the date on which it is re-presented. 1941 Mad. 711=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 629. But when deficiency in Court-fee is subsequently paid by a party of his own accord, the appeal must be deemed to have been presented only on the date when the Court-fee is paid in full. 165 I.C. 57=44 L.W. 249. Plaint presented on the last day after Court hours to the Judge. 65 I.C. 674; 34 A. 482 (F.B.). The plaint must be presented to an officer authorized to receive it. 12 A. 57=18 W.R. 172; 8 M. 411. Similarly, in the case of appeals. 15 M. 78; 19 C. 747; 12 A. 129; 20 M. 319=7 M.L.J. 259; 16 C. 250. But see 37 P.L.R. 124=1935 L. 124 (2). But to save limitation, when application to sue as pauper is rejected, permission of Court should be obtained to pay Court-fee on original plaint. 41 C.W.N. 537=65 C. L.J. 151=1937 C. 241. Such permission will not be given when application to sue as pauper was not bona fide, but was made merely to gain time to pay Court-fee. 166 I.C. 796= 1937 N. 36. The plaint is presented when it is handed over to the proper officer in the prothonotary's office. The obtaining of the leave of the Judge under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent in a case where such leave is necessary and the admission of the plaint does not affect in any way the presentation of the plaint for the purposes of the Limitation Act. 36 Bom.L.R. 84=1934 B. 91. Plaint filed by pleader not only authorized in writing—Not valid presentation. 39 C.W.N. 534; 44 L.W. 528=165 I.C. 659=71 M.L.J. 604=I.L.R. 1937 M. 320=1937 M. 239. But see 63 C 733=40 C.W.N. 730. The effect of secs. 3 and 9, is that all questions of limitation have to be decided under the Act, and once time has begun to run, no subsequent disability or inability stops it, and no equitable grounds for suspension of the running of the time or of the cause of action outside the provisions of secs. 4 to 25 of the Act can be relied on or added to those provisions. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 173=40 Bom.L.R. 1134=1939 Bom. 1.

SECS. 3 AND 4.—If a plaintiff, availing himself of the option given to him under O. 2, R. 3, C. P. Code, has united several causes of action against the same defendant before a Court competent to try not necessarily those causes of action separately but the suit as a whole when those causes of action are combined, the question of limitation under secs. 3 and 4 of the Limitation Act has to be regarded with special reference to the jurisdiction of that Court to try the suit and not to the jurisdiction of the other Courts which have been able to try those suits when split up had they been brought before them No restriction can be implied on the facilities given by O. 2, R. 3 to a plaintiff to join several causes of action because it happens that another Court might have tried one of those causes of action. sued on. The law of limitation should not be unduly strained to bar a suit any more than it should be strained to allow it to be tried. 1941 Mad. 786=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 244. Courts have no power to invent new grounds of exemption from limitation. I.L.R. 1942 M. 562=1942 M. 487=(1942) 1 M.L.J. 472.

SEC. 4: APPLICABILITY.—There is a marked distinction in the scope and purpose of secs. 4 and 14 of the Limitation Act. Sec. 14 provides for the exclusion of certain periods in computing the period of limitation. Sec. 4, on the other hand, has nothing to do with computing the period of limitation. What it provides is that where the period prescribed expires on a day when the Court is closed, the application, etc., may be made on the day the Court re-opens. There is nothing in sec. 4 which alters the length of the prescribed period. 62 I.A. 80=57 All. 242=1935 P.C. 85=68 M.L.J. 665 (P.C.); I.L.R. (1937) N. 217=1937 Nag. 215; 1940 N.L.J. 227=1940 N. 401; 1940 N.L.J. 607=1941 N. 100=I.L. R. 1941 N. 144. Sec. 4 has nothing to do with computing the period prescribed under sec. 19. Consequently, an acknowledgment signed after the expiration of the period prescribed by sec. 19 cannot be brought within time by the application of sec. 4. I.L.R. (1941) Nag. 144=1941 Nag. 100. See also 1937 Lah. 642; 45 L.W. 72=1937 M. 367. Sec. 19 cannot include the period extended by sec. 4. Where the period of three years prescribed for a suit on a promissory note expires during a period when the Court is closed, an acknowledgment of liability or endorsement made after such date but before the re-opening of the Court will not serve as a fresh starting point of limitation. 1937 Mad. 367=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 262=I.L.R. 1945 M. 634=1945 M. 137= (1945) 1 M.L.J. 38; 1938 A. 606=I.L.R. 1938 All. 861. Sec. 4 applies to cases where a definite period of limitation is given in the section, not applicable to conditions in the decree. No Court has power to alter the terms of the decree when it has become final so as to extend the time allowed for payment. 41 A. 47=48 I.C. 353=16 A.L.J. 892. In order to enable a party to avail himself of the provisions of sec. 4 of the Act, it must be shown that the suit is instituted in a Court which had jurisdiction to entertain the suit. Where the Court in which the suit is instituted on the re-opening day after a vacation is a Court which has no pecuniary jurisdiction to entertain the suit, and the plaint is returned to be filed in proper Court, the plaintiff is not entitled to deduct the period of the vacation in calculating the period of limitation. 48 C. W.N. 187. The furnishing of security or the deposit of costs is not an application within the meaning of sec. 4. An appellant to the Federal Court who deposits the printing charges does not move the Court to do anything. 19 Pat. 123=20 P.L.T. 905=1939 Pat. 667 (F.B.). Even if it be assumed that the application for obtaining a copy of the decree does not strictly fall within the purview of sec. 4, the general principle underlying this section, which has been reproduced in sec. 10, General Clauses Act, must be given effect to, namely that where an act or proceeding is allowed to be done on a certain day, then if the Court or office is closed on that day, the act or proceeding shall be considered as done or taken in due time if it is done or taken on the next day on which the Court or office is opened. 1938 Lah. 707. Sec. 4 has no application where a certain date has been fixed for payment by agreement of parties. 56 I.C. 495=1 Pat.L.T. 227. But see 12 I.C. 810=7 N.L.R. 176. Whether applicable to L. The provisions of sec. 4 are quite general and apply to an application under sec. 12 (2) of the Oudh Courts Act. 14 Luck. 138=1938 O.W.N. 706=1938 Oudh 186; 1942 O. W.N. 106=17 Luck. 628=1942 Oudh 240. Where the time for presenting an application expires while a Court is closed, the applicant may present it to Court on the date when it opens again. The date of presentation goes back to the day when it ought to have been, but could not be, presented. 120 I.C. 377. The period allowed by sec. 4 is not intended to be cut down; and a litigant should not be deprived of his right to go to a normal Court subject to normal procedure because a Court of a very special nature—the Village Court—happens to be open to him. A plaintiff is therefore entitled to wait for the re-opening of the Munsiff's Court after the vacation in order to avail himself of sec. 4 of the Limitation Act, though the suit may be cognizable in the Village Court and there is no compulsion to go to the Village Court which might be open on the day the period of limitation expired. The Court of the lowest grade in sec. 15, C. P. Code, refers to Courts subject to the Code and cannot refer to a Village Court. I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 684=51 L.W. 179 =1940 Mad. 495=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 220. An application to the Civil Court under O. 21, R. 89, C. P. Code, to set aside an execution sale held by the Collector, is one in respect of which the benefit of sec. 4 of the Limitation Act can be availed of. The fact that the Court of the Collector was open when the limition expired does not make sec. 4 inapplicable. 40 Bom.L.R. 15°=1938 Bom. 209. As to presentation of appeal, see 1931 P. 60=130 I.C. 265 (1). Sec. 4 applies to suits under sec. 77 of the Registration Act. 12 I.C. 33=16 C.W.N. 20. Also to applications under sec. 54 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920. 1933 M.W.N. 1049. The principle laid down in sec. 4 of the Act and in sec. 10 of the General Clauses Act is not applicable to the period of limitation prescribed by a pre-emption decree for the payment of money. 67 I.C. 772=3 L L J. 310=1921 Lah. 6 (F.B.). Sec. 4 of the Limitation Act and sec. 10 of the General Clauses Act give expression to the general principle of law enunciated by the maxims Lex non cogit ad impossibilia—the law does not compel a man to do that which he cannot possibly perform, and Actus curiae neminem gravabit—an act of the Court shall prejudice no man. These sections do not in any way extend the period of limitation, nor do they furnish any data for computation of time; they merely embody a rule of elementary justice that if the time allowed by statute to do an act or to take a proceeding expires on a day when the court is closed; it may be done on the next sitting of the court. Though sec. 4 allows an appellant to file an appeal on the opening day of the Court though time has expired when the Court was closed, it does not operate so as to extend the prescribed period of limitation. In computing the period of limitation the proper method is to take what is primarily the prescribed period and then add to it the periods which are excluded by reason of sec. 12 or 14 or such like. If these periods all taken together happen to expire on the date on which the Court is closed, the party can wait and file an appeal on the date when the Court reopens. I.L.R. (1946) Lah. 107. A plaint filed in wrong Court was returned. It was represented after holidays as holidays intervened. Limitation was saved under secs. 14 and 4 of the Act. 33 C.W.N. 221=1929 C. 315.

SECS. 4 AND 12.—After filing an award in Court, the respondent served a notice on the petitioner on 21st November, 1941 and obtained judgment in terms of the award under sec. 17 of the Arbitration Act on 22nd December, 1941. Later on the same day the petitioner presented an application to set aside the award. The last day of the period prescribed by Art. 158 of the Limitation Act for making such an application, viz., 21st December, 1941, being a Sunday, was a day on which the Court was closed. Held, that sec. 4 of the Limitation Act did not extend the period in cases where the last date of the period was a day on which the Court was closed, but only gave to the party concerned the right to make the application on the day that the Court re-opened, although the period had in fact expired and that, therefore, the privilege which that section conferred upon the petitioner did not prejudice the right of the respondent to obtain judgment in terms of the award on the expiry of thirty days from the date of the service of the notice and that consequently, the Court had jurisdiction to pronounce judgment in terms of the award on 22nd December, 1941. I.L. R. (1942) 2 Cal. 160=1942 Cal. 566.

SECS. 4 AND 20.—Sec. 4 does not prescribe a period of limitation but merely enables a suit, the limitation of which has expired during the time when the Courts are closed, to be filed on the reopening day. It does not add to any period of limitation. Accordingly, a payment made after the expiry of limitation but during the holidays when the suit could not be filed, cannot be pleaded to save limitation. 1946 A.W.R. (C.C.) 175=1946 O.A. (C.C.) 175=1946 O.W.N. 224.

SEC. 5: APPLICABILITY.—An application for leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council comes within the purview of sec. 5. 1923 A. 536; 1923 O. 93=26 O.C. 24. Sec. 5 contemplates an appeal that is to be instituted for the first time and not an appeal which has already been instituted but is amended later on account of any defect in the memorandum of appeal. The section cannot be invoked by an appellant who seeks to implead a necessary party after the limitation for the appeal. 42 P.L.R. 355=1940 Lah. 314.

The provisions of sec. 5 are not applicable to an application for a final decree in a mortgage suit under Art. 181 and the Court has, therefore, no discretion under sec. 5 to extend the period of limitation prescribed by Art. 181; 62 I. There is no general discretion given to the Court to waive the period of limitation, or to extend it in hard cases. Sec. 5 does provide for extension in certain cases, but this section only applies to appeals or applications to which this section has been made specifically applicable; it does not apply to applications under O. 41, r. 19, C. There is therefore no inherent power remaining to the High Court ex debita justitiae to allow appeals which are time-barred, or to set aside an order dismissing an appeal under O. 41, r. 18, C. P. Code. Sec. 5 has not been made applicable to applications under O. 44, r. 1 and hence if such an application is out of time, no extension can be allowed. 15 Luck. 390=186 I.C. 161. Sec. 5 does not apply to extend the period of 30 days provided by Art. 166. 2 P.W.R. 1919=50 I.C. 610. Section does not apply to an application under O. 21, r. 89, C. P. Code. 1925 O. 411=87 I. C. 722; 1933 R. 8. The period of limitation under Art. 166 being fixed by statute and not by the Court, it cannot be extended under sec. 148, C. P. Code, or under sec. 5, Limitation Act. 148 I.C. 1082=1934 Pesh. 25. The proviso to sec. 5 can be applied to extend the time which is limited by a section which is mandatory. 99 I.C. 779=1927 N. 165. Where limitation is prescribed by special rules made by the High Court, sec. 5 does not apply to extend the time. 110 I.C. 719=50 All. 865=1928 All. 708. Question of limitation does not arise when both Courts —District Court and Additional District Judge's Court—are part and parcel of the same District Court. 1928 N. 199. An application for review of judgmnet must be made within 90 days of the passing of the judgment and it is only when sufficient cause is shown that the time can be extended under sec. 5. 1931 A.L.J. 103=1931 A. 218. Sec. 5 applies to an application for review of an order passed under Companies Act. 116 I.C. 427=1929 N. 185. Applicability of sec. 5 to Income-tax Act, sec. 66. See 1937 Lah. 876. Sec. 29 of the Act makes it quite clear that sec. 5 would not apply for the purpose of extending the period of limitation prescribed by a special law like that embodied in the Registration Act. 42 C.W.N. 1174. Minority is a factor to be taken into account when considering circumstances which justify the application of sec. 5. Applications for the extension of time under sec. 5 have to be more liberally construed in favour of minors than other litigants. I.L.R. (1939) Lah. 433=1939 Lah. 439. Sec. 5 applies to appeals under Agra Tenancy Act, 1901. 14 R.D. 538. Also to applications under sec. 6, C. P. Tenancy Act. 20 N.L.J. 84. Also to appeals under sec. 112-B of the Bihar Tenancy Act. 9 B.R. 360. Sec. 5 may be applied to an application by a landlord for pre-emption under sec. 6 of the C. P. Tenancy Act. 20 N.L.J. 84.

CONSTRUCTION.—Sec. 5 should be liberally construed so as to advance substantial justice. 31 I.C. 876=13 A.L.J. 1101. See also 20 I.C. 3=159 P.W.R. 1913; 78 I.C. 953 =17 S.L.R. 306=1925 S. 60; 1929 C. 240. Delay of one day in presenting an appeal is as fatal as delay of any longer period. 38 I.C. 464=10 S.L.R. 165. In considering the question of "sufficient cause" under sec. 5, the equities on which secs. 4 and 14 are based may be taken into account. The existence of circumstances mentioned in secs. 4 and 14, may, therefore, be regarded as a sufficient ground for excusing the delay. 1941 M.W. N. 989=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 873 - 1942 M. 170.

DELAY NOT EXPLAINED.—When the delay is not sufficiently explained it should not be excused under sec. 5. 25 I.C. 30=12 A.L. J. 837. See also 26 I.C. 472=16 M.L.T. 547; I.L.R. 1937 N. 494; 1937 Nag. 65; 1937 Pat. 528; 10 I.C. 210; 1923 L. 144 (1); 4 L.L.J. 475=1923 L. 95; 3 L.W. 109=32 I.C. 579; 50 C.L.J. 397. Burden of proof is upon person claiming relief under this section. 30 S.L.R. 242=165 I.C. 91=1936 S. 169.

DELAY IN GETTING COPIES.—When the copy of the trial Court's judgment has been obtained before the expiry of the period of limitation, the time spent in obtaining the same cannot be added under sec. 5 to the end of the period of limitation. 148 I.C. 818 (1)=1934 L. 464. Though there is no absolute necessity to obtain a copy of a judgment on review, it may help in drafting the grounds of appeal. Hence the period taken in obtaining such a copy may be excluded in computing time for appeal. 1946 A.M.L.J. 26. Where the appeal was filed late on account of delay in getting copies and the same was due to the mistake of pleader's clerk, there is no sufficient cause to excuse delay. 21 A. L.J. 817=75 I.C. 254=1924 A. 176; 82 I.C. 484=1925 O. 189 (1); 1932 M.W.N. 328. A Court is not bound to show indulgence to a litigant who has not been prompt in applying for copies preparatory to filing an appeal. 1923 L. 96; 24 S L.R. 415=1931 S. 58=132 I.C. 473; 1936 O.W.N. 1109=1936 O. 9; 1936 R.D. 327; 38 P.L.R. 903=1936 Lah. 693. But where the delay was caused by the officer of the Court, it was held that this was sufficient cause for not filing the appeal in time. 13 I.C. 943 (1)=9 A.L.J. 15. See also 23 I. C. 874; 13 I.C. 850; 1922 L. 415; 9 I.C. 381 =189 P.W.R. 1911; 1930 L. 129. Where the delay was due to the appellant's ignorance of the procedure of the copying department and the consequent failure to get copies in time, held, the Court could excuse the delay. 8 O.W.N. 191=1931 O. 314. Where a person makes an application for a copy of judgment so late as within 3 days of the expiry of the period of limitation for filing an appeal and chooses to obtain it by post and gets it after the period of limitation, the delay in the transit cannot be excused and time cannot be extended under sec. 5. 1942 O.W. N. (B.R.) 214=1942 A.W.R. 131=1942 O.A. (Supp.) 151. See also 35 I.C. 233. Where an application for leave to appeal under sec. 449, Cr. P. Code, was presented out of time, and the delay was due to a mistake on the part of the jailor, held, there was sufficient cause for excusing the delay. 54 C. 52=1927 C. 307. A mistake in the copyist office in not preparing copies of the judgment and decree is a sufficient cause. 25 I.C. 26 (1); 10 I.C. 210=55 S.L.R. 47. See also 161 I. C. 457=1936 L. 132; 38 P.L.R. 852=1936 L. 670; 38 P.L.R. 903=1936 L. 693. But where delay in filing an appeal is caused by the supply of wrong information to the copying department, a person making the application is not entitled to deduction of time as of right. 155 I.C. 588=1935 N. 109. Non-availability of a copy of a decree is sufficient ground for excusing delay in filing an appeal in time. 22 I.C. 919=26 M.L.J. 356. See also 1937 L. 691=39 P.L.R. 34; 39 P.L.R. 897. The fact that the whole country was in disturbed state in 1942, and that it was not easy for litigants to appear in Court to make applications or take delivery of copies of documents applied for by them, within a reasonable time of the copies being ready, would constitute "sufficient cause" entitling litigants to ask the Court to condone the delay in making applications to Court, even when the applications are late after excluding the time requisite for obtaining copies, the period of pendency of other proceedings and the period of the recess of the Court. 224 I.C. 160=1946 P. 417. Where the delay on the part of an appellant for applying for copies is caused by the advice, erroneous though it be, received by the appellant from his advocate, that is a sufficient cause for excusing the delay under sec. 5, Limitation Act. 1946 Bom. 437=48 Bom.L. R. 97. Delay in filing copy of judgment—Inability to file due to accidental loss of papers Extension of time ought to be granted. 100 I.C. 19=28 P.L.R. 1=1927 L. 734. See also 12 P. 36=13 Pat.L.T. 612=1932 P. 349 (Copy of order appealed from filed out of time in one of the two connected appeals). The time for obtaining a copy of judgment of the first Court should be excluded. 1928 A. 416. See also 1936 L. 1007. Where there was a delay of over three months in delivering a simple judgment which at the bottom contained a note in the Judge's handwriting that it was delivered in open Court after notice, and an application to excuse the delay is filed under sec. 5 in respect of an appeal against such a judgment on the ground that the party was ignorant of the date of the delivery of judgment, it was held that the delay ought to be condoned. 1940 A.M.L. J. 43. Whether the provisions of sec. 5 can be applied in second appeal when there was no application to that effect in the lower Appellate Court. 175 I.C. 33=1938 Nag. 233. See also 1936 L. 1007. In a case where the appellant was guilty of a certain amount of unnecessary delay, but in view of the practice of the Court which prevailed, namely, to exclude under sec. 12 (2) the whole period taken in obtaining a copy of the decree, held, the appellant had "sufficient cause" for the delay, and the Court would therefore excuse the delay under sec. 5. I.L.R. (1937) Bom. 421=38 Bom.L.R. 1281=1937 Bom. 64.

DISCRETION OF COURT.—The Court under sec. 5 has a discretion to excuse the delay in filing an appeal; and if it applies its mind to the question and exercises its discretion judicially after considering all the circumstances it will be acting correctly. 152 I.C. 419=11 O.W.N. 1359. See also 48 P.L.R. 325. The period for preferring an appeal cannot be extended simply because the appellant's case is hard and calls for sympathy, nor will the Courts extend the period of limitation merely out of benevolence to the party seeking relief. A Court granting the indulgence must be satisfied that there was diligence on the part of the appellant and that he was not guilty of any neglicence whatsoever. I.L.R. (1938) Nag. 409=1938 Nag. 156. See also 1937 Nag. 65. The appellate Court normally will not interfere with the discretion exercised by the lower Court in admitting or rejecting the application for condonation of delay under sec. 5, Limitation Act, unless it appears that the discretion has not been exercised at all or if exercised, it violates judicial principles. Where the Court does apply its mind and considers in a judicial manner the explanations offered by the applicant for the delay and comes to a conclusion against the applicant's submission, the appellate Court will seldom interfere with such discretion. 1945 O. W.N. 1=1940 Oudh 94. So far as the Madras High Court is concerned, it is settled that the inherent power of Court under sec. 151, C. P. Code, cannot be utilised to take the place of an express provision extending sec. 5 of the Limitation Act, to an application under O. 41, r. 21, C. P. Code, to excuse the delay in seeking to set aside an ex parte decree passed on appeal. It is desirable to frame a rule similar to O. 41, r. 19 (2) so as to make sec. 5, Limitation Act, applicable to petitions under O. 41, r. 21. 1944 M.W.N. 522=1944 Mad. 571= (1944) 2 M.L.J. 121. Where the lower appellate Court exercises a judicial discretion in such matters, High Court would not interfere in second appeal, even if it might have taken another view, had it been the lower appellate Court. 45 A. 432=21 A.L.J. 319 =1923 All. 455. See also 14 I.C. 59=9 A.L. J. 292; 130 I.C. 840 (2)=1931 A. 28; 1938 Pat. 413. Where the discretion has been exercised arbitrarily, it may be challenged in second appeal. 1933 A. 294=1933 A.L.J. 561; 1937 Pat. 528; 1938 Pat. 413. Where there are conflicting views on a certain point and the delay caused in filing the appeal is caused by adopting one of the views, even though the Court takes the contrary view, it can extend the time under sec. 5. 196 I. C. 654=1941 Pesh. 74. A new ruling or a new statement of the law by High Court cannot be pleaded as a 'sufficient cause' for ex-using the dleay in filing an appeal. 1942 O.A. 340=1942 O.W.N. 439=1942 Oudh 447. Sufficient cause—Uncertainty in the law as to proper remedy. See I.L.R. (1942) Nag. 487=1941 N. 308. The words "sufficient cause" in sec. 5 have to be liberally construed. The test is whether negligence, inaction or want of bona fides can be imputed to the applicant. The exercise by the Court of its discretion to excuse the delay would to a certain extent be detrimental to the respondent who has in the meanwhile acquired valuable rights, but the question has to be approached from the point of view of the applicant's conduct rather than of the advantage gained by the respondent. 1941 M.W.N. 989=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 873. See also 1942 Oudh 125. An order extending time under sec. 5 should give sufficient indication that the discretion given by the law has been judicially exercised. 59 C. 388=1932 C. 482. If the lower appellate Court has come to a definite finding as to 'sufficient cause' for filing an appeal beyond time, High Court will not interfere in second appeal. 20 C.W.N. 1303; 1 P.L.J. 485. See also 14 I.C. 244 (1); 33 I.C. 808; 88 P.R. 1916=35 I.C. 67; 36 I.C. 614=92 P.R. 1916; 103 I.C. 90 (1)=28 Punj.L.R. 257=1927 L. 908; 1930 A.L.J. 1256=1931 All. 28 (1) (Second appeal against order refusing time). Where the necessary papers have not been filed along with the memorandum of appeal, it is open to the Court to excuse the delay. 36 C.L.J. 389=1923 C. 261. Under special circumstances the High Court can (has extended) extend the time by more than 5 years for preferring a Letters Patent appeal. 34 I.C. 584. In the admission of appeals filed out of time, the discretion of the appellate Court should not be fettered by any definite or crystallised set of rules. 31 I.C. 705=19 C. W.N. 1113. See also 59 C. 781=1942 C. 589; 1941 A.M.L.J. 57. The High Court will refuse to interfere with the discretion of the Judge in a Letters Patent appeal. 1922 L. 170. An order granting an application for extension of the period of limitation for filing an appeal under cl. 15 of the Letters Patent (Calcutta) without giving notice of the application to the respondent is irregular and is liable to be set aside. 46 C.W. N. 131=I.L.R. (1942) 1 C. 403=1942 C. 606. Where the last day of limitation expired on a holiday and an application was made for copies on the re-opening day and the appeal was filed s soon as soon as the copies were received, it was held that, even deducting the time spent in obtaining copies, the appeal was time-barred. 35 I.C. 233=79 P.R. 1916. "Sufficient cause" is a question of fact and there can be no second appeal as to the exercise of discretion by the lower Court. 88 P. R. 1916=35 I.C. 67. Punjab Chief Court will interfere in exceptional cases, particularly in cases of change introduced by the new Punjab Courts Act, on the ground of erroneous legal advice. 33 I.C. 808=18 P. W.R. 1916. Appeal filed without copy of decree—Appellant asked to file on next hearing day—Copy filed after expiry of limitation—Delay excused. 14 I.C. 244; 1930 R. 182. Where more than 3 years after the decree-holder's death, his minor legal representatives apply to be brought on record, the delay can be excused. 26 O.C. 244=1924 O. 83. Where the parties are living in the same village and there is a delay in applying to add the legal representative on the death of one of the parties, the benefit of sec. 5 should not be extended to such a case. 1940 A.W.R. (B.R.) 128=1940 O.A. 779. When the time for appealing is once passed, a very valuable right is secured to the successful litigant and the Court must be fully satisfied of the justice of the ground for an extension of the time for attacking the decree. 20 I.C. 513=17 C.L.J. 596. See also 45 I.A. 25=1917 P.C. 179=41 M. 412=34 M.L.J. 63 (P.C.); 1942 M. 170=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 873. SUFFICIENT CAUSE—WHAT AMOUNTS TO.— 1928 M 690; 9 L. 76=1928 L. 216; 54 M.L. J. 234=1928 M. 404; 35 C.W.N. 283=58 C. 793=1931 C. 506. A Court may give a liberal construction to the words "sufficient cause", but the interpretation should be in accordance with judicial principles. A client preferring a time-barred appeal under the mistaken advice of his counsel may be entitled to the benefit of sec. 5, but the mistake must be bona fide, i.e, made in spite of due care and attention. But want of care and attention is not "sufficient cause". Filing an appeal in a wrong Court through carelessness of the counsel is not a "sufficient cause" for presenting the appeal to the proper Court after the expiry of the period of limitation. 146 I C 127 =1933 O. 523 (F.B.). See also 40 C.W.N. 83 (Amendment of decree as ground for extension of time). The fact that a decree is amended does not of itself operate to extend the time for appealing; where, however, there has been an amendment and it appears reasonable that the time for appealing should be extended the Court can excuse the delay under sec. 5. 33 C.W.N. 958=50 C.L.J. 12= 1929 C. 676. See also 35 C.W.N. 251=1931 C. 578. It is not every amendment that entitles a party to claim extension. 1930 O. 463. Where the date actually entered on the decree apparently misled the appeallant, it would obviously be a sufficient cause for admitting the appeal after time. 1930 R. 67. Surety for appearance of judgment-debtor — Execution petition dismissed for default of decree-holder and surety discharged—Application for restoration also dismissed—Appeal from order discharging surety—Extension of time not granted. 1934 L. 349. Memorandum of appeal was filed in time without the judgment and decree of the lower Court. Two days after expiry of limitation, the decree and judgment of the lower Court were filed. Held, that the case was a fit case for extension of period under sec. 5. 6 O.W.N. 1035=1930 O. 184 (1). Technical omission should be condoned and allowed to be rectified. 146 I.C. 517=1933 L. 224. Omission to mention vakil's name in vakalatnama through pure mistake is sufficient cause. 1930 A. 112=121 I.C. 546. See also 134 I.C. 114 (L.)=1932 L. 134. Also where copy of the decree could not be got as no decree was found in the proceedings and where the appella e Court granted the application for dispensing with the copy and the copy was produced later. 1930 R. 182. See 1930 P. 63. Application to bring on record legal representatives—Delay in making—Ignorance of death of deceased—If sufficient cause. 155 I.C. 610=1935 L. 478. Where an application by the wife for reviewing the judgment passed in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights by the husband was filed after long delay, it was excused for sufficient cause. 1930 P. 63. Mere presentation of an application for review does not entitle a litigant as of right to deduct the period during which the application for review remains pending. He must satisfy the Court that there were reasonable grounds for review. 15 Luck. 526=1940 O. W.N. 281=1940 Oudh 310. Wilful putting off of appeal to last date when unexpected contingency prevents appellant from filing appeal—Extension cannot be granted. 1930 N. 121. Execution—Defective application filed on the last day—Failure to get copy of decree owing to misdescription—Case not fit for restoration. 17 R.D. 273=14 L.R. 257 (Rev.). The applicant is only required to satisfy the Court that he was unable to present his appeal in time on account of some misadventure on the last date on which it ought to have been presented; it is not necessary for him to account for inactivity during the entire period prescribed by law. 34 C.W. N. 1119=1931 C. 298; 1931 M.W.N. 1161. Where an appeal is filed beyond the time, it is for the appellant to show sufficient cause for extending the time; and for this he has to justify every day taken beyond time. 14 L. 656=1933 L. 681. Poverty of litigant is not sufficient cause. 48 P.L.R. 393.

INABILITY WITHOUT FAULT.—When the Court creates a limitation and the party is unable to conform to it, for no fault of his own, the law will ordinarily excuse him. 38 B. 656=25 I.C. 67. See also 38 B. 653=25 I.C. 66. Inconvenience of party to attend Court as per Court's direction is not sufficient cause under sec. 5. 177 I.C. 364=1938 Rang. 214.

MERITS OF CASE.—The Court would excuse the delay if there are any merits in the appellant's case. But when the appeal is on a mere technical ground, the principle of technicality defeating technicality may well be brought into play. 25 I.C. 28. See also 66 P.W.R. 1912=13 I.C. 714; 33 I.C. 546 =14 A.L.J. 212. But see 114 I.C. 612=1929 N. 8, where it was held that the appellate Court had no jurisdiction to touch the decree and decide the case on merits on the basis of a time-barred memo.

MISTAKE IN CALCULATION.—Mistake in calculating period of limitation which is a mistake of arithmetic is not sufficient cause for extension. 46 I.C. 480. A bona fide mistake by the pleader in calculating the period may constitute sufficient cause, which must be decided by the Court having regard to all the facts and circumstances of the case. 19 I.C. 931=17 C.W.N. 807. See also 108 I.C. 619=1928 L. 643; 40 I.C. 425 =13 N.L.R. 89. Where the appellant who filed his appeal on the 19th instead of the 9th December alleged that he made a mistake in reading the date '9' as '19' in the letter written by Counsel's clerk, but the letter was not produced. Held, that no sufficient cause was made for condoning the delay. 136 I. C. 838=1932 O. 167. But see also 59 I.C. 937. Mistake in calculation made by an assistant in the Office of the Stamp Reporter, who is under no obligation to inform litigants, is not a sufficient ground for extending time. 57 C.L.J. 39=1933 C. 462.

MISTAKE OF COURT.—See 16 I.C. 979= 276 P.W.R. 1912. See also 26 O.C. 24= 1923 O. 93; 24 I.C. 113=1 O.L.J. 193; 161 I.C. 215=1936 L. 670. A delay in filing an appeal caused by the failure of the Court to give notice of the date of delivery of judgment ought to be excused. 38 I.C. 575 =9 Bur.L.T. 250. See also 27 I.C. 784=8 Bur.L.T. 99; 1930 R. 182. A litigant is entitled to expect that the infringement of the rules and orders of the Court by the Judge should not hamper him in his appeal; and if he is allowed a reasonable time within which to bring that appeal the best way of of finding out what time is reasonable is to consult the relevant Article and to assume that the period prescribed will be a reasonable period. No doubt, if after the expiration of that period, he seeks for a further period he must then show that he has acted with due diligence. Where a Judge in appeal pronounced judgment in contravention of O. 41, r. 30 and the parties came to know of the delivery of judgment only a couple of months later, it was held, that the aggrieved party was entitled to the full period allowed by law commencing from the date of the knowledge of the delivery of judgment. 1941 Rang.L.R. 213=1941 Rang. 194. Mistake of Court in not discovering in time that the decree was not filed is sufficient cause. 1930 R. 235. Smaller Court-fee was paid as a result of mistake in lower Court's judgment. Extension of time to pay additional Court-fee is allowed under sec. 5. 1928 L. 737. Where, in spite of an order on the 25th March, 1924, directing the plaint to be returned for presentation to the proper Court, it was not returned in fact till the 10th of April owing to delay by office, held, that the plaintiff was entitled to have the period between 25th March and 10th April excluded in computing the period of limitation. 144 I.C. 5=1933 L. 611 (1). See also 71 C.L.J. 540=1940 Cal. 530.

MISTAKE OF FACT.—Mistake of fact—Mistake of Counsel's clerk. Time can be extended. 59 I.C. 937; 34 L.W. 795=1932 M. 142=61 M.L.J. 710. The Court can extend the period in favour of an appellant under sec. 5 if he has omitted to include the name of a respondent on account of oversight or bona fide mistake. 26 I.C. 68=12 A.L.J. 941. After the error regarding ineffective filing of an appeal is pointed out and ample time given for its rectification, the excuse of carelessness cannot be pleaded a second tme for granting a further extension of time. 11 Lah.L.T. 31. Mistake of fact—Recent notification—Ignorance of. 4 L. 122=1924 L. 41. Gazetted holiday—Substitution of, by another day—Second appeal. 77 P.R. 1917=42 I.C. 343. Mistake of fact—Two cross-appeals—Two decrees—Appellant believing in one decree is sufficient cause. 115 P.R. 1912=15 I.C. 140. So also in case of appeal filed against a dead man by a bona fide mistake. 165 I.C. 201= 1936 Pesh. 192. A bona fide mistake as to the date on which the copying department told the applicant to come to take delivery of decree copy is sufficient cause to justify extension of time under sec. 5. 9 I.C. 607=79 P.L.R. 1911. Where an appellant has no notion at the time of filing his appeal that it is time-barred, he cannot be expected to have explained the cause of delay at the time of filing the appeal. 71 P.W.R. 1911=9 I.C. 607. An appellant is bound to show that there has been no negligence, inaction or want of bona fides imputable to the appellant before he can claim an extension of time on the ground of a mistake of fact. 28 I.C. 82=85 L.R. 235. See also 32 I.C. 380; 104 I.C. 281= 1928 L. 216=9 L. 7. Party misled by High Court's judgment—Time should be extended. 102 I.C. 123 (2)=1927 N. 247.

MISTAKE OF LAW.—Mistake of law is per se no ground for exclusion of time but when in fact erroneous proceedings are instituted owing to the mistake, extension may be granted. 1917 P.C. 156=45 C. 94=44 I.A. 218= 33 M.L.J. 486 (P.C.); 104 I.C. 281. See also 1942 O.W.N. 438=1942 O.A. 336. A mistake of law is not 'sufficient cause' unless it was made in 'good faith', i.e., in spite of due care and attention. 18 I.C. 37=59 P.R. 1913. See also 1917 M.W.N. 362=39 I.C. 975; 169 I.C. 398=1937 Rang. 199; 26 O.C. 56=1923 O. 238; I.L.R. (1937) Nag. 6=1936 N. 246. Where an application originally filed as an appeal, was as such, within time, but on its being decided by a Judge that it ought to be dealt with as a revision, it is found to be beyond time as revision, the reason for the delay being the conflict of decisions as to proper remedy, it is sufficient cause for the delay being excused. I.L.R. (1942) Nag. 487=197 I.C. 221=1941 N.L.J. 519=1941 Nag. 308. Where a pardanashin lady is ignorant of the rules of procedure, it is not 'sufficient cause'. 9 I.C. 222=8 P.W.R. 1911. A memorandum of appeal was filed without any stamps and out of time by 21 days. Held, that even though the litigant was a pardanashin lady, extension of time ought not to be granted. 37 C.W.N. 179=146 I.C. 359 (1)=1933 C. 796. Ignorance of law is no excuse. 117 I. C. 282=1929 N. 74 (13 C. 266, Dist.; 12 B. 320 and 12 A. 741, Foll.). The time occupied by an application, in good faith for review of the judgment, although made on a mistaken view of the law, might be excused. 1917 P.C. 146=45 C. 17=22 C.W.N. 74=42 I.C. 849=44 I.A. 229=34 M.L.J. 1 (P.C.). See also 1937 R. 199; 1944 O.W.N. 46=1944 Oudh 193. But see 17 N.L.J. 22. An applicant for leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council was misled by the practice of calculating the period of limitation for such application and thus filed his application beyond time. Held, that in the particular case the time should be extended. 62 I.C. 649=6 P. Where the appellant, being misled by the only reported decision on the question erroneously preferred an appeal from the decree based on an award, the time during which that appeal was pending may be deducted as a plausible excuse for extension of time under sec. 5 of the Limitation Act for preferring a fresh appeal from the order of the Court modifying the award. 36 C.W.N. 1069=1932 C. 713.

MISTAKE OF PLEADER.—An honest mistake made by a litigant upon incorrect advice of counsel is a sufficient cause for excusing delay. 44 A. 636=20 A.L.J. 674=1922 All. 490; 43 B. 376=23 C.W.N. 753=52 I.C. 897 =46 I.A. 15 (P.C.)=1918 P.C. 135; 43 A. 392=61 I.C. 410=1921 All. 210 (2); 101 I. C. 777; 46 C.L.J. 257=105 I.C. 217=1927 C. 829. See also 153 I.C. 161=11 O.W.N. 1530=1935 O. 108; 48 P.L.R. 325; 59 C. 781 =36 C.W.N. 420=1932 C. 589; 14 L.R. 441 (Rev.)=17 R.D. 577. There may be cases where counsel may be faced with two possible views. In such a case if he honestly takes one view rather than the other, his advice given on the strength of this view and acted upon by the litigant cannot be deemed to be advice given negligently. Each case must inevitably depend upon its own special facts and circumstances. Ignorance of law is no excuse and the presumption that the law is well known and well understood is particularly strong in the case of responsible bodies, such as the Municipal Board of Lucknow which including the Chairman, has several legal gentlemen on it. There is not the slightest justification for counsel, in spite of the amended limitation in the matter of appeals to the Privy Council having been in force for nearly 23 years, to think or to labour under any misapprehension that the old period of limitation was still in vogue. 1944 O.W. N. 118=1944 Oudh 135; 1942 Lah. 94. See also 48 P.L.R. 325=225 I.C. 291. A lawyer's wrong advice causing an error has to be proved by the party. It is pertinent under sec. 5. 45 I.C. 725; 17 I.C. 155=17 C.L.J. 66; 16 I.C. 425=16 C.L.J. 366. There is no authority for the view that a mistake of a legal adviser, however gross and inexcusable, if bona fide acted upon by the litigant, will entitle him to the protection of sec. 5. The facts of each case and the nature of the omission or mistake on the part of the legal adviser in each particular case, will have to be examined and scrutinized in order to find out whether there has been negligence or gross want of legal skill in the legal adviser, or whether there was merely a bona fide mistake not through misconduct or negligence or want of reasonable skill, but such as even a skilled person might make. It is only in the latter case that the litigant would be allowed the benefit of the section. 67 C. L.J. 107. Reasonable care by a competent lawyer would be a sufficient cause within the meaning of sec. 5; to attract the operation of the section, it is enough to show that the mistake of the lawyer was of such a description that it may arise even amongst legal practitioners of experience. A litigant should not be made to suffer for such error or mistaken advice given by counsel. 17 Pat. 507=19 Pat.L.T. 309=1938 Pat. 413. Where the delay on the part of an appellant for applying for copies is caused by the advice, erroneous though it be, received by the appellant from his advocate, that is a sufficient cause for excusing the delay under sec. 5, Limitation Act. 48 Bom.L.R. 97=1946 Bom. 437. Mistaken advice given by a legal practitioner may in the circumstances of a particular case give rise to sufficient cause within the meaning of sec. 5, though there is centainly no general doctrine which saves parties from the results of wrong advice. (1934 Oudh 360, Rev.) 31 S.L.R. 672=41 C. W.N. 1189=46 L.W. 219=39 Bom.L.R. 1021 =1937 P.C. 276 (P.C.). See also I.L.R. (1938) Nag. 409=1938 Nag. 156 (Party being misled by wrong information given by pleader's clerk not sufficient cause). 43 P. L.R. 502=1942 L. 94. Where owing to his ill-health counsel was not able to pay personal attention to an appeal and filed it out of time acting on a mistake of his clerk in reading the date of the order appealed against, it was held that it was a case in which the party was not remiss and that there was sufficient cause which prevented the appeal from being filed within time. 1940 A. L.J. (Supp.) 18. It would be dangerous precedent to allow the benefit of sec. 5 because a litigant's counsel filed an affidavit to say that the delay was due to counsel's illness. 1940 A.L.J. The true test is whether the litigant has acted under honest, though mistaken belief, formed with due care and attention. 12 I.C. 677. In a special jurisdiction case valued at Rs. 6,000 and filed in Sub-Court, the appeal was wrongly preferred by the same pleader to the District Court which rejected it. Appeal was then filed in High Court out of time. The respondent himself was misled in choosing the wrong forum and it was he who was the first to file his appeal in the District Court instead of the High Court and it was only subsequently that appellant filed his appeal to the District Court within time. Held, that the provisions of sec. 5 were applicable and the period during which the appeal remained pending in the District Court should be excluded. 161 I.C. 251=1936 L. 168. A wrong advice of a pleader acting on a statement of the Court clerk not to apply for the copy of the judgment until the copy of the decree was drawn up was held to be not a bona fide mistake. 7 R. 18=1928 R. 116. Where a pleader whose power has terminated with proceedings in trial Court does not take steps to find out whether or not the appeal has been properly presented, he acts without due care and attention, and as he delays in the hope that the irregularity might escape detection, it does not form proper cause for the delay in filing the appeal. The fact that a party is a minor and the next friend is a pardanashin lady or that the pleader acting for them has been negligent or ignorant cannot amount to sufficient cause within the meaning of sec. 5 of the Limitation Act. In the case of delay due to mistake of a clerk, the sole test is whether the appellant has acted with reasonable diligence. 1929 A. 351=119 I.C. 447. [44 I.A. 218=33 M.L.J. 486 (P.C.) Foll.; 1926 A. 252 and 1925 O. 189 and 374, Disc.] Where by a bona fide mistake of the clerk, an earlier judgment of the same date and same month but of a different year was filed along with the memorandum of appeal and subsequently on discovery of the mistake the counsel prayed to have the correct judgment filed when the time for presenting the appeal had expired, held, that the mistake being bona fide, the time should be extended. 33 P.L.R. 1085=1933 L. 1. See also 136 I.C. 838=1932 O. 167; 59 I.C. 937.

NEGLIGENCE OF GUARDIAN.—46 I.C. 68=

5 O.L.J. 153. See also 30 I.C. 211=2 O.L.J. 325.

NEGLIGENCE OF PARTY.—A Court should not excuse under sec. 5, delay due to gross carelessness. 55 I.C. 271=44 B. 175. See also 22 O.C. 379=55 I.C. 837; 37 I.C. 503=12 N.L.R. 171; 55 I.C. 17; 24 S.L.R. 415=1931 S. 58; 10 O.W.N. 1247=1934 O. 10 (1); 11 O.W.N. 256=1934 O. 131 (1). A party who is negligent in complying with the rules of the Court is not entitled to the benefit of sec. 5 of the Act. 47 P.L.R. 193=1945 Lah. 233. The negligence of a servant in the performance of the duties entrusted to him does not amount to sufficient cause. 55 I.C. 17. See also 52 I.C. 225 (2)=4 Pat.L.J. 381. One of several persons not impleaded as respondent due to carelessness—Time cannot be extended. 99 I.C. 619=1927 L. 118. Where on the last day of limitation a person though he missed the earliest train fails to avail himself of the time available after he reached the place and presents the appeal after Court hours is not entitled to the indulgence of the Court as he has not been prompt in seeking his remedy. 1942 O.W.N. 475=1942 O.A. 376=1942 Oudh 488.

ONUS.—It is the duty of the litigant to know the last day on which he can present his appeal and if there is delay, the burden rests on him of adducing strict proof of the sufficient couse on which he relies. 41 M. 412 =45 I.A. 25=34 M.L.J. 63 (P.C.); 1931 S. 58=132 I.C. 473=24 S.L.R. 415.

POWER OF SUCCESSOR.—An order made by one Judge extending time owing to delay in getting copies of decree should not be interfered with by his successor. 50 I.C. 882. See also 50 I.C. 374.

PAUPER APPEALS.—The provisions of sec. 5 apply to applications for leave to appeal as pauper. 17 Luck. 628=1942 O.A. 57=1942 O.W.N. 106=1942 Oudh 240. An appeal presented after time with full stamp may be admitted if a previous application for leave to appeal as pauper was presented within time and rejected. 74 P.R. 1916=36 I.C. 84. See also 1935 O.W.N. 162=1935 O. 231; 34 P.W.R. 1912=13 I.C. 73. Delay in filing an application for leave to appeal in forma pauperis cannot be condoned. 101 I.C. 320 (1) 1927 N. 107; 9 Pat.L.T. 619. An appeal was filed as one against an order in execution but the Court required party to pay ad valorem Court-fee. The party applied for leave to appeal as pauper and was allowed. 26 A.L.J. 847=1928 A. 499.

POVERTY.—Poverty is not a sufficient cause within sec. 5. 22 I.C. 884=7 L.B.R. 90.

SICKNESS.—Appellant unwell in the last portion of limitation—Filing his appeal two days later—The two days' delay would be excused. 6 R. 571=1928 R. 165. But see 119 I.C. 678=1930 N. 132; 1931 C. 298=58 C. 549=34 C.W.N. 1119. Where the applicant suffered from acute apendicitis a week before the expiry of limitation for filing a revision petition and so was unable to file it till 16 days after expiry of the period of limitation, it was held that the delay in filing the revision should be excused. 1942 N.L.J. 311. Where no reason is shown why the applicant during the time of his alleged illness should not have given instructions to his advocate which would have enabled him to present the appeal within time and there is no medical certificate or any other corroborative evidence to support his allegation in the affidavit that he was ill, the applicant fails to discharge the onus that lies upon him to satisfy the Court that he had sufficient cause for not preferring the appeal within time. 14 R. 155=1936 R. 183.

WANT OF STAMPS.—Delay in filing an appeal owing to the non-availability of stamp on the last day for filing the appeal will be excused. 37 I.C. 211 (1)=1 P.L.J. 163; 3 P.L.J. 74=42 I.C. 675 (1); 1923 L. 513 (2). Application for copy accepted by copying department without demand for copying fee —Deduction of time taken for obtaining copies allowed. 38 P.L.R. 903=1936 Lah. 693.

INSUFFICIENT STAMP.—One day's delay in payment of deficient Court-fees on copies of judgments excused. 131 I.C. 127=32 P.L.R. 240=1931 L. 349. Where the appellant honestly believed that he paid the proper Court-fee when he originally presented the appeal, the delay in paying adequate Court-fees should be condoned. 1933 L. 264=144 I.C. 184. Where the appellant failed to pay a substantial portion of the Court-fee in time and there is no question of bone fide mistake or misapprehension, there is no reason to extend the time. 33 P.L.R. 12. When the appellant knows at the time when he files the appeal that a further sum is due on account of the Court-fees, it is his business or the business of his pleader to ascertain the date fixed for depositing the deficit Court-fees. In a case of this sort it is expected that pleaders shall make themselves acquainted with the nature of the orders passed and it is not the duty of the Court to communicate the orders to them. The omission of Court to communicate its order to the pleader concerned does not entitle the appellant to any indulgence under sec. 5. 71 C.L.J. 540 =1940 Cal. 530.

IGNORANCE OF DEATH.—The mere insertion of the name of a person who is dead long before the institution of the suit, in the array of defendants does not save limitation against his widow and heir who is not impleaded in the suit. 140 I.C. 387=1932 L. 592. See also 15 R.D. 244. Mere ignorance of death is not a "sufficient cause" under sec. 5. 38 I.C. 7=118 P.R. 1916. But see 1930 A. 131. See also 1936 Pesh. 192 (Appeal filed against a dead man by bona fide mistake—Time extended). Four days before filing of an appeal respondent had died. The appellants were not aware of the death. An application was made to make necessary additions after the expiry of limitation. The Court was satisfied that the error was bona fide and the respondent was living in a different province and that period of limitation extended. 123 I.C. 824=1930 A. 131. See also 1940 A.W.R. (B.R.) 128=1940 O.A. 779. Ignorance of the death of one of the respondents, in the absence of any negligence or other act or omission for which the applicant seeking to set aside the abatement can be held responsible, can be "sufficient cause" within the meaning of sec. 5 of the Limitation Act. 54 A. 280=1932 A.L.J. 18=1932 A. 459; 165 I.C. 201=1936 Pesh. 192.

CORPORATE BODY AND PRIVATE PARTY.—If a corporate body chooses to embark on litigation, its officials and advisers must act with at least as much diligence as is expected from an ordinry litigant. The corporate body is not entitled to greater indulgence than a private individual. 123 I.C. 83 (2).

GOVERNMENT AND PRIVATE PARTY—DISTINCTION.—Though any delay is evidence of laches in the case of a private party, the same cannot be said of Government and so delay can be condoned if it is inevitable. 1929 S. 211.

SECS. 5 AND 14.—In exercising its discretion under sec. 5, Court will be guided by the provisions of sec. 14, though sec. 14 does not in terms apply to appeals. 35 C.L.J. 106 =1922 C. 247. See also 46 I.C. 116=22 C. Delay in filing a criminal appeal should be excused under sec. 5, where it was erroneously filed in another Court since there is no question of a successful litigant losing a "valuable right". 59 I.C. 556=1 L. 508. See also 48 M.L.J. 457=1925 M. 709; 26 Cr. Where an appeal is preferred to a wrong Court in good faith and by the advice of a lawyer, the time which is spent in prosecuting the same should be excused under sec. 5 of the Act. 52 I.C. 235 (1) [45 C. 194 (P.C.) and 20 C.W.N. 49, Foll.] See also 205 P.W.R. 1912=15 I.C. 170; 30 I.C. 211=2 O L.J. 325; 27 I C. 967=7 Bur. Proceedi gs in wrong Court—Bona fide mistake of guardian —Sufficient cause. 30 I.C. 2'1=2 O.L.J. 325. When time-barred appeals are filed in wrong Court the Court can dismiss them and need not return them for presentation to the proper Court in order that the latter might consider the question as to whether the time for presentation could be extended. 48 C. 110= 47 I.A. 255=39 M.L.J. 195 (P.C.)=1921 P. C. 50. Where an appeal filed in time but in wrong Court owing to a bona fide mistake is returned on the last day of limitation for presentation to a proper Court, the fact that it is not presented on the proper day ought not to be a ground for rejecting it as barred; judicial discretion should point to its admission. 11 I.C. 814 (2)=8 A.L.J. 793. See also 1923 A. 364; 45 B. 607=1921 B. 302= 1930 A. 15. When two remedies are available prosecution of one would be a good ground for extending time for the other. 98 I.C. 892=1927 L. 43. A person prosecuting an application under sec. 151, C. P. Code, cannot be said to be acting in good faith when he has a remedy open to him under some other provision of C. P. Code. Delay due to such wrong prosecution cannot be condoned under sec. 5, Limitation Act. 165 I.C. 661= P.L.R. 868=1936 L. 672. Whether pendency of application for amending decree saves limitation, see 1928 P. 265. But see the cases cited below. Where an appeal lies against the ex parte decree, the time taken by the party in applying for setting aside the ex parte decree and in preparing an appeal against the order refusing to set it aside cannot be excluded in computing the period of limitation for appeal against the main ex parte decree. 1930 R. 270=8 R. 168; 1930 R. 41; 59 C. 1057=36 C.W.N. 352=1932 C. 558. An appeal was preferred under the B. T. Act to the Special Judge on 18th May, 1925, and the same was dismissed on 31st October, 1925, on the ground that it was not maintainable but it was suggested an appeal would be preferred to the District Judge. An appeal was filed on 18th November, 1925, and the delay of 18 days was excused on the ground that the period would be necessary to get copy of the judgment, prepare memo. of appeal, etc. 1929 C. 240=33 C.W.N. 76.

The time spent in an infructuous application for review will not be excluded if the grounds of review were only grounds of appeal. 31 I.C. 705=19 C.W.N. 1113. See also 89 P.R. 1918=46 I.C. 588. Where the appellants act bona fide and under legal advice in applying for review and prosecute their application with due diligence, they are entitled to have the period occupied in prosecuting the application excluded in computation of the period of limitation for the appeal. 30 S.L R. 301=162 I.C. 257=1936 S. 43. An application for review preferred with a reasonable expectation of success and not prosecuted with reasonable diligence does not justify an excuse of the delay for filing an appeal caused by the prosecution of the review application. 107 P.R. 1918=46 I. Explanation.—The fact that the appellant or applicant was misled by any order, practice, or judgment of the High Court in ascertaining or computing the prescribed period of limitation may be sufficient cause within the meaning of this section.

Legal Disability,

6. (1) Where a person entitled to instiute a suit or make an application for the execution of a decree is, at the time from which the period of limitation is to be reckoned, a minor or insane, or an idiot, he may institute the suit or make the application within the same period after the disability has ceased, as would otherwise have been allowed from the time prescribed therefor in the third column of the first schedule.

peal"—Meaning of. See 26 A.L.J. 847=1928 A. 499. Where one party applies for review, the time for cross-review by the other party should be extended if necessary as one is a counterblast to the other. 94 P.W.R. 1917=42 I.C. 54. Time spent in review proceedings based on reasonable grounds may be sufficient cause but an unexplained delay of two months after rejection of the review application is not sufficient cause. 10 I.C. 129=140 P.L.R. 1911. See also 28 I.C. 926; 22 I.C. 919=26 M.L.J. 356; 64 I.C. 516=13 Bur.L.T. 219.

REVISION.—An order refusing to excuse delay in presentation of an appeal is not open to revision even for showing that the appeal was in time. 24 I.C. 872. See also 35 P.L.R. 374.

PRACTICE.—The practice of admitting appeals "subject to objection at the hearing" has been condemned by Privy Council and should therefore cease. 50 I.C. 374=31 C.L.J. 1. Reliance on a prevailing practice of Court may be taken into consideration in excusing delay. I.L.R. (1937) Bom. 421=38 Bom.L.R. 1281=1937 Bom. 64.

SECS. 5 AND 29.—Sec. 29 (2) (b) cannot be read as excluding the operation of sec. 5 of the Act. Sec. 29 (2) (b) only applies for the purpose of determining the period of limitation prescribed for a suit appeal or application. Once that period has been determined, sec. 5 of the Act comes in and gives the Court discretion to extend it for sufficient cause. 12 B.R. 62. Scope and effect of sec. 29 (2)—Applicability of sec. 5 to appeals under special laws—Application under Madras Agriculturists' Relief Act (IV of 1938) —Dismissal—Revision—Right of appeal given newly by sec. 25-A—Appeal on dismissal of revision—Application to excuse delay under sec. 5, Limitation Act—Sec. 29 of the Act if excludes the application of sec. 5 of that Act. 59 L.W. 202=1946 M. 351=(1946) 1 M.L.J. 271.

PROCEDURE.—Delay in filing appeal—Extension of time if may be implied from the procedure of the High Court. 43 M. 550= 56 I.C. 163=38 M.L.J. 444 (P.C.). Memorandum of appeal presented beyond time— Procedure. 43 B. 376=46 I.A. 15 (P.C.). Second appeal—Time for obtaining copy of the judgment of first Court when excluded. 1928 A. 416.

SECS. 6 AND 7.—Secs. 6 and 7 of the Act are not mutually exclusive. Sec. 7 supplements sec.. 6. 41 A. 435=49 I.C. 990=17 A.L.J. 649. See also 24 O.C. 330=64 I.C. 757; 39 P.L.R. 127=1937 L. 485. Both secs. 6 and 7 go together. Sec. 7 is an extension of sec. 6, where the point of time at which the existence of disability is to be recognised is clearly defined as "the time from which the period of limitation is to be reckoned". Consequently, the joint right of suit dealt with in sec. 7 will also have to exist at the time specified in sec. 6 and if an afterborn reversioner is non-existent then, sec. 7 cannot be invoked in his case. 45 P.L.R. 345 =A.I.R. 1943 Lah. 281 (F.B.). Secs. 6 and 7 do not give a fresh period of limitation; in order to take advantage of sec. 6, the person claiming to take advantage of it must be a person entitled to institute the suit at the the time from which the period of limitation was to be reckoned. 23 Pat.L.T. 528=1942 Pat. 99. Sec. 6 is expressly limited to cases where limitation is prescribed in the first schedule to the Act; and when limitation is provided for in some Act outside the provisions of the Limitation Act, such special limitation is not affected by sec. 6 or sec. 7. The special provision for limitation in sec. 48, C. P. Code, is therefore, not governed by the provisions of sec. 6 or sec. 7. 65 C.L.J. 403=1938 Cal. 25; 1939 N.L.J. 387=1939 N. 245. Sec. 6 is applicable only to suits and applications for which a period of limitation is prescribed in the third column of the first schedule. It does not apply to the period of limitation provided for an application for execution in sec. 48, C. P. Code. 46 P.L.R. 26=A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 106. Sec. 6 is an enabling section to enable persons under disability to exercise their legal rights within a certain time and it should be construed liberally. 41 B. 625=41 I.C. 238. Where adverse possession was not running against a minor alone but was running against his elder brother and mother as well, it cannot cease on account of the disability of any one of the parties and the minor cannot obtain the benefit of the extension of limitation under sec. 6. 1943 A.L.W. 160. The section applies to applications under sec. 144, C. P. Code. 41 B. 625. Sec. 6 applies to every minor, whether he has a guardian or not, and the existence of a guardian competent to sue or to apply is immaterial. A minor under sec. 6 (1) is entitled to sue or to apply for execution of a decree within the statutory period of three years after attaining majority, and the protection given to a minor in the matter of making an application for execution cannot be restricted by the acts of his guardian. 18 Pat.L.T. 989=1938 Pat. 92. By the express terms of sec. 6 the extended period of three years after majority can be claimed only by a person entitled to institute a suit at the time from which the period of limitation is to be reckoned. A person who was not in existence at the time does not come within the section and therefore he is not entitled to the three years' extension under sec. 6. 46 Bom.L.R. 683=1945 Bom. 63. The benefit of sec. 6 can be claimed by an assignee of the person who is entitled to that benefit in a suit where both the assignor and assignee join in the suit as plaintiffs, so long as the assignor has a subsisting right to sue at the date when the suit is brought, although the benefit would not be available had the assignee alone brought the suit. 40 Bom.L.R. 548=1938 Bom. 358. Where an alienation is made by some of the coparceners without legal necessity and against the wishes of others, it will be invalid not only against the latter but also as against other coparceners born after the alienation. Such coparceners would be entitled to avoid it not as the representatives of their fathers, but in their own right. The period of limitation would run from the date of the sale, and there is only one cause of action which would arise in favour of the other members who had not consented to the sale. Successive causes of action cannot arise as new members are born year after year. A coparcener who is not in existence at the time from which the period of limitation would be reckoned cannot rely upon sec. 6. 185 I.C. 881=1940 Nag. 94. Sec also 18 Lah. 395=1937 Lah. 420. See also 1939 L. 1=I.L.R. (1939) L. 227. Although under certain systems of law, such as Hindu Law, a child en ventre sa mere is by a legal fiction considered to be born in the sense that he has a right of inheritance in his father's property, such a fiction does not govern the rule laid down by the law of limition. Under the law of limitation, minority begins at the date of birth and not at the date of conception. Where therefore a person challenging an alienation of ancestral property was in his mother's womb but not born at the time of the alienation he cannot be said to be a minor and cannot therefore claim an extension of time contemplated by sec. 6. 42 P.L.R. 237=1939 Lah. 290. See also 1939 Lah. 1=I.L.R. (1939) L. 227. If the existence of a Hindu reversioner clothes an after born reversioner with a right to sue, though an after-born reversioner cannot claim the benefit of sec. 6 of the Limitation Act in his own right, he cannot be deprived of the extended period of limitation available to the reversioner in existence at the time of the alienation. 1943 M.W.N. 86=1943 Mad. 378 =(1943) 1 M.L.J. 157. A plaintiff must prove affirmatively and clearly that his suit is within time and that the exemption enacted by this section applies to his case. 1923 L. 41. The point about the minority of a party for the purpose of calling in aid the provisions of sec. 6, cannot be raised for the first time in second appeal. 1940 N.L.J. 607=1941 N. 100. The section lays down a general rule for all kinds of disabilities and in all kinds of suits, while Art. 44 applies to only one case of disability, i.e., minority, and one class of suits, i.e., a suit to set aside a sale by guardian. 12 I.C. 695 =21 M.L.J. 1041. A lunatic is protected under sec. 6 as long as he is under disability. The mere fact that there was a guardian on his behalf, who could have sued earlier, would not deprive him of the protection given by that section. 148 I.C. 1166=1934 A.L.J. 803=1934 A. 434. Where payment is made by a debtor towards a debt due to a minor, the date of payment should be taken under sec. 6 as the date "at the time from which the period of limitation is to be reckoned". 161 I.C. 330=1936 A. 152. A suit could be brought on behalf of the minors in which the minors obtained the benefit of sec. 6. 1936 All. 152=1936 A.L.J. 59. The only disabilities which save the operation of the Limitation Act are those which are created by the statute itself, sec. 6 of which recognises only three classes of persons as being under legal disability. The mother and guardian of a minor sold certain property belonging to the ward in 1873, and, the ward having died an infant in 1879 or 1880, she succeeded to his other property and died in 1921 without taking steps to set aside the alienation. A reversionary heir instituted a suit in 1922 to recover possession of the property sold from persons holding under the original vendee, held, that the suit was barred by limitation because of sec. 6 (3) read with Art. 44 of the Limitation Act. The suit became barred on the lapse of three years after the death of the ward, notwithstanding the fact that he was succeeded by a female heir. 1930 M. 821 =59 M.L.J. 196. See also 39 P.L.R. 127= 1937 Lah. 485. Sec. 6 of the Limitation Act is made applicable to the Kumaun Rules by a notification of 1918 and it confers on a minor a large period of limitation for instituting a suit to avoid a sale of Khaikari right. 14 R.D. 635. Under sec. 6, the last date for a minor decree-holder to apply in execution is within three years after attaining majority. The guardian of a minor can also apply in execution at any time during the minority, even though his previous application is more than three years old. 32 Bom.L.R. 1299= 1930 B. 593 (1). See also 32 Bom.L.R. 1093 =1930 B. 508; 1935 L 144 (1). Secs. 6 and 7 import that during minority the operation of the Limitation Act is suspended and since a minor can apply within 3 years after attaining majority, he may by his guardian or next friend apply at any time before he attains majority. 119 I.C. 39=1929 M. 394. A minor in whose favour a decree is assigned is not entitled to the benefit of sec. 6 of the Act. The assignment does not create a fresh cause of action in his favour. 46 P.L.R. 26 =1944 Lah. 106. Where after the death of a tenant the defendant dispossessed his minor sons and the latter brought a suit for possession more than 12 years after their father's death but within one year of one of the plaintiffi's attaining majority, it was held that the suit was within time as the plaintiffs were entitled to the benefit of the extension of limitation under sec. 6. 1943 O.W.N. 99= 1943 A.W.R. C. 725=37 M.L.J. 256. The provisions regarding legal disability and consequent extension of time do not apply to the legal representatives of minors except as stated in sec. 6. If a minor who is entitled to sue within three years after attaining majority dies after attaining majority, there is no provision which can extend limitation to that period for his representatives. I.L.R. (1942) Nag. 331=1943 N.L.J. 286=A.I.R. 1943 Nag. 284. The fact that the property of a plaintiff has been in continuous possession of the Court of Wards from before the death of the plaintiff's father until the plaintiff attained majority will not prolong the period of limitation under sec. 6 226 I.C. 97=1946 Pat. (Rul.) 342=A.I R. 1946 Pat. 154.

SUBSEQUENT DISABILITY.—A minor is not entitled to the benefit of sec. 6 in respect of a right to sue which accrued before his birth. 54 I.C. 838. Where a cause of ation accrued to a person when he was in embryo, he cannot get the advantage of sec. 6, as he cannot be deemed to be a minor in existence on the date of the conception. 10 L. 713=1929 L. 254 (2). See also 1930 L. 394=31 P.L. R. 305; 1931 M. 456=60 M.L J. 521. This is so because the second son has no independent right to sue and his right is derived from his elder brother's right. 13 L. 520=1932 L. 605.

(2) Where such person is, at the time from which the period of limitation is to be reckoned, affected by two such disbilities, or where, before his disability has ceased, he is affected by another disability, he may institute the suit or make the application within the same period, after both disabilites have ceased, as would otherwise have been allowed from the time so prescribed.

(3) Where the disability continues up to the death of such person, his legal representative may institute the suit or make the application within the same period after the death as would otherwise have been allowed from the time so prescribed.

(4) Where such representative is at the date of the death affected by any such disability, the rules contained in sub-sections (1) and (2) shall apply.

Secs. 6 to 9 have been declared not to apply to suits, appeals or applications under the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act (III of 1913).

SECS. 6 AND 9.—Limitation for a suit on a promissory note begins to run from the date of its execution and prima facie the running of limitation could not be stopped by the fact that the payee died and the person who subsequently becomes entitled to sue is under disability. Hence a minor heir of a deceased promisee under a promissory note cannot claim the benefit of sec. 6 of the Limitation Act. 1940 O.W.N. (H.C.) 321 (2)=1943 A. L.W. 546. If a presumptive reversioner has failed to sue, a remote reversioner, who happens to be a minor at the time of the alienation, can avail himself of the benefit of sec. 6. Sec. 9 does not come into operation in such a case. Time no doubt will start running both against the major and minor reversioners but they will have their own periods of limitation and in no case will the one provided for a minor reversioner be affected by that of a major reversioner whether of equal or of a different degree. 46 P.L.R. 316=A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 409 (F.B.)=I.L.R. (1945) Lah. 231.

SECS. 6, 7, 8 AND 9: SCOPE AND EFFECT.— The effect of secs. 6, 7, 8 and 9 of the Limitation Act was to bar the plaintiff's right to sue, whether or not the previously adopted son died a major or a minor. Since the right of the former adopted son was barred by limitation, time having already run against him, no further right to sue in respect of the alienations could accrue to the plaintiff. 43 Bom.L.R. 222=1941 Bom. 197.

SECS. 6 (3) AND 19: SCOPE AND EFFECT.— A mortgage was executed in 1916 in favour of A, a period of three years being fixed for payment of the amount. A died in 1920, and the right then devolved on his minor son. While he was a minor, there were two acknowledgments, one in 1924 and another in 1927. The son also died a minor, and his mother (A's wife) brought a suit on the mortgage in 1941, which was within three years of the date when the son would have attained majority Held, (1) that when acknowledgments were made, fresh periods of limitation was to be computed under sec. 19 of the Limitation Act and hence the deceased minor would be entitled to file the suit within three years of his majority; (2) that since he died a minor, and since the disability continued up to his death, his mother was entitled, under sec. 6 (3) of the Limitation Act, to file the suit within the same period after his death and hence the suit was in time. 57 L.W. 612. Scope and combined effect of secs. 6 and 19—Acknowledgment of debt during plaintiff's minority—If extends period of limitation up to three years after plaintiff's becomng major. I.L.R. 7. Where one of several persons jointly entitled to institute a suit or make an application for the execution of a decree is under any such disability, and a discharge can be given without the concurrence of such person, time will run against them all: but, where no such discharge can be given, time will not run as against any of them until one of them becomes capable of giving such discharge without the concurrence of the others or until the disability has ceased.

(a) A incurs a debt to a firm of which B, C and D are partners. B is insane, and C is a minor. D can give a discharge of the debt without the concurrence of B and C. Time runs against B. C and D.

(b) A incurs a debt to a firm of which E, F and G are partner; s E and F are insane and G is a minor. Time will not run aginst any of them until either E or F becomes sane, or G attains majority.

SEC. 7: APPLICABILITY.—Sec. 7 does not apply where disability had not existed when the right to apply accrued. 34 I.C. 86=20 C.W.N. 852. See also 11 I.C. 401=15 C.W. N. 845. Sec. 7 is a disabling section, and in so far as it takes away the right conferred by sec. 6, has to be strictly construed. 50 L.W. 562=1939 Mad. 907=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 619. The disability referred to in the section means a disability of a kind which is of the nature and existed at the time referred to in sec. 6. 24 O.C. 330=1921 O. 196=64 I. C. 757. Sec. 7 clearly has no application to any but the cases to which it is made applicable, namely, to debts and execution of decrees. 133 I.C. 155=1931 A. 398. But see 25 I.C. 755 (M.). Sec. 7 applies not only to cases of discharge of debts but also to cases involving immovable property; the word "discharge" in sec. 7 is wide enough to include any form of quittance whereby the rights and liabilities between two parties are put an end to. 34 P.L.R. 384=1933 L. 479; 25 I.C. 755; 16 P. 422=18 Pat.L.T. 385= 1937 P. 435 (F.B.). When several persons jointly interested in a property have been dispossessed, section does not apply if each of the several persons can sue for his individual share. 51 I.C. 797. Sec. 48, C. P. Code, cannot override sec. 7, and does not therefore imply that running of time will not be suspended against a minor. 1929 M. 394=119 I.C. 39. Where some minors were impleaded as co-mortgagees in the place of one of the co-mortgagees since deceased and a final decree was passed but the execution application was filed five years after: Held, that it was not barred by limitation. 37 C.W.N. 838= 1937 C. 1.

MEMBERS OF A JOINT FAMILY.—A major manager of a joint Hindu family can give a valid discharge of a decree debt within sec. 7 so as to make time run against minor members of the family. 44 I.C. 566; 30 Bom.L. R. 537=52 B. 441=1929 B. 13. See also 25 I.C. 755; 15 M.L.T. 100=22 I.C. 76; 30 I. C. 75; 31 Bom.L.R. 963=1929 B. 382; I.L. R. (1941) Kar. 72=1941 Sind 166; I.L.R. (1940) M. 752=1940 M. 530=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 195. But if he happens to be the guardian ad litem or the next friend of a minor coparcener, he would not be competent to give a valid discharge in respect of the subject-matter of the suit or decree sought to be executed wherein he occupies such position without the permission of the Court under O. 32, r. 6, C. P. Code, in respect of the interest of such minor. But when he is not the next friend of a minor in respect of the decree sought to be executed, his powers as manager are not restricted or curtailed by any statutory rule. 43 L.W. 390=1936 M. 434= 70 M.L.J. 700. See also 19 Pat.L.T. 855 =1939 Pat. 33; 1938 Bom. 392. His right as manager to receive money due under the decree in favour of the family and give a valid discharge without the concurrence of the minor is not in any way affected by the fact that another person than himself represented the minor as next friend in the decree. A minor coparcener cannot therefore claim the benefit of sec. 7, in respect of an application by him to execute the decree. See 1936 M. 434=70 M.L.J. 700; 1939 Pat. 33. It is well established that although a suit by the younger of two Hindu brothers constituting a joint family filed within three years of his attaining majority would be barred by limitation if the elder brother had failed to sue within three years of his majority if he was the manager of the family, sec. 7, Limitation Act, would not operate as a bar if the elder (adult) brother was not the manager of the family during the relevant period. 58 L.W. 100 (2)=1945 Mad. 498=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 200. Where a cause of action accrues to two brothers of a joint Hindu family jointly when they are minors, limitation runs from the date on which the elder of the two becomes a major. 43 M. 842=39 M.L.J. 375; 1930 A.L.J. 852=52 All. 768=1930 A. 861; 12 I.C. 695=21 M.L.J. 1041; 86 I.C. 704= 1925 A. 247 (1); 1929 L. 14; 37 Bom.L.R. 225=1935 B. 259; 1934 M. 469=67 M.L.J. 27; 18 Pat.L.T. 385=1937 P. 435=16 P. 422 (F.B.). See also 1938 Bom. 206. Mere coming of age of one of the brothers in a joint Hindu family does not raise a presumption that he is the manager of the family in the absence of any evidence. 167 I.C. 934=18 Pat.L.T. 383=1937 P. 155. Where, therefore, a suit is brought by two brothers, one of whom had become a major, for possession of lands of which a wrong entry was made in the record-of-rights, which suit would have been barred by time but for the minority of one of them, and there is no evidence to show that the major brother was karta of the family, the suit is not barred as major brother could not have given a valid discharge. See 36 Mad. 544=24 M.L.J. 333; 40 Bom.L.R. 127=1938 Bom. 206; 40 Bom.L.R. 521 =1938 Bom. 392; 67 C.L.J. 88 (Case of minor memb r represented by certificated guardian—Major member not competent to give valid discharge). Under the Hindu Law, where there is an eldest member of a family, the presumption is that he is the manager of the family, and he is competent to give a discharge without the concurrence of the other members of the family under sec. 7 so far the Madras Presidency is concerned. It cannot be said that an elder brother or eldest brother must be shown to be acting as the manager. If a party wants to displace the ordinary presumption that the eldest member has acted as manager and contends that he was not in a position to give a valid discharge, it is incumbent on him to prove facts rebutting that presumption. I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 752=1940 Mad. 530=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 195. Where the eldest of several Hindu brothers never acts as the manager of the joint family though he becomes a major, and cannot give a valid discharge without the concurrence of the others, time will not run against the latter under sec. 7. 40 Bom.L.R. 1029=1938 Bom. 500. A minor promisee (in a Hindu joint family) of a pronote cannot sue on it after three years, when the adult co-promisee allows it to be barred. 36 M. 544=24 M.L. J. 333 (F.B.). See also 1933 M.W.N. 895 =1934 M. 103 (1). Sec. 7 merely refers to the capacity to give discharge. "If he gives a discharge without any benefit to the family his act may be liable to be challenged by the minors but that is immaterial to the question of limitation". (45 B. 446; 38 M. 118, Foll.) 34 P.L.R. 384=1933 L. 479. One co-heir cannot give a valid discharge in respect of a debt due to the ancestor without the concurrence of the other co-heirs. 35 Bom.L.R. 388 =1933 B. 245=145 I.C. 164. But where the cause of action is distinct, the mere fact that the elder brother could have joined it with his does not bring the suit within sec. 7. 41 M. 102=33 M.L.J. 309. See also 53 I.C. 161 =10 L.W. 422; 32 I.C. 802=1915 M.W.N. 908; 38 M. 118=25 M.L.J. 405; 12 I.C. 695 =21 M.L.J. 1041; 52 I.C. 725=37 M.L.J. 256; 1928 M. 42=53 M.L.J. 677. In the case of alienation by manager or guardian of minors, the bar of limitation as against one member does not affect other members, if such other members have a right to impeach alienation. 133 I.C. 155=1931 A. 398. [This decision proceeds on the ground that sec. 7 applies only to debts.] See also 53 L.W. 724 =1941 Mad. 678. In the case of an alienation by a widow a remoter reversioner can sue to set it aside independently of the nearer reversioner and if he is a minor at the time of transfer, he can avoid it within three years of his attaining majority. 1932 L. 39=132 I.C. 665 (L.). See also 1940 O.W.N. 1237 =1941 Oudh 165. But see 1933 L. 524; 39 P.L.R. 127=1937 Lah. 485. Holding that a suit by a reversioner to challenge an alienation made by the limited owner is a representative one, if a reversioner competent to challenge the alienation fails to do so within the period of limitation, others can't challenge it afterwards whether minors or otherwise. Where a suit to set aside an alienation by a Hindu father is brought by the eldest son within three years of his attaining majority, sons born subsequent to the alienation are entitled to join in the suit and get their share. 40 C. 966=40 I.A. 213=25 M.L.J. 512 (P.C.). In such a case, limitation will run from the date of the cessation of the elder son's minority. The after-born sons have no independent right to sue. Their right is derived from the eldest son's right to sue. 13 L. 520=1932 L. 605. In the absence of fraud a karnavan sufficiently represents a tarwad so as to be able to give a discharge even on behalf of the minor members. 25 I.C. 755. Where a Hindu uncle and his minor nephew claim as co-owners under independent titles and not as members of a joint family, the former cannot give a valid discharge of the claim of the latter so as to make limitation run against him also. 31 N.L.R. (Supp.) 191 =162 I.C. 577=1936 N. 80. In the case of brothers who are daughter's sons of the last male Hindu owner, the property is not coparcenary property in the strict sense of the term under the Hindu Law and therefore the elder brother is not a person entitled to give a valid discharge on behalf of his younger brothers within the meaning of sec. 7 of the Limitation Act. In such a case the time for a suit on behalf of the daughter's sons to set aside an alienation by the limited owner does not begin to run until all the brothers entitled to sue become majors, it being a case of several persons jointly entitled to institute a suit. 57 L.W. 459=1944 Mad. 512=(1944) 2 M. L.J. 117. In a Mahomedan family, the heirs are entitled to definite shares as tenants-in-common and the cause of action of such heirs cannot be said to be a joint one for the purpose of limitation. 51 I.C. 748=36 M.L.J. 184. And a bar of limitation against one major son does not affect another son. 1929 L. 582. Under the Punjab Customary law, a minor reversioner's right to contest an alienation of ancestral property even when nearer reversioners are in existence, is saved by sec. 6. 1933 L. 866; 1934 L. 908. So also his right to contest an adoption. 1934 L. 968 (2). Co-heirs must join in a suit for accounts of partnership. 33 I.C. 564. One member of a partnership even if it has been dissolved is entitled to give a valid discharge of a debt due to the partnership. 52 I.C. 456=10 L.W. 57. See also 33 I.C. 564. Special exceptions.

8. Nothing in section 6 or in section 7 applies to suits to enforce rights of pre-emption or shall be deemed to extend, for more than three years from the cessation of the disability or the death of the person affected thereby, the period within which any suit must be instituted or application made.

(a) A, to whom a right to sue for a legacy has accrued during his minority, attains majority eleven years after such accruer. A has, under the ordinary law, only one year remaining within which to sue. But under section 6 and this section an extension of two years will be allowed him, making in all a period of three years from the date of his attaining majority, within which he may bring his suit.

If a manager of a joint Hindu family consisting of himself and his minor brother obtains a decree in a suit brought by him in the name of the joint family firm on his own behalf and as next friend of the minor, he can not lawfully receive any money which may be jointly due to them under the decree without the leave of the Court in view of the prohibition contained in O. 32, R. 6, C. P. Code, and he is consequently not in a position to give a valid discharge for the decretal debt without first obtaining such leave. The prohibition is not removed merely because the decree is passed in the name of the firm without further mention of the minor. Consequently if an application for execution of the decree filed by the manager is dismissed as barred by limitation, a subsequent application for execution filed by the minor within three years after attaining majority is not barred either by reason of sec. 7 of the Limitation Act or by the principle of res judicata. 44 P.L.R. 368=1942 Lah. 280. SEC. 8.—Under sec. 8 where a plaintiff is a minor when the cause of action arises, time does not run against him until the minority has ceased. A suit brought within the prescribed period after minority is over is not barred. 27 A.L.J. 1233=1929 A. 963. A mortgage was executed in 1916 in favour of the plaintiff's husband, fixing a period of three years for payment. The mortgagee died in 1920, leaving the plaintiff and a minor son. During his minority three were two acknowledgments, one in 1924 and the other in 1927. The son died a minor, and the plaintiff filed a suit on the mortgage within three years. Held, (1), that when an acknowledgment was made, a fresh period of limitation was to be computed under sec. 19 of the Limitation Act, and the minor son of the mortgagee was entitled to file a suit within three years after attaining majority under sec. 8 of the Limita-

(b) A right to sue for an hereditary office accrues to A who at the time is insane. Six years after the accruer A recovers his reason. A has six years, under the ordinary law, from the date when his insanity ceased within which to institute a suit. No extension of time will be given him under section 6 read with this section.

(c) A right to sue as landlord to recover possession from a tenant accrues to A, who is an idiot. A dies three years after the accruer, his idiocy continuing up to the date of his death. A's representative in interest has, under the ordinary law, nine years from the date of A's death within which to bring a suit. Section 6 read with this section does not extend that time, except where the representative is himself under disability when the representation devolves upon him.

SEC. 9 AND ART. 141.—An adoptive mother executed a will during the minority of her adopted son treating her deceased husband's properties as if they were her own absolute properties. She gave to the adopted son only a house and some cash and dedicated the rest of the properties to an idol. The adopted son after attaining majority executed a receipt in her favour in which he gave his consent to the will and admitted that he had been in separate possession of the house given to him from the date of its execution. The adoptive mother was in possession of the properties dedicated to the idol for more than twelve years after the execution of the receipt and died. In a suit by the reversioners of the adopted son for the recovery of those properties. Held, that time began to run against the adopted son in his life time by reason of his adoptive mother's adverse possesion and his title, if any, came to an end in twelve years—that is, before his adoptive mother's death, and that the principle of sec. 9 of the Lmitation Act applied and not Art. 141. Suits against express trustees and their representatives.

a person in whom property has become vested in trust for any specific purpose, or against his legal representatives or assig .s (not being assigns for valuable consideration), for the purpose of following in his or their hands such property or the proceeds thereof, or for an account of such property or proceeds, shall be barred by any length of time.

is not retrospective and does not apply to suits instituted prior to it. 61 I.A. 50=56 A. 111=1934 P.C. 77=66 M.L.J. 431 (P.C.). Therefore, in a suit brought in 1926 by the Sajjadanashin of a Mahomedan dargah (Shrine) for possession of wakf lands from defendants who were at one time mujawars (i.e., attendants and servants of the shrine) and who were in possession in lieu of their services but had been dismissed in 1898. Held, that in view of the decision in Vidya Varuthi's case the suit did not come within the provisions of sec. 10, as it stood before the amendment; that the Sajjadanashin is not a "trustee" in the technical sense nor is any property belonging to the wakf "vested" in him. 61 I.A. 50=56 A. 111=1934 P.C. 77=66 M.L.J. 431 (P.C.). See also 157 I.C. 181 (2)=1935 M. 483. Where the right of the plaintiff had become barred by limitation before the amending Act of 1929 was passed, the mere institution of the suit after 1929 cannot have the effect of reviving that right. 22 Pat. 133=1943 Pat. 289.

CONSTRUCTION.—Sec. 10 and Art. 134 must be read together. Sec. 10 is in the main designed to meet a suit brought for the purpose of following misapplied trust funds for the benefit of the trust. 20 Bom.L.R. 441; 32 M.L.J. 85. Scope of sec. 10. See 49 I.A. 37 =1922 P.C. 212 (P.C.).

CONSTRUCTION—"ASSIGNS" MEANING OF.—The assigns contemplated in sec. 10 are not only assigns from the mahant of a math but also assigns from the transferee or assignee from the mahant. The object of inserting the words "valuable consideration" is to distinguish the case of a transferee who is a mere volunteer and in whose favour no equity could be brought to play and to hit only those transferees who are in possession of the trust property without having paid any consideration for it. 22 Pat. 133=1943 Pat. 289. The words "for the purpose of following in his or their hands such property," in sec. 10 of the Limitation Act, mean for the purpose of recovering the property for the benefit of the trust in respect of which it had been given, so that when property is used for some purpose other than the proper purpose of the trust in question, it may be recovered without any bar of time from the hands of the persons indicated in the section. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 392=1942 Sind 145.

APPLICABILITY.—Sec. 10 applies only to cases of express trusts and not to constructive trusts. 45 M. 415=32 M.L.J. 119; 1925 P. 68. It excludes from its operation such trusts as the law would imply merely from the existence of particular facts or fiduciary relations. Nor does it apply to purchasers of property with notice of prior agreement to sell. 1929 N. 298. See also 1929 L. 753. A trust, as defined by sec. 3 of the Trusts Act, contemplates that the trustee is the legal owner of the trust property, and before there can be a trust, the "trustee" must be the owner, that is, there must be a transfer of the property to the trust before a trust can be created. 1940 Pat. 90. In order to invoke the application of sec. 10 the property must be vested in a trustee or trustees for a specific purpose. A person claiming adversely to the trust on the footing that the trust deed itself was bad cannot contend that the property was held by the trustees for any purpose. Where a person claiming to be an heir of the settlor and to be entitled to the property on the ground that the trust deed was void and that as an heir of the settlor he is entitled along with the other heirs to recover the property from the trustees, sec. 10, does not apply. 41 Bom.L.R. 622=1941 Bom. 307. Sec. 10 is confined to cases where property has become vested in trust for any specific purpose. 47 All. 171=22 A.L.J. 866=1924 A. 884; it does not apply to a principal's suit against an agent. 81 I.C. 505=1925 N. 115. Nor to a suit against assigns for valuble consideration. 16 I.C. 53=23 M.L.J. 260; 89 I.C. 483=1925 A. 822. See also 46 I.C. 19= 20 Bom.L.R. 441. The transfer of a portion of the math and the properties appertaining thereto by one mahant in favour of another mahant in settlement of bona fide disputes between them to the office of the mahant of the math is a transfer for a valuable consideration. 22 Pat. 133=1943 Pat. 289. Sec. 10 applies to a suit against the legal representatives of a deceased trustee for the recovery of a specific sum of money misappropriated by him. The suit is in essence a suit to follow trust property in the hands of the legal representatives of the trustee. 46 C.W. N. 865. A benamidar is not a trustee. 45 M.

415=1922 M. 57=42 M.L.J. 119. Nor a depository or a banker. 22 I.C. 936; 1 A.L.J. 422. Sec. 10 cannot apply to a wrong doer in possession without title. A wrong doer in possession is expressly excluded from the definition of the word "trustee". I.L.R. (1945) Kar. 40=1945 Sind 57. Sec. 10 has no application to "constructive trusts" which are only obligations in the nature of trusts, but only to trusts properly so called. Where a vendor of immovable property leaves a portion of the sale consideration in the hands of the vendee directing him to pay the same to his minor son when he attains majority, the vendee undertaking to pay interest on the amount retained by him, there is no trust which would attract the operation of sec. 10. 1939 Mad. 722=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 820. Sec. 10 applies to a suit brought by the reversioners of a lady, whose property was put in charge of a Sipurdar, to recover the property from his legal representatives. 101 I. C. 427=1927 Oudh 614. Section applies to suit against heirs of express trustee for ascertainment. 52 B. 184=107 I.C. 705 (2)= 1928 B. 58. It is not necessary that the property followed should be identical property in respect of which a breach of trust has been committed. I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 94= 1938 Nag. 30. Where a testator made a will bequeathing all his property to A and also entered into a contract with A's father not to revoke the same but later executed a second will by which he revoked the first and bequeathed all his property to B, his wife, whom he appointed executrix and it was contended that by virtue of the contract, there was a trust created in favour of A. Held, that the trust did not fall within sec. 10, as it could not be said that the property was vested in the executrix under the second will for the specific purpose of making them over to A. 58 I. A. 279=10 P. 851=1931 P.C. 196=61 M.L. J. 78 (P.C.). See also 1938 P.W.N. 186=19 Pat.L.T. 202=1938 P. 600=17 Pat. 350. Once a trust has been declared invalid ab initio sec. 10 can have no application at all to a suit for account of rents of property held under trust. 1940 Rang.L.R. 136=1939 Rang. 365. Sec. 10 does not apply to a claim for an account on the footing of wilful default. Such a claim is liable to be barred by limitation and Art. 120 is the article applicable. 1940 Rang.L.R. 273=1940 Rang. 207 =(1940) 3 F.L.J. 147. Property held by a Mahant of a math for maintaining the math and the office relating thereto is not property which "has become vested in trust for any specific purpose". The endowments are not "conveyed in trust" nor is the head of a math a "trustee" with regard to them save as to specific property proved to have been vested in him for a specific object. So sec. 10 is not applicable to property appertaining to the mahant of an asthan. [44 M. 831 (P.C.), Rel. on] 9 Luck. 394=1934 O. 96. As to temple funds, see 38 Bom.L.R. 808=1936 Bom. 412; 1941 P.C. 130 (P.C.). The property of a temple belongs to the idol and does not vest in the manager or dharmakarta though he has a wide discretion in the spending of the funds of the institution. The dharmakarta of a temple is not the trustee of the property of the temple, so as to attract the operation of sec. 10, Limitation Act. He is no more than a manager. Sec. 10 of the Limitation Act as it stood before its amendment in 1929, did not apply to heads of mutts and temples. The amendment of sec. 10 in 1929 does not have the effect of making it applicable to a case where the remedy had become barred before the amendment of sec. 10 in 1929. 56 L.W. 479 (2)=1943 Mad. 691=(1943) 2 M.L. EXPRESS TRUST.—Persons could not by breach of trust continued for a period of 12 years confer a statutory title on themselves in derogation or extinction of the trust. 36 C.L.J. 35=50 C. 49=1923 C. 1. Time would be no bar to an action against the shebaits for recovery of the debutter properties from their hands. 1926 C. 1; 25 A.LL.J. 1047=50 All. 265=1928 A. 134. An administrator in whom no special trust is vested for a specific purpose is not a trustee within the meaning of sec. 10. 2 P.L.J. 642=40 I.C. 860. A guardian, appointed under the Guardians and Wards Act, of the property of a minor, is not an express trustee within the meaning of sec. 10. 39 Bom.L.R. 351=I.L.R. 1937 B. 636= 1937 B. 334. A ward cannot therefore take advantage of sec. 10 to avoid the bar of limitation for a suit against an ex-guardian. I.L.R. (1937) Bom. 636=1937 Bom. 334=39 Bom.L.R. 351. Under sec. 10 as amended, the manager of a Hindu Religious Endowment is in the same position as an express trustee, although it cannot be said that any property is conveyed to a shebait or mutawalli, in the case of a dedication under the Hindu or Mahomedan Law, or vested in him. Whatever property he holds for the idol or the institution, he holds as manager with certain beneficial interests regulated by custom or usage. 157 I.C. 181 (2) =1935 M. 483. As a general rule, the high priest of a temple and a person in like position, is only the manager and custodian of the idol or the institution. In almost every case he is given the right to a part of the usufruct, the mode of enjoyment and the amount of the usufruct depending on usage and custom. The property is not conveyed to or vested in him nor is he a trustee in the English sense of the term, although in view of the obligations and duties resting on him, he is answerable as a trustee in the general sense for maladministration. But a high priest appointed under a decree of Court as a "trustee for all the properties movable and immovable devoted to the service" of the temple God, is an exception to the general rule. A suit against his widow for the recovery of the amount due on certain war bonds vested in him in trust would fall within sec. 10 and will not be barred by any length of time. 21 Pat. 96=44 Bom.L.R. 183=46 C.W.N. 377 =(1942) 1 M.L.J. 8; 22 Pat.L.T. 981=196 I.C. 696=1941 P.C. 130 (P.C.). Sec. 10 applies only to a case of property which has become vested in trust for a specific purpose; it can have no application to a case where property is in the possession of a donee under a voidable transaction of gift. 78 I.A. 21=I. For an executor to be considered as holding property in trust for a specific purpose within the meaning of sec. 10, an express trust must be created by the will itself. The position of an express trustee does not arise from the status of executor by itself. A legatee suing an executor is not therefore, entitled to the benefit of this section unless an express trust is created by the will. I.L.R. (1944) Nag. 817=1944 N.L.J. 458=1944 Nag. 377. A suit which is expressly stated to be a "suit for declaration and recovery of Rs. 9426-1-3", the declaration being wholly unnecessary and merely constituting the grounds on which the plaintiff bases his claim to a decree, and which in substance is one for recovery of a sum of money from an estate, of which the defendants are executors and trustees under a will, is not a suit for the purpose of following, in the hands of the defendants, trust property or the proceeds thereof. TRUSTEE DE SON TORT.—A suit for accounts

Suits on foreign contracts.

11. (1) Suits instituted in British India on contracts entered into in a foreign country are subject to the rules of limitation contained in this Act.

(2) No foreign rule of limitation shall be a defence to a suit instituted in British India on a contract entered into in a foreign country, unless the rule has extinguished the contract and the parties were domiciled in such contry during the period prescribed by such rule.

in respect of trust property comes under sec. 10 and a trustee de son tort stands in the same position as an express trustee. 57 I. C. 805=24 C.W.N. 752; 105 I.C. 721=1927 L. 773 (2); I.L.R. (1940) All. 815=1941 All. 1; but not an executor de son tort in whom no special trust is vested for a specific purpose. 1929 L. 753. Trustees de son tort would come within the operation of sec. 10, but the existence of a trust must be first established before the section may be applied against them. I.L.R. (1938) 1 Cal. 652=1938 Cal. 673. Sec. 10 does not apply to the case of trustees de son tort. The section is intended to apply to express trustees and their representatives which a trustee de son tort is not. 13 Luck. 344=1937 Oudh 373. Sec. 10 will not apply to a suit for accounts against a trustee de son tort, for it applies to cases of express trust alone. All that the amendment of 1929 did was to make a Hindu shebait or a Mahomedan mutwalli a trustee in whom property may be said to have vested. 1941 All. 1. Where a trustee has been in possession for upwards of 12 years of property under a trust which is void under the law, an action against him by the rightful owner would be barred by limitation under the statute, the reason being that the possession of the trustee is as much adverse to the true owner as that of any trespasser. The property in respect of which the direction in the will creating the charitable trust is void cannot be said to have "vested in trust for a specific purpose" and therefore sec. 10 Limitation Act, can have no application and the executor must be taken to have held the property adversely to the true owner and if he so holds it for the statutory period he would acquire a good title to it. The fact that the house tax receipts were issued by the Municipality in favour of the deceased testator is no proof that the executor was not holding the property adversely to the heir. 47 C.W.N. 46 (2)=1942 A.L.J. 718=56 L.W. 8=A.I.R. 1942 P.C. 64=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 11 (P.C.)=I.L.R. TRUST PROPERTY.—A suit by an alleged trustee for recovery of trust property against person claiming himself to be trustee is governed by Art. 144 of the Act. 46 I.A. 204= 53 I.C. 288=1919 P.C. 62=37 M.L.J. 460 (P. C.). When the guardian gives a discharge for a decree in favour of the minor in consideration of the transfer to him of certain property, he holds the property as a trustee for the minor. 28 I.C. 861. Sec. 10 cannot apply to a suit filed for the purpose of establishing a right under the provisions of sec. 42, Specific Relief Act. Sec. 10 contemplates the following or pursuit of concrete property and not a right. A suit under sec. 42, Specific Relief Act, for a declaration that certain properties are public, religious, trust properties, is not a suit for the purpose of following trust property. Art. 120, and not sec. 10, Limitation Act, applies to such a suit. I.L. R. (1945) Kar. 40=1945 Sind 57. See also 1942 Sind 145. Where a father executed a settlement deed by which the son who was given the properties was directed to pay a certain amount to the settlor's daughter. Held that there was a trust in favour of the daughters and a suit to enforce the same was not governed by any rule of limitation. 39 L.W. 496=1934 M. 273. A suit against the karta for account is not governed by it, as karta is not vested with property of the family. 58 I.C. 877=25 C.W.N. 356=1921 C. 571. A suit against a trustee for failure to obtain possession of the corpus and income of the trust property is not within sec. 10 but is governed by the ordinary law of limitation. 42 I.C. 544. See also 70 I.C. 87=1922 M. 409. Suit by one executor against legal representatives of deceased co-executor—Sec. 10 does not apply. 1927 B. 424=29 Bom.L.R. 418. Dispute between father and son as to possession of land—Order under sec. 146, Cr. P. Code—Land put in possession of receiver and income deposited in Government treasury—Suit by son after death of father for income so deposited—Art. 120 applies—Whether Government is trustee under sec. 10. 46 L.W. 632=1937 Mad. 787=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 296.

"VESTING".—The word "vesting" means merely properly having control of the property. 1926 M. 109=49 M.L.J. 468. The word "vest", implies that the property becomes in law the property of the trustee. 3 R. 206=1925 R. 289. See also I.L R. (1939) Bom. 154=41 Bom.L.R. 215=1939 Bom. 126. To save limitation under sec. 10 it must be shown that the defendants are persons "in whom property has become vested in trust for any specific purpose". Trusts which have not been declared by any specific words but which the law would imply from the existence of particular facts or fiduciary relations are excluded from the operation of the section. One useful test for determining whether any particular trust is within the provisions of the section or not is to see if a suit for the purpose of following the trust property in the hands of the trustee would be to restore it to the trust. I.L.R. (1938) 1 Cal. 652= 1938 Cal. 673. If a fund is handed over to one in order that he should pay it to a temple or utilize it for the temple, it must be held to have vested in him as trustee for that purpose, and the managers of the temple are entitled to rely on sec. 10, and to call upon him to account. 38 Bom.L.R. 808=165 I.C. 1001=1936 B. 412. While transfer of proprietary right is not intended, mere transference of management or control is not enough to satisfy the requirements of "vesting" as contemplated by sec. 10; a right to call for a transfer and to possess the property for the purposes of the trust and also power to dispose of it according to the terms of the trust without reference to the owner are the essentials that constitute the "vesting". 61 C. 119=1934 C. 87. A suit for recovery of property from a person in whom it was vested in trust for the upkeep of a shrine, or from a gratuitous transferee from him is governed by sec. 10. 53 I.C. 577=109 P.R. 1919. Trust property—Land assigned by mutual agreement—Suit for its recovery—Limitation. 45 I.C. 325=66 P.R. 1918. Failure of trustee to reduce trust property to possession—Liability for acts on default of predecessors—Failure to account—Limitation. 70 I.C. 87=1922 M. 409; 42 I.C. 544. Sec. 10 controls Art. 134 and gives the clue to its meaning. 1922 L. 271. The words of sec. 10 are wide enough to cover a case by one of two trustees, who claims against the other that the property ought to be held and managed by both. 18 L.W. 907=1924 M. 125. A new trustee succeeds to the office of a former trustee and not to him personally and is not therefore his legal representative under this section. 4 L.W. 369=34 I.C. 945. Whether an executor under a will is a trustee for a specific purpose within the meaning of sec. 10, depends upon the facts of each case. Sec. 10 will apply to an executor under a will who is therein expressly called trustee and is entrusted with the testator's property for certain definite purposes. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 392=A. I.R. 1942 Sind 145.

A "SPECIFIC PURPOSE" means a purpose which is either actually and specifically defined in the deed of trust or a purpose which from the specified terms can be certainly affirmed. 29 Bom.L.R. 241=1927 B. 398. See also 58 I.A. 1=60 M.L.J. 1=8 R. 645 (P. C.)=1931 P.C. 9. The phrase "trust for a specific purpose" in sec. 10 is only a more expanded mode of constituting express trust in English law. 1941 Mad. 811=(1941) 2 M. L.J. 558. Sec. 10 cannot be held to be inapplicable to the property of a temple because it was dedicated generally to the temple and not for any limited purpose. A "specific purpose" is a purpose which is either actually or specifically defined or a purpose which from the specified terms can be certainly affirmed. The conducting of pujas and ceremonies and the upkeep of the temple would be sufficiently specific to satisfy the requirements of sec. 10. 56 L.W. 479 (2)=A.I.R. 1943 Mad. 691=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 339=I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 284. The trustees contemplated by sec. 10 are the same as what are known in English law as express trustees, although the section does not use that particular nomenclature. A trust for a "specific purpose" within the meaning of sec. 10 is a trust for a purpose that is either actually and specifically defined in the terms of the will or the settlement itself, or a purpose which from the specified terms, can be certainly affirmed. Constructive or resulting trusts are as much trusts as express trusts, under the Indian Trusts Act; there is a sharp distinction between trusts created by the act of parties and certain obligations which are not trusts but which are considered to be in the nature of trusts. Sec. 10 of the Limitation Act cannot apply in the case of a person whom the law looks upon as a trustee because he has to discharge certain obligations in the nature of a trust. It only applies to a trustee of a trust in the strict sense of the term. 47 Bom. L.R. 934=1946 B. 131. Where by a family arrangement, a hundi was vested in defendant for payment of debts of plaintiff's husband, and any balance that might remain after payment of his creditors was to be paid to the latter. Held, that this arrengement constituted a trust for specific purpose within the meaning of sec. 10. 1936 Mad. 876. The purpose of following the property in the hands of the trustees referred to at the end of sec. 10 must be the purpose of restoring it to the trust which is specified in the earlier part of the section. 61 C. 119=1934 C. 87.

SEC. 12: APPLICABILITY.—See (1946) 2 M.L.J. 291. Sec. 12 allows the time spent in obtaining copy of decree to be excluded, but it does not apply to applications for revision, probably on the ground that there is no period of limitation prescribed in the Act for an application for revision. 1942 O.W.N. 335= 1942 O.A. 241=A.I.R. 1942 Oudh 392. Section is only applicable to suits in British India and not to proceedings in foreign Courts. 8 L. 54=102 I.C. 523 (2)=1927 L. 200. Sec. 12 is applicable to pauper appeals. 1923 L. 684. The rules under the Letters Patent do not amount to a special or local law. Consequently the time requisite for obtaining a copy of the judgment appealed against cannot be excluded in computing the time for filing an appeal under the Letters Patent. 16 L. 448=1935 L. 328 (F.B.); 5 Pat.L.J. 701=59 I.C. 179=1921 P. 365. Sec. 12 governs appeals under the Letters Patent from an order passed by a Single Judge of the High Court in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, whether ordinary or extraordinary and from the judgments passed by the High Court in its appellate jurisdiction. 16 Lah. 448 (overruled in I.L.R. Only the time requisite for obtaining a copy of the judgment appealed against and of the decree can be excluded. 1923 L. 461. Sec. 12 (3) allows to be excluded only the time requisite for obtaining a copy of the judgment against which the appeal is preferred. Where the rules of the Court require the filing of the judgment of the Court of first instance in a second appeal, the time requisite for obtaining it does not fall under sec. 12. 1923 L. 96; 1923 L. 461. But see 4 R. 310=1925 R. 344. See also on the point, 100 I.C. 854=1927 L. 192; 1928 A. 416; 1928 L. 755. See also 196 I.C. 654 =1941 Pesh. 74. The period till the decree is actually prepared and signed should be excluded for purposes of the limitation if the application for copy is made before the preparation of the decree. 43 P.L.R. 88=1941 Lah. 212. Period between date of judgment and date of signing decree can be deducted. 1939 Rang.L.R. 686. Time spent in obtaining translation of the judgment cannot be excluded under sec. 12. 59 I.C. 965. Where an appeal was filed on the last date of limitation deducting the time taken in obtaining copies of the judgment and the decree, but with the memorandum of appeal a copy of the translation of the decree, unsigned by the lower Court was filed, but no copy of decree was applied for. Held, that translation of decree unsigned by the lower Court is not a proper substitute for the decree so as to save limitation. 150 I.C. 781 (1)=1934 L. 304 (2). Where a formal decree has been drawn up in a miscellaneous execution case the time requisite for obtaining a copy of such a decree is to be deducted under sec. 12. 1 P.L. T. 33=54 I.C. 630. An appeal which would have been in time if presented on 23-2-1937 was actually presented on 16-2-1937, but without the copies of the judgment and the decree which the Court was asked to dispense with. The Court on 19-2-1937 dispensed with the copy of the judgment, but refused to dispense with a copy of the decree. A copy of the decree was applied for on 23-2-1937, obtained on 1-3-1937 and filed on the same date. Held, that even assuming the appeal to have been properly filed on 1-3-1937, the appeal was in time, the appellant being entitled to deduct the time requisite for obtaining the copy of the decree. 40 Bom.L.R. 389=1938 Bom. 288. See also 1938 Lah. 707. Where application of copies was made to a wrong Court on account of bona fide mistake and subsequent application was properly made and appeal filed out of time, the delay could be excused either under sec. 12 or sec. 5, Limitation Act. 1929 O. 348. Appeals filed in time with copies of judgment and subsequently with copies of decrees within period of limitation are not time-barred. 13 R.D. 356.

AWARD.—The period taken for obtaining a copy of the award must be excluded in computing the period of limitation for an application to set aside the award. 46 C. 721=53 I.C. 46=23 C.W.N. 280. See also 29 I.C. 860; 142 I.C. 835=1933 R. 38; 140 I.C. 11=1932 M. 588.

COMPUTATION OF TIME.—See 37 P.L.R. 235. In computing the period of limitation prescribed for an appeal two periods are to be excluded. They are: (1) the day on which the judgment is pronounced; and (2) the time (i.e.) the days requisite for obtaining copy of the decree. These two are distinct and separate in their purpose. It cannot be contended that the day on which an application for copy is made is not a day requisite for obtaining the copy. Therefore it is clear that an appellant is entitled to a deduction of the number of days beginning with the day on which he applies for, to the day on which he obtains the copy, from the number of clear days of limitation prescribed by statute. It may be that in an exceptional case, where the copy is applied for on the same day as the judgment is delivered, one day happens to be excluded twice. I.L. R. "TIME REQUISITE".—"Requisite" in sec. 12, Limitation Act means not merely required, but "properly required"; it is for the appellant to show that no part of the delay beyond the prescribed period was due to his default, and that he was not responsible for the time taken by the officials of the Court in preparing and issuing the decree and judgment. Having regard to the fact that some time is bound to be taken up between the passing and the signing of the decree, if tht appellant waits for a reasonable time in applying for copies, he would be entitled to deduct that time in the time requisite under sec.12; but if he waits for an unreasonable time in applying for copies he would not be entitled to exclude that period within the requisite time. 1946 Bom. 437=48 Bom.L.R. 97. The time requisite in sec. 12 is the time beyond the appellant's control occupied in obtaining the copy which accompanies the appeal and not an ideal lesser period which might have been occupied if the application for copy had been filed at some other date. Thus, the Court cannot restrict the time granted by the statute by adding to it a limitation that, where an appellant has got more than one copy of judgment and decree, he ought, if he seeks exclusion of time for obtaining the copy, to use the first copy obtained by him. 57 M. 560=1934 M. 306=66 M.L.J. 687 (F.B.). Where the application for the copy of the judgment sought to be appealed against is filed within the period of limitation, then the time spent in obtaining the copy must be excluded under sec. 12 (3), from the period of limitation for filing the appeal. 1942 O.W. =56 A. 591. See also 41 C.W.N. 129, where it was held that, in computing the period of limitation for an application for review of judgment on the original side of the High Court, the applicant is entitled to exclude the time between the decree and the filing thereof and also the period required for obtaining a copy of the decree, because of r. 27 of Ch. 16 of the High Court Rules (Calcutta). For a revision petition a copy of the judgment of the trial Court is required as a matter of practice, but that is more in the interests of the petitioner himself than an absolute necessity for the validity of the petition. A petitioner must therefore apply for both the copies simultaneously, that is to say, for the copy of the lower appellate Court's judgment and of the trial Court's judgment. If he is unable to get the trial Court's judgment within the period of limitation, he must present his revision petition with the copy of the lower appellate Court's judgment attached to it, and if he satisfies the High Court that he had applied simultaneously, ordinarily time would be given to his petition. Else, time required for trial Court's judgment is not excluded under sec. 12. 35 P.L.R. 274=1934 Pesh. 9. See also 1935 L. 341 =158 I.C. 120. Sec. 12 (3) does not apply to an application for execution of a decree. The period of limitation for an execution application therefore runs under Art. 182 of the Limitation Act from the date of the judgment and not from the date on which the decree is signed. 24 Pat. 421. The amended sec. 29 makes sec. 12 applicable to all special and local laws, but the rules of the High Court do not come under that category. Under the Patna High Court Rules, a copy of the judgment or decree is not necessary for filing a Letters Patent appeal, and so the time taken for obtaining a copy cannot be deducted in computing the period of limitation for a Letters Patent appeal (i.e., thirty days). 15 Pat. L.T. 301=1934 P. 353. But see also 8 B.R. 330. When it is not necessary to file a copy of the decree along with the application, the time between the judgment and the signing of the decree cannot be excluded under this section. 1935 L. 341. Nor can the time spent in obtaining a copy of the decree be excluded, where the copy is not filed together with the application, but has been filed in some other proceeding. 156 I.C. 738= 1935 R. 184.

Applications for leave to appeal in forma pauperis come under sec. 12 (2) as also applications for leave to appeal to the Privy Council. Hence the time taken for obtaining a copy of the judgment can be excluded in computing the period of limitation in the case of an application for leave to appeal in forma pauperis also. 57 L.W. 165 (1)=1944 M.W.N. 160=A.I.R. 1944 Mad. 430=(1944) 1 M.L.J. 229.

DECREE LATER THAN JUDGMENT.—The "date of decree" for calculating time for appeal is the date of the judgment, but when the decree is drafted later owing to time being granted for extra Court-fee, the time given must be excluded under sec. 12 (2). 25 I.C. 67 =38 B. 656=16 Bom.L.R. 441. Where it is the duty of the Court to draw up a decree or order without reference to the parties, the time between the date of the judgment and the signing of the decree or order has to be excluded in computing the period of limitation for filing an appeal. 1943 O.A. The rule of exclusion of time between the date of the judgment and the signing of the decree or order as "requisite" time for obtaining copies within sec. 12 (2) of the Limitation Act, has no application where under the order of the Court no decree could be drawn up until stamp duty is paid by the parties or any one of them, and there is delay in such payment. 47 P.L.R. 193=A.I.R. 1945. To entitle the appellant to exclude time under sec. 12, it is not sufficient to say that there is no decree or order in existence of which a copy could be obtained. SEC. 13.—The expression "time during which the defendant has been absent from British India" in sec. 13, must be read as "time during which the defendant or any person from or through whom the defendant derives his liability to be sued has been absent from British India". The definition of "defendant" in sec. 2 (4) must be read into sec. 13. 58 L.W. 181=A.I.R. 1945 Mad. 315 =(1945) 1 M.L.J. 275. Strict proof of the duration of the defendant's absence from British India must be adduced by the plaintiff. 9 I.C. 568 (1)=9 M.L.T. 217. Basra is not a territory under the administration of the Government of India within the meaning of sec. 13. 45 A. 18=20 A.L.J. 786=1923 A. 64. A plaintiff is entitled to deduct the time during which the defendant had been absent in Basra. (Ibid.) Secundrabad cantonment is under the administration of the Government of India within the meaning of sec. 13, and the period of time during which the defendant has been living in Secunderabad cannot be excluded. 39 Bom.L.R. 263=1937 Bom. 242. See also 40 P.L.R. 92=1938 Lah. 225. In a suit against a Native Prince, his residence is immaterial as the Prince could be sued by his agent. 30 Bom.L.R. 1463. Applicability of sec.—Cause of action arising out of British India—"Absence from British India"—Meaning of. See 1928 M.W. N. 543=1928 M. 1088; 1941 A.M.L.J. 41. The plaintiff filed a suit on a promissory note in the District Court of Muar in the Federated Malay States and obtained a decree on 21st July, 1930. Various payments were made by the defendant towards discharge of the decree the last being on 12th June, 1938, On 28th February, 1940, the plaintiff sued in the British Indian Court to enforce the foreign judgment. Held, that the suit was time-barred under Art. 117 of the Limitation Act and that limitation was not saved by reason of the payments in discharge of the decree of the foreign Court. The provisions of sec. 13 of the Limitation Act are attracted only when the cause of action has arisen in British India. 57 L.W. 855=A.I.R. 1944 Mad. 437=(1944) 1 M.L.J. 440.

Exclusion of time of proceeding bona fide in Court without jurisdiction.

14. (1) In computing the period of limitation prescribed for any suit, the time during which the plaintiff has been prosecuting with due diligence another civil proceeding, whether in a Court of first instance or in a Court of appeal, against the defendant, shall be excluded, where the proceeding is founded upon the same cause of action and is prosecuted in good faith in a Court which, from defect of jurisdiction, or other cause of a like nature, is unable to entertain it.

SEC. 14: OBJECT.—Sec. 14 should be liberally construed, the principle being that limitation would remain in suspense while the plaintiff was bona fide litigating on his rights in a Court of Justice. 44 M.L.J. 179 =1923 M. 347; I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 9=40 Bom.L.R. 1169=1939 Bom 26. A person claiming the benefit of sec. 14 must show that he comes within it and the burden is on the plaintiff to prove that he acted in good faith in instituting the earlier proceedings. I.L.R. (1941) Mad. 347=1941 Mad. 319= (1941) 1 M.L.J. 257 (F.B.). If a claim by a person is fully satisfied either by an agreement or by a decree of a Court, and if that satisfaction is subsequently annulled by another decree of Court, a fresh cause of action arises, apart from the deduction of time under sec. 14. 40 Bom.L.R. 1169=1939 Bom. 26. Secs. 4, 9 to 18 and 2, would apply to a case unless expressly excluded. 33 C.W.N. 227=1929 C. 325=56 C. 805. Secs. 4 and 14 can be applied to the same case. 33 C.W.N. 221=1929 C. 315. Secs. 4 and 14 distinguished. 68 M.L.J. 665; I.L.R. (1937) Nag. 217=1937 N. 215. The operation of sec. 14, Limitation Act, should not be restricted. Its principle should be followed in suitable cases even in proceedings which cannot strictly be called proceedings in a Court of Law. If the conduct of the person claiming its benefits has been bona fide, that is, he has established his good faith, if he has been prosecuting with due diligence another civil proceeding, he is entitled to its benefits. If any of these elements is lacking, he cannot take advantage of it. I.L.R. (1945) All. 394=1945 A.L.J. 185=1945 All. 377.

Sec. 14 says nothing about reliefs. It merely provides that the subsequent suit shall be founded upon the same cause of action and prosecuted in good faith. When the cause of action is the same and there is good faith, the fact that a different relief is asked for as against certain defendants in the subsequent or amended plaint will not preclude the operation of sec. 14. 1943 M. W.N. 310=A.I.R. 1943 Mad. 498=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 362=I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 104. Sec. 14 is not meant to cover cases in which the holder of a mortgage decree attempts to proceed against other property without exhausting the property held under the mortgage and the time taken in such proceedings cannot be excluded. 1943 O.W.N. 352=A.I.R. 1943 Oudh 453. Sec. 14 does not require that the earlier proceeding must have been a suit; nor does it require that it must have been initiated by the plaintiff in the later suit seeking advantage from the section. I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 495=A.I.R. 1942 Sind 37. Sec. 14 only applies when time has been spent in litigation in a Court which for want of jurisdiction or other similar cause was unable to give relief. It does not apply when there is no want of jurisdiction and when the competent tribunal refuses to interfere with the order of a lower Court. 23 Pat.L. T. 263=A.I.R. 1942 Pat. 378.

APPLICABILITY AND SCOPE.—Former suit dismissed without plaint being returned for want of jurisdiction—Plaintiff is entitled to claim the benefit of the provision in sec. 14 whether he comes up on the second occasion with the original plaint or with a new plaint. 153 I.C. 155 (2)=1935 P. 82. Sec. 14 does not apply in case of continuance of same proceeding. 36 P.L.R. 215=1934 L. 412. The three requisites for application of sec. 14 are, (1) identity of the cause of action, (2) good faith of the plaintiff, and (3) the absence of jurisdiction or other cause of a like nature in the Court which entertained the prior litigation 1939 Mad. 724 =(1929) 2 M.L.J. 329. It is only when the civil proceeding is prosecuted in a Court which from defect of jurisdiction or other cause of a like nature is unable to entertain it that sec. 14 can apply. 130 I.C. 157=1931 N. 47=1927 L. 785=104 I.C. 726=28 Punj.L.R. 403. Section applies only to cases where the person who claims exemption was bona fide litigating the claim in the prior proceedings. 1925 M.W.N. 241=1925 M. 922. One essential condition for the application of sec. 14 is that the plaintiff in the later suit must have been prosecuting with due diligence another civil proceeding. Where the plaintiff in the later suit was a defendant in the prior suit, he cannot be said to have been prosecuting a suit or civil proceeding at the time. Merely defending a suit is not, and cannot amount to, the prosecution of a suit. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 173=40 Bom.L.R. 1134=1939 Bom. 1. Sec. 14 does not require that the earlier proceeding must have been a suit; nor does it require that it must have been initiated by the plaintiff in the later suit seeking advantage from the section. I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 495=1942 S. 37. A person initiating proceedings contrary to a clearly expressed provision of law, cannot be regarded as prosecuting in good faith and is not therefore entitled to claim the benefit of sec. 14. 162 I.C. 865=1936 R. 184. So also, where there was a recent change of law and proceedings were taken in ignorance of the same. 1937 A.L.J. 176=1937 R.D. 113=1937 A. 333. It cannot be argued that, since an objection to jurisdiction was taken by the defendants in the earlier suit, the plaintiff cannot be considered to have been prosecuting his suit in good faith in that Court, when such objection was overruled by that Court and upheld only in appeal. 153 I.C. 155 (2)=1935 Pat. 82. See also 1940 Mad. 689=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 590; 1939 Mad. 397=49 L.W. 25; 1941 Lah. 256=43 P.L.R. 530. It is not diligence but bona fides which should be considered when judging the mistake in selecting the forum. 1941 O.W.N. 713=1941 A.L.J. (Supp.) 92. See also 1941 Pesh. 3; (1946) O.A. (C.C.) 10. The establishment of good faith is a prerequisite condition before the benefit of sec. 14 can be allowed. Where the good faith of the party prosecuting his remedy in a different proceeding was open to grave doubt and where the parties to the different proceedings were not identical it was held that benefit of sec. 14, could not be claimed. 1941 A.W.R. (Rev.) 1041=1941 O.A. (Supp.) 850. See also 1941 Oudh 161. Sec. 14 will not apply where the prior suit has failed owing to the negligence or laches of the plaintiff. 62 C. 510=39 C.W.N. 606. Sec. 14 is not applicable if, in the prior litigation, the period of the pendency of which is sought to be deducted, the parties and the cause of action were not the same. 1 R. 402=1924 R. 123. See also 20 I.C. 513=17 C.L.J. 596; 1925 M.W.N. 361=1925 M. 675; 145 I.C. 630=35 Bom.L.R. 929=1933 B. 450. Section would not apply when the causes of action in the two suits are entirely distinct. 20 I.C. 513=17 C.L.J. 596. (14 B. 365, approved; 5 R. 600=105 I.C. 701); 98 I.C. 1059=1927 A. 181. See also 108 I.C. 134=1928 A. 10; 1929 A. 101=112 I.C. 246; 1939 Mad. 124=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 329; 138 I.C. 621=33 P.L.R. 360. For application of section not only cause of action but also the relief sought should be the same. 58 L.W. 595=1933 M. 778. [But see contra 1934 A.L.J. 630=1934 A. 824.] An application for execution of a preliminary mortgage decree is not an application "for the same relief" (within the meaning of sec. 14), as an application for a final decree for sale. Consequently in computing the period of limitation for a final decree under Art. 181 of the Act, the applicant cannot exclude the period spent in the prior execution proceedings. 62 I.A. 80=57 A. 242=1935 P. C. 85=68 M.L.J. 665 (P.C.); 1935 A.L.J. 201=1935 A. 323. See also 1943 Mad. 447=57 L.W. 582=(1944) 2 M.L.J. 338. Sec. 14 is not applicable to appeals. 28 I.C. 211=19 C.W.N. 473. The proceedings in a Revenue Court do not fall under sec. 14 so as to extend the period of limitation. 83 P.R. 1914=26 I.C. 441. See also 36 I.C. 770=3 O.L.J. 445; 6 N.L.R. 205=1923 N. 306. But see 9 I.C. 642 (M.). Under sec. 14 time spent in a proceeding before the Collector to whom a decree is transferred for execution cannot be excluded, as the Collector is not a Court. 1944 N.L.J. 391=A.I.R. 1944 Nag. 313=I.L.R. (1945) Nag. 427. Sec. 14 does not apply to a case where the Zamindar sues for possession of lands on the ground that the Collector, who during his minority managed the estate, treated the lands granted for Jadha service as Government property and dealt with them as such. 25 I.C. 878=1 L.W. 662. The expression "prosecuting" referred to in sec. 14 is generally applicable to proceedings by a person as a plaintiff or an applicant, and not to proceedings in which such person is merely resisting, as a defendant or respondent, the claim of another. 147 I.C. 94=1933 S. 379. But see 40 Bom.L.R. 1134=1939 Bom. 1, 32 S.L.R. 151=1938 Sind 50. Sec. 14 only applies when time has been spent in litigation in a Court which for want of jurisdiction or other similar cause was unable to give relief. It does not apply when there is no want of jurisdiction and when the competent tribunal refuses to interfere with the order of a lower Court. 1942 P. 378=23 Pat.L.T. 263. In execution of a decree, defendants raised objection under sec. 47, C. P. Code, and the same was allowed and execution petition was held not maintainable. There were appeal and second appeal which both proved infructuous. Plaintiff then filed a suit in respect of the same matter, and claimed deduction of time occupied in the execution proceedings. It was held that the fact that there was an objection raised by the judgment-debtors under sec. 47, C. P. Code, did not operate as a bar to the applicability of sec. 14 of the Limitation Act; nor did it place the plaintiffs in the position of defendants or opposite parties resisting the objection of the defendants in contradistinction with plaintiffs and applicants under sec. 14, regarding exclusion of time during which another proceeding was being prosecuted with due diligence. 40 C.W.N. 914=1936 C. 400. Execution struck off as fully satisfied — Decree-holder subsequently applying to reopen it on ground of mistake—Application treated by Court as one for review—Review proceedings held not maintainable in revision—Later application by decree-holder under sec. 47, C. Where in a prior suit the defendant was defending a money suit and nothing that he did would have entitled him to a decree in his favour and there was nothing to restrain him from filing his suit, he was not entitled to exclusion of time under the section. 28 N.L.R. 348. Where a suit is originally filed in the Small Cause Court, and that Court ultimately decides that it has no jurisdiction and returns the plaint for presentation to the proper Court, the plaintiff is entitled to the benefit of sec. 14 for the period from the date of institution of the suit and the date of its return. 155 I.C. 1092=1935 A. 759. See also 1937 Nag. 69=I.L.R. 1937 N. 311. In computing the period of limitation for a suit by a creditor under sec. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act for a declaration that certain alienations made by a debtor are void, the period of limitation being six years from the date of the alienations under Art. 120 of the Limitation Act, the time taken in prior proceedings by the Official Receiver in insolvency to get the alienations annulled under secs. 53 and 54 of the Provincial Insolvency Act against the same debtor, cannot be excluded under sec. 14 of the Limitation Act. Sec. 14 can have no application to the case, because in the first place the plaintiff in the later suit is not the petitioner in the prior proceedings and in the second place the cause of action is also different. Where a petition by the creditor for adjudication of his debtor as insolvent was dismissed on the ground that facts alleged did not amount to acts of insolvency, the time spent in such proceedings cannot be excluded in computing the period of limitation for a subsequent execution petition by the creditor against the debtor firstly because the reliefs claimed in the insolvency and execution petitions were not the same and secondly because the dismissal of the insolvency petition was not for any defect of jurisdiction or other cause of a like nature. A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 136 (F.B.). A Berar Court is not a Court contemplated by sec. 14. 1923 N. 321. Assuming that by virtue of sec. 29 (2) of the Act, sec. 14 (2) would apply to an application to annul an encumbrance under sec. 167 of the B. T. Act, the time spent in resisting proceedings under sec. 174 (3) of the B. T. Act to set aside the sale cannot be deducted in computing the period of limitation for the application. 46 C.W.N. 706. As to applicability of section to application under U. P. Agr. Rel. Act, see 1945 A.L.J. 185=1945 All. 377. I.R. 1932 L. 630=56 C. 805. Where a suit is dismissed for default of prosecution under O. 9, r. 2, and a fresh one is brought under r. 4 of the same order, sec. 14 Limitation Act, is not applicable, as the prior suit failed for plaintiff's negligence in prosecuting it and not because of defect of jurisdiction or other cause of a like nature within the meaning of sec. 14. 25 N.L.R. 99=116 I.C. 509=1929 N. 219. See also 62 C. 510=39 C.W.N. 606. There is no provision in the Limitation Act

(2) In computing the period of limitation prescribed for any application, the time during which the applicant has been prosecuting with due diligence another civil proceeding, whether in a Court of first instance or in a Court of appeal, against the same party for the same relief shall be excluded, where such proceeding is prosecuted in good faith in a Court which, from defect of jurisdiction, or other cause of a like nature, is unable to entertain it.

APPLICABILITY TO APPEALS.—In regard to the admission of appeals, the Court may in its discretion apply sec. 14, though it is not made expressly applicable to appeals. 35 C.L.J. 106=1922 C. 247. See also 53 I.C. 955=30 C.L.J. 522; 152 I.C. 939=1935 A. 92; 1936 O.W.N. 325; 30 S.L.R. 301=162 I.C. 257=1936 S. 43. Appeal filed in wrong Court owing to bona fide mistake—Due diligence on the part of the party—Sec. 14 must be applied. 49 A. 555=25 A.L.J. 410=1927 A. 719; 38 P.L.R. 311.

ARBITRATION PROCEEDINGS.—Where the dispute between parties in respect of a contract was referred to arbitration of two persons with a provision for an umpire being appointed when necessary and one of the arbitrators after some years withdrew from the arbitration and the proceedings were closed by the remaining arbitrator and the umpire and one of the parties filed a suit to enforce his rights under the contract, on a question as to whether the time spent in the arbitration proceedings could be excluded under sec. 14 of the Limitation Act it was held that as the proceedings before the arbitrators were proceedings in a Court within the meaning of sec. 14, Limitation Act, the time spent in such proceedings should be excluded in computing the period of limitation for the suit. It was held further that a 'defect' of jurisdiction—even if only temporary—clearly occurred when one of the arbitrators withdrew and even if the defect was curable, there was at least a 'cause of alike nature' to defect of jurisdiction within the meaning of sec. 14 and that the requirements of sec. 14 would be equally satisfied whether such defect as to jurisdiction existed at the beginning or whether it occurred at any later stage. I.L.R. (1943) All. 467 =1938 A.L.J. 69=A.I.R. 1943 All. 162.

EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS.—Sec. 14 (2) applies to execution applications in suitable cases and Art. 182 cannot bar its application. 1932 Lah. 531. The words "any application" in sec. 14 include an application for execution, and a decree-holder is entitled to exclude the time during which he has been prosecuting his execution bona fide and with due diligence before a Judge whom he believed bona fide, though erroneously, to have jurisdiction. 19 Pat. 354=1940 Pat. 677. An execution proceeding is a civil proceeding within the meaning of sec. 14. 76 C.L.J. 183=A.I.R. 1943 Cal. 460. See also 1943 Nag. 335=1943 N.L.J. 521. The time taken in proceedings connected with an execution application which is not in accordance with law cannot be deducted or excluded under sec. 14, in computing the period of limitation for a subsequent execution application. 1937 M.W.N. 355=1937 Mad. 760. See also 1936 Cal. 400; 1939 Cal. 791. Where a defeated claimant, instead of instituting a suit, bona fide prefers an appeal from the adverse claim order, in accordance with the view of law then prevailing, and succeeds but on second appeal his claim is dismissed on the ground that the remedy of the claimant is by way of suit under O. 21, r. 63, C. P. Code, the time taken in the appeal and second appeal can be excluded in computing the period of limitation for a suit under O. 21, r. 63, C. P. Code, in virtue of sec. 14 (2). 1937 M.W.N. 141=1938 Mad. 41. See also (1942) 2 M.L.J. 442=1943 M. 30. Suit under O. 21, r. 63, C. P. Code, filed in Munsiff's Court—Plaint found to be grossly undervalued and returned for presentation to proper Court beyond one year—Presentation in proper time—Exclusion of time spent in first Court—Right to. 24 Pat. 462=1945 Pat. 369=1945 P.W.N. 430. When the High Court has refused to interfere with an order passed in a claim case, the period of limitation provided for by Art. 11-A, Limitation Act, for a suit under O. 21, r. 103, C. P. Code, would run from the date of order in the claim case and not from the date of the High Court's order discharging the rule. The plaintiff would not be entitled in such a case to an extension of time under sec. 14 (1). 23 Pat. 14=A.I.R. 1944 Pat. 225.

DEFECT OF JURISDICTION.—The words "defect of jurisdiction" in sec. 14 mean a defect of jurisdiction peculiar to the Court in which proceedings were taken, and do not cover such mistakes as the presentation and prosecution of an appeal which did not lie at all in any Court. 22 P.R. 1912=11 I.C. 880; 1927 L. 785. Defect of jurisdiction—Order made not without jurisdiction but passed too late—Time occupied cannot be excluded. 79 I.C. 696=1924 P. 40. Time spent in previous litigation cannot be excluded, when the previous suit does not fail from any defect of jurisdiction or other cause of like nature, but fails because it is misconceived. 121 I.C. 70=1930 L. 211. Sec. 14 was intended to protect a bona fide plaintiff from the consequences of some mistake made by his advisers in prosecuting his claim. The word 'jurisdiction' in the section should be construed liberally. If the other conditions mentioned in the section are satisfied, the benefit given by the section cannot be taken away, merely because the course adopted before was not a well-conceived one. Where, in the prior execution proceedings, the minor attacked the validity of the decree on the ground that the guardian had acted collusively and fraudulently and in the later suit he sought to set aside the decree. Held, that the prior proceedings were not entirely misconceived and that time taken therein should be excluded. 1933 M. 197=140 I.C. 270= 1932 M.W.N. 1317. See also 43 M.L.J. 184 =1922 M. 417 (2); 1943 Mad. 633=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 41.

CL. (2): CAUSES OF A LIKE NATURE.—See 1939 A.L.J. 460=1939 All. 590. What is a "defect of a like nature" within the meaning of sec. 14 must depend upon the facts of each case. The expression must mean and connote something which is quite distinct from defect of jurisdiction. Defects as to wrong plaintiffs or wrong defendants are also provided for in the Act. Because the prior suit was dismissed as premature on the ground that the cause of action had not accrued, it cannot be said that sec. 14 will not apply. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 9=40 Bom.L.R. 1169 =1939 Bom. 26. There is nothing in the terms of sec. 14 to justify the conclusion that the want of jurisdiction or other cause of a like nature referred to in the section must be in existence at the very institution of the suit. Want of jurisdiction or other cause of a like nature may arise at any stage of a suit or proceeding. 1939 A.L.J. 1075= 1940 All. 145. Where the jurisdiction of a Court to entertain a particular suit depends upon leave being granted by that Court, and leave is so granted, the subsequent recalling of the leave brings the case within the words "other cause of a like nature" in sub-sec. (1) of sec. 14. Hence time from the granting of leave till it is recalled should be excluded under sec. 14. 20 Pat.L.T. 893=1939 Pat. 86. "Other cause of a like nature"—First suit dismissed for non-registration of plaintiff's firm—Time taken in prosecuting—Right to deduction of. I.L.R. (1945) Kar. 293=1946 Sind 14. Cause of a like nature —Proceedings infructuous — Misconception as to law—Deduction of time. 44 A. 296= 20 A.L.J. 147=1922 A. 74. If the unsuccessful respondent to an appeal in the High Court applies to the High Court under cl. 18, Letters Patent, there is no defect of jurisdiction or anything analogous to it in the High Court dismissing it, and the period spent in that application cannot be deducted under sec. 14 for computing the time for a subsequent application for review. (3 P. 42, Diss. from.) 152 I.C. 415=1934 R. 158. The words "cause of like nature" include misjoinder of parties and causes of action. 14 I.C. 437=6 L.B.R. 43. See also 8 P.R. 1911=9 I.C. 680. See further 108 I.C. 134 =1928 A. 10. For purposes of sec. 14 there is no distinction between misjoinder and nonjoinder, though only the latter word alone is used in Expl. III. Both are only variations of the same defect. 1921 S. 13=62 I.C. 507=15 S.L.R. 11. Res judicata does not constitute 'other cause of a like nature'. 2 Pat.L.T. 585=1921 P. 225=63 I.C. 536 =6 P.L.J. 593. The failure to give notice under sec. 80, C. P. Code, is not a 'cause of a like nature' with defect of jurisdiction within sec. 14. 5 S.L.R. 181=199 I.C. 866 (Failure to give proper notice to Official Receiver). The words "or other cause of a like nature" denote that the defect must be of such a character as to make it impossible for a Court to entertain the suit or application either in its inception or at all events as to prevent it from deciding it on its merits. If the Court has got to go into the merits before a case can be dismissed the defect will not come within the ambit of these words. Where the relief asked for is found by the Court to have been misconceived either because it is not warranted by the facts mentioned by them or because the facts stated in the plaint or petition do not disclose a good and complete cause of action and the plaint or petition is consequently dismissed or rejected the provisions of sec. 14 of the Limitation Act could not be of any help. A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 136 (F.B.). A plaintiff cannot invoke the aid of sec. 14 to bring his claim within limitation for the simple reason that the proceedings in insolvency failed not for want of jurisdiction or other cause of a like nature within the meaning of sec. 14, but on account of the plaintiff's negligence in not effecting service of notice of the order admitting his petition on the defendant according to law. 112 I.C. 55. A decree was passed on 22nd November, 1922, and the money claimed was payable within one year from that date. In December, 1922, however, one of the parties applied to have the decree set aside under O. 9, r. 13. The same was dismissed in 1923 and an appeal having been preferred the latter was dismissed on 28th July, 1926. An application for execution was filed in January, 1928. Held, that sec. 14 was inapplicable to the circumstances of the case. 35 C.W.N. 155=1931 C. 332.

CIVIL PROCEEDINGS—PARTIES.—To obtain the benefit of sec. 14, the proceedings, the time spent in prosecuting which is to be excluded, must be between the contesting parties. 1921 C. 596=60 I.C. 698=33 C.L.J. 366. See also 1924 R. 123=1 R. 402; 1925 M. 675. Objection to attachment dismissed —Suit filed in wrong Court bona fide—Order returning plaint to proper Court challenged in appeal—Period of appeal—Exclusion of. I.L.R. (1937) N. 291=1937 N. 1. Where a plaint is filed against a person who is in fact dead at the time of presentation of the plaint, the period between the date of the institution of the suit and the date of the application to implead the legal representatives cannot be deducted under sec. 14. 37 L.W. 489=143 I.C. 596=1933 M. 454. 'Civil proceedings' include execution proceedings also. So, where, after the execution of a mortgage decree for sale has proceeded a long way, it is found that the Court which passed the decree had no jurisdiction to pass the decree in so far as it directed sale of properties situate within a particular territory, and a fresh suit becomes necessary, in computing the period of limitation for the suit, the plaintiff is entitled to deduct not only the period from the date of institution of the former suit to the date of the decree, but also the period during which the decree in the prior suit was bona fide sought to be executed. I.L.R. (1937) M. 161=1937 M. 357=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 303. See also 1940 Pat. 677=1940 P. 354. The words "civil proceeding" in sec. 14, Limitation Act, are wide enough to include not only an appeal but also an application in revision, and the time taken in prosecuting a civil revision petition can therefore be excluded under sec. 14. But the only period that can be excluded is the actual period of pendency of the revision petition, i.e., the period between the date on which it is filed and the date on which it is disposed of and no more. I.L.R. (1938) All. 192=1937 A.L.J. 1308=1938 A.L.R. 146=1938 All. 78. See also 17 I.C. 593; 1938 A.W.R. (B.R.) 228 (Time spent in review). See 1943 Nag. 335=1943 N.L.J. 521. A suit against a firm, and a subsequent suit against the surviving partners of the firm and the heirs of a deceased partner are both against the same parties within the meaning of sec. 14. 27 A. L.J. 73=112 I.C. 715.

COMPUTATION OF TIME.—Where a plaint, presented in a wrong Court, is returned to be presented to the proper Court, the plaintiff is entitled to exclude the time between the date of institution in the wrong Court and the date of the return of the plaint. 24 O.C. 137 =61 I.C. 203=1921 O. 100. See also 36 M. 482=22 M.L.J. 377; 20 Bom.L.R. 918=43 B. 201; 1928 N. 227; 1930 B. 187=32 Bom. Where a Court has jurisdiction to try a suit, but holds that it has no jurisdiction and returns the plaint for presentation to the proper Court, the plaintiff who files the suit in the proper Court on such return is entitled under sec. 14 to deduct the period spent in prosecuting the suit in the Court in which it was first presented. I.L.R. (1937) Nag. 311=1937 N. 69. The prior proceeding can be considered to have terminated not on the date when an order for return of plaint was made, but only when in accordance with that order it is actually returned to the plaintiff. 60 C. 1122=1933 C. 914. A plaintiff, though entitled to deduct time of actual pendency in a wrong Court, cannot exclude any extra day on the ground that it is a holiday. 35 I.C. 292=14 A.L.J. 310. See also 43 M.L. J. 579=1923 M. 114 (2). The date of institution of a suit is the date on which the plaint is filed in the proper Court excluding for the purpose of reckoning limitation only the periods excluded under this section. 18 I.C. 121=17 C.W.N. 515. Computation of time—Expiry of time during Court's vacation—Institution in wrong Court on re opening day—Representation after return in the proper Court—Exclusion of time. 44 M. 817 =1921 M. 654=41 M.L.J. 84. Suit filed in wrong Court—Direction to file the same in proper Court—Time taken for suit and application for copy cannot be deducted. 46 C.L.J. 452=1928 C. 46. Time taken in proceedings for possession before Revenue Officer cannot be deducted. 101 I.C. 254=1927 L. 186. A plaint presenten in a wrong Court was returned and presented in proper Court. Law of limitation applicable to the suit was that in force on the date on which the plaint was presented to the proper Court. 117 I.C. 900=1929 L. 877 (2).

RETURN FOR WANT OF JURISDICTION.—I.L. R. (1937) Nag. 291=1937 Nag. 1. Time spent in prosecuting an infructuous appeal due to wrong valuation may be deducted in computing the period of limitation. 50 I.C. 645=70 P.R. 1919. No litigant should be made to suffer on account of the laches or delay of the Court or its officers. The time between the date of the order of the return of a plaint for presentation to proper Court and the date when the plaint was ready to be returned is to be deducted for the purposes of limitation and the proceedings are not to be considered at an end for the purposes of sec. 14, Expln. I until the endorsement is made and the plaint is ready for return. The plaintiff is entitled to exclude under sec. 14 (2) the period till the plaint is ready for return. 41 P.L.R. 371=1939 Lah. 47. In order to get the benefit of sec. 14 (2) of the Limitation Act, the applicant need not show that the Court in which the proceeding was taken has actually refused to give relief on the ground of want of jurisdiction. If the Court has in fact no jurisdiction but assumes jurisdiction—either acting from a wrong view or without applying its mind at all to the question—the sub-section can be applied so as to exclude the period spent in the proceeding before such Court. 48 C.W.N. 821. Proceedings before a Court do not terminate when the plaint is ordered to be returned for filing in proper Court, costs being awarded to the defendant, because the decree that is to be prepared requires the presence of the plaint on record and proceedings can only be held as terminated when the decree is signed and complete. Time required for this can be excluded in computing the period of limitation. 1938 Pat. 203. When a Court records an order that a plaint should be returned for presentation to the proper Court, the proceedings in that Court do not necessarily come to an end on that date. Certain necessary endorsements have to be made on the plaint and hence that Court continues to have seisin of the plaint till it is actually returned to the plaintiff. Hence where a plaint is ordered to be returned for presentation to the proper Court, the proceedings come to an end within the meaning of sec. 14, Expln. I of the Limitation Act, not on the date on which the order is passed but on the date on which the plaint is actually returned to the plaintiff. I.L.R. (1939) All. 709=1939 A.L.J. 460=1939 All. 590. In order that sec. 14 of the Limitation Act may apply, it is not necessary that there should be a formal order of the Court in which the proceedings were prosecuted dismissing the same on the ground that it had no jurisdiction. Sec. 14 does not require any order of the Court which had no jurisdiction recognising the fact. All it requires is that the Court which has to decide the question of limitation must find that the other Court was unable to entertain the proceeding because it had no jurisdiction. 1943 M.W.N. 287=1943 Mad. 457=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 323. A plaintiff who institutes a suit on the very last date of limitation does so at his peril, and the law does not make any provision for extension of time except in cases coming under sec. 14. A plaintiff whose plaint is returned by a Court on the ground that it has no jurisdiction to entertain it can only exclude the period during which it was pending in that Court, i.e., the period between the date of its presentation to that Court and the date of its return by that Court for presentation to the proper Court. He cannot exclude any further period which the Court returning the plaint gives him for such representation. A Court which has no jurisdiction to entertain the suit and which returns it on that ground has no power to grant any time to the plaintiff for presenting it to the proper Court. If the Court wrongly gives any such time by its order returning the plaint, the plaintiff cannot take advantage of that order and claim to deduct that period also under sec. 14 of the Limitation Act. 18 Pat.L.T. 250=1937 Pat. 495. Suit on pro-note instituted in wrong Court —Plaint returned without endorsement required by O. 7, r. 10, C. P. Code—Pro-note not returned with plaint but couple of days later—Time deductible. See 1937 Lah. 464. Where a plaint was returned for want of pecuniary jurisdiction and delay is caused owing to change in law, suit must for purposes of limitation be taken to have been instituted on the day of presentation in the wrong Court. 33 I.C. 808=18 P.W.R. 1916. The plaint in a suit on an unregistered mortgage was amended by scoring out the relief to sell the mortgaged property. As it was then found that the valuation of the suit was within the cognizance of the Court of Small Causes, the plaint was returned to be presented to the proper Court and was so presented on the same day. On a question as to whether the plaintiff in such a suit could claim the benefit of sec. 14, it was held that the question whether the two proceedings were based upon the same cause of action or different causes of action, could not be decided upon the terms of the reliefs claimed in either proceeding and that there was no justification for holding that the preceeding on the Small Cause side was based upon some cause of action different from that upon which the proceeding on the regular side was founded, and that hence the plaintiff would be entitled to claim the benefit of sec. 14. 1939 A.L.J. 1075=1940 All. 145. Where a plaintiff, who filed his suit at E, and whose plaint is returned by the Court at E for presentation to proper Court at A, presents an appeal against the order returning his plaint in the Court of the District Judge at E within the period of limitation, it cannot be said that he was not prosecuting with due diligence his civil proceeding in the Court of appeal at E, and the entire period spent by him in prosecuting his case in the Courts at E must be excluded under sec. 14. 41 P.L.R. 371=1931 Lah. 47.

DELAY AFTER ORDER OF RETURN.—Where a plaint was actually returned for presentation to the proper Court only three days after the order directing the plaint to be returned was signed. Held, that for purposes of sec. 14 the date on which the plaint was actually returned must be taken to be the date on which the order was promulgated. 20 I.C. 183=17 C.W.N. 1043. See also 23 Bom.L.R. 1023=1922 B. 160=46 B. 211; 1928 B. 252=52 B. 477. Where a plaint is returned and costs ordered, the proceedings terminate on the day of the return and not on the day when the costs are assessed. 35 I.C. 595=24 C.L.J. 353. For the purposes of limitation, an applicant for re-presentation is entitled to deduct the time spent in the District Munsif's Court after the order of return. 9 I.C. 157=9 M.L.T. 374. Where a plaint is returned for presentation to the proper Court, the suit is within time if it is presented to the proper Court on the same day on which it is actually returned by the wrong Court. 45 B. 443=59 I.C. 743=22 Bom.L.R. 1387=1921 B. 379.

DUE DILIGENCE.—Sec. 14 cannot help a party guilty of negligence, laches, inaction or bad faith. 9 O.W.N. 430=1932 O. 220. Applicant must prove first that he had prosecuted the former proceeding with due diligence and secondly that the former Court had been unable to entertain it from defect of jurisdiction or other cause of a like nature. 41 P.R. 1916=32 I.C. 497. See also 20 I.C. 3=159 P.W.R. 1913; 138 I.C. 621=33 P.L.R. 360; 1938 Rang. 318; 1940 A.M.L.J. 120. The fact that a litigant acted on the advice of a pleader will not improve his position if the error made is so patent that it would have been avoided with the exercise of due care. 51 I.C. 590=22 O.C. 39; 8 Bur.L.T. 93=27 I.C. 829. But see I.R. 1932 L. 665. A party who proceeds in ignorance of law cannot be said to proceed with due diligence or in good faith. 1924 P. 716; 1933 L. 589=144 I.C. 690=34 P.L.R. 789. But see 15 R.D. 7999; 1937 A.L.J. 176=1937 A. 333. Applicability and scope of sec. 14—Prosecuting with due "diligence" — "Same relief"—Insolvency proceedings against judgment-debtor—Court having no jurisdiction—Period of pendency—Exclusion of, for computing limitation for subsequent execution petition. 1943 Mad. 457=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 323. See also I.L.R. (1942) M. 862=1942 M. 483=(1942) 1 M.L.J. 588; 1939 Lah. 270.

GOOD FAITH.—An applicant who takes a proceeding contrary to a clearly expressed provision of law cannot be regarded as prosecuting a civil proceeding in "good faith" within the meaning of sec. 14 (2). 41 Bom. L.R. 1190=1940 Bom. 5. Generally negligence on the part of counsel cannot be relied upon by the litigant in order to support a plea that he was prosecuting an application 'in good faith' though in a wrong Court. In a case of gross negligence an applicant is not entitled to the benefit of sec. 14. 1938 Oudh 112=1938 O.W.N. 360. Where plaintiff acted in good faith and neither the Court nor the defendant objected to the cognizance of the suit, he is entitled to the benefit of sec. 14. 40 I.C. 447=15 A.L.J. 573. See also 43 C. 660=20 C.W.N. 522=1916 P.C. 96=30 M.L.J. 529 (P.C.); 57 L. W. 155=1944 Mad. 253=(1944) 1 M.L.J. 205; (1943) 2 M.L.J. 375 =1944 M. 47. "Good faith" as used in sec. 14 means 'exercise of due care and attention'. Where the circumstances are such as would justify either view as regards the value of the property, the plaintiff cannot be regarded as having acted dishonestly and without due care and attention, if he has adopted the lower valuation of property and filed his suit in a wrong Court. I.L.R. (1939) Nag. 422=1938 N.L.J. 107=1938 Nag. 300; 62 I.C. 957; 1930 B. 187; 1933 L. 264. Where a revision application against an order allowing a claim under O. 21, R. 58, C. P. Code is preferred and dismissed on the ground that a suit under O. 21, R. 63, C. P. Code, is the proper remedy, and subsequently a suit under O. 21, R. 63 is filed, the time spent in the revision proceedings can be deducted under sec. 14 (1) of the Limitation Act in computing the period of limitation for the suit. In view of the course of decisions in the Madras High Court interfering in revision with orders on claim petitions, it cannot be said that the filing of a revision petition amounts to negligence, and the party must therefore be held to have acted in good faith so as to attract sec. 14 (1), Limitation Act. 1943 M.W.N. 455=A.I.R. 1943 Mad. 633=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 41.

Although a party acting on the advice of his advocate may be presumed to act in good faith, if the advocate himself does not act in good faith, the party cannot rely upon that advice as establishing his own good faith. Whether an advocate has shown due care and attention is a question of fact to be decided on the evidence adduced in any particular case and no absolute rule of law can be deducted. A finding as to good faith or the absence of it is one of fact and cannot be upset in second appeal on the ground that the lower appellate Court has transgressed any rule of law. 1943 M.W.N. 703 =56 L.W. 580=1944 Mad. 47=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 375. Claim suit filed in wrong Court—No objection by opposite party—Discovery of mistake by Court and return of plaint for presentation to proper Court—Time spent in former Court—Exclusion of. 146 I.C. 125=1933 L. 652. Whether a party acted in good faith is a mixed question of law and fact. 36 I.C. 702=19 O.C. 367. See also 28 I.C. 347=54 P.W.R. 1915; 1923 N. 241; 138 I.C. 646=1932 L. 531. A Court can grant the indulgence allowed by sec. 14 only where the error is one that might be committed by a reasonable and prudent man, exercising due diligence and acting in good faith. 36 I.C. 702=19 O.C. 367. See also 1937 M.W.N. 715; 1940 O.W.N. 818. In order that the Court should arrive at the period which is to be excluded under sec. 14, it must also determine how much must be included, whether by reason of prosecution in bad faith or owing to any other reason. 30 N.L.R. 294=149 I.C. 956 =1934 N. 145. But, where the plaintiff is entitled to exclusion of time under secs. 14 and 15, the Court is not concerned as to how the plaintiff has spent his time till the expiry of the ordinary period of limitation excluding the time allowed under the above sections. 30 N.L.R. 294=149 I.C. 956=1934 N. 145. Where there is nothing to show a deliberate or reckless under-valuation sec. 14 will apply. 25 I.C. 403 (2)=17 O.C. 210. See also 18 I.C. 92; 14 I.C. 86. Plaintiff who can institute his suit in more than one Court is not bound to consider the convenience of defendant. If the effect of his choice is to cause inconvenience to the defendant, it does not constitute lack of good faith on the part of the plaintiff in the sense in which that phrase is used in sec. 14. 182 I.C. 632=20 Pat.L.T. 893=1939 Pat. 86. The time taken by the plaintiff in proceedings necessitated for ascertaining the correct value of the suit can be allowed to be deducted under sec. 14, where it is found that the plaintiff acted bona fide throughout and did not intentionally under-value the suit. 138 I.C. 349=36 C.W.N. 326=1932 C. 504. What amounts to good faith is to be decided on the facts of each case. 32 I.C. 616=9 S.L.R. 167. See also 53 I.C. 892 (2)=1919 P.H.C.C. 409; 10 I.C. 21; 8 L.R. 23 (Rev.); 1929 C. 325=56 C. 805. See also 144 I.C. 184=1933 L. 264. Sec. 14 has no application when bad faith is established. Where a person obtained an ex parte decree by fraud and subsequently sued the proper person for rent, limitation is not suspended. 8 P. 851=1930 P. 54. An application for leave to sue as a pauper filed in bad faith was dismissed. The subsequent payment of Court-fees cannot operate retrospectively for the purposes of calculation of limitation. 1929 N. 268. Mere error of judgment is quite different from bad faith. 27 A.L.J. 73=112 I.C. 715. A proceeding contrary to a clearly expressed provision of law is not in good faith. 7 R. 466=1929 R. 297. Suit for possession—Profits not claimed in plaint—Plaintiff obtaining mere decree for possession in prior suit—Unsuccessful attempt to recover profits in restitution—Subsequent suit for profits—Right to deduction of period occupied by restitution proceedings. Held, that plaintiff was not entitled to benefit of sec. 14. 41 L.W. 138=1935 M. 731=68 M.L.J. 487.

IGNORANCE OF LAW may afford a good ground for application of sec. 14. 1937 A. L.J. 176=1937 All. 333. Sec. 14 requires both diligence and good faith. As regards good faith ignorance of law is not necessarily an adequate plea. But where the wrong remedy adopted is considered by one of the Courts to be the proper one, that would imply good faith on the part of the party and the benefit of sec. 14 would be available to him. 1940 O.W.N. 818=1940 O.A. 1106. Indulgennce should be granted under sec. 14 only in cases where an error was an error that might be committed by a reasonable and prudent man exercising due diligence and caution. (36 I.C. 702. Foll.). 40 P.L.R. 631=1938 Lah. 704. Where a person in ignorance of the provisions of the Agriculturists Relief Act relating to the special form prescribed by the Act, files a suit in a wrong Court and on its being returned, presents it to the proper Court, the time spent in the wrong Court can be excluded under sec. 14, for the plaintiff should be deemed to have been prosecuting with due diligence and in good faith the proceedings in the wrong Court. 1940 Oudh 412=190 I.C. 93.

PROCEEDING IN REVENUE COURT.—The plaintiff is entitled to a deduction of time from the date of institution of the suit wrongly in the Revenue Court to the date on which the plaint was returned for re-presentation. 9 M.L.T. 315=9 I.C. 642. But see 26 I.C. 441 (Punj.); 36 I.C. 770 (Oudh). Where an order was made under sec. 169 (1) (b), C. P. Land Rev. Act, to file suit in Civil Court within 6 months, time spent in appeal in Rev. Court cannot be excluded under sec. 14 of this Act. 29 N.L.R. 350=1933 N. 340. Suit for arrears of rent—Plea of occupier, of payment to landlord—Landlord impleaded—Payment found true—Appeal dismissed—Subsequent suit under sec. 37 of Agra Tenancy Act—Time taken up by previous liitgation—Deduction of. 14 L.R. 99 (Rev.)=17 R D. 168.

PROSECUTION OF PROCEEDING.—It cannot be said that a plaintiff is not prosecuting a suit with due diligence in a Court of first instance when the delay is caused by the action of the Court itself. 1922 A. 404. Time during which insolvency proceedings are pending, if can be deducted in computing the period of limitation. 47 B. 244=24 Bom.L.R. 509=1923 B. 33 (2). See also 64 I.C. 50=13 Bur.L.T. 197; 1 P. 506=3 Pat. Where the mistake of the advocate is bona fide, the time spent in the prosecution of a prior proceeding can be excluded. 1933 O. 231=10 O.W.N. 424. A mere routine order registering an application for review does not constitute a bona fide prosecution of a civil litigation. 31 I.C. 705=19 C.W.N. 1113. An applicant to file an award could not be allowed to deduct the time spent by him as defendant in setting up the award in bar of a prior suit instituted by the plaintiff. 52 I.C. 561=89 P.R. 1919. See also 32 S.L.R. 151=1938 Sind 50; 43 C. An unsuccessful prosecution of an application by one of the defendants to set aside an ex parte decree passed against him in the first Court will extend time for an application made by him to the appellate Court for re-hearing the appeal, filed by the other defendants and disposed of, without notice taken out to him. 54 A. 423=140 I.C. 178= 1932 A. 340.

TIME SPENT IN EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS.—Extension of time if allowable. 43 I.C. 6= 33 M.L.J. 463. See also 58 I.C. 40=1 P.L. T. 612; 74 I.C. 279=1924 C. 419; 19 Pat.L. T. 250=1938 Pat. 321. Execution application filed in wrong Court but re-filed in right Court after limitation—Mistake not bona fide—Decree-holder not entitled to benefit of section. 8 Pat.L.T. 561=1927 P. 256. The period during which an injunction not to execute a decree is in force will be deducted from the period of limitation for execution of the decree. 38 I.C. 85=2 P.L.J. 24. Where the relief sought in the two proceedings were wholly distinct, time cannot be excluded. 50 A. 670=1928 A. 368. While counting limitation for the presentation of an application for the preparation of the final decree, time spent in prosecuting previous application for the execution of the decree cannot be excluded as the two reliefs are different. Sec. 14 (2) will not be applicable. 118 I.C. 670=1929 A. 677.

TIME SPENT IN REVISION.—Time cannot be deducted under sec. 14 in favour of a person occupied in prosecuting a revision petition in the High Court when he had another remedy open to him. 39 M. 62=27 M.L.J. 640; 14 I.C. 259; 1937 M.W.N. 465 (2); 213 I.C. 236=1943 M. 633=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 41; 43 C.W.N. 1051=1938 Cal. 577; 1935 A.M.L.J. 117. See also 7 R. 466=1929 R. 297. The High Court does not generally revise orders under O. 21, R. 63, C. P. Code—Question if time spent in revision could be excluded.

Explanation I.—In excluding the time during which a former suit or application was pending, the day on which that suit or application was instituted or made, and the day on which the proceedings therein ended, shall both be counted.

Explanation II.—For the purposes of this section, a plaintiff or an applicant resisting an appeal shall be deemed to be prosecuting a proceeding.

Explanation III.—For the purposes of this section, misjoinder of parties or of causes of action shall be deemed to be a cause of a like nature with defect of jurisdiction.

32 Bom.L.R. 1186=1930 Bom. 505. The principle that party who proceeds contrary to a clearly expressed provision of law cannot be regarded as prosecuting another civil proceeding in good faith is sound but should not be applied with rigidity. If in the revision proceedings there is no want of diligence and good faith there is no reason why the plaintiff should not have the benefit of sec. 14 because of the negligence of his advocate. (7 R. 466, Dist.) 27 N.L.R. 251=130 I.C. 145=1931 N. 17. The High Court will not interfere with the discretion exercised by the lower appellate Court under sec. 14, when such discretion has not been exercised improperly. 14 Luck. 4=1938 O.W.N. 257=1938 Oudh 100 (S.B.).

"UNABLE TO ENTERTAIN"—MEANING OF.—"Unable to entertain" is not equivalent to "unable to decide". 8 P.R. 1911=9 I.C. 680 (34 P.R. 1898; 28 M. 338; 35 C. 728, Foll.; 22 A. 248, Dist.) The words "unable to entertain it" do not merely mean that the Court has expressed its mind that the suit is defective but must mean that the Court has passed an order terminating the suit or proceeding on the ground that there is a defect of jurisdiction. 57 All. 145=150 I.C. 135=1934 A. L.J. 535=1934 A. 688 (F.B.). See also I.L. R. (1939) 2 Cal. 316=43 C.W.N. 1074=1939 Cal. 625. Sec. 14 would apply even if the first Court erroneously decided its inability to entertain the claim for defect of jurisdiction in respect of it. In such a case it is not open to the second Court to say that there was no want of jurisdiction in the first Court. 76 C.L.J. 183=1943 Cal. 460. Where a previous suit or proceeding has been disposed of on the merits, it cannot be said that the Court has been "unable to entertain it," within the meaning of sec. 14. 55 L.W. 644 (2)=1942 M.W.N. 820 (2)=1942 Mad. 713 =(1942) 2 M.L.J. 515. Appellant filed a suit against two sets of defendants on babikhata accounts. A preliminary objection was taken to the plaint in the earlier suit and it was held in the end that the plaint was bad because of misjoinder of parties. The appellant was ordered in that suit to make his election as to which part of the claim he wished to proceed with. Upon this order the appellant stated that he wished to proceed against one set of defendants and he withdrew the part of the claim directed against the respondents in the appeals. His suit against the other set of defendants was decreed. Held, that the plaintiff was not entitled to claim the benefit of sec. 14 (1) on account of the previous suit he had withdrawn. 1934 All. 688; 1939 Cal. 625; I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 225=1940 S. 125. A plaintiff who withdraws his suit under O. 23. R. 1, C. P. Code, is not entitled to the benefit of sec. 14 in a subsequent suit founded on the same cause of action. MISCELLANEOUS.—Where a party was prevented from instituting the suit for setting aside the sale earlier because the property was in custodia legis under an order of Court, limitation is saved. 13 L. 70=137 I.C. 820 =1932 Lah. 281. In counting the period for an application for refund of excessive moneys levied in execution of a decree the time taken up by the defendant in prosecution of a suit for the purpose in another Court under an error of law, ought to be deducted under sec. 14, 44 B. 97=55 I.C. 967. 15. (1) In computing the period of limitation prescribed for any suit or application for the execution of a decree, the institution or execution of which has been stayed by injunction or order, the time of the continuance of the injunction or order, the day on which it was issued or made and the day on which it was withdrawn, shall be excluded.

Exclusion of time during which proceedings are suspended.

—Fresh application to set aside sale—Continuance of earlier petition—Extension of time—Held, that the Court could not entertain the later application on any general ground of equity based on the principle of sec. 14 of the Lim. Act, because the applicants had, in withdrawing their original application, acted at their own risk. 1934 M. 593=67 M.L.J. 189. A temporary injunction subsequently embodied in the decree passed in the suit restraining the defendant from interfering with the possession of the plaintiff does not prevent him from instituting a suit for possession even though the title of the contending parties is involved in the suit. Therefore, in computing the period of limitation for a subsequent suit by the defendant for possession, he is not entitled to deduct the whole period from the date of the temporary injunction to the date of the dissolution of the permanent injunction by the Privy Council under sec. 15. Nor is he entitled to claim the benefit of sec. 14 of that Act to deduct the period of the pendency of the earlier suit which ended in the Privy Council in his favour. I.L.R. (1945) Kar. SEC. 15: SCOPE OF.—Sec. 15 speaks only of the computation of periods of limitation with reference to the periods prescribed in the schedule to the Act. 43 M.L.J. 168=45 M. 785=1922 M. 268.

INTERPRETATION — PRESCRIBING A PERIOD OF LIMITATION—MEANING OF.—If the result of a statutory provision is in substance to fix a period within which a person must take appropriate and necessary action if he desires to assert his rights in a Court of law, that provision prescribes a period of limitation. I. L.R. (1939) All. 647=1939 A.L.J. 522=1939 All. 403 (F.B.).

APPLICABILITY.—Sec. 15 relates to injunctions or orders of Court and not to Royal proclamations which prevent the institution of suits by alien enemies. 47 I.C. 122. Sec. 15 (1) contemplates the stay of execution of a decree either by injunction or by order. 64 I.C. 594=1921 C. 606=34 C.L.J. 163. See also 1921 C. 594=64 I.C. 849=35 C.L.J. 135; 47 I.C. 907. But see 1935 M. 352. To enable the later application to be treated as one in continuation or to revive the former one, there should have been no final disposal or there should have been a wrong dismissal on account of some obstacle which had existed but which had been subsequently removed. 143 I.C. 1=56 M. 490=37 L.W. 607=1933 M. 418=64 M.L.J. 664 (F.B.). In order to make sec. 15 applicable to a case, it must be shown that the suit or execution of the decree had been stayed by an injunction or order. If the decree-holder could not bring himself within the exemptions provided in the Act, he could not escape the bar of limitation by pleading in equity an implied order or a collateral litigation which would render his proceedings futile. 64 M.L.J. 664 (F.B.). It cannot be laid down as a general rule that whenever a person finds an impediment in the way of his successfully asserting his right to relief his cause of action is suspended and the course of time interrupted until such impediment is removed or that a fresh cause of action arises on its removal. Nor is there any general proposition that where the rights of parties have been subjected to adjudication by a competent Civil Court limitation for other suits based on such rights should be computed from the date of their final determination. The Courts have no power, on considerations of hardship or equity to invent new grounds of exemption from the bar of limitation not recognised by the statute. I. L.R. (1942) Mad. 562=55 L.W. 264=1942 Mad. 487=(1942) 1 M.L.J. 472. Where the next friend of a sole plaintiff or sole surviving plaintiff dies and the suit stands stayed or in abeyance under O. 32, R. 10, C. P. Code, the right to apply for a final decree in such a suit is suspended, and the period during which the suit stands stayed ought to be excluded in computing the period of limitation to apply for a final decree. Sec. 15 in terms does not apply, but the principle of the section ought to be applied. I.L.R. (1941) Bom. 435=43 Bom.L.R. 329=1941 Bom. 203. Application for revival of pending execution is not prohibited—Sec. 15 would apply only to an application for execution of a decree and not to an application for revival of a pending execution. 49 A. 276=100 I.C. 692=1927 A. 16 (F.B.). Sec. 15, sub-sec. (2) does not extend the period of six months mentioned in sec. 104-A of the B. T. Act. 45 C. 934=45 I.C. 228. Sec. 48, C. P. Code, contains an unqualified prohibition against execution of decrees more than 12 years old and this is not controlled by sec. 15. 43 M.L.J. 168=44 M. 785; 24 I.C. 195=27 M.L.J. 25. See also 1941 Pat.

499; I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 87=40 Bom.L.R. 1278=1939 Bom. 75; 1944 N.L.J. 127=1944 Nag. 155=I.L.R. (1944) Nag. 250. The general provisions of sec. 15 are intended to apply to periods of limitation prescribed in the C. P. Code, and are not confined in their operation to periods prescribed by the Limitation Act or by Sch. I. Sec. 48, C. P. Code, does prescribe a period of limitation. Hence sec. 48 of the Code is not uncontrolled by the provisions of sec. 15. In other words, sec. 48 of the Code does not impose a complete bar to the execution of a decree after the expiry of the period of 12 years irrespective of the provisions of sec. 15. I.L.R. (1939) All. 647=1939 A. L.J. 522=1939 All. 403 (F.B.); 1928 M. 1154; 45 Bom.L.R. 234; 8 O.W.N. 642 =132 I.C. 257=1931 O. 351; 137 I.C. 603 =1932 O. 246 (Position doubted). A mortgagee holding a decree against an estate under the Court of Wards management is not entitled to the benefit of exclusion of the period of management by the Court of Wards, when the decree itself was not transferred to the Collector for execution. 29 I.C. 556. See also 24 I.C. 195=27 M.L.J. 25. Sec. 15 will not apply where the execution of the decree is stayed only in respect of a portion of the property sought to be proceeded against leaving it open to the decree-holder to proceed against the remaining or other properties of the judgment-debtor in execution. 46 Bom.L.R. 666=1944 Bom. 303. Whether partial stay order is governed by sec. 15. 1928 M. 627=51 M. 583=55 M.L.J. 156. Sec. 15 contemplates an absolute stay of execution. 1925 P. 597. Where after a decree had been obtained and when no execution application was pending therein, the Judge ordered in a connected suit that the decree-holder might wait for some time for payment, held that the order did not suspend limitation and did not operate as a stay of the execution proceeding in the prior suit. 60 I.A. 43=12 P. 195=64 M. L.J. 599=1933 P.C. 52 (P.C.). Though the provisions of sec. 15 could not be attracted to proceedings for restitution, and an application for restitution is not an application for execution and the time during which a party was precluded by the orders of the Court from making the application for restitution could not be excluded under that section, there is no reason why the same principle on which sec. 15 is based should not be extended to an application for restitution as well. I.L.R. (1945) Lah. 8=47 P.L.R. 201 =1945 Lah. 227. There is no reason in principle why an application for a final decree in a suit on the basis of a mortgage should be excluded from the relief allowed by sec. 15. The rule contained in sec. 15 applies to suits and applications for execution stayed under the U. P. Encumbered Estates Act. 1946 A.W.R. (H.C.) 452.

INCONSISTENT DECREES RENDERING EXECUTION OF ONE IMPOSSIBLE.—Sec. 15 does not contemplate the case of one decree being rendered impossible of execution by a subsequent decree inconsistent therewith passed in another suit. A person obtained a decree for possession of a temple in 1926. Before he could execute his decree by an application for execution, a suit was brought by the pujari of the temple who obtained a decree in 1928 declaring the pujari to be the owner of the temple and restraining the decree-holder in the previous suit from taking possesion of the temple. This decree was set aside by the High Court in 1931. The decree-holder in the previous suit made an application for execution in 1933; held, that the decree of 1928 did not operate as an injunction or stay of execution within the meaning of sec. 15 and hence the decree of 1926 was time-barred in 1933 when the decree holder made an application for execution. I.L.R. (1939) All. 207=1939 A.L.J. 29=1939 All. 82. After final decrees on two mortgages those decrees were declared null and void in a subsequent suit filed by the defendants in the former suits. On appeal to the High Court this was modified by declaring the decrees void as against the plaintiffs only in the later suit and as against a portion of the property in dispute. On execution being taken out, held, that the decree-holders had a fresh cause of action from the date of the appellate decree which should be the date of the decree under Col. 3, Art. 182. In the alternative the modified decree would be within time under Art. 181 as the right to execute accrued after the decrees became capable of execution in virtue of the decree of the High Court. Held, that sec. 15 in terms did not apply to the case. I.L.R. (1944) All. 197=1944 O. W.N. (H.C.) 50=1944 A.L.J. 98=1944 All. 88.

INJUNCTION.—Where a decree-holder is prevented by an injunction from executing his decree he must apply for execution within three years from the termination of the injunction period to save his decree from being barred. 56 I.C. 1006=18 A.L.J. 642 =42 A. 564. See also 51 I.C. 64=17 P.W. An attachment before judgment of a decree and a consequent order prohibiting the execution of the decree amount to an injunction, and the period of its pendency is excluded under sec. 15. 47 M. 641=1924 M. 673=47 M.L.J. 4. See also 30 I.C. 587. A party cannot claim to exclude under sec. 15 in his favour the time during which no injunction was in force against him. 26 I. C. 267=27 M.L.J. 734. See 1928 P. 86=6 P. 635. An injunction or order which prevents a party from instituting a suit may be either express or implied. A decree which declares that the plaintiff is in possession of the property of the suit as sole owner and orders the defendant never to deprive the plaintiff of his possession, and which orders the defendant not to accept or recover the rents of the property cannot be held to operate as a stay of a suit for possession by the defendant or as an injunction restraining him from filing a suit for possession of the property, especially when the plaintiff in that suit has never sought an injunction or an order restraining the defendant from going to a Court of law and asserting his rights to possession of the property to which he may have been entitled. Such a decree cannot amount to an order staying the institution of a suit within the meaning of sec. 15 so as to entitle the defendant in the prior suit to a deduction of time under that section. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 173 =40 Bom.L.R. 1134=1939 Bom. 1.

STAY OF EXECUTION.—An order granting time to the judgment-debtor for the payment of the decree amount is not an order staying execution within sec. 15. 40 A. 198 =44 I.C. 24. See also 1927 L. 106=100 I. C. 475; 16 Luck. 495=1941 Oudh 93. So long as there is no legal impediment to the filing of an execution petition earlier, no time can be excluded under sec. 15. (1945) 2 M.L.J. 444. Where the order on an application for execution shows that it had been dismissed on account of the decree-holder's absence, it cannot be treated as an order for stay of execution within the meaning of sec. 15. 131 I.C. 345=1931 L. 125. Where the execution of a decree passed against several judgment-debtors is stayed all of them on receipt of an intimation from a Debt Relief Court to which one of the judgment-debtors alone had applied for settlement of his debt, the decree-holder is entitled to claim the benefit of sec. 15 of the Limitation Act. The question of the validity or propriety of the order for stay against all judgment-debtors is immaterial and so long as it is not set aside in revision, it is binding on the parties. I.L.R. (1944) Nag. 250=1944 N.L.J. 127=A.I.R. 1944 Nag. 155. The proceedings under the Agriculturists Debtors' Relief Act do not extend time for the purpose of limitation. SEC. 17—.The intention of sec. 17 is to limit the time during which an action may be brought, and not to take away the rights of a person who is a possible defendant to an action, and it was not intended to accelerate any right of action against such a person. 63 I.A. 429=1936 P.C. 309=71 M.L.J. 831 (P.C.). See also 1938 M. 157=I.L.R. until the date when X would have attained twenty-one. Accordingly, sec. 17 not having the effect of accelerating the right against Y has no effect as causing time to run from that date. 1936 P.C. 309=71 M.L.J. 831 (P.C.)=63 I.A. 439. There is no legal warrant for placing on the words 'capable of instituting a suit' in sec. 17, the limited interpretation as 'capable of instituting a suit and obtaining a decree'. Sec. 214, Succession Act, is against such interpretation. The definition of legal representative as given in sec. 2 (1), C. P. Code, is clearly not restricted to executors(administrators and heirs, for it includes even an administrator de son tort. A residuary legatee under the will ed to executors, administratorss and heirs, obtaining letters of administration, a 'legal representative capable of instituting suit' within the meaning of sec. 17. 172 I.C. 805= 1937 Sind 318. All that sec. 17 contemplates is that if there is no legal representative who is capable of suing, the statue of limitation would not run. The heir-at-law may be a minor in which case limitation would not run by virtue of sec. 6, but as soon as an administrator of the estate is constituted, limitation would begin to run against him, and the fact that there is an heir-at-law who is a minor would not prevent the operation of the law of limitation. The section does not have the effect of preventing the estate from vesting in the heir-at-law where the executor leaves a will though the executor under the will declines to accept office. "Legal representative" would also include an heir. I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 533= 1938 Mad. 157=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 146. The right of an executor to sue begins from the date of the death of the testator. 24 I.C. 852=37 M. 175. The executor of a will capable of probate in British India is a legal representative capable of instituting a suit within sec. 17 (1) from the date of the testator's death and not only from the date when he obtains probate. 20 C.W.N. 833=35 I. C. 323 (P.C.); 34 M.L.J. 223=43 I.C. 113; Limitation will not run where there is no person competent to sue and a trespasser of the temple properties cannot be said to be in adverse possession till some person is appointed as trustee. 18 I.C. 373.

SEC. 18: APPLICABILITY.—Sec. 18 applies to a suit brought to set aside the order of the Magistrate under sec. 145, Cr. P. Code. 9 M.L.T. 91=9 I.C. 285 (2). Only when a party is kept by fraud from knowledge and not from exercising his right. 25 I.C. 884. See also 16 C.W.N. 923=13 I.C. 63; 1 Bur. L.J. 226=1923 R. 103; 1928 C. 349=32 C. W.N. 519. Section does not apply to an application by the judgment-debtor to set aside a sale on the ground of fraud by the auction-purchaser. 86 I.C. 745=1925 C. 1227. The view of the Madras High Court is otherwise. See 56 M. 734=143 I.C. 388 =38 L.W. 131=1933 M. 626=65 M.L.J. 139. When a person applies under O. 21, R. 90, C. P. Code, to set aside an execution sale beyond 30 days of the sale alleging that he had no knowledge of the sale until within 30 days of the application, the onus is, in the first place, on him to show that he had no knowledge of the sale until within thirty days of the application. It may be that in the circumstances of a particular case, owing to the disparity between the value of the property sold as stated in the proclamation of sale and the real value of the property, it is possible to infer fraud in the service of processes, when the disparity is so great as to shock the conscience. This presumption is, however, rebuttable by credible evidence that the processes were in fact served. If there is evidence to show that the processes were duly and properly served, the Court will not make the presumption in spite of an under-valuation of the property and will not entertain applications beyond 30 days of the sale. 9 Cut.L.T. 84=1944 Pat. 40. Where in an execution sale which was conducted fraudulently by the decree-holder, the property was purchased bona fide by a third party and an application to set aside the sale was made by the mortgagee of the property beyond 30 days. Held, that sec. 18 did not apply as the section applied only against a person claiming through another otherwise than in good faith and for valuable consideration. 1936 C. 706. Fraud must be by the decree-holder and fraudulent concealment of the proceedings has to be proved. 47 A. 850=1925 A. 778; 85 I.C. 622=6 Pat.L.T. 567; 83 I.C. 747=1924 P. 167. See also 108 I.C. 899=1928 A. 354; 1930 Cal. 706. It is well settled that mere understatement of price in the sale proclamation does not amount to fraudulent concealment within the meaning of sec. 18 of the Limitation Act. 49 C.W.N. 731. Sec. 18, only applies to a person having a right to institute a suit or make an application, and does not apply to a person having a right of appeal under sec. 25 of the Bengal Land Revenue Sales Act. Sec. 18, only refers to cases of fraud. When there is no suggestion of fraud but only of a mistake, the section will not apply. Sec. 18, is applicable to proceedings under the Encumbered Estates Act. 1944 O.A. (H.C.) 250=1944 A. W.R. (H.C.) 250=1944 C.W.N. 274=I.L.R. (1944) All. 703=1945 All. 35. CONSTRUCTION.—The words "against any person" should be understood to follow the words "a suit" in the beginning of the section. 89 P.R. 1911=10 I.C. 114.

EXECUTION SALE.—Where owing to the fraud of the decree-holder or other parties certain irregularities in the conduct of a sale are concealed from the knowledge of the judgment-debtor, the latter is entitled to apply for setting aside the sale in spite of its confirmation and the time for the application is to be computed from the date when the fraud comes to the knowledge of the applicant. 45 A. 316=21 A.L.J. 176=1923 All. 282 (2). See also 24 I.C. 249=19 C.W.N. 553; 16 I.C. 436.

ONUS AS TO FRAUD.—The plaintiff who invokes the aid of sec. 18 must establish that there has been fraud, he has been kept from the knowledge of his right to sue or of the title whereon it is founded. Once this is established, the burden is shifted on to the other side to show that the plaintiff had knowledge of the transaction beyond the period of limitation. Mere suggestions of fraud do not amount to such knowledge as is required by the section and the knowledge must be clear and definite knowledge of the facts constituting the particular fraud. 36 P.L.R. 114=1934 L. 878; I.L.R. (1939) 2 Cal. 163=43 C.W.N. 862=1939 1 Cal. 663. In cases falling under sec. 18, where an applicant claims that he has been fraudulently kept out of knowledge of facts, it is for the party who is found to be guilty of fraud to show that the applicant had clear and definite knowledge of the facts constituting the fraud beyond the period of limitation. Proof that some hint or clue reached the applicant which might lead to such knowledge is not enough. 9 Cut.L.T. 37=1943 P. 377. The onus is on the person committing the fraud to prove that the person injured thereby has had clear and definite knowledge of the fact constituting the fraud at a time too remote to allow him to seek the assistance of the Court. 46 I.C. 221 (2)=27 C.L.J. 528. See also 17 I.C. 10=14 Bom.L.R. 771; 36 C.W.N. 758=55 C.L.J. 420; 1928 C. 349; 1930 P. 58. It is not enough for him to show that the plaintiff had means available to him for coming to know of the fraud. 36 C.W.N. 758=55 C.L.J. 420=1933 C. 253. Fraud—Suit to set aside decree obtained by fraud—Burden of proof. 41 I.C. 385. See also 20 I.C. 538; 47 C.L.J. 351=1928 C. 349. Where there is fraud at the outset in conducting the sale, in an application to set aside sale the onus is on the decree-holder to establish the precise point of time when the judgment-debtor had knowledge of the fact. 1928 P. 228; 1930 P. 58. The party guilty of fraud must show that the continuing effects of fraud have been removed, and then only limitation would operate. 4 Pat.L.T. 306=1923 P. 435. In ordinary cases the initial burden is on the plaintiff who alleges fraud to lead evidence prima facie, at any rate establishing the date of his knowledge. But if the defendant's pleadings are evasive and do not raise specifically an issue as to the date of plaintiff's knowledge, the burden of proving the date is on him. 1929 A. 721 (2). It is incumbent on the plaintiff to distinctly allege the particular fraud by which he has been kept from a knowledge of his right of suit against the defendant specifically and with detailed particulars. 101 I.C. 322=1927 A. 437; 99 I.C. 946=44 C.L.J. 565. See also 1929 M.W.N. 811=1930 M. 12.

FRAUD, NATURE OF—ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—Fraud antecedent to an execution sale does not necessarily indicate fraud subsequent to the sale. Fraud antecedent to the sale may have an important bearing on the question whether there was fraud subsequent to the sale sufficient for the purpose of sec. 18. 17 C.W.N. 478=17 I.C. 972 (2). Mere ignorance of a plaintiff of his right to sue would not prevent time from running against him; such ignorance must have been brought about by the fraud of his opponent. 16 I. C. 547. See also 1933 C. 253=36 C.W.N. 758 =55 C.L.J. 420. Mere fraud in getting decree is not sufficient. 57 I.C. 15. The party must also show that he was prevented by fraud from knowledge of his right to institute a suit or make an application. Fraud in any other connection is immaterial. 2 P.W.R. 1919=50 I.C. 610. Fraud—Concealment—Alienation by a sonless male proprietor—Limitation—Burden of proof. 177 P. L.R. 1912=16 I.C. 844. A mere omission to inform the pre-emptor or the bare fact of concealing the sale transaction from him cannot amount to a fraud, but where there is an active concealment of the transaction coupled with an intention to deceive the pre-emptor, there would undoubtedly be a fraud within the meaning of sec. 18. 115 I.C. 798=1929 A. 213. See also 180 I.C. 525=1938 A.W.R. A mere omission by a mortgagor to inform the mortgagee regarding his want of title in the property mortgaged is not active fraud so as to attract sec. 18. KNOWLEDGE OF RIGHT.—When the true nature of rights was not discovered by the plaintiff earlier than the time at which his demand for possession was resisted. Held, limitation began from the date of resistance. 45 A. 179=50 I.A. 69=1922 P.C. 403=44 M.L.J. 489 (P.C.). See also 52 I.C. 958; 43 I.C. 671. SEC. 19: SCOPE OF.—See 40 M. 698; 40 A. 360. For an acknowledgment to save limitation, it must be a conscious acknowledgment of the liability (i.e.) made with conscious intention of acknowledging the liability. A casual reference to a mortgage for some other purpose, cannot obviously be enough for this purpose. 1943 O.W.N. 302 =1943 O.A. (C.C.) 188=1943 Oudh 425. The question whether an apparent acknowledgment contained in a document is a conscious acknowledgment of liability or not is of some difficulty, unless it is clearly and expressly acknowledged that the liability still exists. Where in reply to an application under O. 34, r. 6, C. P. Code, a statement is made that in view of the fact that all mortgaged property has not been sold, the application for personal decree is premature, it does not amount to an acknowledgment in as much as the plea could be coupled consistently with the plea that the application was time-barred. 1943 O.W.N. 352= 1943 O.A. (C.C.) 202=1943 Oudh 453. There must be a clear acknowledgment of liability. 1936 A.L.J. 625=1936 All. 522. The section is not confined to acknowledgments in respect of debts, but applies to cases in which a plea of limitation is raised to bar a claim to movable or immovable property and also to acknowledgments saving the bar of limitation in cases of applications for execution of decrees. 53 A. 963=137 I. C. 243=1932 A. 199. For a case to be brought within the purview of sec. 19 there must be a definite or unequivocal acknowledgment of the debt. 1935 R. 152. The acknowledgment contemplated by sec. 19 is an acknowledgment of liability. Where the party pleads payment of the entire amount on a certain date there is no question of acknowledgment. 28 N.L.R. 348=1933 N. 13. An admission of execution of a promissory note coupled with denial of liability on the ground of having received no consideration does not amount to an acknowledgment. [33 C. 1047 (P.C.), Dist.]. 151 I.C. 376= 36 Bom.L.R. 334=1934 B. 186.

STAMP.—A note by the executant of a promissory note to the effect that he has paid a specified sum "towards the satisfaction" of the promissory note, without actually making any payment, amounts to an acknowledgment of his liability under sec. 19 of the Limitation Act. Sec. 20 of the Act is inapplicable as payment of the amount has not been made. The note is not inadmissible in evidence as an acknowledgment by reason of its not having been stamped under Art. 1 of the Stamp Act, as the dominant intent is to save limitation, and not to supply evidence of the debt, of the existence and amount of which other evidence is subsisting. I.L.R. (1945) Nag. 745=1945 N.L.J. 213=1945 Nag. 181. Where in renewal of an old debt a promissory note and a receipt are executed and the promissory note is found to be inadmissible owing to insufficiency of stamp the receipt can be relied upon as an acknowledgment of liability within the meaning of sec. 19. In such a case the interest on the original loan which was calculated up to the date of the receipt as shown therein may be allowed, but interest from that date up to the institution of the suit cannot be allowed. 18 Luck. 191=1942 O.A. 243=1942 Oudh 388.

REGISTRATION.—An acknowledgment of liability in respect of a charge under sec. 55 (4) (b) of the T. P. Act does not of itself create any title or right in the owner which would attract the provisions of sec. 17 (1) of the Registration Act, but it is a mere statement, an admission of an existing fact. As such, registration is unnecessary. I.L.R. (1942) Nag. 541=1942 N.L.J. 412=1942 102.

BEFORE THE EXPIRATION OF THE PERIOD.— [See notes under sec. 4, supra.] The acknowledgment must be made before the expiration of the period. 6 C. 340; 2 A. 443. Sec. 4 of the Limitation Act can come into operation only after the period of limitation prescribed has already expired, while, under sec. 19, it is necessary that the acknowledgment should be signed before the expiration of the period prescribed. Sec. 19 cannot also include the period extended by sec. 4. 1937 M. 367=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 262. See also 1940 N.L.J. 607; 1937 Lah. 162; (1937) 2 M.L.J. 703=1938 Mad. 19=I.L.R. (1938) M. 439. So, where limitation for a suit on a promissory note expires during vacation, an acknowledgment after that date but before re-opening of Court will not avail. (Ibid.) See also 35 C.W.N. 370=1931 C. 785=58 C. 1148; 36 B. 782. But see contra 38 P.L.R. 934=164 I. C. 650; 110 I.C. 76=1928 N. 192; 48 A. 726. Sec. 19 cannot apply to an acknowledgment made after expiry of period of limitation prescribed, but during the period excluded by sec. 52 of the U. P. Court of Wards Act, and so such an acknowledgment cannot extend time. I.L.R. (1938) All. 363=1938 A.L.J. 252=1938 All. 217 (F.B.). Plea of jus tertii in a prior suit cannot be relied on in a subsequent suit as it did not constitute an acknowledgment within the meaning of sec. 19. 1933 L. 491=145 I.C. 343=34 P.L.R. 841. The onus lies on the creditor to prove that the acknowledgment was made within time. 53 A. 963=137 I.C. 243=1932 A. 199. A payment within the period of limitation saves limitation provided there is an acknowledgment in writing. It does not matter even if the acknowledgment is made beyond the period of limitation as it is the payment and not the acknowledgment which saves limitation. The acknowledgment is merely a matter of evidence; provided it is signed before the suit is commenced, it is sufficient. 57 B. 453=35 Bom.L.R. 471=1933 B. 252. As to acknowledgment during holidays, see 26 B. 782; 52 B. 521=1928 B. 219=30 Bom.L.R. 733. An acknowledgment after limitation period cannot avail. 42 A. 390=58 I.C. 597; 42 A. 575=56 I.C. 986 (F.B.); 1930 L. 985; 1930 O. 287. A series of acknowledgments each within three years of the one next preceding will save limitation. 6 C. 340; 25 B. 586. The word "prescribed" in sec. 19 means prescribed by the Schedules. 1922 N. 250 (26 B. 782). It means prescribed by any law for the time being in force and not merely by the Limitation Act, First Schedule. 80 I.C. 743=1925 A. 68. See also 1927 A. 114 =49 A. 67=98 I.C. 1005; 30 Bom.L.R. 733;

32 L.W. 502; (1937) 2 M.L.J. 703=1938 Mad. 19=46 L.W. 559=I.L.R. 1938 Mad. 439. The words in sec. 19 are 'before the expiration of the period prescribed'. This must mean prescribed by the Act in which sec. 19 occurs, that is, the Limitation Act read by itself and without reference to any other enactment. Hence an acknowledgment beyond limitation but within a period which has to be excluded under a local or special Act (i.e.) sec. 9 (5) of the United Provinces Encumbered Estates Act, is not an acknowledgment within sec. 19 of the Limitation Act and would not save the suit from the bar of limitation 1946 A.W.R. H. C. 450. But a promise under sec. 25, Contract Act, may be made after the period. 1928 N. 124. An acknowledgment subsequent to the period of twelve years after the execution of a mortgage but within the extra period allowed by sec. 31 will not save limitation. 1929 M. 791=57 M.L.J. 353. See also 1930 M.W.N. 930=32 L.W. 502. Though an unconditional acknowledgment has been held to imply a promise to pay, it is not by itself sufficient to constitute a "promise" within the meaning of sec. 25 (3) of the Contract Act. So an acknowledgment made after the expiry of the period of limitation on the original note cannot form the basis of a suit. 1930 P. 604. Act. 47 Bom.L.R. 27=I.L.R. 1945 B. 167=1945 B. 200 (F.B.). There is a distinction between an acknowledgment of a right to an account and an acknowledgment of a debt. For an acknowledgment of a right to an account there need not be an acknowledgment that a debt or even a specified amount is actually due. Where the parties in effect state that there is a right to a pending account between them and each has got a claim to recover the balance which may be found due on the accounts being looked into by certain arbitrators and each agrees to pay the other the balance so found due, there is a sufficient acknowledgment of a right to an account. 169 I.C. 340=1936 M.W.N. 998= 1937 Mad. 38. An acknowledgment falling under sec. 19, need not necessarily be a stamped acknowledgment falling under Sch. I, Art. 1 of the Stamp Act. The latter must be written with the intention of supplying evidence of the debt; whereas a document containing an admission of liability, such as a letter reciting a settlement of accounts, would save limitation under sec. 19, though not stamped. I.L.R. (1939) Nag. 695=20 N.L.J. 276=1938 Nag. 51. See also 1945 Nag. 181. A document used as an acknowledgment under sec. 19 cannot operate to save limitation unless it has been executed before expiry of limitation; also in such a case the suit must be founded on the original cause of action. The document itself cannot be used as the basis of the suit. I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 441=1938 Nag. 180. A subsequent acknowledgment containing clearly a promise to pay the balance due on a promissory note can be the basis of a suit, even though the original promissory note is not admissible in evidence. (1938 Lah. 503, Rel. on). 40 P.L.R. 801= 1938 Lah. 505. Where acknowledgment implies a promise to pay, a suit can be brought on the basis of such acknowledgment considered as an agreement provided consideration is proved. Where a suit is brought on such basis, the plaintiff must be taken to allege a valid agreement and if the defendant does not plead lack of consideration, then consideration must be taken to have been proved. An application by the debtor under sec. 6 (1) of the C. P. Debt Conciliation Act which includes in the list of claims against him a decretal debt with reference to the number of the decree amounts to an acknowledgment of liability in respect of that debt under sec. 19. "LIABILITY IN RESPECT OF SUCH PROPERTY OR RIGHT."—An acknowledgment must be one from which an absolute promise to pay can be inferred or an unconditional promise to pay a specific debt or there must be conditional promise and evidence that the condition has been performed. 33 I.A. 165=16 M. As to effect of conditional acknowledgment, see 1939 Lah. 31; 1937 Pat. 616; 1937 Lah. 827 (Debt need not be expressly specified). It need not necessarily contain a promise to pay, or amount to a promise to pay. The endorsement made by the debtor acknowledging the correctness of an account which showed him a debtor to the extent stated is a clear acknowledgment of the debt, with the ordinary implication of a promise to pay, and is sufficient for the purposes of sec. 19. 174 I.C. 585=1938 Pat. 139. Sec. 19 is not controlled or limited, by the language of the proviso to Column 3 of Art. 183 of the Limitation Act. An admission of liability which amounts to an acknowledment is sufficient to extend the period of limitation although the admission is not made to the decree-holder. I.L.R. (1939) 2 Cal. 523=44 C.W.N. 322=1940 Cal. 210 (1). The acknowledgment must be in respect of the property or right, subject of litigation. 23 O.C. 176; 104 I.C. 572=1928 S. 45=22 S.L.R. 117. An admission by the debtor of the existence of an unsettled account between him and the creditor coupled with an expression of willingness to have it settled with him and a query whether anything would be done implies an admission of liability for the amount that may be found due upon the settlement. A denial of liability for the amount claimed by the creditor based upon certain calculations by him cannot be read as a total denial of liability for any amount, but is only a denial of liability to the extent asserted by the debtor. A letter containing such an admission sent by the debtor in reply to a notice of demand made by the creditor is an acknowledgment sufficient to save limitation. 49 L.W. 106=1939 Mad. 300. Where a sale deed recited that the property was conveyed as part payment towards the principal amount due to the vendee on an earlier mortgage and the executant appeared before the Registrar and admitted execution on a question whether there was thereby an acknowledgment of the mortgage debt. Held, that the appearance before the Registrar and acknowledgment of the execution of the sale deed amounted to an admission not only of execution of the deed in question but also of all matters set out in the deed itself. A writing by the debtor containing the details of the account of the creditor, stating that a specific amount is due to the creditor on the date of the writing and signed by the debtor is an acknowledgment satisfying the requirements of sec. 19 of the Limitation Act. Where it is further recited that the debtor has handed over to the creditor documents in his favour the value of which is equivalent to the amount of the debt due to the creditor, without any formal assignment, the mere fact that the word "bhuktan" is used (meaning satisfied in full) would not make the writing anything other than an acknowledgment. 22 Pat.L.T. 1057 =1942 Pat. 170. There is no rule of law that an admission of a past liability unaccompanied by an allegation of discharge should in all cases be interpreted as an admission of a subsisting liability. In his first letter the debtor made a request to the plaintiff creditor to send to him a complete statement of accounts. In the second letter, the debtor acknowledged the receipt of some sort of accounts from the creditor, and demanded further particulars and incidentally admitted the liability to pay interest. In the third letter the debtor again said to the creditor that he should send him particulars of the net amount due and the interest charged thereon specifying the rate at which interest had been charged. The last letter said that the debtor wanted the name of each of his creditors from whom the plaintiff creditor had borrowed money for the debtor with particulars of the account payable to each such creditor so that payment of the debs could be made. A specific request was added when the letter said "please also write the amount of money due to you". Held, that the letters were acknowledgments within the meaning of sec. 19 and saved limitation. 215 I.C. 30=1944 Lah. 65. DECREE DEBT AND ORDINARY DEBT.—An acknowledgment to save limitation under sec. 19, must either be a direct acknowledgment of the debt or an acknowledgment of such a kind that an acknowledgment of the debt is inevitably implied. An acknowledgment of a decree debt is obviously not necessarily the same as an admission that if the debt which had ripened into a decree had still been alive at the time of the acknowledgment he would have been liable. 1937 Mad. 826.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT TO WHOM TO BE MADE.—The acknowledgment of a recept as mortgagees to the Government is a sufficient acknowledgment. 37 B. 326=40 I.A. 68=18 I.C. 909=25 M.L.J. 101 (P.C.), affirming 2 I.C. 469=11 Bom.L.R. 318. An acknowledgment to have the effect of saving limitation need not be addressed to the person entitled to the property. 13 I.C. 603=16 C.W.N. 346; 91 I. C. 461=1926 C. 686; 1926 C. 1140=97 I.C. 710=30 C.W.N. 968; 7 O.W.N. 1195=1931 O. 54 (communication not necessary). 13 Luck. 334=1937 O.W.N. 719=1937 Oudh 391 (letter by judgment-debtor to third person to ask decree-holder for time to pay). An acknowledgment, duly signed, although it is addressed to a dead person will operate as a valid acknowledgment of a debt to save limitation under sec. 19. 1938 Pat. 180; 53 I.C. 898=23 C.W.N. 921. There is a distinction between addressing the acknowledgment of liability and acknowledging liability to a person. In order to bring his case within limitation the person who attempts to enforce his right must show that the acknowledgment of liability was in his favour though it need not have been addressed to him. 38 P.L.R. 855= 1936 L. 659. So when an acknowledgment of liability is made in favour of only one of the obligees having equal shares, the others are not enitled to the benefit of sec. 19. The obligee having the benefit of sec. 19 is entitled to recover his share only and not the whole amount; 1936 Lah. 659. An acknowledgment in a deed of assignment executed by the obligor in favour of a third person is enough to save limitation. 49 I.C. 868. See also 1928 C. 850; 1939 N.L.J. 109=1939 Nag. 113 (Entry in list of documents filed in Court.)

There is no reason for construing the word "signed" in sec. 19 of the Limitation Act as meaning "signed in full". Initials are equivalent to signature. The object of the Act is to regard as sufficient what the writer intends to be equivalent to his signature, the form being immaterial so long as it verifies the acknowledgment. 41 L.W. 744 =1935 M. 555=68 M.L.J. 623. See also 1941 O. 376=16 Luck. 727.

SIGNED, MEANING OF.—"Signed" includes initialling. 1942 Mad. 680=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 242=55 L.W. 398. "Signed"—Meaning of—Initials insufficient. 96 I.C. 700=51 M.L.J. 414=1026 M. 827. It is not necessary that the debtor's name should be written by himself. It is sufficient if it is written by a person acting with authority to write his name and to acknowledge the debt in question. It does not make any difference whether the debtor is literate or illiterate. If the debtor's name is introduced into the document of acknowledgment in such a way as to show that the acknowledgment was intended to be his own, the name, whether written or printed, would constitute his signature under sec. 19. Where a letter of acknowledgment is written by a third party at the instance of and on the instructions given by the debtor, and the debtor causes the letter to be posted to the address of the creditor, such letter constitutes a valid acknowledgment of liability under sec. 19. 18 Pat. 715=20 Pat.L.T. 927=1940 Pat. 6.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT BY WHOM TO BE MADE—AUTHORITY TO ACKNOWLEDGE.—Sec. 19, does not require that the person making an acknowledgment should have an interest in the property, in respect of which the acknowledgment was made, at the time when the acknowledgment was given. It is not necessary that the debt or liability must be of the person making the acknowledgment. An acknowledgment made by a person who is aftewards sought to be charged with the liability is valid and saves limitation. 45 Bom. L.R. 831=1943 Bom. 461. An acknowledgment of liability by a Hindu woman in possession for her interest, of the estate of her husband or father, will not extend the period of limitation as against the reversioners. 35 A. 227=40 I.A. 74=25 M.L.J. 131 (P.C.), affirming 32 A. 33. An acknowledgment by principal debtor does not save limitation against the surety unless it is shown that the latter allowed himself to be represented by the person who made the acknowledgment. 132 I.C. 590=1931 L. 691; 8 O.W.N. 544= 1931 O. 310; 44 C.W.N. 322=1940 Cal. 210 (1)=I.L.R. (1939) 2 C. 523. But sec. 19 or 21 do not contemplate that the authority to be given to the agent must in every case be an express authority. 133 I.C. 155=1931 A. 398. An agent who had general authority to settle the purchase price of the goods could plainly also arrange to prevent the time from becoming a bar to it. 24 C.W.N. 153=55 I.C. 543=1919 P.C. 120 (P.C.); 100 I.C. 784 =4 O.W.N. 275=1927 O. 613. Also a letter by a general agent written at the instructions of the debtor and signed by the agent. 1929 O. 479. Where the letters forming part of the correspondence between the parties in connection with the payment of a loan were written by persons who were not only general agents of the debtor but one of them was the assistant manager and the other the manager of the estate, the Court can presume them to be persons who were duly authorised to make acknowledgments on behalf of the debtor. 162 I.C. 362=1936 O. 280. When the acknowledgment is written by an agent duly authorized in that behalf, if he affixes thereto the name of his principal in any position, even by impressing it with a rubber stamp, such affixation of the name of the principal must be held to be a signing of document within the meaning of sec. 19. 13 R. 522=1935 R. 160. Direct evidence that one of several partners or co-contractors had authority to acknowledge liability is not necessary, but such authority can be inferred from surrounding circumstances such as the position of other co-contractors or partners. A partner of a money-lending business which is being wound up, has no authority to give an acknowledgment for a subsisting debt so as to bind the firm. 8 L.B.R. 363=36 I.C. 225. An acknowledgment by one of two mortgagees of the title of mortgagor would not save the mortgagor's right to redeem from being barred by limitation where the mortgage was a joint mortgage. 34 A. 371=14 I.C. 132. See also 5 Lah.L.J. 117=1921 L. 201; 151 I.C. 385 (1)=1934 L. 293 (1). An acknowledgment of liability by one of several mortgagors will ordinarily give a fresh start of limitation against the mortgagor who acknowledges the same. It is only when he makes the acknowledgment on behalf of the others also under circumstances which would make him an agent of the other co-mortgagors under sec. 21, that limitation would be saved against the others as well. 18 Pat. 434=184 I.C. 597=20 Pat.L.T. 619=1939 Pat. 451. An acknowledgment by the mortgagor of a prior mortgage in a later mortgage executed by him is sufficient to save limitation as against intermediate mortgagees who hold mortgages executed before the acknowledgment. To confine the word "acknowledgment" in sec. 19 to an acknowledgment made prior to a transfer or mortgage would be to add to or alter the language of the section. 1941 P.W.N. 667= 1942 Pat. 166. A letter written by the debtor (mortgagor) to a third person, in which he agrees to give him a lien over certain properties "now with the creditor mortgagor as collateral security" (the title deeds having been deposited with the creditor as equitable mortgage previously), is an acknowledgment of the existence of the equitable mortgage which would save limitation under sec. 19. The fact that the letter is not registered does not make it inadmissible in evidence, because it is relied on only as evidence, of a collateral fact, namely an acknowledgment by the debtor-mortgagor. A compulsorily registrable document, though unregistered and inadmissible in evidence of a transaction affecting immovable property, may be admitted as evidence of a collateral fact or for any collateral purpose. 48 L.W. 292=1938 Mad. 865=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 534. An acknowledgment necessarily imports the acknowledgment of an existing debt. Where no such existing debt is referred to in a khata. it is meant to be a new transaction, especially when it does not show in itself that it is passed for any balance found due on settlement of accounts. The recital in the khata of the receipt of an amount in cash and the liability to repay the amount necessarily indicates a promise to pay that amount. Such a document cannot be treated as a mere acknewledgment of a past debt, but as a fresh promise to pay the amount purported to be received in cash. 45 Bom.L.R. 837=1943 Bom. 447. Where the members of a Hindu trading family which has incurred a debt have separated, an acknowledgment signed by some members of that firm only cannot save limitation as regards the other members in the absence of proof by the creditor that the acknowledgment was made on behalf of and with the authority of those other members as well. 1937 M.W.N. 1312. An executing Court which merely records an admission or plea of the judgment-debtor that a certain sum of money was paid towards the decree under execution is not "an agent duly authorised" of the judgment-debtor for purposes of sec. 19. 174 I. C. 28=1937 M.W.N. 355=1937 Mad. 760. In case of a document signed by an agent he must have been authorised to sign for the purpose which sec. 19, contemplates, that is to say he must have been authorised to sign on behalf of the person sought to be made liable. This authorisation need not be available, for the purpose of acknowledging direct; it can be implied. Where a Judge signs the deposition of a witness, he is in no sense his agent. The fact that it is a party whose deposition it is that is signed and not that of a witness does not make any difference. His voluntarily going into the box does not authorise the Judge to sign the deposition containing an acknowledgment. 1940 N.L.J. 445=1940 Nag. 354. The father died in 1912 and in 1913 the mortgagors executed a second mortgage in favour of another including in that mortgage the whole of the amount due under the earlier mortgage. In 1928 the plaintiff sued to recover the amount and claimed that he was entitled to do so within three years of his attaining majority. Held, that time began to run from the date of the execution of the mortgage, but the mortgage of 1913 contained an acknowledgment and therefore saved limitation. Held, further, that the plaintiff being a minor at the time from which limitation has to be

EFFECT OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—An acknowledgment of liability only extends the period of limitation and does not confer title and is not a "thing done" within sec. 6 of the General Clauses Act. 35 A. 227=40 I.A. 74 =25 M.L.J. 131 (P.C.); see allso 57 L.W. 493 =(1944) 2 M.L.J. 225; 198 I.C. 516. In the absence of anything to the contrary when a debtor makes an acknowledgment of his liability to pay a debt it would ordinarily mean that he was admitting a subsisting liability to pay. I.L.R. (1945) All. 120=1945 O.W.N. (H.C.) 28=1945 A.L.J. 58=1945 All. 224. Where a letter amounting to an acknowledgment of a debt contains a statement that payment in regard to it would be made in eight or nine days, limitation can be saved only up to the date of the letter of acknowledgment and not up to the further period of eight or nine days mentioned in it. I.L.R. (1945) All. 35=1944 O.W.N. (H.C.) 286= 1944 A.L.J. 447 (1). An unequivocal acknowledgment of a debt involves an implied promise to pay it. If a man unequvoaally acknowledges that a debt is due from him, he should be taken impliedly to promise to pay it. He may couple his acknowledgment with some expression which shows that he is not promising to pay. But if there is no qualification the acknowledgment of the debt should be held to involve an implied promise to pay. Where an agreement contains an acknowledgment of a debt due from the defendant to the plaintiff, and also provides for a contingent security as to that debt, such acknowledgment involves a promise to pay that amount; and the agreement therefore constitutes a fresh cause of action for a suit. 45 Bom.L.R. 957 =A.I.R. 1944 Bom. 90. See also (1944) 2 M.L.J. 225. Where a later mortgagee is directed to pay off an earlier mortgage and authorised to take back the earlier mortgage and keep it with him as evidence and the mortgage deed in favour of the later mortgagee provides that the lien possessed by the earlier mortgagee is to be acquired by the later mortgagee, and the latter pays off the amount of principal and interest due to the earlier mortgagee he acquires a right of subrogation under sec. 92 of the Transfer of Property Act there being an express right of subrogation created by contract in writing and registered. The payment of interest and principal by the later mortgagee and endorsement thereof by him would operate to save limitation under sec. 20 in respect of a suit by him on the earlier mortgage paid off by him as against intermediate mortgagees. 1941 P.W.N. 667=1942 Pat. 166. Where a series of debts entered in accounts are acknowledged with the endorsement as correct at the end of the account, the acknowledgment would not imply a promise to pay but would give a fresh period of limitation to such of the items as were not barred at the time of acknowledgments. 8 P. 706=1929 P. 258. (2) If a payment is made by way of an acknowledgment on foot of general debt, a new cause of action springs from it and limitation begins to run afresh. 38 I.C. 85=2 P.L.J. 24. The liability to pay being admitted, the creditor can pursue his clam, in any way recognised by law. 1928 M. 713 (F. B.). The validity of an acknowledgment set up by a plaintiff as saving limitation in his favour must be decided with reference to the law in force when the suit is brought and not with reference to that in force when the acknowledgment was made. 34 Bom.L.R. 953=1932 B. 531. Under sec. 19 the perod has to be commuted from the date of signing the letter of acknowledgment. 106 I.C. 619=1927 M. 1200. The effect of a promissory note for the amount secured by an equitable mortgage is merely to extend the period of limitation in respect of the personal liability of the mortgagors. 105 I.C. 765=1928 S. 17=22 S. L.R. 222. Separate remedies in respect of same transaction—Acknowledgment in respect of one—If saves limitation as regards the other—Acknowledgment—If saves limitation for suit to enforce vendor's lien for unpaid purchase money. See 1942 Mad. 167=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 460. Although an acknowledgment may imply a promise for extending limitation, it is, without a promise, insufficient to create a contract and cannot be enforced as such. Being neither a contract, grant nor disposition of property nor analogous to any of them, it is not a document contemplated by sec. 92 of the Evidence Act. So the prohibition regarding the admissibility of oral evidence is not applicable to an acknowledgment. 26 N.L.R. 320=1930 N. 298. Where an acknowledgment is proved to have been made by inadvertence or mistake, it cannot be treated as implying a promise to pay even though it may be ostensibly unconditional. 1933 A.L.J. 170=1933 A. 175=144 I.C. 1005.

FORM OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—So long as the intention of the debtor is unequivocally conveyed in the acknowledgment, it is not necessary for him to use any particular formula of words. I.L.R. 1937 N. 360=1937 N. 165. It is immaterial in what connection and for what purpose and in what form the acknowledgment is made. 183 I.C. 225=41 Bom.L.R. 391=1939 Bom. 237. Before sec. 19 can apply, there must be words which clearly indicate an acknowledgment of liability of the particular debt. It is not for the Court to overstrain the meaning of the words used; there is no warrant for holding that unless the words used amount to a total repudiation of liability they should be read as an acknowledgment. 54 L.W. 718=1941 Mad. 892=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 460. Receipt in Collector's books may amount to acknowledgment. 37 B. 326=40 I.A. 68=25 M.L.J. 101 (P.C.) (Affirming 2 I.C. 469=11 Bom.L.R. 318). An admission in a plan filed with a plaint, but unsigned, does not amount to an acknowledgment. 86 I.C. 859=1925 L. 529. The mere fact that in some other case the defendant merely admitted the execution of the document is not an acknowledgment of liability. 45 A. 679=1924 A. 70. Code and signed by the judgment-debtor, certain payments made towards the decree are referred to, and both parties pray "that the payment of . . . . be recorded in part satisfaction", such an application saves limitation for execution under sec. 19. The words "in part satisfaction" amount to an acknowledgment of liability by the judgment-debtor under sec. 19 and save limitation. 220 I.C. 378=11 Cut.L.T. 11=1945 Pat. 280. The acknowledgment contained in the dakhalnama executed by defendant's predecessor is a mere description of the property purchased and not an acknowledgment of liability within sec. 19. 38 A. 540=36 I. IMPLIED ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—An acknowledgment within the meaning of sec. 19 may be either express or implied, and each case must be decided on its merits. Where an executant of a promissory note pays a certain sum of money to the promisee and endorses that paymennt on the back of the note on a subsequent date, the endorsement is an acknowledgment within the meaning of the section. 1937 Rang.L.R. 421=1938 Rang. 84. Where a debtor pays a certain sum of money to his creditor, there may be an implied acknowledgment of the liability to the extent of the amount paid. It cannot however be said that the remaining liability shown by evidence aliunde should be deemed to have also been acknowledged. 55 A. 632=1933 A.L.J. 930 =1933 A. 453 (2). No admission amounting to an acknowledgment under this section can be inferred from the rubkari of proceedings under Regulation XVII of 1806. 63 I.C. 490. Implied acknowledgment—Account debiting a particular sum, effect of. 1921 A. 335 (2)=59 I.C. 941=413 A. 216. Payment should be made as interest. Mere appropriation by creditor for interest will not constitute acknowledgment. 55 A. 632=1933 A.L. J. 930=1933 A. 453 (2). Implied acknowledgment—What is. 39 A. 357=15 A.L.J. 305. See also 131 P.R. 1919=53 I.C. 425; 58 I.C. 787=1 L. 357. An acknowledgment that interest is due implies that some principal also is outstanding. 1937 M.W.N. 1312. Letter calling for a copy of the accounts showing what amount was due would clearly be an acknowledgment. 101 I.C. 544=1927 L. 832. A letter from the railway company informing the consignee that the balance of the sale proceeds of the property was payable to him on condition that he should accept it in full satisfaction of his claim, cannot be taken as an acknowledgment of any liability for the price of the goods or compensation for any wrongful detention or compensation for non-delivery and would not give a fresh starting point of limitation for a suit for compensation for non-delivery. 1933 A. 348=144 I.C. 1029. Mere statement by a person that a decree was passed against him does not amount to acknowledgment of existing liability. 21 L.W. 593=1925 M. 675. See also 1923 M. 634=17 L.W. 674. Where the document merely stated that a certain amount had been paid in cash in lieu of a decree debt and it further provided that nothing remained by the writer in respect of the decree, held, that it could not be said to be a sufficient acknowledgment regarding the executant's liability to deliver possession of certain plots of land under the decree. 134 I.C. 1022=8 O.W.N. 1117=1932 O. 154. When a document is presented for registration, the executants not only admit the fact of its execution but admit the contents of the document, namely their liability on it. Hence if a person admitted before the Sub-Registrar execution of a mortgage bond which recited that old accounts had been looked into and the sum arrived at had remained due, his acknowledgment of liability was implied. 1933 M. 713=65 M.L.J. 380. The inclusion of a decree debt in the insolvency petition which has to be signed by the insolvent amounts to an acknowledgment within the meaning of sec. 19. So also the mention of the decree debt in a statement made by the insolvent in an examination for ascertaining his assets and liabilities without any further mention of any payment towards its discharge amounts to an implied admission. that the liability under the decree was then subsisting. 38 L.W. 204=1933 M. 565 (1).

An admission of a past liability unaccompanied by an allegation of discharge should not in all cases be interpreted as an admission of a subsisting liability. 42 M.L.J. 268=45 M. 443=1922 M. 104. A sum sent by a debtor by insured post with directions to credit it in his accounts amounts to acknowledgment. 36 I.C. 593=4 L.W. 148. Where an endorsement of payment is made on a promissory note without any money being paid, the endorsement will be sufficient as an acknowledgment to save limitation. 28 I.C. 15=17 M. L.J. 139; 1937 Rang. 503 (Endorsement on policy of life assurance referring to assignment of policy in consideration of loan advanced on pro-note is an acknowledgment of liability under the pro-note). An endorsement of payment on the back of the bond in the handwriting of the debtor is good to save limitation. 48 I.C. 724. A bare signature by a debtor on the back of a promssory note executed by him is not an acknowledgment of liability for such a signature, unless an intention is proved, cannot be construed to admit a liability to pay. 152 I.C. 501=1934 R. 287. Where, in respect of liability under an earlier promissory note, a fresh note was executed and there was an endorsement on the earlier note to the effect that "in lieu of the earlier promissory note a second note was executed and the former thereby became void" and the latter note being insufficiently stamped was incapable of being sued on and the plaintiff thereupon sued on the earlier note, held, that the endorsement on the earlier note was a valid acknowledgment so as to save limitation. 1931 A.L.J. 522=1931 A. 560. See also 9 O.W.N. 1024=1933 O. 80. The acknowledgment must relate to the liability in dispute and not to any liability. 55 I.C. 822=13 S L.R. 183. An acknowledgment of liability in respect of the amount due as principal does not involve an admission to pay interest. (Ibid.) Though a writing owing to some defect does not fulfil the requirements of sec. 20, it may nevertheless, as an acknowledgment of liability, operate to save the claim under sec. 19. 1935 M. 245 =68 M.L.J. 63; 43 L.W. 665=1936 M. 616. In a case where two remedies flow either by operation of law or by agreement between the parties out of one and the same transaction, and the remedies are distinct anything done to save one of the remedies from the bar of limitation cannot operate by itself to save the other also. Where a vendee of immovable property executes a promissory note to the vendor for the balance of the sale price due to the vendor, acknowledgments of liability evidenced by endorsements made on the promissory note cannot be treated as acknowledgments of liability in respect of the vendor's lien for the portion of the purchase-money which is due, so as to save limitation for a suit to enforce a claim on the lien as against the immovable properties. 1942 M. 167=54 L W. 591=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 939.

ENDORSEMENT OF PAYMENT—IF ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—A mere endorsement of payment without further specification does not operate as an acknowledgment within the meaning of sec. 19. 24 Pat. 96=1945 Pat. 271=1945. P.W.N. 264; see also (1942) 2 M.L.J. 610= 1943 M. 133; 224 I.C. 65=1941 P. 404; 1942 O. 508=18 Luck. 241; 56 L.W. 633=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 456=1944 M. 57; I.L.R. (1942) Mad. 405=1942 Mad. 146=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 848. A mere endorsement of payment on a promissory note cannot be held to be an acknowledgment of liability within the meaning of sec. 19. If the endorsement acknowledges a liablity to pay the debt, then it would fall under sec. 19; but a mere endorsement stating that a particular sum of money has been paid merely acknowledges the fact of payment and not a liability for any debt. 1942 Pat. 395. An endorsement by a debtor which is merely an endorsement that "Rs. 75 was paid on 13th October, 1935, in the hand of M", is not effective to save limitation under sec. 19. There is in terms no acknowledgment of any liability, nor any promise to pay the unpaid balance. 215 I.C. 12=45 Bom.L.R. 1014= 1944 Bom. 37. An acknowledgment of liability may be express but it may equally well be made impliedly so long as the implication is clear that the debtor did intend to acknowledge his liability. But a mere endorsement of payment without any further words showing that there was any acknowledgment of liability in regard to the balance due, would not operate as an acknowledgment. 1944 L. 88=45 P.L.R. 407. See also 1942 Oudh 508 =18 Luck. 241. Bare statements of payments endorsed on a promissory note cannot serve as acknowledgments of the debt under the promissory note. If limitation is to be saved under sec. 19, Limitation Act, one must be able to read into an endorsement not merely that a payment has been made but that a further sum is admitted to be due. 1942 M. W.N. 685=55 L.W. 808=1943 Mad. 133= (1942) 2 M.L.J. 610. See also 1944 Lah. 88.

RECEIPT.—Where a receipt acknowledges not only the consideration of the promissory note of even date but further acknowledges that an earlier promissory note (in respect of the liability under which the new pronote is executed) was executed for a particular sum which was advanced at that time and for which a receipt was given, it must be taken to have the effect of acknowledging the liability under the earlier loan. 1943 O.W.N. 483=1943 A.W.R. (C.C.) 187.

Where there is no other loan except that evidenced by a series of renewed promissory notes, the renewed promissory notes will operate as acknowledgments of liability in respect of the loan so as to save limitation for a suit thereon under sec 19 (1). 49 C.W.N. 37=1945 Cal. 268.

ORAL ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—An oral acknowledgment of a debt would not extend the period of limitation under sec. 19. 93 P.R. 1911=11 I.C. 445; 75 I.C. 440=1923 N. 332.

EVIDENCE.—Direct evidence of a specific authority to make acknowledgments can be inferred from circumstances. 41 M. 427= 34 M.L.J. 373 (F B.). See also 65 I.C. 279 =17 N.L.R. 209=1921 N. 1; 1936 O. 280= 1936 O.W.N. 489; 45 C.W.N. 209; 1937 All.

Explanation I.—For the purposes of this section an acknowledgment may be sufficient though it omits to specify the exact nature of the property or right, or avers that the time for payment, delivery, performance or enjoyment has not yet come, or is accompanied by a refusal to pay, deliver, perform or permit to enjoy, or is coupled with a claim to a set-off, or is addressed to a person other than the person entitled to the property or right.

But see 17 L. 737=1936 L. 629; 45 C.W.N. 208; 53 L.W. 102=1941 Mad. 409 =(1941) 1 M.L.J. 173. A recital in a second mortgage as to the existence of a prior mortgage in favour of another can be relied on by that other person as an acknowledgment of liability. 140 I.C. 177=1933 L. 33. In a suit for money, an admission that accounts must be taken and settled does not amount to an acknowledgment. 36 M. 68=21 M.L. J. 1024. But see 1924 M. 619 (1)=80 I.C. 355 (1)=46 M.L.J. 468. Person acknowledging need not be liable personally at the time of making acknowledgment so as to be bound by the acknowledgment. 1925 M. 134. If a promissory note is insufficiently stamped, it is inadmissible in evidence not only as a promissory note but also as an acknowledgment. 16 N.L.J. 241=1933 N. 391. But see contra 1934 A. 951=4 A.W.R. 657. Where the promissory notes are inadmissible in evidence on the ground of insufficiency of the stamps, receipts which do not purport to acknowledge liability for an earlier debt but merely state that money had been taken under promissory notes of even date by the executant, cannot amount to an acknowledgment of any earlier debts of which the plaintiff can take advantage. 57 All. 434=152 I.C. 370=1934 A.L. J. 1185=1935 A. 129.

EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS.—An uncertified payment is no step-in-aid to save limitation. But in the execution application itself, the decree-holder may apply to certify the payment and then it would save limitation. 20 C.W.N. 272=43 C. 207. See also 35 C.W. MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE.—An acknowledgment by a mortgagor in favour of the first mortgagee is effective against a second mortgagee whose title originated before the acknowledgment was given. 51 I.C. 829= 17 A.L.J. 763. See also 8 O.W.N. 1160=7 Luck. 270=1932 O. 1; 1941 P.W.N. 667= 1942 P. 166. When a mortgagor has sold a portion of the mortgaged property but remains personally or in respect of the unsold portion liable on the mortgage, an acknowledgment of the mortgage by him subsequent to the alienation is effective both against the mortgagor and his alienee. 55 M. 758=1932 M. 516=63 M.L.J. 111. An acknowledgment made by a mortgagor after the sale of the equity of redemption by him is sufficient for extension of time under sec. 19. 18 L. 171=39 P.L.R. 21=1937 L. 507. See also 26 Pat.L.T. 328=21 P. 339=1942 P. 363. An admission by a mortgagor of his liability carries with it an admission of all the remedies to which the mortgagee might be entitled under it. 6 O.L.J. 248=51 I.C. 985. Acknowledgment containing admission of right to redeem is enough. 1929 A. 209. The mere recital in the judgment of a settlement Court that the person admitted in his examination that he did not get the mutation of names effected, because he held possession as mortgagee in the absence of the deposition, did not amount to an acknowledgment. 1929 A. 332=119 I.C. 565. A mortgage was executed by plaintiff's ancestors to defendant's ancestors in 1834. In 1864, the mortgagee admitted that he held the lands on mortgage in a kabuliyat to the inamdar. In a suit of 1877 by the daughter of the mortgagee, the mortgage was again admitted. The present suit for redemption was brought in 1924. Held, that the acknowledgments operated to save limitation and that the suit was not barred. 34 Bom.L.R. 953=1932 B. 531. If any acknowledgment of liability within the meaning of sec. 19 is made within six years of the payment of interest and also within six years of the date of the institution of the suit on the basis of a personal covenant contained in a mortgage, the claim for a personal decree must succeed. 12 Luck. 185=1936 O.W.N. 489=1936 O. 280.

SEC. 19, EXPL. 1.—Expl. 1 to sec. 19 is very wide in its scope. Under it, admissions, however indirect, and even if accompanied by a refusal to pay, constitute sufficient acknowledgments. In answer to a letter by the creditor to the debtor stating the amount due to him, the debtor's secretary sent a letter by post reciting that he had been directed to intimate to the creditor by the debtor that all the arrears of accounts would be paid in a particular month. Held, a sufficient acknowledgment. 11 O.W.N. 880=1935 O. 170. A reply by a mortgagor to a notice of demand by the mortgagee, stating that under a usufructuary mortgage executed by him to a third person, he had directed the latter to pay off the debt, that the mortgagee was mistaken in demanding payment from the mortgagor, constitutes a sufficient acknowledgment to save limitation under sec. 19. 44 L. W. 362=1936 M. 943=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 24. According to Expl. 1 to sec. 19, it is not necessary that the writing itself should specify the exact nature of the property or right in respect of which liability is ackowledged and there is no bar to extrinsic evidence being admitted for the purpose. 16 L. 258=1934 L. 835. An application made by the judgment-debtor alleging that the matter had been settled, that in consequence of a part payment the decree-holder had agreed in his letter not to take out execution before the end of the next year and praying that the original letter of the decree-holder may be placed on the record is in substance an admission by him that he still owes something to the decree-holder for which he has obtained a respite; it amounts to an acknowledgment of liability giving a fresh starting point of limitation. 55 A. 393=1933 A. 364.

Explanation II.—For the purposes of this section, "signed" means signed either personally or by an agent duly authorized in this behalf.

Explanation III.—For the purposes of this section, an application for the execution of a decree or order is an application in respect of a right.

SECS. 19 AND 20.—Secs. 19 and 20 are independent of each other. There may be an acknowledgment of liability, which comes within sec. 19, unaccompanied by any part-payment; or there might be an acknowledgment of liability coupled with a part payment which fulfils the requirements of sec. 20, in which case, the debt is saved from limitation both under sec. 19 and sec. 20; but if there is a part payment which does not comply with the terms of sec. 20, that cannot prevent the endorsement from operating as an acknowledgment within sec. 19. 41 Bom.L.R. 455=1939 B. 252. Secs. 19 and 20 of the Limitation Act are quite independent of each other. A document may be an acknowledgment within sec. 19 although that does not evidence part-payment within sec. 20. Whether in any particular case the document relied on amounts to an acknowledgment must depend on the language of the document. I.L.R. (1942) Bom. 512=44 Bom.L.R. 426=1942 Bom. 218. In sec. 19 the acknowledgment is to be made by the party against whom the right is claimed. In sec. 20 however no such restriction is found. The reason for this distinction apparently is, that acknowledgment is a mere admission of right, whereas payment is more than a mere admission of right. The effect of an acknowledgmnet in sec. 19 is more restricted and in general, it only affects the person giving it. But payment under sec. 20 affects not only the person making the payment, but also other persons who are liable. 1938 Cal. 129=66 C.L.J. 104=42 C.W.N. 18. See also I.L.R. (1942) M. 308=54 L.W. 579=1942 M. 200=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 913. There is a fundamental difference between secs. 19 and 20. Under sec. 20 all that is necessary is that an acknowledgment of the payment should appear in the handwriting of, or be signed by, the person making the pavment. But that is not enough under sec. 19. 1940 N.L.J. 445=1940 Nag. 354. Where there is a bond or note under which a considerable sum is due and the debtor makes towards that bond a payment which is clearly less than the balance due, accompanying the payment with an endorsement to the effect that it is towards the debt in the bond or towards the note, it is legitimate to read the words of that endorsement together with the substance of the document upon which the indorsement is made and infer from the circumstances the fact that the writing of this endorsement is an acknowledgment of the subsistance of the debt after the payment endorsed, although such a payment, being an open payment or unappropriated payment cannot avail the creditor under sec. 20 of the Limitation Act as a payment towards interest as such or towards principal saving limitation. I.L.R. (1942) M. 405=1942 M. 146=54 L. W. 624=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 848. Party confining his case in the trial Court to sec. 20—Appeal—New case under sec. 19 if can be raised. See 13 Luck. 334=1937 Oudh 391. There is a fundamental difference in the theory of acknowledgment according to the law in India as compared with the Law in England. In England the acknowledgments or part-payments to be effective must amount to a fresh promise to pay. Under Indian law no promise to pay either express or implied is required. The English authorities cannot therefore afford any guidance. The difference in language used in secs. 19 and 20 is not merely accidental. 7 Luck. 270=8 O.W.N. 1160=1932 O. 1. Money spent on the obsequies of the father of the minor cannot be deemed to be necessaries supplied to the minor within the meaning of sec. 68 of the Contract Act and as such an acknowledgment by the mother as the guardian of a debt borrowed for the above purpose is not binding on the minor. 10 O.W.N. 188=1933 O. 132. Sec. 20 does not require, unlike sec. 19, that interest or part of the principal should be paid by the party against whom the debt or legacy is claimed or by the person through whom he derives title or liability, but enacts simply that a fresh period of limitation shall be computed where interest or part of the principal has been paid by the person liable to pay or by the debtor. The suit is saved in its integrity against all the persons who might have been sued within the precribed period. A payment and endorsement by a mortgagor who has parted with the mortgaged property but is personally liable to pay on his covenant would therefore save limitation against the prior purchaser of the equity of redemption. I.L.R. (1942) M. 308=1942 M. 200=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 913. See also 42 C. W.N. 18=1938 Cal. 129.

SECS. 19 AND 21.—The wife could not be deemed to be "an agent duly authorised in this behalf" and an acknowledgment made by her could not save limitation. 56 M. 964=1933 M. 686=65 M.L.J. 355.

[1][20. (1) Where payment on account of a debt or of interest on a legacy is made before the expiration of the prescribed period by the person liable to pay the debt or legacy, or by his duly authorized agent, a fresh period of limitation shall be computed from the time when the payment was made.]

LEG. REF.

1 Substituted by Act XVI of 1942.

SEC. 20: SCOPE OF SECTION—(AS AMENDED IN 1942)—SCOPE—IF RETROSPECTIVE. —Where a debt has become barred by limitation long before Act (XVI of 1942), amending sec. 20, Limitation Act, came into operation, the amendment cannot be relied upon to operate retrospectively so as to revive the barred debt. 1945 M.W.N. 713=58 L.W. 618=(1945) 2 M.L.J. 405=1946 M. 72. Where a suit is filed before the amendment of sec. 20, Limitation Act by the Amending Act XVI of 1942, the amendment will not apply to it. 1943 O.W.N. (H. C.) 244=1943 A.L.W. 401. See also 1945 P.W.N. 178=1946 P. 59. The provisions of the Limitation Act applicable to suits are those which exist on the date of suit; sec. 20, as amended in 1942, must govern a suit instituted after the Amendment Act, though it may be on a handnote executed before, in 1934. 24 Pat. 391=1946 P. 60. Where under sec. 20, before its amendment in 1942, a payment was ineffectual to extend the time and the debt in question became unenforceable long before the Amending Act of 1942 came into force, the amendment cannot operate retrospectively so as to revive the barred debt. 57 L.W. 280 =A.I.R. 1944 Mad. 398 (2)=(1944) 1 M. L.J. 347. It is well-settled that the law of limitation which governs an an action is the law which prevails on the date when the suit is instituted, though the cause of action might accrue before the change in the law. Sec. 20, of the Limitation Act (as amended by the Amending Act XVI of 1942) therefore applies to a suit instituted in 1943 on a handnote executed long before that date, namely, in 1934. 24 Pat. 249=A.I.R. 1945 Pat. 368. In the absence of anything to the contrary, if a claim is within limitation according to the old Limitation Act on the date when the new Act or Amendment comes into force (in this case Amending Act XVI of 1942) and a proceeding is commenced after the coming into force of the new Act or Amendment it is the new Act or Amendment which would govern all decisions on the point of limitation. If, however, the right to sue or the right to apply had already been barred by the provisions of the Limitation Act then in force then unless there was something in the later Act or Amendment which could be deemed to apply retrospectively to revive claims which had already become barred, the new Act or Amendment could not be availed of for the purpose of saving limitation. I.L.R. (1945) A. 896=1946 A. 58= 1945 A.W.R. (H.C.) 246. Where after a suit on a promissory note had been decided and a revision under sec. 25, Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, is pendng, the new amended sec. 20 of the Limitation Act comes into force, the plaintiff applicant cannot take advantage of it in respect of his case. 1942 O. W.N. 582=1942 O.A. 498=A.L.R. 1942 Oudh 508=18 Luck. 241. The amendment to sec. 20 by Act I of 1927 has made it less stringent; either there should be an endorsement in the handwriting of the person making the payment, though unsigned, or the writing should be signed by him though not in his handwriting. 1935 M. 245=68 M.L.J. 63. See also 1942 Pat. 47. Under the present law all that is necessary is that the endorsement should have been signed by the person making the payment. It is quite unnecessary that the whole endorsement should have been written by the person making the payment. 181 I.C. 393=1939 Rang. 112. A payment under sec. 20 in order to save limitation must be a conscious act. 37 I.C. 756=32 M.L.J. 317. See also 152 I.C. 501=1934 R. 287. Under the English Law there is a distinction between secured and unsecured debts as regards the saving of limitation by payments. But sec. 20 contemplates debts of all kinds. Part-payment of principal or interest saves from limitation a debt whether secured or unsecured, under the Indian Law. 66 C.L.J. 104 =42 C.W.N. 18=1938 Cal. 129. Sec. 20 has no concern with a suit on an instalment bond which is governed by Art. 75 according to which the terminus quo is not the date of the payment but the date of non-payment in accordance with the stipulation of the contract. 58 C. 615=130 I.C. 571=1931 C. 157. It cannot be said that sec. 20, is inapplicable to cases falling under Art. 75. Where the 1st instalment due under an instalment bond with a default clause was about to be barred by limitation a payment was made towards it and endorsements were made which implied that the creditor was not then to sue for the whole amount, including the instalments not yet due, but was to hold his hand and allow the remaining instalments to become payable on their due dates; in a suit to recover only the balance of the 1st instalment as also the other instalments fallen due but not the entire amount it was held, that there was an express waiver—a waiver so clearly implied that there could be no doubt about it—and that after such a waiver the creditor was entitled to wait until there had been a further default or defaults in respect of which he was not prepared to sit idle and in respect of which he might either sue for the whole amount or for the recovery only of the amounts already accrued due and in such a case there could be no difficulty about the application of sec. 20, Limitation Act, to the amount which was outstanding out of the first insalment, for under the general law there was nothing whiich prevented the application of sec. 20 to a payment made on account of an instalment which had fallen due under an instalment bond. Under sec. 20 it does not matter in the least when the endorsement on the document was made, so long as the payment itself was made within the period of limitation, and the date to be looked at is not the date on which the endorsement is written, but the date on which the payment is made. 181 I.C. 765=11 R.R. 485=1939 Rang. 118. See also 8 Cut.L.T. 1.

Where the paternal grandmother of a Hindu minor executes a promissory note as his de facto guardian for a sum due by the minor's deceased father on a previous obligation, any payment made by her within time would be one "by the person liable to pay the debt". The question whether the de facto guardian was a duly authorised agent of the minor does not arise in such a case. The payment saves limitation for a suit against the minor on the promissory note. 56 L.W. 691=1943 M. W.N. 807=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 556=1944 M. 152. A part-payment can avail not merely against the person making the payment or those deriving title under him subsequent to such payment, but even against other persons liable in respect of the same debt. 58 M. 418 =1935 M. 101=68 M.L.J. 470, contra. The expression "the person liable to pay the debt" is not the same thing as "a person liable to pay the debt" where there is joint liability. Where there are joint contractors, sec. 21 (2) makes it clear that the payment of interest by one of them does not extend the period of limitation against the other 15 P.L.T. 113=1934 P. 224. "The person making the payment" in sec. 20 means the person who in substance, though perhaps not in form, makes the payment. 53 C. 163=1926 C. 510. A payment by cheque made by the debtor in favour of the creditor is a payment which satisfies the conditions of sec. 20. 58 L.W. 406=1945 M.W.N. 488=1945 Mad. 515= (1945) 2 M.L.J. 202.

PAYMENT OF "INTEREST"—MEANING OF —CASES BEFORE AMENDMENT ACT OF 1942.— "Interest" in sec. 20 means interest or any part of the interest due. 35 A. 378=11 A.L.J. 477. Under sec. 20, the debtor must also make it clear that the payment is towards interest as such or in part payment of he principal. This rule only applies where the manner of appropriation depe ds upon the ins'ructions of the debtor and failing them, on the choice of the creditor. But where there is no option to any party at all, e.g., under sec. 13 (f) of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, under that provision of law the payment by a debtor must first be appropriated to interest, and the residue, if any, has to be credited towards the principal in spite of any agreement to the contrary. A payment by an agriculturist-debtor must therefore be taken to be a payment towards interest as such and would save limitation under sec. 20 of the Limitation Act, though he does not indicate so in the endorsement of payment. 45 Bom.L.R. 178=1943 Bom. 115. Payment of interest "as such" by the debtor clearly implies an appropriation of the payment to interest by the debtor himself and excludes the creditor's right of appropriation. The mere fact that a payment is made towards principal and interest where both are due and the sum paid does not exceed the one or the other, cannot involve the implication that any part of the payment was intended by the debtor to go towards interest. Such a payment is a payment generally on account or an open payment and cannot be regarded as a payment towards interest as such within the meaning of sec. 20 of the Limitation Act. 57 L.W. 280=1944 Mad. 398 (2)=(1944) 1 M. L.J. 347. The addition of the interest due to the principal amount by consent of the debtor. is payment for interest. 11 I.C. 552=13 Bom.L.R. 482. See also 30 I.C. 777 (1)=1915 M.W.N. 755; 29 I.C. 422=4 L.W. 553. A payment for interest by a judgment-debtor for loan bearing no interest will not extend limitation. 35 I.C. 177 =22 C.W.N. 325. R. 638=1940 Lah. 442. Where interest is not paid as such, that is, the debtor does not clearly mention that the payment by him was to be appropriated towards interest ,it cannot be considered to have been paid by him towards principal. 1935 A.L. J. 23=1935 A. 47. It cannot be inferred that he paid interest as such from the fact that at the time of the payment interest in excess of the amount paid is due. 1935 A. L.J. 23=1935 A. 47. The effect of the proviso inserted to sub-sec. (1) of sec. 20 by the Amending Act of 1927 was to remove the distinction between the two kinds of payments as to all payments made after the 1st day of January, 1928. Though as to payments made before that date the words "as such" in the 1st part of the sub-section have some significance, because they make it clear that in the case of a payment towards interest which is not required to be evidenced by writing it should be clear that the payment was in fact towards interest and not left as a matter of doubt, those words are not material and have no significance as to payments made after that date. 16 Pat. 294=18 Pat.L.T. 563=1938 Pat. 183. After the 1st of January, 1928, it is a matter of indifference whether the payment is of interest or principal or both. So where a debtor makes a payment and acknowledges it in his own handwriting that it is in respect of the debt, but does not specify whether it is towards principal or interest, the acknowledgment gives a fresh period of limitation under sec. 20 of the Limitation Act. If the acknowledgment is merely of a payment without identifying the debt, it would not be sufficient. Under the amended section it is unnecessary to prove that the payment was towards interest. I.L.R. (1939) Nag. 235=1939 N.L.J. 205=182 I.C. 572=1939 Nag. 156. See also 16 Pat. 294=1938 Pat. 183. A payment intended to be made towards principal is effective to start a fresh period of limitation and it does not matter that the creditor afterwards changed his mind and chose to regard the payment as one towards interest. 1935 A.L.J. 304= 1935 A. 58. Where the payment is evidenced by a writing which is signed by the person making the payment, it makes no difference whether the payment is held to be for interest or for principal or for both. 58 M. 418=1935 M. 101=68 M.L.J. 470. The carrying forward of a balance including certain items of interest does not amount to payment of interest within the meaning of sec. 20. The effect of a payment of interest must be to lessen the defendant's liability on that account. 152 I.C. 319=1934 N. 219. Payment of interest saves limitation even though a part of the principal is paid at the same time. 1923 M.W.N. 564 (1)=1924 M. 123. A purchaser of mortgaged property at a Court auction, is a person "liable to pay the mortgage debt" within sec. 20 and therefore if he pays into Court a sum equal to the amount due for costs and an excess equal to the amount of interest, the excess must be regarded as payment on account of interest as such. 44 M. 544=40 M.L.J. 218. An intention to pay interest as such ought not to be inferred merely from the creditor's appropriating payments in accordance with his legal power. But if the method of appropriation is determined at the outset by express contract between the parties, specific appropriation is not necessary. 19 I.C. 849=9 N.L.R. 78. The mere appropriation by the creditor of the payments to interest is not such an indication. 19 I.C. 825; 1927 M. 110=98 I.C. 281. See also 1929 M. 811. But when the debtor consents to such appropriation, it is to be assumed to be a payment on account of interest as such within the meaning of sec. 20. 16 P. 27=18 P.L.T. 309. A mere payment generally towards "the decree amount, costs, etc.," without any appropriation by the debtor does not save limitation under sec. 20. See also 1929 O. 479; 1930 O. 287; 1946 P. 404 (Effect of mere open payment). But under certain circumstances, it may be presumed to have been made for interest, and limitation extended under this section. (22 L.W. 827; 44 M. 544; 1926 L. 329, F.); 1934 M. 45=68 M.L.J. 40; 1937 A.M.L.J. 118. Where it had been agreed between the parties that interest would be paid first and that anything paid by the debtor would go first towards interest, and the payments made were appropriated towards interest from time to time, it must be held that any payment made was towards interest as such and was sufficient to save limitation. 1937 P. 583. Where mortgagor was director and auditor of a Bank, and Bank credited sums which became due to him from time to time by the Bank towards interest due on the mortgage, and when it was being done with his knowledge and acquiescence, held, it could save limitation. 1936 M. 946. Where, in a suit to recover arrears of maintenance, the plaintiff relied on certain payments to save limitation. Held, that as it was not proved that those payments had been made as interest, they did not operate to save the suit from the bar of limitation. 146 I.C. 1033 =1934 P. 244. The holder of a decree payable by instalments can, after applying for execution, extend the period of limitation by entering the payment of interest towards the overdue instalments. 60 I.C. 935 =14 S.L.R. 198. If either the creditor or the debtor by himself goes on adding interest to principal in his own books, even though the same may be in pursuance of the original agreement, there would not be each time it is done a fresh payment by the judgment-debtor to the creditor so as to extend the period of limitation under sec. 20 of the Limitation Act. In order to amount to payment of interest under that section addition of interest to principal must be the result of an agreement between the parties on the date of such payment. 52 All. 480= 123 I.C. 820=1930 A. 467. "Interest as such"—"Person liable to pay the debt"—Mortgage decree—Subsequent payment by mortgagor towards principal, interest and costs of decree and endorsement in copy of decree—Mortgagor parting with entire mortgaged properties before payment—Personal liability not enforceable at time of payment—Payment—If saves limitation for execution. 21 Pat. 330=1942 Pat. 363.

APPROPRIATION.—See 16 Luck. 113=1941 Oudh 56. A plaintiff wishing to avail of sec. 20 has in the case of an 'open' payment, to prove that he appropriated the sum towards the principal debt before the expiry of the period of limitation for a suit on the document in question. Though the writing evidencing the payment may come into existence at any time, the creditor's act of appropriation of the payment to the principal debt, is a very different matter. The language of sec. 20 cannot be regarded as satisfied unless within the prescribed period the creditor has in the exercise of his right done something which treats the payment as made on account of principal. To evidence a definite appropriation to the principal debt made by the creditor within the prescribed period, the manner in which the payment has been dealt with by the creditor in his own books of account will ordinarily be sufficient. But if it be true that until after the expiry of the prescribed period the creditor has treated the sum as paid on account of interest or has not done anything to treat it as paid on account of principal, then under the amended sec. 20, Limitation Act, part payment of principal has not been established. 67 I.A. 160=I.L.R. (1940) L. 470= 44 C.W.N. 625=42 Bom.L.R. 640=1940 A. L.J. 639=1940 P.C. 63=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 895 (P.C.). See also 224 I.C. 65=1946 P. 404. A payment made by a debtor without any appropriation as between principal and interest would not amount to a payment of interest as such within the meaning of sec. 20. 45 P.L.R. 407. Although it is open to a creditor to treat a payment by his debtor as a payment towards interest or as payment towards principal, provided he makes the appropriation within the period of limitation, he obviously cannot be allowed to appropriate it towards principal during the course of the suit when he has in fact appropriated and notified the defendant that he has appropriated it to interest. There is a definite distinction for the purpose of saving limitation between an appropriation by a creditor to principal and an appropriation by a creditor to interest. An appropriation by a creditor to principal will save limitation if the appropriation is made within the prescribed period, even though the appropriation is not notified until after the prescribed period. But an appropriation to interest will not save limitation if made by the creditor alone, because the words "payment of interest as such" in sec. 20, Limitation Act, are a clear indication that the intention of the debtor making the payment is what counts; and if the debtor has not indicated any intention that his payment should go towards interest, it is not open to the creditor to make up his mind for him. 45 Bom.L.R. 1014=A.I.R. 1944 Bom. 37 See also 1942 Pat. 395; 1945 Pat. 271; 1945 P.W.N. 178; 1943 All. 289=I.L.R. (1943) All. 598. Under sec. 20 the following propositions dealing with various aspects of part payments by the debtor can be laid down:—(1) If it is claimed that the debtor has made a payment towards interest, this can only save limitation if it is shown that interest was paid by the debtor, as such, that is to say, the intention of the debtor must be shown to have been that the payment should go towards interest. (a) It is, however, not necessary that this intention should have been made clear at the time of the payment; (b) It may be proved not only by statements made by the debtor at the time of payment but in any other manner as may clearly appear from the circumstances. (2) If the debtor at the time of payment specifies that the payment was towards principal, this would obviously save limitation. (3) If, however, the debtor makes an "open payment", that is a payment without appropriation by him (debtor) either towards interest or in part payment of the principal, the creditor may appropriate it towards principal or interest. (a) If the creditor appropriates it towards interest, limitation will not be saved because the payment is not made as such; (b) If, however, the creditor appropriates the payment towards part payment of the principal, limitation will be saved provided the appropriation is made before expiry of limitation. Such appropriation need not be made at once but it must be made before the limitation has expired; (c) If the appropriation is once made by the creditor towards interest, he cannot transfer it subsequently towards principal. (4) If the payment made is a sum larger than the amount due at the time of payment as interest, a part of it will necessarily be presumed to have been made towards the principal and, therefore, this payment will save limitation. (5) If the debt due does not bear interest, the payment again must necessarily be in part payment of the principal and, therefore, limitation will be extended under sec. 20. 42 P.L.R. 635=1940 Lah. 513; 1940 A.L.J. 332=1940 All. 338; 15 Luck. 573=1940 O.W.N. 647=1940 Oudh 340; 1938 Lah. 347; 1937 Lah. 820; 1941 A.M.L.J. 106; 1938 Rang.L.R. 591=1938 Rang. 280; 8 Cut.L.T. 1; 1940 Lah. 106=42 P.L.R. 103. Where money is paid by a debtor to his creditor without specifying whether the payment is towards interest or towards principal, leaving it to the option of the creditor to appropriate it as he likes, and the creditor appropriates it wholly towards interest due, there is neither a payment of interest as such nor a part payment of the principal which would save limitation under sec. 20. If the debtor is shown to have consented to such appropriation or to have been aware of it, it may be treated as a payment of interest as such. 178 I.C. 844=40 Bom. L.R. 968=1938 Bom. 467. Under sec. 20, payment must necessarily be made by the debtor or his duly authorised agent. PAYMENT BY WHOM—AUTHORITY TO PAY. —Sec. 20 does not limit the extended period to the person who really makes payment, and the payment of interest by one of the debtors will give an extended period of limitation to the debt in respect of which the payment is made. If the debt is one, and indivisible, payment by one will interrupt limitation against all he debtors unless they can come within the exception laid down in sec. 21. But if the debt is susceptible of division and though seemingly one consists really of several distinct debts, each one of which is payable by one of the obligors separately and not by the rest, sec. 20 will keep alive that debt or rather the portion of the debt which has got to be discharged by the person who has made payment of interest. It cannot affect the separate shares of the other debtors unless on the principle of agency, express or implied, the payment can be said to be a payment on their behalf also. 1937 Cal. 191. The authority referred to in sec. 20 is an authority to make the payments, authority to make endorsement unnecessary. 1927 M. 959=53 M.L.J. 555. (Patanjali Sastri, J., dissenting) —Where a mortgagee undertakes as a part of the consideration for the mortgage to discharge a debt due by the mortgagor, he cannot be deemed to have authority to make a payment of interest or a part payment of principal, for purposes of sec. 20. Whether there is authority to make a part payment is a question of fact. Of course, if the person who is to make the payment is left a discretion in the matter, his principal will have to suffer the consequences of a payment to account, if the conditions of sec. 20 for the saving of limitation are also complied with. Where the mortgagee is directed to pay in full the debt due by the mortgagor, it cannot be said that there is any discretion left to the mortgagee in the matter. His duty is to discharge the debt in full and he has no authority to do anything else. If he makes only a part-payment that will not bind the mortgagor and cannot save limitation for a suit against the mortgagor. I.L.R. (1941) Mad. 191 =1941 Mad. 67 (2)=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 77 (F. B.). PAYMENT BY SURETY—CLAIM BARRED AS AGAINST PRINCIPAL DEBTOR—DECREE AGAINST SURETY.—Though the liabilities of the principal debtor and the surety arise out of the same transaction the liabilities of the two persons are distinct for the purpose of application of sec. 20. A part-payment of the principal of a debt must in order to be operative under sec. 20 not only be in the handwriting of the debtor or his agent but it is also necessary that the writing should show that the part-payment was a payment towards the debt in question. Part-payment of a decree amount must be in the handwriting of the debtor to save limitation for an application for execution. 48 I.C. 728=4 P.L.J. 365. SEC. 20 (1).—The first part of proviso to sec. 20 (1) as amended by Act I of 1927 is inapplicable to a case where the aelleged payment of interest was made before 1st January, 1928. 1929 O. 479=6 O.W.N. 776. The amendment has been made in favour of the creditor who is not able to prove the writing of the debtor not only relating to the fact of the payment but also to the acknowledgment of the fact of payment. 14 L. 580=1933 L. 341. On this proviso, see also 1932 A.L.J. 1035=1933 A. 49. Sec. 20 (1) does not say anything at all about the origin of the money with which the part payment is made. It is quite sufficient if a part-payment is made and it is made by a person who is authorised to make it. Where two debtors are equally liable jointly and severally on a promissory note and when both of them are pressed for payment one of them makes the payment with the consent of the other, the payment saves limitation against both. 40 L.W. 590=1934 M. 623=67 M.L.J. 908. As to effect of the proviso, see 16 P. 294=1938 P. 183. The proviso does not require that the writing itself must indicate that payment was made towards principal or interest. 44 L.W. 339 =1936 M. 848=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 54. Nor does it require payment itself to be made in any form, and a promissory note may be given by way of payment. 1936 M. 848. Where the debtor is illiterate it is necessary for him to sign the writing under which the payment is made. The word "sign" in sec. 20 includes in view of the definition given in sec. 3 (52), General Clauses Act "making a mark". An endorsement by another person at the direction of the debtor making the payment is not sufficient for purposes of sec. 20 in the absence of a mark by the debtor himself under the endorsement. 207 I.C. 61=16 R. Pesh. 2=1943 Pesh. 36. Where the question is as to whether a payment under a bond is towards principal or interest for the purposes of sec. 20, no question of admissibility of oral evidence to prove it can arise because oral evidence is expressly ruled out, the law requiring evidence in writing in the acknowledgment referred to. 1944 A.L.W. 207=1944 O.A. SEC. 20 (1) PROVISO.—The proviso to sec. 20 (1) inserted by the Amending Act of 1927, applies to sub-sec. (1) and does not apply to sub-sec. (2) of sec. 20. It cannot be said that the proviso applies to the whole section. 21 P.L.T. 770=1940 Pat. 512. Where the fact of payment appears in the handwriting of the debtor there is no reason why the said writing should not be taken as an acknowledgment of payment also. There is nothing in the proviso to sec. 20 which precludes the same document from being treated as evidence of the fact of payment as well as an acknowledgment of the payment. I.L.R. CL. (2).—For the applicability of sec. 20 (2) the receipt of rents and profits must be by a person in the capacity of a mortgagee only. Where a person is in possession as a vendee of mortgaged property, the receipt of rents and profits by him cannot be said to be only in the capacity of a mortgagee, even though he claims to be subrogated to the rights of the mortgagee by payment of the mortgage. Where a usufructuary mortgagee remains in possession after a final decree on the mortgage has been passed, receipts by him of the profits must be treated as receipts by way of interest and each receipt starts a fresh period of limitation for an application for execution of the decree. Sec. 20 (2) would clearly apply even when a decree has been passed in favour of the mortgagee. I.L.R. 1941 M. 963=1941 Mad. 737 =(1941) 2 M.L.J. 248. See also 1940 M. 461=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 134. For the applicability of sec. 20 (2) the receipt of rents and profits must be by a person in the capacity of a mortgagee. Where that person is also the owner of the property, the receipt of rents and profits by him cannot be said to be in the capacity of a mortgagee. Where a prior mortgagee in execution of a final decree on his mortgage purchases the mortgaged property and obtains delivery of possession of the same, the receipt of rents and profits by him cannot be regarded to be a receipt by him as mortgagee within the meaning of sec. 20 (2), so as to save limitation for a fresh suit by him on his mortgage on dispossession by the purchaser of the same property in execution of a decree on a subsequent mortgage held by a person who was not impleaded in the suit on the prior mortgage. 45 L.W. 684=1937 Mad. 642=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 170. See also 51 L. Where a mortgagor is left in possession of part of the mortgaged property as tenant of the mortgagee, the receipt of rent and profit by the mortgagee should be considered as payments of interest as such within the meaning of sub-sec. The enjoyment of the usufruct of the property by a person in possession under a void mortgage is not as mortgagee but as a trespasser and such enjoyment of the usufruct by him year after year cannot give a fresh start of limitation for a suit on the mortgage. 19 Pat. 507=21 Pat.L.T. 219=1940 Pat. 494.

SEC. 20, ARTS. 62 AND 97 AND CONTRACT ACT, (1872), SEC. 65.—In a suit under sec. 65, Contract Act, to recover the consideration paid for a void mortgage the payments made towards the mortgage cannot save limitation because they were acknowledgments of liability under the void contract and not acknowledgment of liability under sec. 65 of the Contract Act. The article applicable to such a suit is Art. 62 of the Limitation Act and the period of three years begins to run from he date when the money was received. Art. 97 would not apply. I.L.R. SEC. 21: SCOPE AND EFFECT 49.—Sec. 21 shows that for the purposes of that section the payment made by a guardian must be

19 and 20, shall, in the case of a person under disability, include his lawful guardian, committee or manager, or an agent duly authorized by such guardian, committee or manager to sign the acknowledgment or make the payment.

Acknowledgment or payment by one of several joint contractors, etc.

(2) Nothing in the said sections renders one of several joint contractors, partners, executors or mortgagees chargeable by reason only of a written acknowledgment signed or of a payment made by, or by the agent of, any other or others of them.

held to be a payment by an agent duly authorised on his behalf. The Legislature does not enact that for the purposes of Limitation Act the guardian shall be treated as an agent of his ward. 22 Pat. 114=9 B.R. 260=1944 Pat. 218. "Agent duly authorised" in sec. 21 does not include a de facto guardian. For purposes of secs. 19 and 20 what is required is a lawful guardian, which a de facto guaddian is not, and not merely a person who under certain circumstances may have power to alienate the property of a minor. I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 486=45 Bom. L.R. 740=1943 Bom. 381. On the death of the father of a minor, his mother is not only the natural but also the legal guardian under Hindu Law and being such, she is also a lawful guardian within the meaning of sec. 21 and can as such acknowledge debts. 10 O.W.N. 188=1933 O. 132. See also 1939 M.L.R. 88 (Civ.): 35 P.L.R. 661=1934 L. 55. The brother under the Hindu Law is not a lawful guardian within sec. 21 during the life-time of the mother. 42 I.C. 472=45 C. 630. Where a person executed a mortgage bond and registered it for himself and on behalf of a minor as guardian and made an endorsement of some payment on the document when the minor had not attained majority, his acknowledgment was proper as he was certainly a person authorised within the meaning of sec. 21. 38 L.W. 439=1933 M. 713=65 M.L.J. 380. A person lawfully acting as guardian though not appointed for the purpose, is a lawful guardian when acting for the benefit of the minor. 19 I.C. 362=24 M.L.J. 428. An admission amounting to an acknowledgment within the meaning of sec. 19 made by the guardian of a minor appointed by the Court is binding on the minor. 13 P.L.T. 509=1932 P. 337. But in order that such an acknowledgment may be effective, the person so appointed must have acted as a de facto and not as a de jure guardian in making the acknowledgment. 1932 M.W.N. 1193. See also 1938 M.W.N. 671=1938 M. 836=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 251: I.L.R. The authority contemplated by sec. 21 need not be special authority given for the purposes of making payment of the particular loan. 1933 C. 826. A de facto guardian of a Hindu minor is not an agent duly authorised to acknowledge a debt on behalf of a minor within the meaning of sec. 21 as a de facto guardian cannot be considered to be a lawful guardian under sec. 21; and an acknowledgment by him is not valid and cannot keep the debt alive against the minor. I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 65=48 L.W. 268=1938 Mad. 853=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 501. It is well-established law that in respect of a minor's interest in a joint Hindu family property the manager of the family alone can bind the minor within certain limits and no guardian of property can be appointed or recognised. Where a minor has a separate guardian for his person and for his property, it cannot be said that an acknowledgment by the guardian of his person, e.g., his mother falls within sec. 21 of the Limitation Act. The section clearly contemplates the guardian of the minor's property making acknowledgments on his behalf; and in the case of a minor in a joint family it is only the manager of the family who can bind the minor by a valid acknowledgment. 55 L.W. 529=1942 Mad. 663=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 281. Sec. 21 (2) is not exhaustive and the test is whether the person keeping the debt alive had express or implied authority on behalf of others. 32 I.C. 608. The conduct of the parties might show that one joint promisor has implied authority to make an acknowledgment on behalf of the other. 25 I.C. 927 (1)=1914 M.W.N. 792. Payment of interest by one of the heirs on a debt due by the deceased person does not save limitation as against the other heirs. 9 L.B.R. 78=40 I.C. 858. See also 14 I.C. 128. Where a debt is due by two brothers and, on a partition between them, it is allotted to one of them, payment of interest by such brother will not save limitation as against the other brother unless there is an implied or express authority conferred by the partition arrangement to make such payment of interest. (1929 P.C. 297, Dist.) 1933 C. 826; 45 L. W. 767=1937 Mad. 586. In the case of a going partnership concern, there is a presumption that each partner is entitled to

M.L.J. 115. The acknowledgment by one partner must be shown to be impliedly authorised by others; when it was made in the usual course of business, it will save limitation. 56 C. 556=1929 C. 714. Part payment by one partner after dissolution, if saves limitation. 1925 M.W.N. 707=1926 M. 114=50 M.L.J. 67. The expression "joint contractors" in sec. 21 (2) must be taken to include co-mortgagors. An acknowledgment or payment by one co-mortgagor is not therefore effective as against the other co-mortgagors for the purposes of secs. 19 and 20. I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 486= 45 Bom.L.R. 740=1943 Bom. 381. See also 1942 Cal. 251=I.L.R. (1941) 2 Cal. 576. See 26 A.L.J. 723=1928 A. 387; 1939 Rang. 287 (Principal and Surety). An acknowledgment not stating amount of liability acknowledged by guardian is not proper. 1928 C. 850. An admission by a pleader in a petition made in course of his business is binding as an acknowledgment so as to give a fresh starting point irrespective of whether the pleader represents majors, or a guardian for minors. 133 I.C. 155=1931 A. 398. The word "chargeable" in sec. 21 (2) prima facie means every kind of chargeability possible by reason of secs. 19 and 20, that is, every kind of chargeability under the original contract, and is not limited to personal liability only in the case of a mortgage. 30 L.W. 677=1929 M. 881=57 M.L.J. 588. In the case of a pronote executed by a Hindu undivided father and son, a payment by the father alone cannot save limitation against the son in the absence of proof that the loan was contracted for the benefit of the entire family. Mere proof that the father was the manager of the family cannot save limitation. [25 Mad. 220 (F.B.), Rel. on.] 195 I.C. 52=1941 Pat. 208. See also 1944 M. 33=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 610. Where a Hindu widow acting as the de facto guardian of the minor son of her deceased husband's brother, who is the sole surviving coparcener in a Hindu family, has executed a mortgage, purporting to act on his behalf but without legal authority to do so, an acknowledgment or payment by her will not save limiattion as against the minor as it cannot be said that she is acting as his agent under sec. 21 (3). I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 486=45 Bom.L.R. 740=1943 Bom. 381. A payment made after petition by a member of a Hindu family of interest due on a promissory note executed by the managing member when the family was joint will not start a fresh period of limitation against the other members of the family, the payment having been duly acknowledged by the person who made it. While the family remains joint only the manager or his duly authorised agent can extend the period of limitation against family. After partition there is no manager, and therefore no one can extend the period of limitation in respect of a family debt so as to affect the erstwhile members. 1941 M.W.N. 1012=54 L.W. 596=1941 Mad. 925 =(1941) 2 M.L.J. 883 (F.B.). Sec. 20 does not contemplate the interruption of limitation where payment is made by one judgment-debtor independently of the other judgment-debtors. Sec. 21 (2) does not lend any support to the view that payment by one of the judgment-debtors should have the effect of interrupting the running of limitation as against the other. Sub-sec. (2) of sec. 21 is merely explanatory, it does not lay down exceptions to the general principle embodied in sec. 20. I.L.R. (1939) All. 258=1939 A.L.J. 66=1939 A. 230. Where a manager and other members of a Hindu undivided family are liable to pay a debt and a payment is made by the manager, it may be possible to infer from the circumstances that the payment was made by the managing member on behalf of the other members as well on the principle of implied agency and that in that connexion the very fact of his being a managing member would itself be a factor of importance. 58 M. 418 =1935 M. 101=68 M.L.J. 470. See also 42 C.W.N. 18=1938 C. 129; 70 C.L.J. 201=44 C.W.N. 299=1940 Cal. 137. On the death of the parents neither by Hindu Law nor by custom is the grandfather recognised as the lawful guardian of the minor and endorsement of payments by the paternal grandmother cannot bind the minor and save limitation. I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 358=1940 Mad. 33=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 884 (F.B.). An acknowledgmen by a Hindu widow or her agent of a liability is binding against the reversioners to the estate of her husband under sec. 21 (3). (1945) P.W.N. 225=1946 P. 120. The term "joint contractors" in sec. 21 (2) also includes joint mortgagors. Sec. 21 (2) must be read in conjunction with secs. 19 and 20. Payment of interest as such by one of two joint mortgagors who is not an agent of the other does not itself serve to keep alive the debt as against the other who has not authorized the payment. The claim against the other is barred personally as well as against the share of the property pledged by him. 1939 Rang 287; 46 L.W. 688=1938 Mad. 111; 1936 Rang. 504; 1940 R.L.R. 603=1941 R. 37. See also 1943 Bom. 381=45 Bom.L.R. 740. Payment of interest made by some of the descendants of a deceased mortgagor binds also the other descendants even though these latter were divided from the family before the payment was made. Sec. 21 (2) cannot save them because the categories mentioned in the section are not merely illustrative, and it does not cover cases relating to co-heirs and other persons who derive their liability not from direct contract with the promisee. 1930 M. 738.

SEC. 21 (3).—Sub-sec. (3) of sec. 21, as amended by Act I of 1927, protects only those acknowledgments or payments which have been made by or by the duly authorised agent of the manager of the joint family for the time being and would not cover a case where the status of the joint family had been changed prior to the date of such acknowledgment or payment. If, however, there has been a severance of joint status between the members of the family, sub-sec. (3) of sec. 21 would not in terms apply, and even though the debt or liability had been incurred by or on behalf of the joint family by its manager for the time being, the person who was the manager of the family at the date when the said debt or liability had been incurred by him on behalf of the joint family would not have the power to acknowledge the debt or make the payment as to extend the period of limitation, as he would have ceased to be the manager of the family by the time he came to make the acknowledgment or payment. 47 Bom.L.R. 470=1945 Bom. 511. Sec. 21 (2) has no application to a case of a joint Hindu family in which the father makes a payment on behalf of the family. For such a case express provision has been made in cl. (3) (b) of sec. 21. Where a father makes a payment, in order to stay the hands of the decree-holder in executing the decree and time was given to pay in consideration of the payment made, such payment is as manager of the joint family and saves time against father and sons. 1938 A.L.J. 973=1938 All. 638. See also 1940 Cal. 137. Under the law of limitation as it stood prior to the enactment of cl. SEC. 22: SCOPE OF.—Sec. 22 (1) contemplates cases in which a suit is defective by reason of the right persons not having been made parties, but not cases in which the suit was originally properly instituted but has become defective owing to a devolution of interest. 20 C.W.N. 833=18 Bom.L.R. 642 =43 I.A. 113=1916 P.C. 202 (P.C.). APPLICABILITY.—Sec. 22 does not apply to cases where pro forma defendants are made plaintiffs. 14 I.C. 566=84 P.R. 1912; 139 I.C. 535=13 Pat.L.T. 392=1932 P. 304. Nor where in a suit by the manager of a joint Hindu family the other members of the family are brought on record by amendment of the plaint. (12 B. 158, Foll.) 36 Bom.L.R. 327=58 B. 348=1934 B. 178. This principle applies even where the suit is not by the manager, but only by a member. 1937 L. 193. If a party is added after limitation the suit is not necessarily barred by time against him. But if a party who is not a necessary party to the suit applies to be impleaded as a party after the period of limitation and is added as a party, he cannot turn round and plead that the suit is barred by limitation. 1942 A.L.J. 766=1943 Oudh 164=18 Luck. 601. Where a suit is originally brought against the defendants as members of a joint undivided family and subsequently the plaintiff was allowed to amend his plaint by adding an alternative claim against them as partners, there is no change in the "persona" of the parties but only a change in the basis on which the same parties were sought to be held liable and with reference to them, they cannot be decm-ed to be newly added under sec. 22. 33 Bom. L.R. 1385=1931 B. 590. In a suit on a promissory note signed by a person on his own behalf and as guardian of a minor only relief against the assets of the minor in the guardian's hands was asked for. But subsequently an amendment claiming relief against the guardian personally was allowed. Held, that the effect of the amendment was not to add a new person as defendant but to alter the ground on which a person already a defendant was to be held liable. Consequently once the amendment was allowed, sec. 22 did not apply. 154 I.C. 582 =1935 M. 160. Sec. 22 (1) will not apply where a defendant who was made such by the plaintiff at the time of the institution of the suit is transferred in that suit as co-plaintiff. 90 I.C. 82=1926 P. 28. The section applies even to cases where a person is added as a party at the instance of the Court under O. 1, R. 10. 17 S.L.R. 324=1925 S. 181=79 I.C. 914; 6 R. 29 (P.C.). An amendment of a plaint which does not seek to bring in a new party, but only varies the ground on which the relief was originally sought or asks for a different or additional relief, without changing the cause of action, does not bring the case within sec. 22 (1). It is equally clear that where a party is already on the record either as a plaintiff or as a defendant, an amendment which merely alters the capacity in which he has been impleaded to one of a different character does not involve an addition of parties so as to attract the provisions of sec. 22. Consequently an amendment of a plaint by which a suit is converted into a representative action under O. 1, R. 8, C. P. Code, does not involve the addition of fresh parties. Such an amendment does not introduce fresh parties and when made after the period of limitation, would not make the suit barred by limitation 1943 M.W.N. 304=56 L.W. 583=1943 Mad. 531=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 1. The effect of striking off a person's name from the array of the defendants, even if it is made under a mistake, is that the suit so far as he is concerned comes to an end. If his name is added at a later date a new suit must be regarded as having been brought against him and if such is not brought within time it is barred by limitation. 199 I.C. 196=1942 P. 270. Sec. 22 governs suits and not applications for substitution of legal representative. 49 I.C. 34=15 N.L.R. 21; 1923 P. 88; 58 C. 55= 1931 C. 385. Nor to applications under O. 21, R. 10. Nor to execution proceedings. 62 I.C. 30=6 P.L.J. 358=1921 P. 180. The section will not apply when a suit is brought by an agent on behalf of a firm of partners, merely because it is barred when the other members of the partnership are impleaded as co-plaintiffs. 28 I.C. 210=2 L.W. 239. Section applies to cases where a new plaintiff has been introduced and is not applicable in cases where there is only an amendment with regard to the description of the plaintiff. 32 C.W.N. 396=1928 C. 485. See also 109 I.C. 785=1928 N. 319. Nor to cases where defendant has been wrongly described in plaint, but amended afterwards. 162 I.C. 280=1936 L. 147. But it would be otherwise if it amounts to something more than mere misdescription. 1936 L. 485. "WHEN HE WAS SO MADE A PARTY"—INTERPRETATION—CRUCIAL DATE.—Under sec. 22 (1) it is the date of the application to add a new plaintiff or defendant which is material and not the date on which the party is briught on the record. That is the way in which the words "when he was so made a party" in the section ought to be interpreted. I.L.R. (1944) Nag. 768=1944 N.L.J. 510=1945 Nag. 57.

ADDITION OF PARTIES.—Sec. 22 refers only to the parties subsequently added; the suit canno fail as against the original defendants, merely because the plaintiffs may have lost their remedy as against the newly added dedendants unless such a result follows from the nature of the suit. 33 Bom.L.R. 1385= 1931 B. 590. Against a party subsequently added, limitation is to be calculated from the date when he has been brought on the record. 12 I.C. 586=13 Bom.L.R. 1014; 50 M. 372 =1927 M. 468=52 M.L.J. 199. See also 55 I.A. 7=6 R. 29=1927 P.C. 252=54 M.L.J. 88 (P.C.). Where an application is made to join certain persons as parties, they become parties to the suit from the time when the application is presented and not when the Court passes its order joining them as parties. 1930 S. 259. Section is not applicable in the case of transferees pendente lite. 1930 A. 597; see also 7 Cut.L.T. 49=1942 P. 185 (2). If a party is added to a pending suit after lapse of the period of limitation fixed for the suit, the bar of limitation would not be saved. 85 I.C. 961=1925 M. 917; 75 I. C. 781=1932 Lah. 438 (1). If one of the several legal representatives of a creditor is added as a plaintiff after the expiry of the time prescribed for the institution of the suit, a suit instituted by one of the legal representatives for the recovery of the whole amount or of his share is maintainable. 1932 L. 652. Under O. 30, R. 2, C. P. Code, once partners have been declared the persons whose names have been declared are to be regarded as parties to the suit. There is however nothing to prevent a party from making a further declaration the effect of which might afterwards fall to be considered by the Court. But if it is made after the period of limitation, it will have no effect and the Court would regard the suit as being one by the

Where in a suit on a mortgage against some only of the heirs of the mortgagor the other heirs are also added after the period of limitation it cannot be said that the suit is barred as against the latter because the suit as filed was properly instituted and the estate was sufficiently represented by those against whom the suit was originally brought. In a suit on a mortgage though all the heirs of a deceased mortgagor are proper parties it cannot be said that in all cases where they are not joined, the Court cannot grant any relief to the plaintiff. 1943 O.W.N. 105=A.I.R. 1943 Oudh 218=19 Luck. 133. So also in a suit against manager of a Hindu idol an amendment so as to implead idol as party. 6 O.W.N. 1036. Where in a suit instituted within time agains the Government as responsible for the administration of the railways, the plaint described the Government as the Secretary of State for India, and the plaint was subsequently amended after the period of limitation had elapsed altering the description to the Governor-General in Council as required by sec. 79, C. P. Code, as amended. Held, that as the claim had always been against the same Government it could not be anything more than a matter of misdescription and that the suit was, therefore, not barred by limitation. 46 C.W.N. 18.

NECESSARY PARTY.—Where in a suit, some persons against whom the suit is barred are added as defendants, sec. 22 does not bar the whole suit, if the added parties are pro forma defendants against whom no relief is claimed. 45 B. 1009=61 I.C. 590=23 Bom.L.R. 405=1921 Bom. 152. Necessary party—Suit for pre-emption—Impleading one of the vendees after limitation—Effect. 1924 L. 230. If a necessary party without whose presence on the record the suit cannot be adjudicated upon has been omitted and is added after the period of limitation, the suit is barred against all the defendants. 57 I.C. 52; 1937 Rang. 124. See also 26 C.W.N. 488=1922 C. 149; 1937 R. 124. An alienee pendente lite is not a necessary party to the suit. 38 M. 535=26 M.L.J. 449; 17 Pat. 588=1939 P. 138; 47 L.W. 665=1938 Mad. 687. In mortgage suits, the puisne mortgagee is a proper but not a necessary party. A necessary party is a proper party but a proper party is not always a necessary party. 1922 P. 326; 1923 P. 651. Sec. 22 does apply to a case even where a person is not a necessary party but only a proper party to a suit and such a person cannot be added as a party after limitation period. 1929 C. 188 =33 C.W.N. 248. If a plaintiff sues to recover the joint property of two or more persons, and at the time of trial omits to join all proper and necessary parties and if the rights of those who ought to be added as parties to the suit are barred by limitation, the suit must be dismissed for want of proper or defective joinder of parties. 36 I.C. 77. The principle applies to cases where several persons jointly seek to recover the assets of a deceased person. 36 I.C. 77. When a suit can be, and is, constituted without joining certain persons as parties, and they are subsequently added as parties for the benefit of the defendants to ensure them against further litigation, the provisions of sec. 22 do not apply. 38 C.W.N. 409=1934 C. 187. See also 17 Pat. 588 =1939 P. 138; 1938 Mad. 687. Defendant claimed in his written statement that certain persons in whose possession lands of the deceased were should be added as parties. Neither trial Court nor plaintiff chose to add them. The case was remanded, in appeal, and they were added. Held, that the addition should be deemed to have been made when written statement was filed. 1937 R. 175.

NEW DEFENDANT.—Where the real purchaser was joined as a party to the application after period of limitation, held that the addition of party after the period of limitation did not entail the dismissal of the application as against the newly added real purchaser. 1923 A. 462. New defendant—Clerical mistake—Misdescription of defendant—Amendment. 32 I.C. 872. If parties are effectively represented through those whose actions bind them, so that a decree passed against them is binding on such parties, a specific mention of the name of one such party subsequently made in the title of the suit cannot be regarded as an addition of a new defendant for the purposes of limitation. Rule applied to the case of members of a joint Hindu family subsequently impleaded as parties to a suit in which they were effectively represented by the manager. 1931 A.L.J. 421=1931 A. 585.

NEW PLAINTIFF.—The effect of striking off a person's name from the array of the defendants, even if it is made under a mistake, is that the suit so far as he is concerned comes to an end. If his name is added at a later date, a new suit must be regarded as having been brought against him, and if it is not within time it is barred by limitation. 1942 Pat. 270. Where in a suit by the manager of a joint Hindu family junior members are added as parties after the expiry of the period of limitation, they are merely formal parties and the suit is not barred. 33 A. 272=38 I.A. 45=21 M.L. J. 378 (P.C.). See also 1929 L. 505; 1937 L. 193; 22 I.C. 798=19 C.L.J. 5. New plaintiff—Suit amended as on behalf of company. 33 I.C. 357 (2)=30 M.L.J. 57. Suit in private capacity—Amendment of suit as managing director—Effect. 25 I.C. 945 =16 M.L.T. 251. Party not signing or verifying pleading. Wrong description of party. Effect. 17 I.C. 580=25 M.I.J. 174.

SUBSTITUTION OF PARTIES.—A person originally impleaded as a pro forma defendant but subsequently made a plaintiff is not a new party to whom the provisions of sec. 22 apply. 19 C.W.N. 1269=30 I.C. 34; 105 I. C. 473=1927 O. 484; since the object of sec. 22 (2) is to provide for cases of this nature. 14 Pat.L.T. 252=1933 P. 239. See also 10 Luck. 203=1934 O. 462; 40 L.W. 900= 1935 M. 95. But the provisions of sec. 22, cl. (2) can be availed of only in cases where the plaintiff and the defendant have a joint cause of action and not when their causes of action are different. 156 I.C. 455=1935 M. 240=69 M.L.J. 30. The general rule enacted in sec. 22 is subject to certain exceptions contained in cl. (2), one of the exceptions being that the rule of limitation enacted in the main part does not apply where there has been a transposition of the parties already on the record. I.L.R. (1937) Mad. 970=46 L.W. 375=1937 Mad. 843=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 728. Amendments made in the plaint by the leave of the Judge cannot amount to an addition or substitution of party within sec. 22. 28 I.C. 818=19 C.W.N. 1193. In a suit against a firm, correction of the description of the proper representative of the firm is neither substitution nor addition of a new party. 109 I.C. 785=1928 N. 319. The essential difference between an alteration that comes under the head of mere misdescription and an alteration that comes under the head of substitution is that in the case of a misdescription there is the same person or legal entity throughout; merely the name of the person is to be altered, but when one person, be it a legal or other person, is to be substituted for another, then the alteration cannot fairly come under the head of misdescription. It is a case of substitution, and sec. 22 applies. Therefore an amendment of a plaint which seeks to substitute one legal entity for another after the period of limitation has passed cannot be allowed. I.L.R. (1939) Kar. 275=1939 Sind 172. See also 1940 M. 639.

SUIT AGAINST WRONG DEFENDANT.—Where the mistake in the name of the defendant is a clerical mistake the suit is within time and such amendment is also within time. 32 I.C. 872; 162 I.C. 280=1936 L. 147. Where a wrong person sues on a pro-note and after the perior of limitation the right person is substituted, the suit so far as the right person is concerned, shall be deemed to be instituted on the date of the substitution, and if it is barred on that date, it shall be dismissed. 1940 N.L.J. 333=1940 Nag. 274. Where in the same suit first one legal representative and then another is impleaded, the estate which is the object of the suit has been represented throughout, and there is no change of party in the real sense of the word, so as to invoke the operation of sec. 22. 53 L.W. 501=1941 Mad. 609=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 580.

SUIT AGAINST DEAD PERSON.—A plaintiff cannot claim the benefit of the institution of a suit against a dead person for the purposes of extending the period of limitation against his heirs. 47 I.C. 894=5 O.L.J. 546; 143 I.C. 596=1933 M. 454=37 L.W. 489 and cases referred to therein. Same principle applies to a suit on a foreign judgment against foreign firms which had become dissolved at the time of suit, and amendment is afterwards sought to implead individual partners thereof. 38 P.L.R. 827=163 I.C. 734=1936 L. 485.

SEC. 23: APPLICABILITY.—Suit for declaration of a public right of way as the obstruction is a continuing wrong. 26 C.W.N. 587=1921 C. 405; 146 I.C. 408=1934 P. 34. An obstruction which prevents someone from exercising a right of way falls within the scope of the term 'continuing wrong' and a fresh period of limitation begins to run under sec. 23, Limitation Act at every moment of the time during which the wrong continues. 1941 A.L.J. 706=1942 A. 77. The word 'wrong' in sec. 23 seems to have been used in a restricted sense, and to imply something in the nature of a tort. 1944 O.W.N. 37=A.I.R. 1944 Oudh 139=19 Luck. 515. There is nothing in sec. 23 upon which a distinction can be made between the case of an encroachment upon private land and that of an encroachment upon public land. Whether the wrong is a continuing one or not must depend upon the nature of the wrong and not upon the nature of the land over which it is committed. If in the one case limitation may run, there is no reason why it should not also run in the case of a precisely similar act committed upon public land. 22 Pat.L.T. 1001=1942 Pat. 188. See also 19 Pat. 208=1940 P.W.N. 829=1940 Pat. 449. Sec. 23 is not applicable to a suit by a Union Board for possession of land claiming it as part of a public road vested in it. 45 C.W.N. 802=73 C.L.J. 608=1942 Cal. 151. Dispossession is a trespass and in one sense a contniuance of possession thereafter is a continuance of the original wrong, but that is not the meaning of sec. 23. The Limitation Act must be read as a whole and due regard paid to its different provisions. It must be clearly construed in such a manner that there is no conflict between sec. 23 and Arts. 142 and 144. Complete usurpation of possession and occupation and consequent dispossession of the owner of the land is a wrong which is complete from the moment of the dispossession. It is not a continuing trespass of the character contemplated by sec. 23 of the Act. 1939 Nag. 145. SECS. 23 AND 28.—A distinction has to be made between the continuance of a legal injury and the continuance of its injurious effects. There is no perpetual right of suit under sec. 23, on the ground that an encroachment is a continuing wrong, when the trespass itself gives rise to rights extinguishing any right of suit under sec. 28 of the Limitation Act. When the wrong amounts to dispossession of the plaintiff, then, even though it may be a continuing wrong, the plaintiff cannot recover possession after the expiry of 12 years, because under sec. 28 of the Limitation Act the plaintiff himself would have got no right left which he can enforce by suit. 22 P.L.T. 1001=1942 Pat. 188. In considering whether the particular act complained of constitutes a continuing wrong within the meaning of sec. 23 for which the cause of action arises de die in diem, it is necessary to keep in mind the distinction between an 'injury' and the "effects of that injury". Where the injury complained of is complete on a certain date there is no "continuing wrong" even though the damage caused by that injury might continue. In such cases the cause of action to the person injured arises once and for all, at the time when the injury is inflicted. If however the act is such that the injury itself is continuous, then there is a "continuing wrong" and the case is governed by sec. 23. 191 I.C. 42=I.L.R. (1941) Lah. 22=1940 Lah. 359 (F.B.).

Suit for damages for breach of contract—Mere breach of covenant by omission to pay—Suit will come within the language of sec. 24. 24 A. L.J. 550. Bodily injury—First suit for damages—Second suit for further injury consequential on the first injury. 58 I.C. 749=5 P.L.J. 359. The effect of sec. 24 is not to extend or restrict any period of limitation but to modify the date or time from which the cause of action arises. In a suit for compensation for any misfeasance or malfeasance independent of contract and not otherwise provided for, the limitation will be 2 years not from the date of malfeasance or misfeasance but from the time when the injury results. 8 P. 776=1929 P. 245.

SEC. 25: SCOPE OF.—Sec. 25 is absolute and there is no saving of cases in which it appears on the face of the contract that lunar months were intended by the parties. 1927 M. 917=53 M.L.J. 447. See also 8 O. W.N. 834=1931 O. 357. Instalment bond—Date in Hindi. 29 I.C. 980=13 A.L.J. 486. Calculation of time must be according to Gregorian calendar. 47 A. 66=22 A.L.J. 902=1925 A. 138. Computation should be according to the Gregorian calendar unless specially otherwise mentioned. 102 I.C. 588 =1927 N. 259. A promissory note bore both the English date, 16th November, 1924 and the Malayalam date, Thulam 30, 1110, corresponding to 15th November, 1934. In a suit on the promissory note filed on 16th November, 1937. Held, that sec. 25 of the Limitation Act creates no presumption as to the date of a document but merely provides that periods of limitation shall be worked out according to the Gregorian calendar. The question as to the date of the promissory note is one of fact to be decided by evidence and probabilities according to sec. 90 of the Evidence Act. 53 L.W. 449 (1)=1941 Mad. 587=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 502.

SECS. 26 AND 27: [See also Easements Act, secs. 15 and 16].—Object of section is to make easy the establishment of rights of easement; it is remedial and not prohibitory or exhaustive as to the modes of acquiring easements. 53 C. 1016=91 I.C. 712= 1926 C. 507. Sec. 26 is concerned only with the acquisition of the easement and not with the extent of the right or with the remedy (in Bengal). 12 I.C. 60=39 C. 59. See also 35 C.W.N. 963=59 C. 260=1932 C. 249. Secs. 26 and 27 do not apply to cases where easements are acquired under the Easements Act. 31 I.C. 528=29 M.L.J. 685. In view of the words "other easement" in sec. 26 of the Easements Act, it must be held that the section is not exhaustive, and other easements not specifically mentioned in the section can be acquired: e.g., the right of storing manure on land belonging to another, being a right which is beneficial to the enjoyment of the property of the persons enjoying that right over the land of another, can be acquired in the same way as other similar right by prescription, if the user has continued for the prescribed period. Where the right claimed and enjoyed is only over a small portion of a larger area, it cannot be said that there would be total destruction of the subject-matter of the easement. 1946 Lah. (Rul.) 338=224 I.C. 286. The effect of the last paragraph of sec. 26 (1) is that a right to an easement is not perfected until it is brought in question in some suit, but when it is established in a suit, it becomes absolute and indefeasible. But the decision will not be binding on a mortgagee whose mortgage was of a date prior to the suit and who was not impleaded in the suit. 23 Pat. 115=1944 Pat. 261. In the case of a claim of easement for use of water for irrigation or rights of an analogous nature, proof of absolute continuous user is not necessary. The right can be established by proof of periodical user, so long as the full period is covered, and the user has existed openly and uninterruptedly. Apart from sec. 26 of the Limitation Act, a right of prescription may also be claimed and established on the basis of immemorial user justifying a presumption of grant or agreement. In order to establish immemorial user so as to justify any presumption of easement by lost grant, no particular period has been prescribed and can, therefore, be said to be essential, but where such right is based on a claim of continuous or uninter rupted user alone, proof of enjoyment for any period not exceeding 20 years—because that period is mentioned in sec. 26 of the Limitation Act—will ordinarily be considered insufficient. It is the value of the evidence in the aggregate which is to be seen in order to determine finally whether the plaintiffs have established generally their claim of a right of irrigation by proof of enjoyment for such a minimum period as would establish a case of acquisition of easement by lost grant. 1946 C. 444. It is only when a person claims an easement under the provisions of sec. 26 that he must show that the period of 20 years' enjoyment of the right extended up to a time within two years of the suit. An easement by prescription or long user can, however, be aequired otherwise than by the aid of that section, for instance, a person can show that he has enjoyed a right of easement from time immemorial in such a way as to lead to the presumption of a grant of such right. In such a case, it would not be necessary for him to show that he enjoyed the right till within two years of the suit. 45 C.W.N. 486. The question, even as regards an easement right classed under the statutory prescription is not one of limitation but whether the enjoyment necessary to acquire the prescriptive right has been peaceable and as an easement without interruption for 20 years, within 2 years before suit. (Ibid.) Unless a suit falls under sec. 26 or 28, there is no bar of limitation to a defence. 59 I.C. 118=22 Bom.L.R. 1082=45 Bom. 45=1921 Bom. 257. See also 1926 N. 99. Sec. 26 does not govern a claim to take water from a iank where that claim is based on lost grant. It applies only to cases of easements claimed by prescription. 1926 C. 291 (2). In cases of easements acquired by prescription, the English Law presumes a grant and its accidental loss due to lapse of time. In India, such a presumption is not necessary as the right depends on positive enactments, e.g., sec. 26. 1931 L. 395=12 L. 741. A customary right of way is not an easement in the legal sense of that term, and even if it were an easement, it is not necessary for the party claiming it to rely on sec. 26 if the existence of the right could be otherwise established. A right based on custom is established by proof of the custom and it is not necessary that there should be evidence from which a lost grant may be presumed. 36 C.L.J. 280=1923 C. 200. Suit for declaration of right of way—Affirmative proof of 'actual user'—'Enjoyment' — 'Actual exercise'. 26 C.W.N. 121. A customary right of way for all the villagers is not a case of acquisition by prescription and is not governed by sec. 26. 65 I.C. 509. A person may be said to be in 'enjoyment' of a right of way during a period of time, though he does not actually "use" the way every moment. Cessation of user for a time is not an invariable indication of abeyance of enjoyment of a right. 51 I.C. 372=29 C.L.J. 421. Obstruction to ancient lights when amounts to actionable nuisance. 31 C.W.N. 419= 1927 C. 345. Obstruction to easement—Lower Court ordering injunction and restoration of status quo—Interference. 35 C.W.N. 963=59 C. 260=1932 C. 249. The permission to take water through another person's property is an easement within the meaning of sec. 26. 100 I.C. 498=1927 L. 216. In the case of joint property, every co-sharer has a right to use it, consistently with the rights of the other co-sharers until partition. Where therefore one of the owners of a jont wall erects a wall on the top of the joint wall and keeps ventilators in the wall so erected, he does so consistently with the rights of the co-owner and hence cannot acquire a right of easement in respect of the ventilators against the co-owner. 41 P.L.R. 267=1939 Lah. 28.

AS OF RIGHT.—The term "as of right" is not synonymous with "rightfully" but signifies enjoyment by a person in the assertion of a right. It is enjoyment had, not secretly or by stealth or tacit sufference or by leave or favour or by permission asked from time to time on each occasion or even on many occasions of using it, but an enjoyment had openly, notoriously without particular leave at any time by a person claiming to use it without danger of being treated as a trespasser as a matter of right. 1931 L. 395; 1936 S. 61; 1938 Pat. 423; 167 I.C. 454=38 P.L.R. 1146=1936 Lah. 905. See also 10 Cut.L.T. 78 (Applicability of section to customary right). Where the grant is in the nature of a licence and not of an easement, right of user by prescription cannot be acquired. 152 I.C. 141=1934 Pesh. 96; 1936 L. 905. The words "as of right" in sec. 26 mean nec vi nec clam, nec precario. Twenty years' enjoyment of a right to light and air after a partition, which however did not reserve such a right, is enjoyment "as of right". 35 C.W.N. 963. See also 1936 Sind 61. When a right of way has been used peaceably and openly without interruption for twenty years, its user as of right may be legally inferred. 29 Punj.L. R. 567=111 I.C. 196. When sec. 26 talks of the enjoyment of a right by a person, what it really means is that there must be an exercise of that right by that person. Where for over twenty years the sweepers employed by the Municipal Committee have passed in exercise of statutory duty over the sites of a person in order to reach a latrine standing on another person's site, and to remove the nightsoil therefrom the owner of latrine cannot claim a right of way by way of easement in respect of this user by the sweepers of the Municipality because the activities of the sweepers are directed wholly by the Municipality and over them the owner of the latrine himself has no control. Such user cannot be accounted an enjoyment by the owner of the latrine of the right he claims, as an easement and as of right. 1939 Rang. 34. Where in a suit for establishing an easement to surface water on Government land there was interruption of the user more than two years prior to the suit, the right is defeated by sec. 26. 7 R. 487=1929 R. 300. In a suit for easement to carry water in a channel across the defendant's land for irrigation, the mere failure to exercise the right for 2 years prior to suit does not extinguish the right. Nor does the mere fact that the plaintiffs irrigated one of their fields from another well affect their easement right. 118 I.C. 521=1929 A. 497. Para. 1 of sub-sec. (1) is controlled by para. 2. A title to easement is not complete merely upon the effluxion of the period mentioned. Until the right is brought in question in some suit the right is inchoate only. And in order to establish the right when brought into question, the enjoyment relied on must be for 20 years up to within 2 years of the institution of the suit. 56 C. 927=1929 C. 542. Whether the user has been peaceable and open and whether the enjoyment has been as of right are pure questions of fact. (Ibid.) A mere right to fish not excluding the rightful owner is a profit a prendre and falls within S. 2 (5) of the Limitation Act and may be acquired by 20 years' uninterrupted enjoyment under sec. 26. 148 I.C. 431= 1934 P. 420. The right of fishing on another's water either by himself or by hired men on payment of a fee per head of men employed is not such a right as can be acquired by prescription. 37 C.W.N. 18=1933 C. 539. It is a little difficult to see how a changing and fluctuating population of a locality can be considered to occupy the status of a dominent tenement. It is true that certain classes of rights have been held to have been acquired by prescription, such as a right of way, or the right to bury dead bodies, and in all such cases a presumption has been made that the custom in question had a lawful origin in a dedication. Where however a well which has been used by the people of a mohalla was constructed in living memory and property in it has been changing hands by sale, it cannot be said that qua the user of the well an ancient custom has been established for which it was necessary to trace the legal origin to a dedication and hence no right by prescription, as contemplated by sec. 26 can be said to have been acquired. 41 P.L.R. 536=1939 Lah. 191 (1939 Lah. 12 is not good law).

REQUIREMENTS.—Where an easement is enjoyed peaceably and uninterruptedly for 20 years, the requirements of sec. 26 are fulfilled and the right becomes absolute. 26 I.C. 781; 37 I.C. 788=4 P.R. 1917. Open and uninterrupted enjoyment without dominant owner's permission is enough. 41 C.L. J. 379=1925 C. 788. See also 85 I.C. 81 =1925 N. 270; 56 I.C. 728=1 L. 206. User as of right implies user against the will of the owner. 37 I.C. 788=4 P.R. 1917. There is a distinction between the enjoyment of a right and actual user. Sec. 26 contemplates enjoyment of the right claimed as easement for twenty years to be carried to a period within two years of the suit. The section does not speak of actual user. 40 C.W.N. 222. An easement of the supply of water from a natural stream may be acquired by twenty years user under the provisions of sec. 26. 57 P.R. 1918=46 I. C. 441. A person who has throughout claimed ownership of soil cannot set up an easement of way. 1939 Rang. 34. A lessee of land, who owns a building thereon, can acquire by prescription a right to light and air against another lessee under the same landlord in respect of the adjacent plot. In such cases there is no question of unity of ownership as regards the two tenements and the principle that the possession of the tenant is really the possession of the landlord cannot affect the situation. 43 C.W.N. 636. Right of way—Non-user for twe years prior to suit. 26 I.C. 485. Obstruction— Filling up channel—When amounts to. 25 I.C. 386. Easement—Discharge of surplus water—Right to compel. 22 I.C. 514=19 C.L.J. 45.

ACQUISITION OF EASEMENT AGAINST TRANSFEREE FROM CROWN—PERIOD REQUISITE.— An easement against a transferee of the servient tenement from the Crown can be acquired by an enjoyment as of right without interruption for a period of 20 years, and to make up this period the period during which the land had been in the hands of the Government can be tacked on. The word 'belongs' in sec. 26 (2) should be given its plain meaning and should not be interpreted by a forced construction as equivalent to "has belonged". 44 P.L.R. 116= 1942 Lah. 124.

ONUS.—Under sec. 26 the onus is on the plaintiff to prove that the user was as of right. 9 I.C. 66 (8 C.W.N. 359, Foll.). See also 18 I.C. 211. No presumption as to continuous enjoyment for 20 years from the fact of mere prior possession for a long period. 155 I.C. 966=16 Pat.L.T. 192= 1935 P. 188. A right of fishing is an easement under sec. 26. 12 I.C. 305=14 C.L. J. 572; 39 C. 53=11 I.C. 180=15 C.W.N. 972. See also 37 C.W.N. 18=1933 C. 539.

where any way or water-course, or the use of any water, or any other easement (whether affirmative or negative) has been peaceably and openly enjoyed by any person claiming title thereto as an easement and as of right without interruption, and for twenty years, the right to such access and use of light or air, way, water-course, use of water or other easement shall be absolute and indefeasible.

Each of the said periods of twenty years shall be taken to be a period ending within two years next before the institution of the suit wherein the claim to which such period relates is contested.

(2) Where the property over which a right is claimed under sub-section (1) belongs to [1][the Crown] that sub-section shall be read as if for the words "twenty years" the words "sixty years" were substituted.

Explanation.—Nothing is an interruption within the meaning of this section, unless where there is an actual discontinuance of the possession or enjoyment by reason of an obstruction by the act of some person other than the claimant, and unless such obstruction is submitted to or acquiesced in for one year after the claimant has notice thereof and of the person making or authorizing the same to be made.

(a) A suit is brought in 1911 for obstructing a right of way. The defendant admits the obstruction, but denies the right of way. The plaintiff proves that the right was peaceably and openly enjoyed by him, claiming title thereto as an easement and as of right, without interruption from 1st January, 1890 to 1st January, 1910. The plaintiff is entitled to judgment.

(b) In a like suit the plaintiff shows that the right was peaceably and openly enjoyed by him for twenty years. The defendant proves that the plaintiff, on one occassion during the twenty years, had asked his leave to enjoy she right. The suit shall be dismissed.

Exclusion in favour of reversioner of servient tenement.

27. Where any land or water upon, over or from which any easement has been enjoyed or derived has been held under or by virtue of any interest for life or any term of years exceeding three years from the granting thereof, the time of the enjoyment of such easement during the continuance of such interest or term shall be excluded in the computation of the period of twenty years in case the claim is, within three years next after the determination of such interest or term, resisted by the person entitled, on such determination, to the said land or water.

A right of fishery is an interest in land and falls under Art. 144 of the Act. It is not necessary for the plaintiff to prove user for 20 years' under sec. 26. 3 Pat.L.T. 53=1922 P. 9. User of intermittent nature—Absence of assertion of rights—Acquisition of right. 1922 L. 59. Sec. 26 allows an easement irrespective of the capacity or incapacity of the servient owner to make a grant. The period of two years within which under the section a suit must be brought, if the section is to be availed of, should not, however, be confused with the period of one year mentioned in the explanation to the section. The explanation only defines the interruption contemplated by the section. 19 Pat. L.T. 511=1938 Pat. 423. See also 40 C.W. In order to establish the acquisition of a right of fishery in a public tidal and navigable river as an easement by prescription, it is necessary to prove that the user was in assertion of a right other and higher than the general right of the public to fish in such river. 49 C.W.N. 539=1946 C. 12.

SEC. 27.—Sec. 27 does not apply to a donee or transferee from a Hindu widow in and that within two years after C's death he contested A's claim to the right. The suit must be dismissed, as A, with reference to the provisions of this section, has only proved enjoyment for fifteen years.

Extinguishment of right to property.

virtue of her powers as representing the estate. 41 I.C. 47.

SEC. 28: SCOPE OF SECTION.—This section only extinguishes a right, if the remedy by suit is barred. It does not say that even a defence will be barred. 1926 N. 99=89 I.C. 752. A suit for possession referred to in sec. 28, is a suit for which the period of limitation is prescribed by the schedule to the Limitation Act and not by the Oudh Rent Act. Further the section refers to a suit by a person who is capable of instituting a suit and is not one suffering under any disability. 1943 O.W.N. 99=1943 Oudh 296. The rule of limitation is a rule of procedure, and does not either create or extinguish rights, except in the case of acquisition of title to immovable property by prescription under sec. 28. Sec. 28, however, extinguishes only the right to immovable property if the claim is not enforced within the perid of limitation, but it does not affect the right to movable property. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 685=41 Bom.L.R. 1002 =1939 Bom. 494. Although a right to assessment on land may for certain purposes be regarded as immovable property, it is impossible to hold that a suit to recover assessment is a suit for possession of property within the meaning of sec. 28. A right to recover assessment is a mere right of action, and cannot be lost by failure to bring a suit for possession of such property for 12 years. I.L.R. (1942) Bom. 326=44 Bom.L.R. 288 =1942 B. 174. If the owner whose property is encroached upon suffers his right to be barred by the law of limitation the practical effect is the extinction of his title in favour of the party in possession. Consequently where the executor holds the property adversely to the heir for upwards of 12 years on behalf of the charity for which it was dedicated, the title to it, acquired by prescription, becomes vested in the charity and that of the heir if he had any, becomes extinguished by operation of sec. 28. 47 C.W.N. 46 (2)=1942 A.L.J. 718=56 L.W. 8=1942 P.C. 64=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 11 (P.C.). Once a right to property has been extinguished under sec. 28, there can be no question of that right being revived or perfected by any action on the part of the person who lost that right. So where a person has allowed his right of pre-emption to become barred by time, anything subsequently done by him, on agreement with the vendee or reference to arbitration or even a decree obtained on the basis of the award, is of no avail and he cannot set up his time-barred right as a bar to another seeking to pre-empt the property. 9 Luck. 475=1934 O. 303. See also 14 P. 424=16 P.L.T. 183=1935 P. 164. Extinguishment of title of the true owner—Rule as to person in whom such title vests thereafter. See 45 Bom.L.R. 491=1943 B. 265. Twelve years' adverse possession of land by a wrongdoer not only bars the remedy of the real owner and extinguishes his title, but confers a title on the person in possession. That goes to the length of saying that the title of the real owner who had been dispossessed cannot even revive if, at a later date, he re-acquires possession. Sec. 28, Limitation Act, not only deprives the real owner of his right in the property but transfers it to the person who has successfully set up his adverse possession under the statute. Where a person remains in uninterrupted and unexplained possession and there is no indication of the capacity in which he was in possession then prima facie his possession must be presumed to be possession with an intention to claim the full rights of a proprietor. 1941 A.W.R. (Rev.) 1072= 1941 O.A. (Supp.) 870=1941 A.L.J. 676= 1942 All. 42. Sec. 28 presupposes that a person has, by force of limitation, lost his remedy by a suit for possession, and it is only in regard to such person that the section declares that his right to the property is extinguished. It cannot apply to persons who are in possession. 37 Bom.L.R. 471= 59 B. 502=1935 B. 326. See also 40 P.L.R. 319=1938 Lah. 369. The institution of a suit for possession within 12 years of dispossession is sufficient to bar the operation of sec. 28 although possession is actually obtained under the decree passed in the suit after that period. 46 C.W.N. 551. Sec. 28 does not apply to a suit for setting aside an order rejecting a claim; and the claimant's right to the property is not extinguished by his failure to get the order set aside within one year of the date of the order by a regular suit. When the execution proceedings including the attachment come to an end subsequent to the claim order, the claimant is not precluded from suing for a declaration of his title to the property after the lapse of a year from the date of the adverse claim order. 165 I.C. 84=40 C.W.N. 146. A person who obtains possession of property over which he has a charge should have that charge satisfied before he is made to part with possession irrespective of the fact that his remedy to enforce the charge may be barred by limitation. 144 I.C. 716=1933 N. 190. Limitation Act should be construed strictly. Limitation is not extinction and the bar created by limitation does not discharge a debt save in the particular circumstances mentioned in sec. 28. 40 I.C. 358 =5 L.W. 593. Sec. 28 is limited to suits for for possession and does not apply in respect of suits for debts. In respect of debts the Act simply bars the remedy but does not extinguish the debts. 44 C. 425=21 C.W.N. 177; 1930 A. 416. Neither Sch. I nor sec. 28 applies to defences. 1 P.R. 1916=32 I.C. 485. The effect of continued possession for over twelve years was only to perfect her title to a widow's estate which enured to the estate of her Hindu husband and devolved on his next heirs. 7 Luck. 320 =1933 O. 92. Although a right to assessment on land may for certain purposes be regarded as immovable property, it is impossible to hold that a suit to recover assessment is a suit for possession of property within the meaning of sec. 28. A right to recover assessment is a mere right of action, and cannot be lost by failure to bring a suit for possession of such property for 12 years. 44 Bom.L.R. 288=I.L.R. 1942 B. 326=1942 B. 174. See also 41 Bom.L.R. 1002=I.L.R. A person whose right to recover joint possession is extinguished under Art. 47, cannot therefore elude the operation of Art. 47 by framing his suit as one for damages of his share of the produce, as the right to claim damages is not separate from the right to claim possession or joint possession. 26 N.L.R. 160=1930 N. 142. years prior to suit. It was found that the mortgagor lessee had not been paying any rent to the mortgagee. Held, that by the operation of sec. 28 read with Art. 139 all the rights of the mortgagee as landlord had become extinguished and that the suit was barred. Art. 131 could not be applied to the case. 41 L.W. 398=1935 M. 377. See also 42 C.W.N. 758. Sec. 28 is confined to suits for possession and does not apply to a suit by a mortgagee for recovery of money due to him by sale of the mortgaged property. In cases to which that section does not apply the remedy by a suit may be barred but the right is not extinguished. 1930 A. 416=122 I.C. 411. See also 1935 O.W.N. 40=10 Luck. 539=1935 O. 139. Sec. 28 does not apply to persons who, being in actual possession which has never been disturbed, have had no occasion to sue for recovery of it, as a party in possession cannot be prejudicially affected by the law of limitation. 1930 A.L.J. 1416= 1930 A. 858; 1931 L. 668=32 P.L.R. 479. A suit for possession of the office of mutawalli is an action of a personal character and is not "a suit for possession of any property". Where the action for possession of the office is statute barred, right to a particular wakf property is not necessarily extinguished under sec. 28, which is limited to suits for "possession of property". 1930 A. 866=129 I.C. 375. In proceedings under sec. 145, Cr. P. Code, there was a dispute about crops and possession of the crops was delivered to one of the parties, but not the fields. The parties to a suit, instituted after three years from the date of the order in those proceedings, were not all of them paries to the said proceedings. It was also not proved that the area of the fields in dispute in the suit was the subject-matter of the prior dispute. Held, the suit was not barred under Art. 47 and sec. 28. 152 I.C. 180=11 O.W.N. 1165=1934 O. 449. See also 1937 A.L.J. 225=1937 A. 300. SEC. 28 AND ART. 44.—Art. 44 must be read with sec. 28 and if an ex-minor fails to sue within the period prescribed by Art. 44 to set aside an alienation made by his guardian and obtain possession of the property alienated, then by the operation of sec. 28, his right to that property becomes extinguished. 43 Mys. SEC. 29: SCOPE OF SECTION.—The amendment of sec. 29 by Act X of 1922 does not restrict the scope of the section but extends it. 91 I.C. 563=1926 N. 236. The enactment of sec. 29 of the present Limitation Act in its present form was rendered necessary not because the word "prescribed" in Part III of the Act did not mean prescribed by any law for the time being in force but because certain Courts had held that the application of the general provisions of the Limitation Act laid down in Part III to special and local Acts did "affect or alter" the periods of limitation prescribed by those Acts and the Legislature disapproved of those decisions. I.L.R. (1939) All. 647=1939 A.L.J. 522=1939 All. 403 (F.B.). See also I.L.R. (1941) A. 356=1941 All. 207. As to effect of amendment, see 36 C.W.N. 833=1933 C. 90. The amendment of sec. 29 in 1922 has extended and not restricted the scope of the section. Under the new sec. 29 some of the provisions of the Limitation Act are made applicable without being expressly included unless they are expressly excluded by the special or local law. The rest of the provisions remain as before applicable only when they are expressly included. The expression 'the remaining provisions of the Act shall not apply' in the amended sec. 29 simply means that they are not to apply proprio vigore that is merely by virtue of the Limitation Act itself and that if they are to apply, the grounds for applying them must be found in the special or local Act itself. I.L.R. (1941) All. 356=1941 A.L.J. 267=1941 All. 207. See also 1939 All. 403; 44 Bom.L.R. 138=1942 Bom. 131.

If a special or local law is a complete code in the matter of 'limitation' or if the phraseology of the sections enumerated in sec. 29 (2) makes those sections inapplicable to proceedings under such law the application of those sections to the special or local law must be deemed to have been expressly excluded by the legislature. 1942 A.L.W. 635= 1942 A.L.J. 592=1942 All. 429 (F.B.)=I.L. R. (1943) All. 84.

All that sec. 29 (2), lays down is that where a special or local law prescribes a special period of limitation the excluded provisions of the Limitation Act shall not apply. In sec. 25-A, newly introduced into Madras Act (IV of 1938), though a right of appeal is given no period of limitation different from the period prescribed by the first schedule to the Limitation Act is indicated. Therefore the provisions of sec. 29 (2) of the Limitation Act have no application so as to exclude

(2) Where any special or local law prescribes for any suit, appeal or application a period of limitation different from the period prescribed therefor by the first schedule, the provisions of section 3 shall apply, as if such period were prescribed therefor in that schedule, and for the purpose of determining any period of limitation prescribed for any suit, appeal or application by any special or local law—

(a) the provisions contained in section 4, sections 9 to 18, and section 22 shall apply only in so far as, and to the extent to which, they are not expressly excluded by such special or local law; and

[1][(3)] Nothing in this Act shall apply to suits under the Indian Divorce Act.

[1][(4)] Sections 26 and 27 and the definition of "easement" in S. 2 shall not apply to cases arising in territories to which the Indian Easements Act, 1882, may for the time being extend.

There is no conflict between sec. 29 (2) (b), Limitation Act and sec. 185 (2), Bengal Tenancy Act. There is an express reference in sec. 29 (2) to sec. 3, which itself refers to secs. 4 to 25 and consequently secs. 4, 9 to 18 and 22 are specifically made applicable so far as not expressly excluded; and the only reasonable way in which Cl. into a manhole belonging to the Municipality which had been left open in breach of a statutory duty cannot be instituted without giving notice as contemplated by sec. 167, Bombay District Municipal Act and the suit must be brought within six months from the date of the injury caused to the horse. 131 I.C. 181=1931 S. 55. The Limitation Act does not purport to revive claims which are declared as extinguished by lapse of time. It also does not purport to effect the period of limitation provided by an English statute nor does an English statute come within the meaning of a local or special law referred to in sec. 29. 25 S.L.R. 222=1931 S. 124. The exception in sec. 29 (3) regarding matrimonial matter refers only to suits under the Divorce Act. 49 C.W.N. 570=1945 Cal. 484.

SCH. I: SCOPE.—The first schedule provides periods of limitation for the institution of suits and not for putting in defences. 1 P.R. 1916=32 I.C. 485. Periods of limitation provided in this schedule are to be computed subject to the provsions contained in the body of the Act. 2 C. 336. The articles are to be so construed as to make them harmonious and consistent. 31 C. 681 (F.B.); 26 M. 780=13 M.L.J. 412. If there be two articles which may cover the case the more particular and specific of the two ought to be regarded as one governing the case. 26 B. 430; 26 C. 564=3 C.W.N. 464 (F.B.); 40 L.W. 760=1935 M. 1; 26 A. 482=1 A.L.J. 195; 127 I.C. 889=1930 N. 300; 130 I.C. 157=1931 N. 47; 41 Bom.L.R. 1223=1940 B. 20. If two articles are wide enough to include the the same cause of action and neither of them can be said to apply more specifically than the other, that which keep alive rather than that which bars the right to sue should generally, apart from other equitable considerations, be preferred. 127 I.C. 889=1930 N. 300. The nature of the cause of action rather than the form of the suit determines the applicability of the particular article. 20 N.L.R. 80=80 I.C. 769=1924 N. 125. See also 1934 L. 725; 27 B. 363 and 35 C. 298 on the point. The plaintiff can so frame his suit as to make a certain article favourable to him applicable, though the same suit, if framed, otherwise, would have come under a less favourable article. 1932 A.L.J. 317=1932 A. 358. The language of the third column of Sch. I should be so interpreted as to carry out the true intention of the legislaure, that is to say, by dating the cause of action from a date when the remedy is available to the party. 62 C. 66=1935 C. 333. The law of limitation applicable to a suit is the law in force at the time of the institution of the suit. But this general rule is subject to the proviso that neither the right to the property in question has been extinguished nor the right to sue in respect of it barred before the latter law came into force. Once a right to property has been extinguished, or right of suit barred, it cannot be revived by subsequent Limitation Acts in the absence of express words so providing. I.L.R. (1941) Bom. 260=43 Bom.L.R. 194=1941 B. 178.

ART. 2.: ESSENTIALS FOR APPLICABILITY. —Art. 2 has no application to suits for recovery of statutory compensation, but is confined to suits for compensation in the sense of damages for acts which (are not legalised wrongs but) are and remain torts. A suit for statutory compensation arising out of (or rather implied in) restrictions authorised by the Mines Acquisition Act is governed not by Art. 2 but by Art. 120. 15 P. 510=1936 P. 513. The expression "in pursuance of any enactment" in Art. 2 must be interpreted as meaning acting bona fide in conformity with an enactment, and not merely pretending to act or acting under colour of such an enactment. Art. 2 should not be applied as if it were proved against the averment of the plaintiff, and there should be an enquiry as to whether the defendant had, in fact, acted in good faith or not. 1935 A.L.J. 459=1935 A. 538 (F.B.)=57 A. 935. See also 4 L. 428 =1924 L. 169; 8 B. 421; 22 B. 289; 15 C. 259; 36 A. 555=12 A.L.J. 952; 3 R. 268= 1925 R. 311; 1931 A.L.J. 858=1932 A. 16. The words "alleged to be in pursuance of any enactment" in Art. 2 must be reasonably construed and the person who seeks to take advantage of the shorter period of limitation must show that he had reasonable grounds for justifying his action under the particular enactment which he then relied upon and not simply that he arbitrarily asserted or thought so. He must, in short, have assumed to act in the honest exercise of a supposed statutory power. 39 P.L.R. 915=1937 L. 748. Where in a suit for compensation the defendant pleads bar of limitation under Art. 2, there must be an inquiry as regards good faith before a decision can be come to as to whether Art. 2 applies or not, and if in the inquiry the defendant fails to prove good faith, he is not entitled to protection under Art. 2. The case is even stronger if it becomes evident that the defendant knowingly acted contrary to the provisions of the enactment of which he seeks to take advantage and Art. 2 has no application to such a case. 32 S.L.R. 106=1937 Sind 281. A suit for damages by a civil servant for wrongful dismissal is not governed by Art. 2. It cannot be possibly said that his dismissal is "an act done in pursuance of any enactment in force." ARTS. 2 AND 36.—Suit for compensation for act done in pursuance of Cattle Trespass Act —Art. 2 and not Art. 36 applies. 39 P.L.R. 915=1937 L. 748. No doubt Art. 2 of the Limitation Act makes no reference whatsoever to bona fides and mala fides. But the protection of the Article cannot be claimed by a defendant where it is shown and found that the act complained of was a wilful and malicious act which the defendant could not have committted in the honest belief that he was justified in doing it under any enactment; and a suit in respect of such an act may be filed within the time limited by Art. 36. 1942 A.L.W. 63. See also 1937 Sind 281; 1945 L. 324=47 P.L.R. 302 (F.B.) 5 The words "not provided for by this Schedule, article 4" have been omitted by Act XXXIV of 1939.

ART. 3.—See 13 I.C. 641.

ART. 5.—See 41 Bom.L.R. 518=1939 B. 342. Art. 5 does not apply to suits on promissory notes filed under O. 37, C. P. Code 1925 C. 78=52 C. 954=29 C.W.N. 589; 98 I.C. 78=1927 Sind 90.

ART. 7.—Art. 7 is applicable only to domestic servants. 1928 M. 27=27 L.W. 30=106 I.C. 229. The term 'household servant' as used in Art. 7 must be read ejusdem generis with the words 'artisan or labourer' which follow it. It cannot apply to a person who is employed for the purpose of collecting rents of houses and as a male companion in his employer's journey abroad. 8 Luck. 119=1933 O. 393. A biswarthar in Oudh is not such a servant. 1924 O. 189=26 O.C. 327=10 O. L.J. 348; nor a weighman in a shop. 48 A. 164=90 I.C. 120=23 A.L.J. 1059=1926 A. 172; nor a salesman in a shop. 1935 R. 235; nor a fencing teacher. 8 M.H.C.R. 87; nor one who was to clean a temple. 7 M. 99; nor a village barber. 1941 N.L.J. 102=1941 N. 132; nor a contractor. 7 M. 100; 10 B. 196; nor a wet nurse. 17 I.C. 658=10 A.L.J. 395; nor a cook employed in a hotel. 1937 M. 340=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 329. But see 28 I.C. 956 (Mad.); nor a motor car driver. 62 C. L.J. 562=1936 C. 808. See however 5 Bom. 477. As to a motor driver who is provided with boarding and lodging by the employer, see 38 P.L.R. 296=1936 L. 661. Art. 7 does not apply to a suit by a shahna for the amount of wages due to him in respect of watching the crops attached in execution of a decree, as he is not a labourer within the meaning of that aticle. Such a suit is governed by Art. 102. 1935 A.L.J. 78=1935 A. 102. Art. 7 applies to a case where a household servant, artisan or labourer is hired on wages per day, per week or per month and does not apply to the remunera ion of a skilled person like goldsmith. Suit by a goldsmith for recovering the price of his labour in making ornaments falls under Art. 56 and not under Art. 7. I.L.R. (1938) N. 592=1938 N. 286. It is open to a master instead of paying the salary then and there to give credit in his account books and treat him as his creditor. Then Art. 7 does not apply and the ordinary rule of limitation applies. 1928 M. 27=27 L.W. 30. The word 'artisan' in Art. 7 means a mechanic or workman who has acquired some manual skill and does not mean person undertaking higher class of work. 50 I.C. 37=12 S.L.R. 140. So a suit by a mechanical engineer would be governed by Art. 102 and not by Art. 7. 50 I.C. 37. A village carpenter is an 'artisan' and a suit for wages by him is governed by Art. 7 and not by Art. 102 or Art. 56. 152 I.C. 885=1934 N. 260. A motor car driver is an artisan within the meaning of Art. 7. 5 R. 477=1927 R. 279; 62 C.L.J. 562=1936 C. 808; 1936 L. 661=38 P.L.R. 296.

ARTS. 8 AND 9.—If Arts. 8 and 9 apply to a claim for boarding charges. 91 I.C. 839=1926 C. 530. Consumable commodities sold in a restaurant would certainly come under Art. 8, but the mere fact that a proprietor of a store has a restraurant department does not make all articles of food which he may have sold in a different department lose their character of "goods" and with it the benefit of the Art. 52 of the Act. Food and drink the price of which would come under Art. 8 must be meals or articles of food which are either consumed on the premises or are sent out or taken away by the customer which are intended for, or capable of, immediate consumption in the state in which they are sent out, that is to say, without cooking. If from the restaurant is sent out, for instance, a case of beer, that would scarcely be drink in that sense of the word. It would be goods; and the same rule applies to article in tins which do not require immediate consumption. 1939 Rang.L.R. 626=1940 R. 17.

ART. 10: APPLICABILITY.—A suit for pre-emption in respect of a pure and simple lease is governed by Art. 120 and not by Art. 10. 1921 A. 154=19 A.L.J. 442=62 I.C. 884. See also 15 C. 184. So also in regard to a subsequent transferee from original vendee. 31 P.R. 1913=18 I.C. 70 (F.B.), overruling 25 P.R. 1903 and 106 P.R. 1907. See also 17 P.R. 1915=28 I.C. 695. So also where physical possession is not with the vendor but with the plaintiff who had executed a sale to the former with a covenant to pre-empt. 1921 M. 554=40 M.L.J. 443=62 I.C. 27. So also in the case of a tenant becoming owner under a foreclosure decree. 1927 O. 212=102 I.C. 22 (2). Where the document was executed as a deed of gift but it appeared that the parties really effected a sale and the person who sued for pre-emption was shown to have been aware of the passing of consideration, held, that he should sue within the time prescribed by Art. 10 and that sec. 18 did not save limitation. 128 I.C. 257=5 Luck. 492 (P.C.)=1931 P.C. 12=57 I.A. 251. See also 1928 N. 89 (1). But if the fraud was not known to the plaintiff, limitation will commence under sec. 18, only from the time when that fraud first become known to him. 36 P. L.R. 114=1934 L. 878; I.L.R. (1937) L. 202 =1937 L. 97. A sale of an undivided share of a joint holding does not admit of physical possession and is, therefore, governed by the second part of Art. 10 of the Limitation Act and the terminus-a-quo is the date of the registration of the instrument of sale. Where a deed of sale of a share in an undivided holding which was executed and registered, purported to sell occupancy rights but subsequently another deed reciting the sale of proprietary rights in the same land was executed and registered, and this deed recited that the mention of occupancy rights in the earlier deed was made under a misconception, that the parties had intended to sell proprietary rights and that the object of the later deed was to correct the misdescription and to substitute therefor the sale of proprietary rights, the limitation for pre-emption runs from the date of registration of the second deed. The reason why Art. 10, lays down that the terminus-a-quo is the date of the registration of the deed of sale (in cases where the subject of the sale does not admit of physical possession) is that the date of registration is the date on which the public must be presumed to know that the transfer has taken place. The registration of the earlier deed which conveyed the sale of occupancy rights cannot be presumed to inform any one interested that a sale of proprietary rights has taken place. The necessary publicity could only be given by the registration of the later deed of sale of proprietary rights. From the point of view of publicity and notoriety, it is wholly immaterial that the later deed is not the actual deed of conveyance but merely a deed correcting a misdescription of the nature of the transaction mentioned in the earlier deed. 200 I.C. 81=44 P.L.R. 99=A.I. R. 1942 Lah. 118.

STARTING POINT— PHYSICAL POSSESSION.—Limitation against the pre-emptor begins from the date of the physical possession of the purchaser and not from the date of symbolical possession. 1 Pat.L.T. 578=4 P.L.J. 277; 1927 L. 784. A fractional share of a zamindari situated in several Rathas is not capable of being physically taken possession of. 50 I.C. 80 (1)=17 A.L.J. 269. See also Physical possession is always possible in cases of houses and shops. 89 I.C. 444=23 A.L.J. 885=1926 A. 70 (1). Whether the property admits of physical possession or not must be determined with reference to the date of the sale. 1927 L. 784=26 Punj.L.R. 780; 1924 L. 302=73 I.C. 903. The physical possession contemplated by Art. 10, does not consist of formal statements by third parties but of physical control visible to other people, which gives notice of a change. Where a sale-deed contained a statement that "the immovable property as above has been sold for the above amount and the possession has also been delivered. It is as follows, Excluding the standing crop which is in the field, the possession has been delivered of the black soil," it was held that the statement cannot be regarded as evidence which warranted in law the conclusion that transfer of physical possession within the meaning of Art. 10, took place at the time of sale. Ganapat Ishnaji v. Chandrabhagabi. 1942 N.L.J. 567=A.I.R. 1943 Nag. 90=I.L.R. (1943) Nag. 209. In cases of sale of properties situated within the jurisdiction of two registration offies, time begins to run from the date of first registration and not from the date of the entry regarding registration made in the other office sometime later. 23 A.L.J. 104=1925 A. 324=48 A. 12. Where in case of a mortgage by conditional sale maturing into a decree absolute, there is delivery of possession after 5 years, time runs from the date of the original transfer, i.e., the date of the mortgage and not the date of the delivery of possession. 39 A. 544=40 I. C. 461. But see 3 A. 175; 1 A. 311 (F.B.). In case of a sale required to be sanctioned by the Deputy Commissioner under the Land Alienation Act, time begins to run from the date of sale and not from the date of such sanction. 79 P.R. 1913=19 I.C. 239. Where by private arrangement, possession is taken by vendee before sale, time begins to run only from the date of sale. 80 P.R. 1918=48 I.C. 102. In a suit for possession by a purchaser of a share in land, the defendant cannot plead by way of defence his right of pre-emption which has become barred by limitation under Art. 10. The right of pre-emption is an inchoate right and in order to be completed it must be exercised. If that right is not still enforceable, it cannot be a ground of valid defence. 42 C.W.N. 1028. Where a purchaser under a sale deed in respect of which the cause of action for the suit for pre-emption has arisen subsequently transfers the property to another, the original cause of action for pre-emption is not thereby affected, for the subsequent transferee must take the transfer only subject to the right of pre-emption. Though such a transferee is impleaded in the suit more than a year after the date of the transfer to him, the suit filed within a year of the original sale is not barred by limitation. I.L.R. (1939) All. 220=1939 A.L.J. 35=1939 A. 158. For purposes of Art. 10, limitation in every case whether the sale deed is compulsorily registrable or not begins from the date when the sale deed is registered under S. 60, Registration Act. 218 I.C. 367=A.I.R. 1945 Pesh. 9.

Dismissal of an application for want of prosecution on the ground that objector did not produce evidence is dismissal on the merits to which article is applicable. 20 I.C. 369; 19 A. 253 (F.B.); 40 A. 325. Where an objection is dismissed under O. 21, R. 58 as being made after unnecessary delay, the order rejecting the claim is an order made against the claimant under O. 21, R. 63, and a suit to establish the applicant's claim falls under Art. 11. 57 B. 213=35 Bom.L.R. 147=1933 B. 190; 39 C.W.N. 457=61 C.L.J. 5; 1935 C. 500. An order simply directing a sale after notifying the claim is one against the claimant to which Art. 11 applies. 4 M. 985=33 M.L.J. 335 (F.B.). Where the order was "Petition not pressed as the decree-holder has to file a separate suit for the purpose," held, that the petition was not disposed of, and that plaintiff was not limited to the period of one year prescribed by Art. 11-A. 1933 M.W.N. 924.

SUITS NOT GOVERNED BY ARTICLE.—Art. 11 does not apply as against a person who was not a party to the proceedings in which the order sought to be set aside was made. 42 P.L.R. 601=1940 L. 497. Suit to recover property released from attachment before judgment under O. 38, R. 8 is not governed by Art. 11 or 13. 41 M. 23=39 I.C. 863. Arts. 11 and 13 do not apply to orders on claims by Official Receiver to property attached. 45 M. 70=1922 M. 189=41 M.L.J. 334. Proclamation of sale under certificate under Public Demands Recovery Act—Objections to—Rejection—Suit by objector for declaration of title and possession—Limitation is governed by Art. 11. 17 P. 446=1939 P. 109. Art. 11 (1) does not apply unless there has been an attachment in the manner prescribed by the C.P. Code. In cases where the property has been or is sought to be sold under a mortgage decree, there can be no attachment within the meaning of O. 21, R. 58, and a suit to contest an order passed on an objection to such a sale need not be filed within one year. 33 P.L.R. 1033=1933 L. 75. The executing Court will have no jurisdiction to investigate a claim or objection under O. 21, R. 58, when once the sale takes place. So dismissal for default of a such claim after the sale, being without jurisdiction, will not be governed by this Act. 65 C.L.J. 353=41 C.W.N. 845=1937 C. 390. Where an attachment effected in execution of a decree was held irregular and the property was released, and the claimant's objection on the basis of a gift deed in his favour was formally accepted, a suit filed more than one year after that, to declare the gift deed fraudulent, is in time being governed by Adt. 120. 1933 L. 449=34 P.L.R. 443. An application under O. 21, R. 100 dismissed for want of cause of action, on the ground that the applicant continues to be in possession of the disputed plots of land—Art. 11-A does not constrain the applicast to bring a suit within one year. 38 C.L.J. 150=1924 C. 97. Nor does article apply to a suit by such applicant on subsequent dispossession. 1924 C. 97; 50 C. 311=84 I.C. 876=1923 C. 601. Where, after dismissal of a claim to attached property, the execution proceedings were dismissed for default of the decree-holder and the attachment ceased under O. 21, R. 57, the claimant need not thereafter sue within a year after the adverse order under Art. 11. 51 C. 548=39 C.L.J. 418=1924 C. 744. See also 41 B. 64=36 I. The mere attachment in the case of execution of a mortgage decree gives no cause of action for a suit by reversioners and the article is inapplicable. 10 L. 543=1929 L. 90 (2). Certain ancestral land was attached in execution of a money decree against the father. The sons objected to the attachment under O. 21, R. 58, and the objection was dismissed in January, 1922, and their suit for a declaration under O. 21, R. 63 was also dismissed. A fresh suit was filed by them in 1924 after their father's death for possession of the attached land which was sold in execution of the decree and purchased by the decree-holder. Held, that the suit was not barred by limitation, as the cause of action for the suit being the alienation effected in execution proceedings after the sons' objection had been dismissed, and a suit for possession not being competent in the lifetime of the father. 139 I.C. 522=33 P.L.R. 882=1932 L. 460. An application by an auction-purchaser under O. 21, r. 97 was allowed as to one item of property as being unopposed and dismissed as to another item, because the auction-purchaser adduced no evidence. Held, that the order was not one made in default but one made on investigation and a suit to set aside such an order was governed by Art. 11-A. 155 I.C. 702=39 C.W.N. 164=1935 C. 267. See also I.L.R. mortgage decree the auction-purchaser obtained a decree and an order for symbolical delivery against the 1st defendant and he subsequently brought a suit against the 2nd defendant for actual possession, the previous order in execution not having been a final order cannot be considered to be passed under r. 103 of O. 21. There is, therefore, no obligation upon him to bring a suit for possession within one year from the date of that order and a suit brought later cannot therefore be deemed to be barred by R. 103. 1930 M.W.N. 1051. Art. 11-A does not apply where what is sought to be set aside is the original decree and not the order in execution proceedings. 51 B. 158=101 I.C. 40 =1927 B. 184. Terms of Art. 11-A go to show that it applies only to cases where a person who has been actually dispossessed of the property and who made an application under O. 21, R. 100, and whose application was dismissed, then brings a suit. Where the plaintiff was actually dispossessed long after the date of the order dismissing his application under O. 21, R. 100, limitation for a suit to establish his title and recover possession is that provided under Art. 142 and not Art. 11-A. 1929 P. 553=117 I.C. 634. Art. 11-A is correlated to and must be read with O. 21, R. 103 of the Code, and the article applies only when the suit as brought is one by a decreeholder or auction purchaser as such, and cannot apply if the plaintiff falls back on his original title as owner of the property in suit treating the defendant as holding permissively. 114 I.C. 725= 1929 A. 610. Art. 11-A does not bar suits for recovery of possession of immovable property after proceedings under Chapter VII of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act have failed. 1929 M. 69=29 L.W. 537.

STARTING POINT OF LIMITATION.—Time runs from the date of the order and not the date of attachment and sale of property. 40 M. 733 =31 M.L.J. 394. Time runs only from the date of the appellate order in case of a Letters Patent appeal. 39 M. 1196=28 I.C. 367. But time taken in an unsuccessful revision petition to the High Court cannot be deducted. 8 Bur.L.J. 93=27 I.C. 829. There is much to be said in favour of the view that under Art. 11, the starting point should be taken to be the date of the final order, whether that order was passed on an appeal from that order or whether it was passed in a civil revision petition from that order. 1943 M.W.N. 455=A.I R. 1943 Mad. 633 =(1943) 2 M.L.J. 41.

ART. 11-A.—[See also under ART. 11, supra.] Art. 11-A does not contemplate computation of the period of limitation from the date of any order passed in revision. There is a clear distinction between an appeal and an application for revision. Whereas the right of appeal is a substantive right created by statute, interference by the High Court by way of revision is entirely discretionary and when the High Court rejects a petition for revision, it is not as if the order of dismissal is the only subsisting order in the case. It only amounts to the High Court abstaining from exercising its jurisdiction and allowing the order of the Subordinate Court to stand. 1931 N. 17= 130 I.C. 145.

Before Art. 11-A applies, there must have been an act of dispossession by the decreeholder or auction-purchaser. An order for delivery of possession of land in the actual possession of tenants made in favour of the decree-holder purchaser under O. 21, R. 96, C.P. Code, does not amount to dispossession within the meaning of that article. 44 C. W.N. 251=70 C.L.J. 111=1940 C. 16. Art. 11-A, applies only to suits by a person who has been dispossessed of property in the delivery of possession in execution of a decree. Where a person had not been dispossessed of the property when the order under O. 21, R. 99, C. P. Code, was passed against him and the application which was presented by him under O. 21, R. 99, C.P. Code, was held to be incompetent, the suit is not covered by the terms of Art. 11-A. 1940 L. 349.

ART. 12: SCOPE AND APPLICATION.—Article applicable to suits to set aside a sale voidable on any ground. 49 I.A. 312=1 P. 733=44 M.L.J. 718=1922 P.C. 336 (P.C.); 14 I. It is enough if the relief sought cannot be had without setting aside the sale. 25 C. 179=24 I.A. 170 (P.C.); 10 B. 214; 27 B. 577. Art. 12 does not apply to void sales. It applies only to cases where the plaintiff was a party to the proceedings in which the sale was held. 1941 O.W.N. 1328 =1941 O.A. 1013=17 Luck. 456=1942 O. 120. The language of Art. 12 (a) is wide and there is no reason to restrict the application of the expression "in execution of a decree" to cases of simple money decrees. The article applies to the case of sales on the basis of mortgage decrees also. 196 I.C. 457=1941 O.W.N. 1077=1942 Oudh 33. Thus a suit for possession of property sold in execution of a decree is governed by Art. 12. 1 L. 27=55 I.C. 833. See also 46 Bom. 914=24 Bom.L.R. 423=1923 B. 462. Art. 12 of the Limitation Act has no application to a suit in which the plaintiff does not want a sale to be set aside but merely asks for a declaration that, notwithstanding the sale in question, the interest which he has in the property sold is not affected by the sale in question or the confirmation thereof. 23 Pat. L.T. 364=A.I.R. 1942 Pat. 386. Art. 12 is not applicable to a suit by an unsuccessful claimant in execution proceedings, for a declaration of his lien on the property, arising out of a hypothecation in his favour by the judgment-debtor. The suit is not one for setting aside the sale nor is it necessary for the plaintiff so to do as he was not a party to it. 34 P.L.R. 468=1933 L. 10; 45 C.W. N. 277=I.L.R. (1941) 1 C. 339=1941 C. 333. ART. 13.—In a subsequent suit against an order in proceedings under Chap. VII of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, there is no necessity to alter or set aside any such decision or order and Art. 13 has no application. 1929 M. 69=56 M.L.J. 199. So also in a suit for declaration of title to certain property after an order of the Insolvency Court under sub-S. (3) of S. 14 of the Provincial Insolvency Act for sale of the interest of the insolvent in it, leaving the question of title to be decided by a competent Civil Court. 36 C.W.N. 621=1933 C. 263. See also on the article. 41 M. 23; 45 M. 70, cited under Arts. 11 and 11-A.

ART. 14: APPLICABILITY.—If it is necessary for a plaintiff to get rid of an order which stands in his way before he can obtain a certain relief, although he may sue merely for a declaratory decree, still the suit should be deemed to be one to set aside an order falling within the ambit of Art. 14. 15 L. 389=1934 L. 384 (F.B.). See also (1943) 1 M.L.J. 386. Art. 14 has no application when it is not necessary for the plaintiff to set aside the act or order in order to obtain the relief which he claims. 49 C.W.N. 117=1946 C. 480. "Official capacity"—Meaning of. 39 Bom.L.R. 288. See also 1943 Mad. 501=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 386. The article would apply if the suit involves the setting aside of an order, though there is no direct prayer to that effect. 25 B. 337=10 M.L.J. 368 (P.C.); 24 A. 467. Art. 13 applies only to orders and proceedings to which by law a particular effect is given. An order to come under Art. 14 must be an order of at least a quasi-judicial character and not a mere executive order. 104 I.C. 781=1927 M. 1167. See also 165 I.C. 739=1936 L. 692. Under Art. 14, the question is not merely one of form but of substance. 30 Bom.L.R. 431=1928 B. 180; 1939 C. 749. An order made without jurisdiction is a nullity and need not be set aside, and Art. 14 has no application to an order of that kind. 39 C.L.J. 454=83 I.C. 446=1924 C. 913. See also 29 B. 480; 30 M. 280; 1924 N. 142; 20 P.L.T. 136=1938 P.W.N. 631= 1938 P. 524. Thus the article does not apply where relief is asked for on the ground that order is ultra vires. 48 B. 61=1924 B. 273; 36 B. 225=15 I.C. 517; 39 B. 494=29 I. An order made by an officer of Government in his official capacity, purporting to act under the law, which is of a quasi-judicial character and within his power would fall under Art. 14. A suit to set aside an order of the Assistant Collector of Customs imposing penalty under S. 167 (17) of the Sea Customs Act is governed by Art. 14. 42 Bom.L.R. 532= 1940 Bom. 294. See also 57 M. 501=1934 M. 147=66 M.L.J. 715. SUITS GOVERNED BY ARTICLE.—A suit under S. 12, Redemption of Mortgages Act (XI of 1913), instituted by a person aggrieved by an order passed by the Collector under Ss. 6 to 10 or 11 of the Act to establish his right in respect of the mortgage is governed by Art. 14; it makes no difference that the suit is one for a mere declaration and no relief to set aside the order of the Collector has been expressly asked for in the plaint. (4 L. 346=1923 L. 648, Overr. and 1925 L. 385, Appr.) 15 L. 389=1934 L. 384 (F.B.). See also 165 I.C. 739=1936 L. 692; 40 P.L.R. 245 =1938 L. 512. A claim for relief inconsistent with an order of enfranchisement of inam is governed by Art. 14 if the order of enfranchisement is intra vires, i.e., the inam was granted or continued by Government, and in any case in which it is shown that the inam was not granted or continued by Government, Art. 142 or 144 would apply. 123 I.C. 341=1930 M. 710; 39 BomL.R. 288=I.L.R. A suit by a Zemindar against the Government for a declaration that an enfranchisement by the Government of a service inam in his Zemindari is not valid and binding on him, is generally governed by Art. 120, but if the Zemindar was a consenting party to such enfranchisement proceedings and did not object to the same, Art. 14 might apply. 58 M. 141=68 M.L.J. 409. See also 1936 O.A. 1943 (cc) 71=3 O. 68. (Suit for declaration involving setting aside of order). Where, however, the Zemindar has not appeared before the Inam Commissioner or taken any part in the proceedings, and sues on the footing that the proceedings are ultra vires, it is not necessary to set aside the proceedings and Art. 14 will not apply. 58 M. 141=1936 M. 316=68 M.L.J. 409; 165 I. C. 739=1936 L. 692. In such a case Art. 120 applies and the cause of action arises only when he is injuriously affected by the enfranchisement, i.e., when inamdar definitely refuses to perform the services for which the inam was originally granted. 58 M. 141; 31 I.C. 267=1915 M.W.N. 915 (in 37 M.L.J. 71 resumption treated as a nullity which need not be set aside.) SUITS NOT GOVERNED BY THIS ARTICLE.—Art. 14 does not apply to an order of enhanced assessment, which is a nullity or in excess of authority; in such a case it is not incumbent on the plaintiff to file a suit to have the order set aside. Consequently, a suit to recover payments made under protest filed more than one year after the order to recover such assessment was made is not barred by limitation. 36 Bom.L.R. 761=1934 B. 434. See also 39 Bom.L.R. 288. Where the suit for declaration of title was brought in the Civil Court more than one year after the order of the Deputy Collector, which was one passed apparently under S. 57 of the Estates Partition Act, held, that the suit not being to set aside the order of the Collector was not barred by Art. 14. 1931 C. 29=52 C.L.J. 247. See also 171 I.C. 267=1937 Pesh. 94. Where the suit was for declaration, against the Secretary of State, that the order by the Collector disposing of the suit lands in favour of the second defendant was null and void, and for possession as against the grantee, held, the relief regarding possession could not be awarded in this suit; that it was really a suit for declaration and injunction and governed by Art. 120, and not by Art. 144 or 14.

Description of suit.	Period of limitation.	Time from which period begins to run.
15. Against Government to set aside any attachment, lease or transfer of immovable property by the revenue-authorities for arrears of Government revenue.	[1][One year] ..	When the attachment, lease or transfer is made.
16. Against Goverement to recover money paid under protest in satisfaction of a claim made by the revenue-authorities on account of arrears of revenue or on account of demands recoverable as such arrears.	[1][One year] ..	When the payment is made.
17. Against Government for compensation for land acquired for public purposes.	[1][One year] ..	The date of determining the amount of the compensation.
18. Like suit for compensation when the acquisition is not completed.	[1][One year] ..	The date of the refusal to complete.

A suit to recover the plaintiff's share of that allowance brought more than one year from the date of that order was held to be not barred by Art. 14, as the plaintiff's claim was entirely independent of the order of Government. 33 Bom.L.R. 783=1931 B. 473.

ART. 16.—Art. 16 requires for its application that the demand, if not for arrears of revenue, should be "recoverable as such arrears'." Rents "settled" by the Settlement Officer under S. 104 of the Bengal Tenancy Act are not arrears of revenue and unless it can be shown that by some enactment they have been made to come under that description or have been made recoverable as arrears of revenue, Art. 16 cannot be applied to them. The fact that the claim to such rents comes within the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act would not bring that article into operation. 64 I.A. 281=I.L.R. A suit to recover the amounts paid as village service cess by the plaintiff under protest is governed by Art. 16. 61 M.L.J. 754 =1931 M. 525.

B. 28. 'Injury' in Art. 22 has a wider connotation than physical hurt. Assault even though it causes no hurt is an offence to the human body and wrongful obstruction to a person from entering a temple is an injury to the person and a claim for damages regarding the same is governed by Art. 22. 138 I.C. 84=1932 M. 432. The proper article applicable to a suit for damages for enticing away the plaintiff's wife is Art. 120 and not Art. 22. Injuries to person in Art. 22 mean physical injuries to the plaintiff and this is not a case of injury to the person of the plaintiff. 58 A. 903=1936 A. 454.

ART. 23.—See 40 C. 898=18 C.W.N. 185. Proceedings under the Bengal Disorderly Houses Act not a prosecution but only a libel. 20 I.C. 768=18 C.L.J. 352. Art. 2 applies only where the defendant did an act honestly believing that he was empowered to do it by some enactment. Otherwise the suit for compensation for wrongful act will fall under Art. 23. 3 R. 268=1925 R. 311. Time runs from the time the plaintiff is acquitted, or prosecution is otherwise terminated. 17 M.L.J. 60. Time runs from date of discharge. Revision petition does not suspend period. 24 Bom.L.R. 507=1922 B. 209; 23 M. 24. It is doubtful if the same rule will apply in case of appeal preferred by Government against acquittal. 20 C. 41. The word "prosecution" in Art. 23 is used in the general and not in the technical sense. It is used in a wider sense than a trial and will include criminal proceedings by way of appeal or revision before a District Magistrate, a Sessions Court or a High Court. A prosecution is terminated when it is brought to an end or is concluded. If the suit is filed within one year from that date, although more than one year after the order of discharge by the Magistrate, the plaintiff's claim is within limitation. 221 I.C. 666= I.L.R. (1946) N. 358=1946 N. 46. In the case of an acquittal on appeal, or on revision, the date of the order of the appellate Court is the starting point of limitation. 7 A. 205 (F.B.); 57 I.C. 635 (M.). See also I.L.R. A claim for compensation for malicious prosecution is governed by Art. 23 which is the more specific article and not by Art. 2. A claim for compensation for illegal arrest, however, falls within the scope of the latter article. 77 C.L.J. 93=A.I.R. 1944 Cal. 4. Limitation for a suit for malicious prosecution begins to run when the proceedings are terminated by acquittal or otherwise and the proceedings cannot be said to terminate when they are pending in any appellate or revisional Court or by way of reference. 1942 O.W.N. 446=1942 Oudh 489. "When the plaintiff was acquitted or the prosecution otherwise terminated"—Meaning—Prosecution of plaintiff and another—Discharge of plaintiff and framing of charge against the other—Enquiry against the latter terminating sometime later—Date of discharge for purposes of limitation for a suit by the plaintiff. 1945 M.W.N. 280=58 L.W. 238 =A.I.R. 1945 Mad. 288=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 287. ART. 24.—Each publication of a libel gives a fresh cause of action for suit. Where the President of a Union Bench sends a report to a Magistrate in connection with an application for transfer of a case pending before the Bench, a suit for damages for libellous matter contained in that report may be brought within one year of the publication of the report to the Magistrate. 40 C.W.N. 500. A suit for damages against the defendant for making a false accusation against the plaintiff to the police, when no prosecution was instituted, is a suit for compensation for libel or slander, and the limitation applicable to such a suit is that prescribed by Art. 24 or Art. 25 and not by Art. 36. 1937 Lah. 709.

Description of suit.	Period of limitation.	Time from which period begins to run.
25. For compensation for slander.	[1][One year] ..	When the words are spoken, or if the words are not actionable in themselves, when the special damage complained of results
26. For compensation for loss of service occasioned by the seduction of the plaintiff's servant or daughter	[1][One year] ..	When the loss occurs.
27. For compensation for inducing a person to break a contract with the plaintiff.	[1][One year] ..	The date of the breach.
28. For compensation for an illegal, irregular or excessive distress	[1][One year] ..	The date of the distress.
29 For compensation for wrongful seizure of movable property under legal process.	[1][One year] ..	The date of the seizure.

LEG. REF.

ART. 27.—Suit for compensation for inducing breach of contract is governed by Art. 27 of Limitation Act. 1926 P.C. 88=31 C.W. N. 174 (P.C.).

ART. 28.—See 26 A. 482. Art. 28 is a specific article dealing precisely with a claim to compensation for illegal distress or distraint. Distress has the same meaning as distraint. The illegal distress contemplated might be the result of various causes. The seizure of the property might be illegal either because the party in possession was not liable or because the property on account of its character was itself exempt from seizure. Again the person effecting seizure or the officer authorising the distraint might have no power or jurisdiction to effect the seizure, or the distraint itself might not be in conformity with the provisons of the statute under which the act was purported to be done. Seizure invalid due to want of jurisdiction is an illegal distraint covered by Art. 28, and there is no ground for applying Art. 36, which is a very wide and general article. Art. 28, being an express and specific article, must prevail over the general provisions. I. L.R. (1939) Bom. 721=41 Bom.L.R. 1223 =1940 B. 20.

ART. 29: SCOPE AND APPLICATION OF THE ARTICLE.—39 P.L.R. 948=1938 L. 196; 1937 Rang. 523. Distinction between Arts. 11 and 29. See 9 I.C. 773. The words "under legal process" in Art. 29 cannot be interpreted as meaning according to law and there is no justification for holding that any process taken according to law is legal process. By "legal process" is meant procedure by some sort of Court. The Collector acting under S. 154 of the Bombay Land Revenue Code is not acting as a Court, but is really acting as a creditor. Art. 29 applies to a seizure under a process issued by a Court, and does not apply to a seizure by the Collector under S. 154 of the Bombay Land Revenue Code. 203 I.C. 611=44 Bom.L.R. 668=A.I.R. 1942 Bom. 300. Art. 29 only governs cases where there has been an attachment which is found to have been wrongful, because the Court had no jurisdiction or because the attachment was obtained on insufficient grounds and in which there are no additional factors such as misappropriation or theft or conversion of the attached property. Where a sewing machine, which is the sole means by which a tailor earns his livelihood, is attached before judgment and entrusted to sureties, and the attachment is afterwards raised on the application of the tailor who objects to the attachment on the ground of the machine being not liable to attachment under S. 60, C.P. Code, being the tool of an artisan, a suit by the tailor for return of the machine in the condition in which it was attached and removed from his possession, or for damages, it being found that certain vital parts of the machine have been removed from the machine while in possession of the sureties, falls for purposes of limitation, not under Art. 29, but under Art. 48 or Art. 49. (1946) 1 M.L.J. 241. The crux of Art. 29 is in the words "wrongful seizure." If the seizure is not wrongful, there can be no cause of action. The seizure may be wrongful either because the property does not belong to the judgment-debtor or the Court has no jurisdiction to attach the property. It is because the process is illegal that the seizure becomes wrongful so as to give a cause of action for the suit. The sale of the property after the wrongful seizure does not give a new cause of action. 130 I. C. 157=1931 N. 47. perty belonging to a stranger, the suit by that stranger for compensation for wrongful seizure is governed by Art. 29. 1941 P.L.R. 1=1940 Rang. 276 (F.B.). This article applies only where an attachment is illegal ab initio. 22 A.L.J. 977=81 I.C. 1038=1925 A. 131. Where a seizure is under a writ of Court, it is not wrongful unless it is shown that the Court issuing it had no jurisdiction or the writ was executed against a person not a party to the decree. 64 I.C. 513=35 C.L.J. 480. See also 28 I.C. 463=42 C. 85 (arrest of ship). There should be wrongful seizure of movable property under legal process. See 23 M.L.J. 519; 23 M. 621. Where the plaintiff's claim is for recovery of the amount of money he has voluntarily paid to the Official Liquidator to save his property which had been wrongfully attached by the atter and for damages, Art. 62 and not Art. 29 applies. 9 Luck. 577=11 O.W.N. 398=1934 O. 158 (2). There can be wrongful seizure only where the property is in possession of the person. No doubt, constructive possession also will do, but when there is no right to possession, there cannot be wrongful seizure and Art. 29 has no application. 123 I.C. 362 (1)=1930 M. 349 (1). Attachment of debt effected by prohibitory order does not come within this article as there is no actual seizure. 38 M. 972=26 M.L.J. 166 (F.B.); and as debt is not movable property. 23 M.L.J. 519=16 I.C. 914. A suit to recover money wrongly paid under an order of Court is not governed by the article. 38 A. 676=35 I.C. 86; 11 M. 345; nor a suit to recover money rateably distributed in execution of a decree subsequently reversed. 38 A. 676=35 I.C. 86. See also 13 M. 437; 21 C. 142 (P.C.): 26 M.L.J. 166. Where a certain amount deposited in Court by the receiver appointed under O. 40, R. 1, C.P. Code, is attached and paid to a person a suit to recover back such amount is not governed by Art. 29, as the attachment is neither seizure within the meaning of Art. 29, nor wrongful. 1938 L. 493. Suit to recover damages for wrongful attachment before judgment of goods falls under Art. 29 and not Art. 36 or 49 and the starting point of limitation is the date of the seizure of the goods. Suit filed by third party aggrieved—No difference. 1930 M. 635. In a suit for damages for the unlawful attachment and seizure of certain properties, the date from which time begins to run is not the date of the attachment, but the date of the seizure, and hence it is immaterial whether the attachment is or is not a continuing wrong. 1934 R. 329. A cause of action is not suspended while the plaintiff is seeking to prove in other proceedings the facts upon which his cause of action depends. In a suit for damages for wrongful attachment, the time taken in getting the seizure declared illegal either on appeal or by other means cannot be deducted. 13 R. 43=1934 R. 329. Suit for damages on account of sale, of goods attached before judgment, at a low price and for injury to trade and reputation caused by such attachment is governed by Article. 38 M.L.J. 324=55 I.C. 786. Art. 29 governs also a suit for value of property wrongfully attached and sold in execution. 9 I.C. 773=4 Bur.L.T. 45; 9 I.C. 774; 14 I.C. 182 (M.); 23 M. 621; 4 M.L.J. 271.

ARTS. 29 AND 83.—Art. 29 applies only to seizure and not to any suit arising out of what happens later at the time of the sale. Where the suit is brought on an undertaking given by the defendants in a suit under O. 21, R. 63 that they would indemnify the plaintiff if he succeeds in the suit, it is Art. 83 that applies to such suit. 1938 L. 196.

ART. 30: LOSS OR INJURY TO GOODS.—Loss of goods may arise from non-delivery as well as misdelivery. 2 P. 442=1 P.L.R. 169=1923 P. 285. (2 L. 133; 41 M. 871; 43 M. 617; 43 B. 386, Ref. to). Railway is governed by Art. 31 and not by Art. 30. 1927 P. 335=8 P.L.T. 767; 5 P. 106.

STARTING POINT OF LIMITATION.—In a suit against a carrier for compensation for injuring goods, time does not run from tre date of the plaintiff's knowledge. Time begins to run from the date when the injury was actually caused and the burden of proving when the injury was caused rests upon the carrier. 1941 C. 304. The article refers to losing or injuring goods by the carrier and not by the consignee and time begins to run from the time when the carrier lost or injured the goods and not from the time when the consignee suffered loss. 19 I.C. 477; 45 A. 43=20 A.L.J. 792=1923 All. 22 (2). See also 12 P. 67=13 P.L.T. 695=1933 P. 45; 1935 A.L.J. 398=1935 A. 407=157 I. C. 46; 1937 R. 523. Mere non-delivery is not proof of such loss. 7 B. 478; 12 C. 477. Where a railway company has not proved that the goods were lost more than one year before the suit, a suit brought within one year from the date of refusal to deliver is not barred either by Art. 30 or 31. 17 I. C. 419=23 M.L.J. 511. The onus is on the railway company, in a suit for short delivery, to prove when the loss or injury to the goods actually occurred and that more than one year has elapsed from that date. Where the company had on the other hand throughout taken up the position that no loss had in fact occurred, Art. 30 is out of the question. 12 P. 67=13 P.L.T. 695. See also 1941 C. 304. Where a portion of goods was missing and plaintiff's offer to take delivery of the remainder was refused, a suit for damages filed within one year of the date when the plaintiff sought to obtain delivery is within time. 47 A. 549=23 A.L.J. 398 =1925 All. 588.

ARTS. 30 AND 115.—The law relating to common carriers in India is contained in the Carriers Act and the definition of "common carrier" in S. 2 of that Act excludes the Government from that category. Art. 30 which applies to "carriers" does not, therefore, apply to a suit against the Government relating to carriage by railway. Art. 115 is the appropriate article. I.L.R. (1941) 2 Cal. 160. See also 1938 C. 298=I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 614.

ART. 31.—See also under Art. 30.

APPLICATION OF THE ARTICLE.—Article applies to suits against State Railways also as the word used is "carrier" and not "common carrier" which does not include Government for the purpose of the Carriers Act, 1865. 1933 A. 348=144 I.C. 1029. See also 1933 A. 466=1933 A.L.J. 796. A suit against a carrier for compensation for non-delivery of goods is governed by Art. 31 whether the suit is laid in contract or tort and Art. 48 would not apply even if an allegation of conversion of goods is made. 6 L. 301=88 I.C. 974=1925 L. 478; 5 P. 106=1927 O. 478; 1927 P. 335=8 P.L.T. 767; 1928 C. 371; 3 Luck. 102=1927 O. 478. See also as to the applicability of the article in preference to Arts. 48, 49 and 115, 4 P. 482=1925 P. 611=89 I.C. 672; 90 I.C. 135=1926 N. 57; 87 I.C. 763=1925 A. 785; 33 A. 544=10 I.C. 122; 39 M. 1=29 M.L.J. 342; 31 I. C. 474=11 N.L.R. 174; 51 I.C. 570=13 S. L.R. 1; 24 I.C. 676 (Art. 49 would apply where there is proof that the goods are still in the possession and custody of the carrier). Suit for price of goods lost by capsizing of boat falls under this article. 1928 C. 306. Suit by consignee for damages for the loss of goods in transit—Art. 31 held applicable. 46 M.L.J. 302=1924 M. 567. Article is not limited to suits by consignees. Suit by consignor also is governed by Art. 31. 52 C. 372=29 C.W.N. 277; 1925 C. 559; 27 C.W.N. 806=1924 C. 173; 44 C. 16, contra. Misdelivery is not non-delivery within Art. 31 and is covered by the residuary art. 115. 122 P.W.R. 1913=19 I.C. 477. Suit for wrongful conversion of goods is not governed by this article but by Art. 48. 1935 A. L.J. 61=1935 A. 156. Goods not lost but in possession of company—Sale by public auction—Suit for damages governed by Art. 48 and not by this article. 57 A. 843=1935 A. 601. As to suit to recover the surplus proceeds of sale held by the Railway Company under S. 56 of Railways Act, see 1921 M. 362=44 M. 823=41 M.L.J. 205 cited under Art. 62. Delay in taking delivery—Carrier not converted into bailee for purposes of limitation. 1933 A. 466.

STARTING POINT OF LIMITATION.—Art. 31 fixes one year from the date when the goods ought to have been delivered. 1927 O. 478 (2). The expression "when the goods ought to have been delivered" in the third column of Art. 31 must be construed as meaning when the defendant railway company finally said that the goods would not be delivered." Time would begin to run under the Article from after a definite refusal, or declaration of inability, to deliver by the Railway Com-

Where no time is fixed, the suit may be instituted within a year after the expiry of a reasonable time for the delivery of the goods. 45 A. 43=20 A.L.J. 792. On this point, see also 44 C. 16=34 I.C. 130; 13 P.L.T. 695=1933 P. 45=12 P. 67. The question as to when plaintiff's chances of recovery from the defendant became hopeless is immaterial. 6 L. 301=1925 L. 478; 1924 M. 567; 46 M. L.J. 302. But where the defendant failed to send a definite reply for a long time and was responsible for the delay in the institution of the suit, it was not open to him to plead that the suit had been brought too late. 12 P. 67=1933 P. 45. Major portion of consignment delivered on a certain date—Presumption is that the rest also ought to have been delivered on the same day. 103 I.C. 383=1927 P. 335.

ARTS. 31 AND 48.—The correct article of limitation applicable to a suit against a Railway Company for damages for misdelivery of goods consigned is Art. 31 and not Art. 48. 1937 A.L.J. 794=1937 A. 632.

ARTS. 31 AND 49.—A suit against a Railway Company for compensation for non-delivery of goods is governed by Art. 31 and not by Art. 49 and must, therefore, be brought within one year of the non-delivery, no matter what the circumstances are which occasioned the non-delivery. The company does not cease to be carriers for the purposes of the Limitation Act, because they detain the goods of the plaintiff in respect of a claim for their charges before making delivery. The company's claim arises out of the rights as carriers to claim wharfage, and the plaintiff cannot plead that the company's position as carriers was at an end and that the refusal to deliver the goods was unconnected with their position as carriers when their very claim to detain the goods arose out of that position. 1936 N. 21=31 N.L.R. (Supp.) 79.

ART. 32: APPLICABILITY.—Art. 32 can properly be applied only where the person proceeded against had, before the perversion in respect of which he is being sued took place, a right to "use the property for specific purposes." Art. 32 is not intended to apply to a case in respect of land in which the person proceeded against had no other right than a right in common with the general public, to pass over it. 1928 L. 794; 1929 L. 816. Nor to one who has a mere licence to use the property. 1934 A. 836. Nor to cases where in substance the plaintiff seeks a greater relief. Where a tenant without the landlord's consent builds upon the abadi land which is no part of his tenancy lands, he, by such act, takes exclusive possession of such land to the ouster of the landlord, and a suit by the landlord for the demolition of the building is not a suit falling under Art. 32. I.L.R. 1937 A. 623=1937 A.L.J. 515=1937 A. 472. See also 1937 A.L.J. 1231=1938 A. 20. Placing heavier beams on plaintiff's wall, and replacing thatched roof by masonry roof, is no perversion of the purpose for which the wall is to be used and a suit for removal of the beams does not come under this article. 46 A. 68=78 I.C. 193=1924 All. 450. See also 1938 A. 20=1937 A.L.J. 1231. Also suit to eject the persons who have built upon a common burning ground after appropriating it to their own use. 1929 L. 186. A co-owner of a shamilat reserved for specific purposes perverted it by using it for building purpose. A suit by another co-owner for permanent injunction falls within this article. 1929 L. 535=118 I.C. 447. See also 115 I. C. 73 (Suit by one of the proprietors of the village against the rest in respect of shamilat land). See also 14 L. 267=145 I.C. 553=1933 Lah. 705 (F.B.); 35 P.L.R. 472=1934 L. 701. A suit for damages for wrongful seizure of goods by the Official Receiver acting at the instance of a creditor and not under the orders of the Insolvency Court is governed by Art. 36 and neither Art. 2 nor Art. 29 applies to such a case. 1942 A.L.W. 599= 1926 C. 179. Where certain movables were attached before judgment, but the suit was dismissed on appeal, a suit for compensation for loss of profits and reputation caused by wrongful detention of goods is governed by Art. 36 read with S. 23. 22 A.L.J. 977=81 I.C. 1038=1925 A. 131. Loss of goods due to capsizing of boat—Suit for price of goods is governed by Art. 36. 107 I.C. 723=1928 C. 306. Also a suit for damage to house by bursting of Municipal fittings by the negigence of the Municipality. 1929 L. 730. In failing to maintain its water system in proper order, the local body cannot be said to have either done or omitted to have done an act alleged to be in pursuance of an enactment for the time being in force. 1945 Lah. 324 (F.B.). Art. 2 is a provision intended to afford protection to persons acting in pursuance of an enactment against stale claims. A short period of limitation is provided for such cases in order that such acts which are of a public nature shall not give rise to a protracted litigation. 47 P.L.R. 302=1945 Lah. 324 (F.B.)=I.L.R. (1945) L. 523. A suit to recover damages against the directors of a company on the ground that in the prospectus published there were misleading or untrue representations which deceived the plaintiff and made him part with cash by taking shares in the company and that as a result he suffered loss, is governed by Art. 36, which is the residuary article in the case of torts or civil wrongs. 57 L.W. 312=1944 Mad. 431. See also 1945 Mad. 5=I.L.R. SUITS NOT GOVERNED BY ARTICLE.—Art. 36 does not include wrongs committed by trustees in respect of trusts. Art. 120 and not Art. 36 is the proper article applicable to a suit filed against a trustee or ex-trustee, by a co-trustee or a succeeding trustee of a trust, to make good the loss sustained by the trust by reason of the defendant's omission to collect moneys due to the trust. I.L.R. (1938) M. 586=47 L.W. 344=1938 M. 353=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 334 (F.B.). A suit for compensation for breach of a term in a compromise is governed by Art. 115 and not by Art. 36 or Art. 120; and the fact that such compromise is merged in a decree none the less makes it a contract within the meaning of Art. 115. 12 P. 792=1934 P. 7. The defendant borrowed from the plaintiff his car for private use and while it was in his use it met with an accident which resulted in considerable damage to the car. The plaintiff sued to recover the repair charges and interest by way of damages. Held, that the case was one of bailment and that the claim for damages was governed by Art. 115 and not Art. 36. 9 Luck. 189=1933 O. 518. Suit for damages against a Sub-Inspector of Police for malicious arrest is governed by Art. 2 and not by Art. 36 if it is found that he had a bona fide belief as to his statutory powers, though malice is proved. 1931 A.L.J. 858=1932 A. 16. Suit to recover money paid under rateable distribution, not governed by article, as there is no non-feasance or misfeasance, or malfeasance in respect of the money. 39 A. 322=39 I.C. 532. Also a suit for recovery by assignee of debt attached and received by attaching creditor, subsequent to assignment. 38 M. 972=26 M.L.J. 166 (F.B.). Also suit for damages against a person untruly representing himself to be agent of another and inducing plaintiff to have dealings with him. 38 M. 275=25 M.L.J. 256. Also suit against director for loss arising through negligence. 5 L. 27=1924 L. 435. Article inapplicable to claim by the liquidator of a Company under S. 235 of the Companies Act as it is not independent of contract. 47 A. 699=1925 A. 519; 1933 S. 103=143 I.C. 713. Hereditary temple archaka—Suit against trustee for emoluments—Limitation—Art. 102 applies and not this Article. 68 M.L.J. 132=1935 M. 128.

STARTING POINT.—Time runs from the date of the tort and not from the time when it is known to the plaintiff. 33 M. 71=19 M.L.J. 498. A right to sue for misfeasance of directors of companies arises from the date of misfeasance and is governed either by Art. 120 or Art. 36. 54 M. 153=60 M.L.J. 280=1931 M. 58. See also I.L.R. (1938) M. 586=1938 M. 353=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 334 (F.B.). (Suit by succeeding trustee against old trustee to recover loss due to failure to collect trust funds); 1941 P.C. 1; 67 I.A. 448=I.L.R. (1941) M. 175=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 393 (P.C.). Where each act of depositing silt on plaintiffs' grounds afforded the plaintiffs a separate cause of action, their relief in respect of silt deposited more than two years before suit is barred under Art. 36. 27 S.L.R. 41=1933 S. 176.

ARTS. 36 AND 39.—Where the claim is for damages in respect of removal of clay, it is not a mere claim for compensation founded on trespass so as to attract Art. 39, but it is a claim in respect of a tortious act which comes within the scope of Art. 36. 1941 O. 172.

ARTS. 36 AND 120.—As the wording of Art. 36, is very wide, it would cover almost every case of tort. Where a suit for damages is brought against an objector who persists in retaining attached cattle even after the dismissal of his objection and the declaration of the right of the judgment-debtor to them, it is governed by Art. 36, as the retention of the cattle by the objector amounted to misfeasance. Art. 120 could have no application to such a case. 1943 A.L.W. 38. There is no article in the Limitation Act which specially provides for actions against a promotor or director of a Company in respect of a false statement made in a prospectus. A person responsible for the issue of a false prospectus commits a tort, and, by reason of S. 100 of the Companies Act, is under a statutory liability to provide compensation. Art. 36 and not 120 will therefore apply to an action against the directors of a company for compensation for loss suffered as the result of a misleading prospectus. In such a case the tort is independent of contract. The liability of the directors is confined to something which preceded the contract. I.L.R. (1945) M. 825=1945 M. 5 =(1944) 2 M.L.J. 286. See also 1944 Mad. 431.

[2] Substituted for the words and figures "Indian Succession Act, 1865, S. 320 or S. 321, or under the Probate and Administration Act, 1881, S. 139 or S. 140" by Act VIII of 1930, S. 2 and Sch. I.

ARTS. 37 AND 38.—See 82 I.C. 482=1925 N. 189.

ART. 39.—Standing crops are immovable property and the attachment thereof if illegally made constitutes a trespass within this article. 25 M.L.J. 447=21 I.C. 913. See also cases cited under Art. 29 on the point. Trespass includes the mischief committed by the trespasser after entering on the land. 23 M.L.J. 618=17 I.C. 605. Thus suits for compensation for injury to crops, (1925) N. 189; 23 M.L.J. 618=17 I.C. 605; or for loss caused by the cutting of gum trees by defendant (20 N.L.R. 80=80 I.C. 769 =1924 N. 125); and suits for damages for cutting and carrying away crops [25 C. 692 (F.B.)] would fall under the article. See also 1941 O. 172 (Suit for damages for removal of clay).

ARTS. 39, 115 AND 120.—A suit for damages for use and occupation of a shop, after notice to vacate, is governed by Art. 120 and not either by Art. 39 or Art. 115. Art. 39 can have no application because the suit is not for compensation for trespass upon immovable property. The defendant's remaining in possession of the property after the notice to quit does not constitute a trespass upon the property in the required sense. Nor would Art. 115 apply because the liability of the defendant to put the lessor into possession of the property or on the determination or the lease is a statutory liability and Art. 115 does not provide for the breach of such a liability or statutory duty. Hence it is that the residuary Art. 120 applies to such a suit. 1946 A.L.J. 305 (2)=1946 A.W.R. (H. C.) 516=1947 A. 31.

ART. 40.—Suit for damages for infringement of trade mark is governed by this article. 45 P.R. 1919=51 I.C. 434. As to the applicability of the article see also 3 C. 17. Under the copyright Act an infringement takes place not only when a book is reprinted but also when a book in respect of which a copyright exists is sold. There is a fresh cause of action on the sale of every book. 1934 A. 922.

ART. 41.—Time begins to run when the waste begins though it is a continuing wrong. See 25 B. 644 (F.B.).

ART. 42.—As to applicability to temporary injunction granted by the lower Court but dissolved on appeal, see 16 I.C. 443= 16 C.L.J. 34. See also 42 C. 550=26 I.C. 296, holding that no suit lies in respect of a permanent injunction obtained maliciously which is subsequently dissolved in appeal.

ART. 44: APPLICABILITY.—One condition precedent for the application of Art. 44 is that the property should be property belonging to the ward. 1930 O. 82; and it must have actually passed out of the hands of the minor. 1930 A.L.J. 1416=1930 A. 858. The Limitation Act draws a distinction between void transactions and voidable transactions, and while a longer period is allowed for remedies arising out of void transactions, a shorter period has been prescribed for all actions seeking to set aside voidable transactions; and it makes no difference that there is also a prayer for possession. It is also a well-established principle that whenever there is a specific article applicable to a suit, a general article like Art. 144 will be excluded. 68 M.L.J. 87=40 L.W. 760=1936 M. 1. Article does not apply where the transaction impeached is void ab initio which need not be set aside. 9 I.C. 377=13 C.L.J. 277. See also 1936 M. 884=71 M.L.J. 366; 30 M. 393; 39 M. 456=28 M.L.J. 571; 107 I.C. 897=1928 N. 262; 54 M. 352=1931 M. 45=60 M.L.J. 701=32 L.W. 680 =1930 M.W.N. 1067; 41 Bom.L.R. 867=1939 B. 427. Any transfer of a minor's property by a person who is neither his natural nor de facto guardian would be a transfer by an unauthorised person, and would not affect the minor's interest in the property at all. If the minor comes to Court within 12 years from the date of the transaction, no question of limitation would arise. Art. 44 has no application to cases of transfer by wholly unauthorised persons. 47 C.W.N. 288=A.I.R. 1943 Cal. 203. Sale of minor's land by minor jointly with de facto guardian—Latter not described as guardian —Recital that land belongs to both and that consideration was for purposes of both—Sale void and need not to be set aside. Therefore suits to recover property transferred under such alienation will be governed by Art. 144. 43 M. 436=56 I.C. 519=38 M.L.J. 327; 12 C. 69. See also 33 I.C. 436 (M.). Also a suit to set aside a permanent lease by the mortgagor which is held to be void as being a clog on the equity of redemption, 53 B. 360=1929 B. 186; 1938 P. 337 (suit to set aside release by guardian of sub-soil rights of minor mortgagee). So also, where the property has been alienated by the guardian as if it were his own, and the mortgagee treats it as the personal property of the guardian and has it sold as such, Art. 44 cannot apply. 1935 A. 417=157 I.C. 118. If a sale is held to be void owing to fraudulent registration, there will be no need to set it aside and a suit to recover possession of the properties covered by the sale deed will not be barred, though brought by the ward about eleven years after the date of sale. On the other hand, if it is not void, then such a suit has to be regarded as one for setting aside the sale-deed. As possession cannot be obtained unless the document is set aside, such a suit should be brought within three years from the date of the sale. 54 M. 352=1931 M. 45=60 M.L.J. 701. A sale is not void for mere inadequacy of consideration. 28 I.C. 704=2 L.W. 365. Article applicable to cases of mortgage. 2 L.W. 1210=31 I.C. 811; 1938 M.W.N. 802=1938 M. 822; cf. Note 17 Bom.L.R. 113; and of sale of equity of redemption, 44 B. 742=22 Bom.L.R. 680 (suit for redemption cannot be brought without first setting aside sale). A suit by ward's purchaser in combination with ward is within article. 49 B. 309=1925 B. 292=86 I.C. 879. See also 28 A. 39; 44 B. 742; 1929 M. 313=56 M.L.J. 332. The article applies to improper alienations made by testamentary guardian appointed by a Hindu father. 38 B. 94=15 Bom.L.R. 882; 59 M. 549=1936 M. 346=70 M.L.J. 352. The article applies to a fraudulent sale by guardian, which is only voidable. 34 I.C. 188. It applies to alienations which are unauthorised. 44 B. 742. (See also 56 M.L.J. 332=1929 M. 313 as well as to those which are improper.) 40 M.L.J. 475=1921 M. 425 and which are in excess of authority of the guardian [6 L. 447=1925 L. 619 (2); 9 I.C. 377 (C.)]; 103 I.C. 365 (1); 1921 C. 572. Article does not apply to alienations by unauthorised guardians which are void and need not be set aside. 38 M. 1125=27 M.L.J. 285; 34 A. 213 (P.C.); 26 I.C. 813=10 N.L.R. 133; 83 I.C. 1040=1924 C. 1008; 87 I.C. 1018=1926 N. 124; 84 I.C. 923=1925 L. 239; 1929 A. 879; 1936 Lah. 996; 43 Mys.H.C.R. 17. Art. 44 applies to alienation by de injure guardians and not to those by de facto guardians. 1931 M. 597 (2)=1931 M.W.N. 417. Art. 44 can have no application unless the transfer to be set aside is voidable in the sense that it is binding on the minor until it is set aside. Though, under the Hindu Law, it is well settled that an alienation by a de facto guardian, if for necessity is binding on the minor, it does not follow that an alienation by a de facto guardian, not supported by necessity, is voidable in the sense that it is binding on the minor until it is set aside so as to attract the application of Art. 44. Art. 144 and not Art. 44 applies to suits regarding alienations by de facto guardians. 24 Pat. 273=1945 P.W.N. 323=A.I.R. 1945 Pat. 298. The natural father of an adopted minor is not a guardian de jure and a suit to set aside an alienation by him can be brought within twelve years. 1931 M. 597. So also a suit to set aside an alienation by the de facto guardian of an Indian Christian minor. 60 M.L.J. 695=1931 M. 529. See also 71 M.L.J. 366=1936 M. 884 (Suit to declare void alienation by sister of minor when mother is alieve). Alienation by minor's elder brother acting as his de facto guardian is void. 108 I.C. 529=1928 M. 226 (2); 34 A. 213=39 I.A. 49=23 M.L.J. 6 (P.C.). See also 1925 B. 372=27 Bom.L.R. 495=87 I.C. 721; 99 I.C. 1050=1927 N. 145. A step-mother of a Hindu minor is such unauthorised guardian. 51 I.C. 943=15 N.L.R. 55. Mahomedan mother alienating immovable property of her children is an unauthorised person. 25 C.W.N. 258=1921 C. 572=62 I.C. 428; 45 C. 878 (P.C.)=1918 P.C. 11=45 I.A. 73; 47 C. 713; 34 I.C. 85=1 P.L.J. 188. 650=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 800 (F.B.)=1941 M. 481=I.L.R. (1941) M. 775; 42 B. 626 =46 I.C. 22; 24 I.C. 110; 88 I.C. 278= 1925 N. 385; 6 L. 447=1925 L. 619 (2); 40 L.W. 760=68 M.L.J. 87=1935 M. 1. But see 35 I.C. 551=10 S.L.R. 381; contra. An alienation by a Christian mother acting as the natural guardian of her minor child is voidable and not void and a suit by the minor avoiding the transfer should be instituted within the three years prescribed by Art. 44. 1934 M. 605=57 M. 1062=67 M.L.J. 322. A suit to set aside alienations by the father as guardian of property collaterally inherited by a minor is governed by this article. 34 M. L.J. 229=42 I.C. 939. The words of the article are very general and the article is not confined to transfer by certified guardians. 1929 A. 879=1929 A.L.J. 1248. A permission obtained by a certified guardian by a fraudulent misrepresentation is a nullity, but a transfer made in pursuance thereof is only voidable. Where the minor sues after attaining majority to set aside the transfer, the suit is governed by Art. 44 and not Art. 144. 1932 A. 108=1931 A.L.J. 997=53 A. 738. Article contemplates "transfer of property" and is inapplicable to cases where the minor is in possession as in cases of mortgage or sale without parting with possession. 1930 A. 858=52 A. 979.

ALIENATION OF JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY.—Article does not apply to a suit to set aside an alienation of a minor's share by the managing member of a joint Hindu family. Such an undivided share is not property which can be dealt with by a guardian. 84 P.L.R. 1915 =29 I.C. 199. See also 49 I.C. 118=41 A. 203; 86 I.C. 234=1925 M. 793. Thus, a suit to set aside an alienation by a Hindu father during his son's minority is not governed by this article. 33 I.C. 441=17 Bom.L.R. 1137 (Note); 32 I.C. 242=12 N.L.R. 12. (It is so even if the manager purports to act as the minor's guardian). The fact that the Hindu father executed the sale-deed as guardian of his son will not make the article applicable. 1918 M.W.N. 892=44 I.C. 605. See also 38 A. 126; 40 C. 966 (P.C.)=25 M.L.J. 312=40 I.A. 213. Article not applicable to suit to set aside alienation of joint family property, by undivided uncle. 35 P.L.R. 722=1934 L. 601; by undivided brother, 151 I.C. 1043=36 Bom.L.R. 474=1934 B. 234. A sale deed by a manager of a joint Hindu family for other than necessary purposes is void from its inception, and a suit to set it aside is not governed by this article. 1929 O. 284=4 Luck. 503.

SUITS FOR POSSESSION.—Suit for recovery of property transferred during the minority of the plaintiff is governed by this article, as the alienation should first be set aside under this article. 24 C.W.N. 1016=59 I.C. 589; 1921 L. 25 (2)=61 I.C. 384; 6 L. 447= 1925 L 619; 28 I.C. 704=2 L.W. 365; 23 I.C. 406=17 O.C. 52. See also 1936 L. 996; 44 B. 742; 25 B. 337 (P.C.)=10 M.L.J. 368=27 I.A. 216; 28 M. 423; 23 M. 271 (P.C.)=10 M.L.J. 29; 1929 M. 313=56 M. L.J. 332; 116 I.C. 893. To a suit by a ward on attaining majority, for possession of property transferred during the minority pardanashin lady, under a transfer void ab initio, Art. 44 has no application. To such a suit Art. 142 applies. 1940 O.W.N. 1318=1941 O. 172. Sale of minor's property by certificated guardian without sanction—Possession not delivered—Suit by minor more than three years after attaining majority to set aside sale and partition—Article not appilcable. 52 A. 979=1930 A. 858.

DEFENCE NOT BARRED.—Though remedy is barred under Art. 44, a plea of invalidity of sale can be set up in defence to a suit by vendee for possession. 42 M. 36=35 M.L.J. 652. But see 41 M. 102=33 M.L.J. 309; 1.L.R. (1940) All. 580=1940 All. 416. On the point whether ward's right to property is extinguished by article, see 30 M. 393; 41 M. 102.

TRANSFEREE—LEGAL REPRESENTATIVE.—The transferee from the ward stands in the same position as the ward himself and if the latter's suit is barred, the transferee is in no better position and Art. 44 applies. In such a suit the onus is on the plaintiff to prove when his vendor attained majority. 1929 M. 313=56 M.L.J. 332. See also 1939 O.W. N. 241=1939 O. 122; 34 Bom.L.R. 1512= 1933 B. 42. If the ward dies during his minority, Art. 44 will not apply to a suit by his legal representative for recovering the property alienated by the guardian, whereas if the ward dies after the attainment of majority, Art. 44 will apply. 1929 M. 313 =56 M.L.J. 332. Suit for possession by ward against alienee from purchaser from guardian—Art. 44 and not Art. 144 applies. 1938 M.W.N. 403=1938 M. 677.

this article. 63 I.C. 161=33 C.L.J. 317 =1921 C. 368. Article is applicable only to a suit to set aside an award made by Revenue authorities and not to one to recover possession. 49 C. 37=33 C.L.J. 497=1922 C. 345. The award contemplated by Art. 45 presupposes a contest between the parties and a decision after proper investigation into the points at issue; when there is no contest or decision on investigation, Art. 45 does not apply. 55 C. 201=1927 C. 902 (49 C. 37, Rel.).

ART. 46.—A decision by Collector of title between two raiyats is not an award within Art. 46. 17 I.C. 881=17 C.W.N. 55. Suit for possession of lands comprised in an award filed in Court, but not executed, is governed by this Article. 52 C. 314=52 I.A. 79=1925 P.C. 34=48 M.L.J. 20 (P. C.).

ART. 47: APPLICABILITY.—Art. 47 does not apply to a case where at the time of the passing of the Magistrate's order there was no existing legal right in the plaintiff to sue for possession, and such a right accrued to him only subsequent to that date. 1927 M. 586=52 M.L.J. 482. See also 111 I.C. 152= 1929 M. 38 (2); 1941 Pesh. 65. Art. 47 does not apply where there has been no order for possession by the Magistrate under S. 145, Cr. P. Code, but the proceedings under that section have been consigned to records by the agreement of the parties. 1942 O.W. N. 508=55 L.W. 597=44 Bom.L.R. 868= =47 C.W.N. 38=1942 P.C. 47=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 384 (P.C.). Art. 47 applies only to those cases in which the Magistrate has declared one of the parties to be entitled to possession until evicted therefrom in due course of law or has restored possession to a party found to have been forcibly and wrongfully dispossessed within two months of his intitial order. The essential requirement, therefore, for the application of the article is the order of the Magistrate in respect of possession of the property. Where, therefore, in a boundary dispute, the Magistrate orders demarcation of the boundary in accordance with an order passed previously by a settlement officer, and the parties accept that position and compromise the proceedings under S. 145, Cr. P. Code, which are consigned, it cannot be regarded as an order of the Magistrate respecting possession made under the Criminal Procedure Code within the meaning of the article, and it has accordingly no application. 164 I.C. 118=1936 O. 387. Order under S. 145. Cr. P. Code—Suit for possession of property comprised in order. See 45 A. 306=21 A.L.J. 102. See also 45 B. 1135=62 I.C. 224=1921 B. 207; 84 P. R. 1912=14 I.C. 566; 38 M. 432=21 I.C. 564; 28 C. 86=5 C.W.N. 160. Art. 47 does not apply to a suit brought by a plaintiff in whose favour an order under S. 145, Cr. P. Code, has been passed. 99 I.C. 532 =1927 M. 304. See also 1941 Pesh. 65. It does not matter if the order is made on withdrawal of a party and without taking evidence. 42 I.C. 768=22 C.W.N. 342. But, at the time of suit, there must be an existing right to sue for possession. 19 C. 646. Article not confined to orders under Ch. XII of the Cr. P. Code. Order restoring possession under S. 522, Cr. P. Code, is within the article. 1925 M. 799=48 M.L.J. 372. Article is inapplicable to a suit for declaration of rights. 35 C. 851; 20 B. 270; or for partition of property. 15 B. 299. But see 51 C.L.J. 461=1921 B. 207. But plaintiffs cannot escape the bar by framing the suit as one for declaration after taking forcible possession. 45 A. 306=21 A.L.J. 102 or by framing the suit as one for partition. See 3 Bom.L.R. 594=26 B. 146. If the Court merely attaches the property and puts it in the hand of the receiver, it cannot be called an order respecting possession of the property. 20 A. 120. See also 26 M. 410. Article applies to suits based on title. 38 M. 432=21 I.C. 564. But see 28 B. 601 (F. B.) (previous decision by Mamlatdar). A suit denying a right of way as affirmed by an order of a Mamlatdar, under the Mamlatdars' Courts Act, is a suit respecting possession of immovable property, and as between Arts. 14 and 47, Art. 47 applies to such suit. 33 Bom.L.R. 517=1931 B. 256. It cannot be said that mere failure to sue within the period of three years from the date of an adverse order under S. 145, Cr. P. Code, bars the owner from suing unless it be shown by the person in whose favour the order under S 145, Cr. P. Code, was passed that he had in fact set up a hostile title in those proceedings. The latter fact has to be clearly proved. 1944 A.W.R. (C.C.) 150=1944 O. A. (C.C.) 150=1944 O.W.N. 217=1944 Oudh 250=19 Luck. 531.

ORDER WITHOUT JURISDICTION.—Where the order is found to be without jurisdiction, the case would be governed by Art. 142. 60 I. C. 860 (C.). See also 1912 P.R. 84; 9 M L.T. 91. But for this effect to arise, a vice must clearly be established which infects the whole proceedings. 82 I.C. 691=1925 O. 190. Mere irregularities will not render the article inapplicable. 42 I.C. 768= 22 C.W.N. 342.

PERSONS BOUND BY ORDERS, ETC.—Article does not bar a person who was no party to the criminal proceedings in which the order was passed. 17 I.C. 589=23 M.L.J. 348; 23 C. 731 (F.B.); 28 B. 215; 15 P. 481= 17 P.L.T. 726=1936 P. 629. Proceedings under S. 145, Cr. P. Code, about crops—Order as to possession of crops alone—Subsequent suit after 3 years—Parties and area in dispute not same—Suit, if barred. 1934 O. 449=11 O.W.N. 1165. The successor in interest must claim under a title derived subsequent to the order. Otherwise article would not apply. 23 C. 731 (F.B.); 6 Bom.L.R. 305. See also 18 B. 348; 15 P. 481=17 P.L.T. 726=1936 P. 629. A suit for joint possession by a co-owner bound by an order passed under S. 145, Cr. P. Code, in favour of his co-owner whose exclusive possession is maintained by that order comes within Art. 47. If such a suit is not brought within the period prescribed by that article, the title of the co-sharer bound by the order will be extinguished by reason of S. 28 of the Limitation Act. I.L.R. (1942) 2 Cal. 332=46 C.W.N. 817=A.I.R. 1943 Cal. 67. Members of joint family getting by survivorship do not claim under the person against whom the adverse order might have been made. 66 I.C. 678=8 O.L.J. 410=1921 O. 191. See also 1937 A.W.R. 235=1937 A. 300. Order against the manager of a joint Hindu family as such binds other members of the family. 52 M. 787=1930 M. 48=57 M.L.J. 228. Also persons not parties to the order but having notice of it are bound by it and a suit by them falls within this article. 57 M.L.J. 228=52 M. 787. But see 1935 L. 115 (2), where he was only a witness.

TRUST PROPERTY.—S. 145, Cr. P. Code, relates to the question of possession of immovable property and its application does not depend upon whether the claim is made by a private owner or on behalf of a trust. If there is a bona fide dispute between a trust and a third person and the other conditions of the section are satisfied, it falls within the cognisance of the Magistrate under S. 145, and to an order passed by a Magistrate in such a case, Art. 47 applies. There is no justification for holding that it is only the particular trustee who was a party to a proceeding under S. 145 that must be held bound by that order or by the limitation prescribed in Art. 47. If the trustee purported to act on behalf of the trust, the proper interpretation of the order will be that the trust itself was a party and must be held bound by that order. 1936 M. 188=70 M.L.J. 441. See also 14 P. 424=1935 P. 64.

STARTING POINT.—Time runs from date of Magistrate's order and not the date of the High Court's refusal to exercise its revisional powers. 43 I.C. 955. There is no reason why an order of the High Court under S. 439, Cr. P. Code, should not be regarded as a final order within the meaning of Art. 47; whether the High Court ultimately interferes in revision or not, its order is none the less a final order. Where in proceedings under S. 145, Cr. P. Code, a Magistrate passes an order against which an application in revision is filed under S. 435, Cr. P. Code, before the Sessions Judge, who makes a reference to the High Court under S. 438, Cr. P. Code, with a recommendation that the Magistrate's order should be set aside, the matter remains sub-judice so long as it is not finally determined by the High Court. The order passed by the High Court under S. 439, Cr. P. Code, is the final order in the case for purposes of Art. 47, and limitation for a suit runs from that date. The final order in Col. 3 of Art. 47 must be understood to refer to the order contemplated by Col. 1 of the same article. 20 Pat. 735=22 P.L.T. 202=1941 Pat. 372. On this point, see also 6 C. 709; 28 I.C. 367 (M.); 12 C.W.N. 840. Where an order of a Magistrate passed under section 145 (6) of the Criminal Procedure Code is not modified by the High Court in revision, it is the final order within the meaning of Article 47 of the Limitation Act. If the application for revision is accepted, and the Magistrate's order is set aside, then his order is no longer the final order; but until it is set aside or modified, it is. Hence when a revision against an order of a Magistrate passed under sub-section (6) of section 145 is dismissed by the High Court in limine, it is the order of the Magstrate and not that of the High Court that is the final order within the meaning of Article 47 of the Limitation Act. 57 L.W. 289=1946 M. 441=(1946) 1 M.L.J. 398. ARTS. 48 AND 49: SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY. Arts. 48 and 49 must be read together, and so read, Art. 49 would aply to a suit for recovery of specific movable property which is other than the specific movable property described in Art. 48; and if the property falls within the description of Art. 48, it would be excluded from the operation of Art. 49, which is a residuary article. 60 B. 848=38 Bom.L.R. 712=1936 B. 322. Arts. 48 and 49 are intended to apply to suits for recovery of specific movable property or for compensation for the same. Art. 48 is more special, whereas Art. 49 is general. The plaintiff's remedy is one for the recovery of the specific movable property, or in the alternative for compensation for wrongfully taking, injuring or wrongfully detaining. In such a case the period begins to run from the time when the property was wrongfully taken, injured or the defendant's possession became unlawful. Distinction in scope between Arts. 48 and 49 pointed out. 54 A. 46=1932 A. 256. By delaying taking delivery of goods, the liability of the carrier as a carrier cannot be continued for an indefinite period, and for the period following the arrival of the goods, if there be no delivery, the carrier's liability is that of a bailee and not that of a carrier, but the carrier does not become the bailee for the purpose of limitation and Art. 48 or Art. 49 does not apply, but Art. 31 applies. 1933 A. 466=1933 A.L.J. 796. Arts. 48 and 49 apply, whether the remedy sought is the recovery of property or compensation or both. 23 M. 621; 7 I.C. 447 (B.). See also 20 M. 449. Art. 48 applicable only when the movable property lost is still in the possession of the defendants and not when the property cannot be traced. 133 I.C. 453=1931 P. 436. A suit to recover movables deposited with the defendant is not governed by Art. 49 but by Art. 146. 33 M. 56=20 M.L.J. 41. See also 6 R. 547. Attachment of tailor's sewing machine—Vital parts of machine removed from machine when in custody of sureties to whom the machine was entrusted by ataching officer—Suit by tailor after removal of attachment for machine in original condition or for damages —Limitation. (1946) 1 M.L.J. 241. Injury to property in Art. 49 refers to injury to it while in custody of some person other than owner. 11 B. 133. Suit by mortgagee for compensation for injury to specific movable property mortgaged is governed by Art. 49. 17 I.C. 906; 28 M. 208. Art. 49 does not apply to a suit for damages for institution of wrongful civil proceedings and for slander of goods. 46 C.L.J. 455=1928 C 1. Suit for value of crops wrongfully attached, cut and removed is governed by Arts. 48 and 49. 105 I.C. 763=1928 C. 106. A suit to recover articles bailed is governed by Art. 115 and not by Art. 49. 126 I.C. 68 =1930 O. 395. The word 'other' in Art. 49 means specific movable property in general as distinguished from the movable property mentioned in the previous articles. 202 I.C. 218=A.I.R. 1942 Pesh. 57. MONEY IS.—See 37 M. 381=27 M.L.J. 485; 5 A. 341; 29 A. 579; 1930 A. 397. Art. 48 applies to a suit for damages for conversion of specific movable property, whether the conversion is dishonest or not. The onus is on the plaintiff to prove that he came to know of the conversion for the first time within three years of the suit. 49 C.W.N. 810. Government securities are "Specific movabe property". See 32 C. 799. Standing crops are movable property as soon as severed. 22 C. 877; 25 C. 692 (F.B.). See also 36 C. 141. As to suits to recover title-deeds, see 12 Bom.L.R. 513; 15 M. 157; 35 M. 636 (Such cases generally fall under Art. 49 and time runs from the date of demand and refusal). Art. 49 applies only to a suit for "specific movable property," which means property of which one can demand the delivery in specie. It is not applicable to a suit for the recovery of a share in certain movable property on declaration of title thereto. 36 C.W.N. 758=55 C.L.J. 420=1933 C. 253. Art. 48 applies only to suits for such articles as have been acquired by theft, dishonest misappropriation or conversion. 12 B. L.R. 513. Thus, a suit for value of coal wrongfully extracted and carried away is governed by Art. 48. 55 I.C. 113=1 P. L.T. 84. See also 52 I.C. 361; 8 P. 516= 1929 P.C. 69=56 M.L.J. 52 (P.C.) Also a suit to recover stolen property or its value. 148 P.W.R. 1911=11 I.C. 446. A suit, however, against a carrier on ground of unlawful conversion of goods is not governed by Art. 49 but by Art. 31. 6 L. 301=88 I.C. 979=1925 L. 478. See also 39 M. 1 =30 I.C. 840=29 M.L.J. 342 (F.B.). But see 1935 A.L.J. 61=1935 A. 156; where Art. 48 was held to apply. See also 57 A. 843=1935 A. 601 (Suit for compensation for non-delivery framed in tort not governed by Art. 49). The word "conversion" as meaning dishonest conversion—Possession with some person contemplated by the article. 101 I.C. 62=1927 C. 117. An action of trover claiming damages for the conversion by the defendants of specific movable property, viz., coal wrongfully gotten from the plaintiffs' mines and sold or otherwise disposed of by the defendants to their own use, is governed by Art. 48. Art. 48 alone refers to conversion and conversion cannot be split into two classes, one dishonest and the other not dishonest. "Or" preceding conversion is equivalent to "or by." 56 I.A. 93=8 P. 516=1929 P.C. 69=56 M.L.J. 517 (P.C.). See also 133 I.C. 453=1931 P. 436. Art. 48 applies to all conversion, whether dishonest or not. Where the trespass is due to inadvertence and want of reasonable care, both these views of the conversion fall within the terms of Art. 48, under which the limitation period of three years begins to run when the person having the right to possesison of the property first learns in whose possession it is. (1927 C. 117, reversed and 1929 P.C. 69, Rel. on.) 57 C. 1341=34 C.W.N. 483=1930 P.C. 113 =58 M.L.J. 536 (P.C.). A sale of goods by a railway company without the formality provided by S. 55 of the Railways Act is wrongful, and a suit for damages for such wrongful sale is one for conversion and is governed by Art. 48 and the starting date of limitation is the date when the plaintiff, i.e., the person who has the right to possession, first learns of the act of conversion. 13 P. 752=151 I.C. 955=1934 P. 507. See also 1936 N. 21 (Suit against railway company for non-delivery of goods—Goods detained by company for non-payment of wharfage).

STARTING OF LIMITATION.—Limitation begins to run under Art. 48 from the time it is known to the plaintiff in whose wrongful possession it is while it runs under Art. 49 from the time when possession becomes unlawful. 1914 M.W.N. 319=38 M. 783. See also 11 B. 133; 161 I.C. 855=1936 P. 179. Under Art. 49 the starting point of limitation is when the property is wrongfully taken or injured or when the detainer's possession becomes unlawful. Detention, so as to amount to conversion affording a cause of action, must become adverse to the owner or other person entitled to possession. The usual method of proving that a detention is adverse is to show that the plaintiff demanded delivery of the property without avail. 60 B. 848=38 Bom.L.R. 712=1936 B. 322. See also 1937 Rang. 523. According to the plain meaning of Art. 48, time begins to run against the owner of the property, from the time when he first discovers that it is in the possession of the defendant, and there is no question as to whether the owner of the property mentioned in the article was or was not reasonably diligent to discover in whose possession the property he is seeking to recover is. There is no warrant for reading into the article words which are not there. The words "whose possession" in column 3 mean the possession of some definite person who can be identified and against whom effective relief for restoration of the property in question can be obtained. 60 B. 848=1936 B. 322. As to suit for recovery of property or in the alternative for compensation, see 1932 A.L.J. 241=54 A. 467=1932 A. 256, cited supra.

PLEA OF LIMITATION—ONUS OF PROOF.—In a suit governed by Art. 48, the onus is on the plaintiff to prove that he first learnt within three years of the suit that the property which he seeks to recover was in the possession of the defendant, i.e., that he obtained knowledge of the defendant's possession of the property within three years of the suit and that is all. If he proves this, the defendant, in order to succeed in his plea of limitation, has to prove that the fact that the property was in his possession became known to the plaintiff more than three years prior to suit. 60 B. 848.

ART. 49.—Boat engaged to carry cargo to ship in harbour—Loss by sinking—Suit for value of boat—Limitation. See (1944) 2 M. L.J. 340=1945 M. ..0. Art. 49 contemplates a case of a cause of action arising ex delicto whether or not the wrongful taking or wrongful detention was preceded by a contract. The material date is the date when detention becomes wrongful. Even if possession was at its inception under a contract, that would not preclude the application of Art. 49, for it comes into operation only when possession becomes wrongful. In cases where the original possession of the defendant is lawful but becomes unlawful by reason of certain facts, Art. 49 is the ordinary article to apply. I.L.R. (1939) N. 498= 1939 N. 177. Possession, which to start with is permissive, cannot become unlawful until he asserts a title in himself or until he refuses to return possession. A mere demand by the plaintiff would not be enough. A suit by an owner of certain empty oil drums or their value from the defendant who had taken them on loan undertaking to return them whenever required, is in time, and not barred by Art 49, if filed within three years of the refusal by the defendant to return them though beyond three years of the date of demand by plaintiff. 55 L.W. 56=1942 M. 303=(1942) 1 M.L.J. 187. Attached property entrusted to sureties—Claim to—Order allowing claim—Removal of property by sureties wrongfully—Suit by claimant for compensation—Limitation—Starting point. I.L.R. (1945) Mad. 784=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 265 =1946 M. 33.

POSSESSION ORIGINALLY PERMISSIVE SUBSEQUENTLY BECOMING UNLAWFUL.—Mere detention beyond period does not render possession originally permissive unlawful. There should be a demand and a refusal to make it unlawful, and time begins to run from the date of such demand and refusal under Art. 49. 42 A. 45=52 I.C. 382. See also 27 I.C. 637=13 A.L.J. 81; 33 M. 56=20 M.L.J. 41. It is so even if there is assertion of ownership on the part of the defendant. 2 R 555=85 I.C. 10=1925 R. 146. See also 54 I.C. 159. Possession of title-deeds by mortgagee after satisfaction of debt secured thereby becomes wrongful from the time there is a demand and a refusal. 15 M. 157. See also 31 C. 519; 12 C.W.N. 1010. But a suit for movable property originally obtained lawfully but subsequently converted or retained unlawfully is governed by Art. 48 and not by Art. 49. Time runs from the time when plaintiff has knowledge of the conversion. 38 M. 783=23 I.C. 174. Thus, a suit for a jewel or its value, which was pledged with the defendant by the commission agent, to whom it had been given for sale, is governed by Art. 48. 40 M. 678=30 M.L.J. 587. But see 12 C.W.N. 1010. Non-payment of rent of article sold on hire-purchase system does not amount to wrongful detention. 27 I.C. 637=13 A.L.J. 81. Sale on approval—Suit for the price is governed by Art. 49 and limitation begins to run when the defendant after receipt of a notice from the plaintiff failed to return them. 1928 O. 47 (1)=105 I.C. 224. Suit to recover ornaments—Stridhan of mother—Art. 49 applies. 32 C.W.N. 133=106 I.C. 885. Pronotes left with another either as security or for safe custody—Suit in respect of—Art. 145 and not

In a suit by a tradesman for the price of goods sold and delivered from time to time, the customer having from time to time made paymetns without specifying any particular item for which the payments were made, the limitation is governed by Art. 52 in respect of each item as delivered. 155 I.C. 44=1935 A.L.J. 33=1935 A. 53. The plaintiff in a case like this is entitled to appropriate the payments to the earlier items in the account but not to credit them to the entire balance due up to date in the sense of saving limitation for each and every item. ARTS. 52 AND 85.—The fact that the debtor has supplied to the creditor certain articles of goods in partial discharge of the monies due by him to the creditor cannot alter the character of the account between the parties and bring it within the ambit of Art. 85 Nor would the mere supply of different goods on different dates to the debtor give rise to a fresh period of limitation from the date of the last supply. If no period of credit has been agreed upon, Art. 52 would obviously apply and limitation would start from the date of the delivery of the goods on each occasion, unless the case can be brought under Art. 85. 55 L.W. 585=1943 Mad. 13=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 337.

SECS. 52 AND 96.—Electric energy is 'moveable property', and therefore "goods" within the meaning of Art. 52. A suit claiming the charges for electric energy supplied during a period of five years can only be decreed so as to cover only a period of three years prior to the institution of the suit. The fact that it was owing to a mistake of the meter reader that incorrect bills were issued during the period of five years cannot attract the provisions of Art. 96. 1946 A.L.J. 195=1946 A. 502.

ART. 53.—When the price is not claimable as of right, on the date the goods are delivered, it is sale on credit within Art. 53. 7 A. 284. The word "thavanai" entered on a bill of sale implies credit and a suit for money due in respect of the transaction is governed by this Article. 47 M.L.J. 844 =48 M. 275=1925 M. 161.

ART. 54: APPLICABILITY—CONDITIONS.—For Art. 54 to apply, it must be alleged that the hundis were not executed as promised. If the defendants wish to make this allegation, it is for them to make it in their written statement or their pleadings clearly and without any attempt to mislead the plaintiff. 162 I.C. 302=1936 L. 328.

ARTS. 57 AND 96.—Where a customer of a bank draws cheques on it knowing that the funds to his credit are not sufficient to meet them but expecting the bank nevertheless to honour them, he impliedly applies to the bank for an overdraft or a loan. A suit for recovery of the amounts due by the customer in such a case is governed by Art. 57. The mere fact that some clerk or officer of the bank has been careless in honouring cheques drawn by the customer when presented for payment would not make the moneys paid under a mistake so as to make Art. 96 applicable when there is no evidence to show that the manager was under any misapprehension that the amounts were covered by security. Art. 96 would only apply to a case where money is paid to another under the influence of a mistake, that is, upon a supposition that a specific fact is true, which would entitle the other to the money, but which fact is untrue, and the money would not have been paid if it had been known to the payer that the fact was untrue. But where the money was not in fact paid under any such mistake, Art. 96 cannot apply. 1941 P.W.N. 638=1942 P. 201.

ART. 57 AND 58—60.—Art. 58 applies to a case in which the lender draws his own cheque and gives it to the borrower. It does not govern a suit in which he transfers to the borrower a cheque which had been drawn by another person and endorsed in his favour by the payee. Such a suit comes within the ambit of Art. 57 only. 65 I.A. 132=I.L.R. (1938) A. 326=1938 P.C. 66=(1938) 1 M. L.J. 785 (P.C.). Deposit being a species of loan, if Art. 60 does not apply then either Art. 57 or Art. 59 will apply. 1939 A.M. L.J. 6. Suit on personal covenant—Fictitious property included in mortgage to give jurisdiction—Registration invalid—Suit for money. See 41 C.W.N. 783=1937 C. 347.

ART. 58.—The period of limitation commences from the date the cheque is paid and not when the cheque is handed over. 28 A. 54. See also 38 B. 293=23 I.C. 779. A cheque is paid under Art. 58 when it is cashed by the lender's bankers, for it is only then that the lender's money passes into the hands of the borrower and the loan is made by the former to the latter. The mere handing over of a cheque by the lender to the borrower does not amount to a payment of the cheque. Nor does the period prescribed by Art. 58 begin to run against the lender when the cheque received by the borrower is given by him to his own bank and the amount is credited to him by the bank. 65 I.A. 132=I.L.R. ARTS. 59 AND 60: SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY. —In the case of a registered bond, the article which is applicable, is not Art. 59 but Art. 116. 151 I.C. 426=1934 R. 227. Arts. 59 and 60 deal with transactions of two different natures; while the former applies to loans, the latter applies to deposits. That a transaction is a deposit, has to be proved undoubtedly by the person alleging it to be so. The test to determine whether a particular transaction is one of loan 'or one of deposit' is to ascertain whether the money paid or deposited was in the nature of an advance of loan so as to create the relationship of creditor and debtor between the parties or was merely a deposit without bringing into existence such relationship. 184 I.C. 559 =1939 All. 378. Where money is deposited by a customer with a banker, the death of the banker does not change the character of the sum. It cannot be said that the liability of the heirs of the banker is in any way different from that which existed between the original banker and the depositor. The money does not become a loan in the hands of the banker's heirs, so as to make Art. 59 applicable. Art. 60 would still apply both to the principal and the interest. The ordinary rule is that the cause of action for recovery of principal and of interest accruing due on it is a single cause of action and when the claim is a single claim for principal and interest, there cannot be two periods of limitation applicable 185 I.C. 339=1940 P. 120. The word "deposit" used in Art. 60 covers all payments of the customer's moneys made to the banker which make up the credit balance in favour of a customer in the banker's hands. 29 Bom.L.R. 423=1927 B. 362; 17 L. 481=165 I.C. 699=1936 L. 718; 15 P. 709=165 I.C. 593=1936 P. 539. See 102 I.C. 145=1927 B. 433. Doubt arising whether a transaction amounts to a loan or deposit; the presumption is that it is a deposit, and not a loan (dubted in). 107 I.C. 290=1938 M. 499 (1). For the period of limitation prescribed in Art. 60, the terminus a quo is not the date of the last balance but the date "when the demand is made." 15 L. 242=151 I.C. 712=1934 L. 42. Art. 60 is not limited to suits against bankers only. Where money is deposited for safe custody, with liberty to depositee to lend the money to others and pay a certain rate of interest to the depositors, Art. 60 applies and a demand is necessary before time begins to run. 25 C.W.N. 981=1921 C4 644. See also 52 I.C. 25; 4 P.R. 1919 =47 I.C. 592; 39 M. 1081=30 M.L.J. 245; 98 I.C. 554=1927 P. 91. The investment of the stridhanam moneys in a firm of Nattukottai Chetties amounts to a deposit and a suit brought within three years from the date of notice demanding payment is in time under Art. 60. The demand under Art. 60 should be an unqualified demand for the whole sum due. 63 M.L.J. 232=1932 M. 685. Under Art. 60, the making of a demand is entirely dependent upon the volition of the plaintiff, and the period of limitation may be indefinitely prolonged, and a suit may be instituted without even a demand being made, in which case no question of limitation arises. 1933 P. 701. A suit to recover a deposit with a Nattukottai Chetty on "thavanai" terms, is governed by Art. 60, both as regards principal and interest. 43 M. 629=38 M.L.J. 437. See also 1935 M.W.N. 559=41 L.W. 536=1935 M. 734. The fact that money is deposited on the understanding that it was to be paid on demand after a certain time does not take the case out of the article. 47 I.C. 948=1918 M.W.N. 564. See also 20 P.L. T. 84=1939 P. 261. But if the money is to be paid at the end of the "thavanai" period, the case is governed by Art. 115. 43 I.C. 972=1918 M.W.N. 242. See also 42 I.C. 573=1917 M.W.N. 858; 52 I.C. 456 10 L.W. 67. For similar cases, see 20 B. 8; 19 B. 352. Where, after the expiry of the "thavanai" contract, no fresh contract is entered into, the money is held as a deposit and Art. 60 applies. 57 I.C. 908. But see 36 I.C. 497. As to application of article, see also 15 L. 242=1934 L. 42. (noted under Art. 57, supra). Where money is paid to defendant for purchase of goods, on the understanding that the balance remaining after paying for the purchase should be given back on demand, there is deposit within Art. 60. 28 C. 393. Art. 60 governs suit for gold mohurs deposited, delivery of which is refused on demand. 47 A. 643=17 A.L. J. 888. Deposit must be by agreement payable on demand. 1928 M. 509. It is not necessary that the agreement to pay the amount due on demand must be "express." Thus Art. 60 applies even if the agreement is to be "implied" from the course of dealings between the parties or the other circumstances of the case. 15 L. 242=1934 L. 42; 164 I.C. 50=1936 L. 587. See also 35 P.L.R. 91=1934 L. 179. The suit itself may be taken to constitute a demand for the purpose of Art. 60. 16 L. 242. The demand contemplated in Art. 60 must be a legal demand, made by a person capable of giving a valid discharge. If the deposit is payable to more persons than one, the demand must be made by them all or at least by one of them duly authorized by the others and in a position to give a legal discharge. The demand must be made directly on the party with whom the deposit lies in his capacity as depositee, for the whole sum due. A claim to deposit not addressed to depositee but put forward in a written statement in a suit in which both the claimant and the depositee were co-defendants is not a demand of the nature contemplated in Art. 60. I.L.R. (1939) Kar. 602=1939 Sind 173. Where a banker with whom a deposit is made on current account is adjudicated insolvent, tender of proof of debt and claim made in insolvency by the creditor is not a demand within the meaning of Art. 60. 1938 Rang.L.R. 468 =1938 Rang. 335. The demand contemplated by Art. 60 is a demand for the repayment of the whole amount of the deposit due, and not a demand for partial payment. Ibid. Where there is no evidence that the dissolution of partnership is notified to customers of the firm, then on the customer's demanding payment from either of the partners his cause of action has arisen against them all. 15 Pat. 709=1936 P. 539. Time under Art. 60 can only run from the date of demand, if that demand is part of the cause of action. Where as a result of a demand some payment is made, a later demand would give a fresh cause of action, only if full payment had been made on the first demand and the second demand was for a sum not due when the first demand was made. 1939 A.M.L.J. 66. In the case of money deposited with a banker, there must ordinarily be a demand or something that can be deemed equivalent to a demand or take the place of a demand as part of the action for a suit to recover it under Art. 60 of the Limitation Act. The necessity for a demand may, however, be got rid of by special contract or waiver. A repudiation by the banker of the customer's right to be paid any particular sum would be a waiver of any demand in respect of such sum. The defendant banker cannot simultaneously repudiate liability to pay the amount and insist that a demand previous to suit is essential to its maintainability. 1940 P. 129. Suit to recover money invested in Bank in fixed deposit is not within this article. 1931 A. 59. When the deposit for the recovery of which the action is brought, is subsequently held to be invalid and insufficient, limitation runs not from the date of deposit but from the date of its appropriation. 8 Luck. 79= 9 O.W.N. 414=1932 O. 222.

LOAN AND DEPOSIT—DISTINCTION.—See 17 L. 481=1936 L. 718; 15 P. 709=1936 P. 539; 1932 A.L.J. 261; 13 Luck. 323=1937 O.W.N. 831=1937 O. 394 (Claim against co-sharer in respect of improvement made to joint property—Art. 120 applies). The distinction between a loan and a deposit is that, in the case of a loan, it is ordinarily the duty of the debtor to seek out the creditor. In the case of a deposit it is the duty of the depositor to go for the money to the banker or the depositee and to make a demand for it. Where a certain sum is deposited for three years, and after that period, depositors are to withdraw it jointly, and in the meantime interest to be paid periodically, such a transaction is not a loan, but amounts to a deposit, on the stipulation that it shall carry interest at a specified rate and shall be payable to the depositors on demand and with a further stipulation that such a demand shall not be made within three years. To such a transaction, Art. 60 applies. (1936 L. 587, Affirm.) 39 P.L.R. 377=1937 L. 81. To determine whether a bailment of a certain sum of money is a deposit for safe custody or a loan, the test to be applied is whether the bailee is to keep the money till the bailor asks for it or whether there is an obligation on his part to seek out the bailor and repay him. The appellant received moneys from the respondent, put them in his Bank account and credited them to the respondent, and whenever the appellant paid any of these moneys to the respondent it was because the respondent had asked for them, and further there was no security, no receipt in writing, no promissory note and no agreement as to rate of interest. Held, the moneys were simply held by the appellant for safe custody, he was really acting as a Banker for the respondent; and therefore, a suit by the respondent for the recovery of the moneys was governed by Art. 60. 189 I.C. 444=42 Bom.L.R. 971=44 C.W.N. 1041= 1940 P.C. 132 (P.C.). The character of a deposit with a banker is not altered by the fact that the person in whose name the money is deposited agrees in writing with another person that a part of it should belong to that other from the date of the agreement. The money still remains a deposit, and a suit to recover it by the respective parties is governed by Art. 60. The right to sue does not accrue until there is a demand and refusal. Art. 115 cannot apply to such a case, as the claim can in no sense be one for compensation for breach of a contract. 47 L.W. 118=1938 M. 236=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 56.

ART. 60.—Where there is no evidence that the dissolution of partnership is notified to customers of the firm, then on the customer's demanding payment from either of the partners, his cause of action has arisen against them all. 15 P. 709=165 I.C. 593=1936 P. 539. The agreement that the money shall be payable on demand within Art. 60 need not be an express one. It can be an implied agreement, and often is implied from the circumstances of the deposit. 180 I.C. 300 =1939 R. 42; 1939 A.M.L.J. 6. Deposit on current account—Insolvency of bank—Proof of claim—Annulment of adjudication—Receiver acting under S. 37 (1) of Provincial Insolvency Act—Suit for deposit—Limitation—Starting point. 1938 R. 335= 1938 Rang.L.R. 468.

LOAN AND DEPOSIT—DISTINCTION BETWEEN. —The terms "loan" and "deposit" are not mutually exclusive. Deposit does not necessarily involve the creation of a trust, but may involve only the creation of the relation of debtor and creditor, a loan under conditions. A demand by the depositor will therefore be a normal condition of the obligation of the depositee to repay. I.L.R. (1944) Nag. 462=1944 N.L.J. 83=1944 Nag. 101.

ARTS. 60 AND 62.—It is essential for a claim to fall under Art. 62, that the money must at the time of its receipt by the defendant belong to the plaintiff. That term could hardly be applied to a surrender value in a life insurance policy which grows from year to year and does not even begin to accrue until a certain number of premia have been paid. It is Art. 60 that would apply to such a claim and a suit would be in time when the demand is made less than 3 years prior to suit. I.L.R. (1943) N. 253=1942 N. 9.

ART. 61: APPLICIBILITY.—The article applies to cases where the plaintiff has paid money for the defendant. The payment must have been at the defendant's request express or implied. See 34 M. 167; 20 M.L.J. 989 29 A. 627; 5 Bom.L.R. 725. Payments made on behalf of another need not be accepted or adopted by the person on whose behalf they are made. 1931 L. 344. The expression "when the money is paid" in Art. 61 means actual payment and not merely a notional payment which a renewal implies. 1945 A.L.J. 488=1945 O.W.N. (H.C.) 318=I.L.R. (1945) A. 871=1946 A. 142. When one person places money with another person to secure a regular monthly payment to a third person, the transaction amounts to one of deposit and the person with whom the money is deposited becomes, as regards that particular transaction, the banker of the depositor. Art. 60 of Limitation Act applies to such a case. 1939 A.M.L.J. 49. Article does not apply where a charge is created by statute for the claim. 35 C.W.N. 678=1931 C. 493. Where plaintiff borrows money for defendant's benefit and is compelled to pay the amount himself, suit for recovery of the amount paid by him is governed by Art. 61 or 83, and time runs when the plaintiff pays the amount. 29 A. 627; 5 Bom.L.R. 725. See however 37 M. 381. As to suit for reimbursement where plaintiff assumes responsibility for the defendant's debts which he is subsequently compelled to pay to the creditors, see 26 M. 322;. See also 1936 M. 334; 70 M.L.J. 537. Where in a compromise one party agrees to pay off a certain creditor and on the failure of fulfilment of the term the other party pays off the creditor, then limitation runs from the date of the payment by the other party to creditor. 1935 L. 307. A suit for recovery of money paid to save property of another from execution sale falls under this article. 78 I.C. 738=1925 O. 132 (2). See also 7 A.L.J. 585. Where an agent borrows moneys without the principal's authority and pays the same to the principal's creditors a suit to recover the amount paid is governed by this article. 52 I.C. 414=10 L W. 33. See also 34 M. 167=20 M.L.J. 989. But see 34 Bom.L.R. 1268=1932 B. 593; 31 P.L.R. 666 (suit by agent against principal held to fall under Art. 83). Where the defendant purchased goods and wrongfully got the transaction entered in the name of the plaintiff and a decree was obtained against the plaintiff for the price, a suit by plaintiff before paying the decree amount was held to be premature as plaintiff had not paid the amount and that the cause of action would arise only on actual payment. 1933 L. 404. Limitation runs from the date of payment by plaintiff and any later payment by defendant towards the joint liability does not save limitation. See also 26 M. 886; 8 I.C. 336 (O.); 1914 P.C. 40=19 C.W. Suit by de facto guardian to recover expenses incurred on behalf of minor is governed by this article, and time runs from the date of expenditure and not from time when ward attains majority. 17 Lah. 78=37 P.L.R. 246=1935 L. 437. A suit to get back money deposited as security is governed either by Art. 61 or by Art. 115. 108 I.C. 49 (1). A suit for reimbursement by a purchaser, whose purchase has been set aside as a sham transaction, of the sum of money he had paid for the redemption of an undisclosed mortgage on the property is governed by Art. 61. 32 Bom.L.R. 1376=1931 B. 39. Also a suit against A and B by a receiver put in charge of the property pending determination of rights between A and B to recover the decree amounts paid by him to the watchmen for guarding the property. 6 Luck. 102=1930 O. 420. Suit by trustee of temple, to recover money from former trustee, is not governed by this article, nor by S. 10; but Art. 120 applies to it. 40 L.W. 275=1934 M. 542. When a receiver or manager is appointed by the Court, he is appointed on behalf of all persons interested in the property. Hence the expenses incurred by the receiver of an estate in instituting a suit to recover money due to the estate are incurred by him on behalf of and for the person who owns the estate, and they are "money payable to the plaintiff for money paid for the defendant" within the meaning of Art. 61. Therefore, a suit by the quondam receiver to recover the amount spent by him in instituting a suit on behalf of the estate is governed by Art. 61 and not by Art. 83 or 120. The circumstance that the receiver was also benefited by the suit does not make the suit any the less a suit on behalf of the owner of the estate or take it out of the purview of Art. 61. 1935 M. 594=69 M.L.J.5 39.

ARTS. 61, 96 AND 120.—Where a person becomes subrogated to the rights of a mortgagee by redeeming his mortgage he is in precisely the same position as the mortgagee whose mortgage he redeems, and must therefore bring his suit for recovery of the amount paid by him within 12 years of the original mortgage. Considered as merely a right to reimbursement of the money, Art. 61 of the Limitation Act would apply, and the suit must be brought within three years from the date when the money is paid. Art. 120 would not apply whether the claim is made under S. 69 or S. 70 of the Contract Act. Even if it is deemed to confer an equitable charge for the money paid, a fresh period of limitation would not be available from the date of payment. 1945 M.W.N. 319 (2)=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 341. ART. 62: SCOPE AND APPLICATION.—Article is applicable where the defendant has received money which, in justice and equity, belongs to the plaintiff under such circumstances as in law render the receipt of it a receipt by the defendant to plaintiff's use. 49 C. 886=36 C.L.J. 295=1922 C. 157. See also 32 C. 527; 37 A. 233; 25 M.L.J. 531; 18 I.A. 158=19 C. 123; 31 M. 230; 40 I.C. 173; 19 I.C. 3=1913 M.W.N. 218; 101 I.C. 322=1927 A. 437; 1928 N. 256. As to the nature of such action, see 41 M. 923=35 M.L.J. 581. Art. 62 cannot be applied to a case where an account has to be taken of money received by co-owner of property as such; and a suit by one co-owner of property against another who has received more than his share of the income of the joint property does not fall under Art. 62. A suit for money had and received does not lie by one tenant-in-common against another who has received more than his share. The appropriate remedy in such a case is an action for an account and either Art. 89 or Art. 120 would apply. Whether Art. 89 or 120 applies would depend upon the facts of each case. Where the suit is not for accounts of agency, Art. 89 will not apply and Art. 120 would be the proper article to apply. 45 Bom.L.R. 424=A.I.R. 1943 Bom. 216. See also I.L.R. (1946) Mad. 423=1946 M. 116=(1945) 2 M.L.J. 422. The test of what is "receiving for use of" is not the intention of the defendant to receive it as such. If money to which another is entitled is received without valuable consideration, that is receiving for use of that other. 39 M. 62=27 M.L.J. 640=26 I.C. 219; 52 I.C. 580=85 P.R. 1919. See also 36 P.R. 1913=17 I.C. 311. Art. 62 governs cases where a definite sum of money has been received by the defendant, which the law says he must hold for the use of the plaintiff, and is not applicable to cases where the defendant is asked to account for properties and moneys when the person managing or collecting them is entitled to a just allowance. 182 I. C. 426=1938 L. 139. Art. 62 of the Limitation Act is applicable to cases where the defendant has received money which in justice and equity belongs to the plaintiff but in circumstances where the receipt by the defendant would be regarded in law as a receipt to the plaintiff's use. Where the receipt by the defendant, is on his own account and is not or cannot be regarded as one on behalf of the plaintiff, Art. 62 can have no application. 55 L.W. 90=1942 M. 386=(1942) 1 M.L.J. 274. Art. 62 applies to suits falling under the category well-known in English Law as "suits for moneys had and received". Such suits arise where money paid into the hands of the defendant is payable forthwith to the plaintiff. 7 R. 540=1930 R. 21. Although privity of contract is not necessary for the purposes of Art. 62, there must be some privity of a legally recognizable nature, such as some knowledge of particular facts in the man who received the money, or some mistake or ignorance of facts on the part of the man who paid the money, or some relation of trust and confidence between them on which the Court could fasten as creating the relation of principal and agent (though by fiction) between the plaintiff and defendant. 118 I.C. 444=1929 L. 290; 41 M. 923. See also 1941 M. 767=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 222; 1941 M. 742. Art. 62 contemplates a suit in which the plaintiff is entitled to obtain the whole of the money received as soon as it is received. 1930 R. 197; 143 I.C. 496=1933 M. 524=37 L.W. 631=64 M.L.J. 574. Subscription collected for a particular purpose—Suit for recovery from person making collections — Limitation—Starting point (Ibid.) Where a mortgagee receives a certain sum from an Insurance Company, the property mortgaged being destroyed by fire, a suit for accounts by mortgagor is governed by Art. 120 and not by Art. 62, inasmuch as the mortgagee has a lien on the moneys he received and is entitled to retain those moneys until his mortgage is satisfied. 1930 R. 197. Relinquishment of rights—Money paid in consideration—Failure of deed to take egect—Claim for refund of money paid—Limitation is under Art. 62 or Art. 97. 1930 A.L.J. 1112=1930 A.

785. Limitation for a suit to recover money retained with defendant as stake-holder to be paid to successful party in a suit, is three years from the date of decision in the suit. 1935 A.W.R. 500.

MONEY HAD AND RECEIVED.—Assets realized and debts paid by a person appointed by deceased—Suit by sister of the deceased to recover her share of inheritance is suit for money had and received by the defendant for her use and is governed by this article. 37 A. 40=27 I.C. 533=12 A.L.J. 1256. See also I.L.R. (1939) All. 594=1939 A. 442. But where the amount of maintenance granted under a will is to come out of income of particular property and the defendants are in possession of the property under the will, the proper article to apply to the suit for arrears of such maintenance against the defendant is Art. 123 and not Art. 62. 35 C.W.N. 307=1931 C. 670. A sum due for rent by mortgagee to the mortgagor is not money had and received. 41 M. 488=34 M.L.J. 193. Money deposited in Court in usum jushabentis and withdrawn by a person having no right to it may be held to be received for the use of the plaintiff. 33 A. 450=10 I.C. 736. Article applies to a suit to recover money alleged to have been collected benami for the plaintiff. 28 I.C. 495=1915 M.W.N. 215. See also (1941) 2 M.L.J. 222=1941 M. 767. A claim for arrears of revenue is governed by Art. 62 and not Art. 131 which applies only to a suit to establish a periodically recurring right. 55 B. 193=33 Bom.L.R. 127 =1931 B. 189. A suit to recover money paid to a defendant under sec. 73, C. P. Code, is a suit for money paid to him for plaintiff's use. 39 M. 62=27 M.L.J. 640. A payment of money made to a person with a view to its reaching the party entitled to it, is a payment for the use of the latter. 20 C.W. Where a person has lost money by theft he can sue the thief for the recovery of the money, quite apart from the crime, but if he does, the suit must be framed as one for money had and received, and the suit then falls under Art. 62. I.L.R. (1941) M. 414 =1941 M. 391=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 27. The provisions of Art. 62 of the Limitation Act might have been applied before the enactment of sec. 55 of the T. P. Act to cases where there was no covenant and the suit was merely on the allegation that the vendor had purported to transfer some property to which he had no title. Now that sec. 55 has imported into all transfers, unless the parties agree to the contrary, a covenant warranting the title of the vendor, it would seem that a suit to recover the consideration would be on the basis of that specific covenant and time would begin to run from the date of the deed after it had been established that there never had been any title. But in cases where there is an express covenant it must be construed according to the intention of the parties and no general rule can be laid down about the date when the cause of action arises. Such suits would be on the basis of a covenant and the provisions of Art. 97, would apply if there was no registered deed and the provisions of Art. 116 if there was a registered deed. 1945 A. Art. 62 is not confined to an action for money had and received in the strictest sense of the term as understood in the English Common Law Courts and cannot be held to be inapplicable when the action is based not on any implied contract but on the principle of ex aequo et bono. Art. 62 is intended to apply to all actions for money had and received to the use of the plaintiff whether they be actions which may be deemed strictly to be based on implied contracts or whether they be merely to enforce an equitable claim to the return of the money had and received. A suit to recover licence fees and profession-tax alledged to have been wrongfully levied by a Municipality is one to which Art. 62 applies. Such a suit does not fall under Art. 120. 55 L.W 783=A.I. The income of joint family property which accrues during period between preliminary and final decrees in a partition suit, constitutes joint family property; and if that is not divided by final decree, a suit to enforce a share in such income is governed by Art. 127 and not by this article. 1935 N. 137. Same agent for two principals—Money belonging to one lent by the agent to the other—Liability of the other to re-pay the loan arises on the date of actual payment and Art. 62 applies. 49 A. 520 =1927 A. 161. Where in a suit for recovery of certain sums from the sons of a deceased karpardar or agent, it is found that the karpardar was under no liability to pay over the sums received by him to the principal directly on receipt, and that there was a running account, the arrangement being that he should keep in his hands sufficient funds out of the collections for costs of litigation on behalf of his principal, the proper article applicable to the suit is not Art. 62 and limitation will not run from the date of each receipt by the deceased agent: Art. 89 or 120 will apply to the case. 7 Cut.L.T. 87. See also (1945) 2 M.L.J. 422.

ARTS. 62, 89 AND 120: APPLICABILITY.—Art. 62 is applicable to cases where the defendant has received money which in justice and equity belongs to the plaintiff, but in circumstances where the receipt by the defendant would be regarded in law as a receipt to the plaintiff's use. Where the receipt by the defendant, is on his own account and is not or cannot be regarded as one on behalf of the plaintiff. Art. 62 can have no application. Plaintiff's husband took a loan from the defendant Nidhi and placed with the Nidhi certain shares which he held in the Nidhi as security for the repayment of the loan. The Nidhi afterwards sold the shares and adjusted the proceeds towards the amount due. There was a surplus left with the Nidhi. After his death, the plaintiff brought a suit against the Nidhi for payment of the balance that may be found due to her after giving credit for the yearly dividends on the shares on the one side and after debiting her with any liability incurred by her husband touching the shares on the other. Held, that suit was governed by Art. 120, and neither Art. 62 nor Art. 89 applied to the case. 55 L.W. 90=1942 M.W.N. 129=1942 Mad. 386=(1942) 1 M.L.J. 274. See also 23 Pat. L.T. 457=1942 Pat. 181.

ARTS. 62, 97 AND 116: APPLICABILITY.—A suit for the return of money paid in advance, under a contract of sale, is governed either by Art. 62 or Art. 115. It is difficult to regard such money as money paid upon an existing consideration within the meaning of Art. 97. 47 P.L.R. 174=1945 Lah. 210.

ARTS. 62, 97 AND 120.—Where a suit is for profits of property entrusted to the defendant by the plaintiffs for safe custody and management, neither Art. 62 nor 109 applies to the case. It is Art. 120 that applies. Art. 62 cannot apply to a case in which profits, and not money, are sought to be recovered. It only applies when the defendant has received money as distinct from profits into his hands. Nor could Art. 109 apply because the receipt of profits was not wrongful. The defendant was in rightful possession and received the profits rightfully but it is his retention that was wrongful. 1941 N.L.J. 184=1941 N. 181. Where, before a decree for specific performance could be passed in respect of an agreement to assign a particular decree, the defendant withdraws the money deposited in respect of the said decree and the plaintiff files a suit to recover it, it is a suit to enforce an equitable claim to follow the money withdrawn by the defendant contrary to agreement and as such it does not fall under Art. 62, but comes under Art. 120 of the Act. the starting point being the date of the conveyance to him of the decree. 1941 N.L.J. 665. Art. 62 applies to cases in which there is a failure of consideration from the very beginning, or, in other words, where the transaction is void ab initio and the defendant is deemed to have received the money for the plaintiff's use. On the other hand, Art. 97 applies to cases where the consideration fails afterwards by reason of some subsequent event, as in the case of voidable transactions. Where, therefore, an auction-purchaser, under a decree obtained by a third praty loses a part of the property purchased by him and brings a suit against the decree-holder for refund of the purchase-money, the suit is governed by Art. 62 or 97 and not by Art. 120. 13 Luck. 138=1937 O. 286. Consideration in a contract of sale is not money paid for the use of the payer, so as to attract the operation of Art. 62 of the Limitation Act, except perhaps when the contract is of such a nature that it is void in law ab initio. A test for the applicability of Art. 62 is whether when the money was paid it was recoverable immediately by the plaintiff. Art. 97 and not Art. 62 would govern a suit for recovery of part purchase price paid on sale which afterwards goes off by reason of the failure of the buyer to complete payment. Art. 120 also cannot be applied to such a case. 1942 Sind 37=I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 495=1942 Sind 37. See also 1941 M. 767=(1941) 2 M. L.J. 222. (Claim against fraudulent trans-

ARTS. 62 AND 116.—Where a registered perpetual lease by one of joint tenants contains a covenant to refund the nazarana in case of dispossession and the lessee, knowing of the defective title of the lessor, does not take any action but obtains possession, and is dispossesed after ten years and sues for the refund of the nazarana, it is Art. 116 and not Art. 62 that applies to the suit and the starting point is the date of dispossession. 1941 O.W.N. 1182=1942 O. 82=17 Luck. 289 .

ART. 63.—Art. 63 is applicable to suits for recovery of interest on "thavanai" deposits. See 43 M. 629=38 M.L.J. 437=58 I.C. 639. Where there is no independent contract to pay interest, the interest is a mere accessory to the principal and if the principal is irrecoverable, so is the interest thereon. But this principle does not apply if there was a special contract to pay interest at a specified rate. 1942 Pesh. 85=204 I.C. 509. On this article, see also 40 I.C. 229=20 O.C. 152: 3 A. 328.

ART. 64: WHAT IS AN ACCOUNT STATED.—An account stated is one where several cross items are set-off, one against the other and the balance is struck in favour of one of he parties, the law implying a new promise by the other party to pay the balance. 5 P.L.J. 34 =1 P.L.T. 190. See also 9 B. 516; 23 A. 502; 54 A. 506=1932 A. 461; 22 B. 513; 86 I.C. 942=1925 M. 1147; 106 I.C. 53=1928 N. 127; 108 I.C. 600=1928 L. 459; 138 I.C. 542=1932 L. 273. There must be items on both sides of accounts. I.L.R. (1940) N. 441 =1938 N. 180; 1941 C. 595. An entry in an account book showing the balance due signed by the debtor, amounts to an "account stated," though the account is not of mutual claims and there are only credit and debit entries showing calculation of interest and payments made. It is not material that some of the items brought into the account were statute barred. 1945 N.L.J. 464=I.L.R. 1946 N. 21=1946 N. 112. Where the account upon which the suit is based includes a certain sum, which was brought forward from the previous year's account, is clearly for the defendant to prove that the is clearly for the defendant to prove that the dues brought forward from the prevous year's account were time-barred, and in any case the mere fact that some of the items are statute-barred can be of no avail to him where the suit has been brought on account stated. [56 A. 376 (P.C.), Rel. on.] 167 I.C. 652=1937 P. 348. Where the book of account contained entries of account of only one of the parties and there was nothing to show that there was an account stated between the parties, Art. 64 has no application. 52 A. 480 1930 A. 467; 54 A. 506. See also 10 L. 745= 1929 L. 263 (balance struck and signed and accepted was novation of contract). Mere striking of the balance due on a certain date in the unsigned account books will not furnish a cause of action on account stated under Art. 64. 38 I.C. 227=32 M.L.J. 536. See also 10 M. 199; 5 P.L.J. 371=1 P.L.T. 190; I.L.R. (1938) A. 141=1938 A.L.J. 773=1938 A. 504; 27 S.L.R. 308=1933 S. 324. The expression "account stated" has a technical meaning. Where the accounts were gone into, a balance was struck and the defendant signed the same but there was nothing before the Court to show that the several items for which credit had been given to the defendant were due to him from the plaintiff. Held, that it was not a case of account stated and that Art. 64 was inapplicable. There can be account stated, although the balance of indebtedness is througout in favour of one side. It is irrelevant whether the debt in favour of the final creditor is created at the outset by one large payment or consists of several sums of principal and several sums of interest. Nor is it material whether the only payments made on the other side were simply payments in reduction of such indebtedness made in respect of other dealings. In any event items must be ascertained and agreed on each side before the balance can be struck and settled. (English case-law discussed). (54 A. 506, (Reversed). 61 I.A. 273=56 A. 376=1934 P.C. 147=67 M.L.J. 110 (P.C.); 1941 C. 595. The essence of an account stated is not the character of the items on one side or the other, but the fact that there are cross items of account and that the parties mutually agree to the several amounts of each and, by treating the items so agreed on the other side, pro tanto go on to agree that the balance only is payable. Such a transaction is in truth bilateral, and creates a new debt and a new cause of action. There are mutual promises, the one side agreeing to accept the amount of the balance of the debts as true and to pay it, the other side agreeing to the entire debt as at a certain figure and then agreeing that it has been discharged to such and such an extent, so that there will be complete satisfaction on payment of the agreed balance. Hence, there is mutual consideration to support the promises on either side and to constitute a new cause of action. The account stated is accordingly binding, save that it may be re-opened on any ground—for instance, fraud or mistake—which would justify setting aside any other agreement. 67 M.L.J. 110 (P.C.); 1938 C. 861; 189 I.C. 802 (Some items time barred, effect of). The acknowledgment which forms the basis of an account stated must be an acknowledgment within time. An account stated may contain some time-barred items and yet the account stated may form the basis of a suit. But if the whole account is time-barred, then the ban imposed by sec. 25 (3) of the Contract Act would apply. 1942 N.L.J. 248=I.L.R. (1942) Nag. 369=1942 Nag. 92; 131 I.C. 867=1931 A. 375. Where the account is not open and current at the time of the suit and the account is closed and balance struck, Art. 64 is applicable. 1922 L. 182. See also 130 I.C. 570. Where the transactions between the parties were conducted as between a debtor and creditor, and on a certain date the balance was struck and it was agreed that the debtor should pay interest from that date on the amount found due by him and the creditor sued to enforce his rights. Held, that the suit was on an account stated and that it was governed by Art. 64 or perhaps Art. 57 and not by Art. 85. Held, further, that the mere fact that subsequent to the date of the striking of the balance, there were four items on each side of the account did not have the effect of converting it into a mutual, open and current account. 32 P.L.R. 65=1931 L. 233. Suit on balance of account treated as one on account stated. See 3 L. 326=1922 L. 425. As to suit for money on accounts, based on decree, see 22 L.W. 195=1925 M. 1260. For the article to apply, there need not be reciprocity of demands. 1923 C. 578; 1923 L. 645=37 P.L.R. 126. An entry of balance not containing a promise to pay cannot be relied upon to recover a time-barred debt. 25 I.C. 89=9 C.L.J. 263. An 'account stated' does not extinguish the original debts on which the account is based. 63 I.C. 280. See also 189 I.C. 802 (Account stated and acknowledgment—Distinction between). See also 14 Luck. 478=1939 O. 120). Where, in a suit brought by a commission agent for commission, the accounts were stated and balance was struck, the proper article applicable to the suit is Art. 64. 100 I.C. 874=1928 L. 51. See also 14 L. 14=1933 L. 12; 33 Bom. L.R. 1200=1932 B. 25; 162 I.C. 178=1936 P. 444 (Suit against surety). Plaintiff had been employed under the defendant from 1913 to 1928. In the books of the defendant's business, there were accounts of drawings by plaintiff from time to time; there was no account on the other side as the plaintiff's salary was never fixed. In 1928, an account was drawn up by the defendant's manager, showing credits for salary and debits for drawings and ending in a balance in favour of the plaintiff. Held, that it was an account stated and involved a promise to pay the balance for good consideration. 38 C.W.N. 813=1934 P.C. 144=67 M.L.J. 103 (P.C.). An account stated may only take the form of a mere acknowledgment of a debt, though, if those circumstances amount to a promise, and the existence of a debt may be inferred, that can be rebutted by showing that there is no real debt at all. On the other hand, there is another form of account stated, a "real account stated," which contains entries on both sides and in which the parties have agreed that the items on one side should be set off against those on the other, and the balance only should be paid; the items on the smaller side are set off and deemed to be paid by those on the larger side, and there is a promise for good consideration to pay the balance. It is not necessary, to make out a real account stated, that there should be debts in praesenti, or that they should be legal debts. 67 M.L.J. 103 (P.C.). See also 1936 C. 470=64 C.L.J. 75; 1937 C. 535. Suit on alleged settlement of account—Heading of account and entries in handwriting of defendant not a statement of account "signed" by the defendant sufficient for purposes of Art. 64. 1940 M. 887=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 334.

ARTS. 64 AND 85: PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—ACCOUNTS—NATURE—MUTUAL, OPEN AND CURRENT ACCOUNTS—ACCOUNT STATED—SUIT ON.—Cases of transactions between a creditor and his debtor must be distinguished from those of a principal and agent. Where the whole basis of the relation between the parties is that of principal and agent, the accounts between them are mutual, running and current accounts. The essentials of a mutual, open and current account are the reciprocity of dealings and the right to mutual demands. Where these are the relations between the parties, an account, to be a settled account, need not be signed provided that it is submitted to the party sought to be made liable on it, and he has, by words or by conduct, acquiesced in its correctness. Until an account is stated between the parties, the right of either of them is to bring a suit for accounts and to

ART. 65: SCOPE.—See 31 I.C. 479=9 S.L. R. 90. Art. 65 does not apply unless there is an agreement between the parties to pay the loss immediately on its being ascertained, and in the absence of any specified time or specified contingency. So, a suit by a commission agent to recover loss on the transactions entertained on behalf of his constitutents is governed by Art. 83 and not by Art. 65. 33 Bom.L.R. 1200=1932 Bom. 25. Suit for recovery of a debt in kind payable in kind or for cash value is governed by this article. 4 L.L.J. 64=1922 L. 122 (2); 1922 L. 271; 49 I.C. 231=41 P.R. 1918. ART. 66: SCOPE.—See 4 A. 3; 31 I.C. 479 (Sind). As to applicability, see 37 M. 175. A bond merely for the payment of a certain sum of money, without any condition in it, is called a simple or single bond. 1923 O. 19= 26 O.C. 121. See also 22 I.C. 60 (Mad.). Art. 66 is not limited in its application to a suit for the enforcement of a bond against the executant himself. A suit on a bond executed by a Hindu, after his death, to enforce the same against his sons is governed by Art. 66. The article makes no reference to the persons against whom the suit is brought. 1937 A. 559. Where money is deposited with a person for certain expenses and the balance is repayable with interest at a fixed date, the case is governed by Art. 66 and not by Art. 115. 37 M. 175=24 I.C. 852; 164 I.C. 459 =1936 R. 338. As to suit for recovery of money deposited with another and repayable on the happening of a future event, see also 22 I.C. 60=1914 M.W.N. 264. Article is inapplicable where repayment is to be made within a period, but the amount might be repaid earlier. 3 A. 276. Where a simple bond sets out firstly that the money is payable on demand and further on its sets out that the whole sum with interest should be paid within one year, it is not open to the debtor to make a payment before the end of the period of one year fixed, as the bond is not payable within that period, unless the creditor makes a demand. Art. 66 applies to a suit on a such bond, and the period of limitation runs not from the date of execution but from the expiry of the period of one year specified in the bond. 154 I.C. 521=1935 A.L. J. 381=1935 A. 413. Mere condition that, in default of payment of interest at the stipulated intervals, the creditor is to have the option to enforce payment earlier, does not take the case out of Art. 66. 39 I.C. 574=15 A.L.J. 313; 1 C. 163 (P.C.). But see 2 A. 322; 27 O.C. 318=85 I.C. 280. Suit to recover money due on a registered bond is not governed by this article. 16 Bom.L. R. 20=38 B. 177; 6 B. 75. Where a mortgagee sues on a personal covenant to make the mortgagor responsible for any deficiency in the realisation of the mortgage debt out of the mortgaged properties, the claim is governed by Art. 66. 1927 O. 567. But see contra 1928 M. 1124=55 M.L.J. 506 which holds that Art. 116 governs such a case. See also 51 A. 473=1929 A. 139; 52 M. 105 =1929 M. 53=56 M.L.J. 10 (F.B.); 35 C. W.N. 1030=1931 C. 801 (1). In a rehan bond, there was a personal covenant to repay on a certain date, and in addition, there was a clause which gave the mortgagee the right to realise from the mortgaged property, from the person of the mortgagor and from his other properties, if he was dispossessed from the rehan property. The mortgagee sued basing his cause of action on dispossession and, after sale of the mortgaged property in execution of his decree, applies for a personal decree for the balance. Held, that Art. 116 applied and not Art. 66 or 67; and that the starting point for limitation was the date of dispossession. 13 P. 228= 1934 P. 578. See also 12 Luck. 211=162 I. C. 459=1936 O. 279. Where a second mortgage-deed provided that the mortgagor would redeem the mortgage at the same time when he would redeem the first mortgagee, held, that the condition regarding the time for redemption did not amount to specifying a day for payment within the meaning of Art. 66 and as no date was specified, the period of twelve years to enforce the second mortgage commenced from the date of the mortgage. 1933 L. 85=34 P.L.R. 37. invalid for all purposes. The deed must be treated as unregistered even for the purpose of the personal covenant to pay. A suit for recovery of the money on the personal covenant is governed by Art. 66 or Art. 57 and not by Art. 116, and there is no breach of a contract in writing registered within the meaning of Art. 116. 41 C.W.N. 783=1937 C. 347. See also 1937 R. 484.

ARTS. 66, 68, 75 AND 80.—Where an ordinary unregistered money bond provides for repayment of the principal with interest after a specified period and for interest payable annually and recites that in default, the creditor may at once sue for the entire amount due, the bond is a single bond, notwithstanding the default clause. The period of limitation runs from the date specified for payment as prescribed by Art. 66. Time does not run from the date of the first default in payment of interest, nor does the whole amount of the bond become payable on that date so as there and then to include the application of Art. 80. It is doubtful if Art. 68 would apply to such a case. Though the bond contains a condition, it is not one which relates to the whole sum due on the bond. Art. 68 applies rather to bonds of the nature of security bonds. The bond in question could not be called instalment bond and it is only in the case of an instalment bond to which Art. 75 applies that time begins to run from the date when the default is made. 16 Luck. 464=1941 O. 210 (F.B.).

ART. 67.—When payment is to be made on the happening of a certain future event, time begins to run from that date. Neither Art. 66 nor 67 applies. 32 I.C. 575. A bond payable on demand is indentical with one in which no day for payment is specified. 3 A. 600 (F.B.); 3 A. 340. Book entries of balance struck by the defendants which were attested by witnesses, were held to be bonds within this article. 5 L. 406=1925 L. 75. ART. 68.—See 1941 O.W.N. 361=1941 O. 210; 40 I.C. 235=5 L.W. 706. The cause of action against the heirs of a deceased surety arises from the date of his death because the condition of the bond is broken within the meaning of Art. 68 at the very latest on the death of the surety. 1943 Pat. 218. Surety bond under the Guardians and Wards Act—Suit on it is governed by this article except where immovable property is charged. 42 M. 302=36 M.L.J. 114 =49 I.C. 587. So also on an administration bond. 1 R. 63=1924 R. 68; 27 I.C. 849. A suit by an assignee of an administration bond under the provisions of sec. 292, Succession Act, for its enforcement, is a suit upon a bond subject to a condition to which Art. 68 applies. Where the administrator dies, the condition must be deemed to have been broken at the latest on that date and limitation would begin to run from that date. Sec. 292 of the Succession Act has not the effect of conferring a new cause of action on the assignee and hence cannot provide a fresh starting point for the purposes of limitation. 67 I.A. 416 =I.L.R. If a bond provides that if the monthly interest is not paid, or if the principal money lent is not paid at the end of the year, the creditor may sue, and the monthly interest is not paid, there is a breach of the condition for payment of interest, a matter over which the creditor has a right of waiver and limitation under Art. 68 will only begin to run from the expiry of the period of one year stipulated in the bond for payment. 1935 A.L.J. 341=1935 A. 405. Time begins to run from the date of the particular breach giving rise to the suit. 1 R. 463=1924 R. 68. See also 56 I.C. 968; 26 I.C. 505. Where a debtor who makes a part payment of the amount due under the bond makes an endorsement on it that he would pay the balance within a certain period, the limitation for a suit for that balance will only begin to run from the expiry of the period mentioned in the endorsement. 41 P.L.R. 352=1939 L. 236.

Limitation will be extended if the pronote sued on was accompanied by a security bond of the same date hypothecating certain properties. 140 I.C. 460=1932 O. 286.

ART. 74.—When a debt is payable in instalments, limitation runs as regards each payment on the date it is payable. Plaintiff can recover only in respect of instalments falling due within three years before suit. 1923 M.W.N. 699=1924 M. 310; 38 M. 374 =25 M.L.J. 264. Where in a bond it is stipulated that it will be paid back within a fixed period, and the principal amount of the bond is divided into annual instalments, provisions being also made for the payment of interest, and there are no express words in the bond which affirmatively give the creditor a right to sue for the entire amount after the date fixed for the last instalment and there is nothing which precludes the creditor from suing for a defaulted instalment, the bond is one payable by instalments and the proper article applicable to such a bond is Art. 74. The suit bond was executed on the 1st December, 1926. According to the terms of the bond, interest was to be paid monthly and the principal amount was to be paid in certain instalments after the lapse of the first three years. The bond further provided that, in default of payment of interest month by month, the whole amount should become payable at once. The defendant paid interest only for the first six months. The suit for the recovery of the entire amount was instituted on the 22nd November, 1930. Held, that the suit was barred under Art. 80 and that Arts. 74 and 75 had no application. 142 I.C. 851 (2)=1933 L. 548. Construction of instalment bond—Default in payment of principal and interest—Default in payment of principal or interest—Limitation. 37 P.L.R. 242=1935 L. 557.

ARTS. 74 AND 75.—There is a well-defined distinction between Arts. 74 and 75. The former applies to an instalment bond which does not contain any default clause, and in such a case, therefore, the plaintiff is entitled by the very terms of the bond to sue only for such instalment as remains unpaid. No question of waiver or default can ever arise in such a case. But where the document provides that in the case of default the obligee has the right to sue for the whole of the sum then remaining due, Art. 75 applies. When a debt is payable by instalments and there is no default provision, a new cause 18 P. 459=1939 P. 433 (F.B.); 1937 L. 1. of action arises upon each default and the plaintiff can recover in respect of instalments falling due within three years before suit, vide Art. 74, Limitation Act. But if there is a default provision, Art. 74 cannot be relied upon, and under Art. 75, if the plaintiff sues more than three years from the first default and there is no waiver, the suit is totally time barred, that is, he cannot recover even those instalments which fell due within three years of suit. But the Chief Court of Oudh is in favour of interpreting any facts which can possibly be so interpreted as favouring the view that the creditor has waived the exercise of the option on the first instalment when he bases his suit on subsequent defaults which are within limitation and does not seek to found his cause of action on the earlier defaults. The principle which holds good in regard to the first exercise of the option under the default clause holds equally good in respect of a claim founded on subsequent defaults. 194 I.C. 744=1941 O. 485. An instalment bond gave the creditor the option to demand payments of three instalments, if default was made, together with interest thereon from time to time, and also gave the creditor an option to bring a suit for the whole amount due under the bond, if the creditor chose to exercise his right in the whole amount. Held, that in view of the wording of the bond, Art. 74 and not Art. 75, applied, and hence it was open to the creditor to sue at any time for all those instalments which had become payable, within three years of the institution of the suit. Where there is a covenant in a bond, entitling the creditor to sue for the amount due on the bond before the expiry of the stipulated period of four years, it is for the benefit of the creditor, and it is open to him to waive that option, and to wait for the full period of four years before putting the bond into suit, and that the time for recovery of the debt did not begin to run from the date of the first default. 55 A. 283=1932 A.L.J. 550=1933 A. 235. See also 1937 L. 863. Where the plaintiffs waive the benefit of the provision as to the recovery of the whole amount, they will not be able to sue in future for the whole amount at one, but they are entitled to sue for instalments as they fall due under Art. 75, the cause of action accruing on each default. 1929 A. 812; 187 I.C. 221. An instalment bond provided that if there was default of two instalments the remaining amount was payable at once. The plaintiff sued for the recovery of the entire balance due alleging that he had received the first two instalments but that the 3rd and 4th instalments were in default. The Court found that the first two instalments were not paid and held that the cause of action accrued when the second instalment was defaulted and dismissed the suit as it was instituted more than three years after that date. In revision, it was contended that the Court below should have at least decreed the instalments which were within time. Held, that the plaintiff having exercised his option in suit for the whole amount, must be deemed to have waived his right of claiming the amount by instalments as they fell due. 1945 N.L.J. 473=1946 N. 12=I. L.R. (1946) N. 12. In the case of an instalment bond, if it is provided that in the event of a default in payment of one instalment the creditor can bring his suit for realising the entire amount of the bond, the whole amount must be considered to become due within the meaning of Col. 1, Art. 75 and Art. 75 will be applicable to a suit based on such a bond. Neither Art. 74 nor Art. 80 can have any application. By virtue of the provisions of Col. 3 of Art. 75 time will begin to run from the date of the first default which makes the whole money due, and if waiver is proved the date of a fresh default. Time will begin to run from the date of default no matter whether the creditor has been given the option of suing only for the instalment in respect of which a default has been committed. A stipulation in the bond that the creditor will also have the right to realise by filing a suit in Court the total amount due from the executant on account of principal and interest after the expiry of time for all the instalments, that is, at the time when the last instalment falls due, cannot arrest the running of time when once it has begun to run, on account of the fact that Art. 75 governs the case. Such a stipulation is nothing short of a contract or agreement between the parties for altering the statutory period of limitation, namely three years as prescribed by Art. 75. Parties cannot by contract alter the statutory period of limitation nor can they alter the statutory 'starting point' of limitation. Such a covenant must be deemed to be void under sec. 23 of the Contract Act. 225 I.C. 122=1946 A.L.W. 324=1947 A. 38.

WAIVER, EFFECT OF.—In absence of waiver, time runs from date of default, for a suit for recovery of overdue instalments. 15 I.C. 856; 11 I.C. 526=14 O.C. 129; 1925 N. 298; 164 I.C. 431=1936 O. 384; 167 I.C. 293=1931 O. 288; 1937 L. 863. Where there is no waiver, plaintiff cannot make his suit within time by claiming only the instalments not barred. 47 A. 552=1925 A. 499; 14 N.L.J. 141=1932 N. 1 (F.B.), following 53 C. 277=1926 C. 789. See 31 C. 297; 7 M. 577; 36 C. 394=9 C.L. But see 41 A. 104 =47 I.C. 926=16 A.L.J. 929 (Plaitiff presumed to have exercised option to waive). See also 23 I.C. 830; 133 I.C. 223=1932 O. 176. Where there is no waiver, time runs from the date when the right accrues. 1929 C. 292. Where the bond gave the plaintiff the option of taking advantage of the forfeiture clause, his right to realize the amount by instalments as originally agreed upon could not be lost by his failure to exercise his option. 1933 L. 849 (1). See also 1930 L. 124. If the plaintiff does not receive the offered payment, there is no default and consequently no waiver. 38 M. 374=25 M.L.J. 264. Where Art. 75 applies, the starting point of limitation is the date of the first default, or in case of waiver of its benefit, the next default, no matter whether the creditor is given by a contract no option to wait or not to wait. The principle underlying seems to be that the commencement of the period of limitation depends really upon whether the creditor is entitled under the terms of the bond to sue for the that, having regard to O. 32, r. 10, C. P. Code, whole money due under it and it is not affected by the fact that he has the option not to do so if he likes. 1943 A.W.R. (H. C.) 128=1943 O.A. (H.C.) 128=1943 A.L. J. 238=1943 A.L.W. 368. The Limitation Act does not lay down substantive law, and so the exception made in Art. 75 in favour of the creditor who waives, cannot be construed as conferring a right which does not exist under the ordinary law. The article refers to cases in which the creditor is entitled to exercise the privilege and it cannot apply when under the ordinary law, or by reason of a special contract, he is precluded from doing so. In case of bonds providing for repayment of debts by instalments with exigibility clause in case of default, the general principle is that the person in default should not be allowed to take advantage of his own wrong and these clauses are generally inserted for the creditor's benefit. It follows that unless the bond specially takes away the privilege it must be taken to exist. 1942 N.L.J. 296=A.I.R. 1942 Nag. 138=I.L.R. (1943) Nag. 630. Where a person executes a bond acknowledging a certain sum as due from him to the person in whose favour the bond is executed and agrees to pay it in six instalments on specified dates, and in default of payment of any such instalment, to pay the whole amount due, the cause of action to recover on the bond arises on the date of the first default. The expression indul talab used in such a bond means 'on demand' and does not confer an option on the creditor to demand the whole amount if there was default in payment of any instalment. I.L.R. (1944) All. 274=1944 A.L.J. 251=1944 O.W.N. (H.C.) 83=A.I.R. 1944 All. 197. In an instalment bond where on a default it is provided that the creditor has the right to claim the whole amount, there is an option either to bring a suit for the whole amount relying on the default clause or to waive the default clause and claim each instalment as it falls due. When it is clear from the plaint in such a suit that the suit was not based on the default clause but on the agreement to pay each instalment on the due date, no question of any bar of O. 2, r. 2, C. P. Code, would arise. I.L.R. (1945) All. 105=1945 O.W.N. (H.C.) 17=1945 A.L.J. 107=A.I.R. 1945 All. 119.

WHAT CONSTITUTES WAIVER.—"Waives the benefit", meaning of. 1934 A. 1039=1934 A.L.J. 1056=153 I.C. 205. Where the obligee under an instalment bond is given the right to sue for the whole amount on the occurrence of default in payment of any instalment, it is open to him to waive the benefit of that provision, and yet to avail himself of that provision when a similar default takes place in the payment of a subsequent instalment. What amounts to waiver must depend upon the circumstances of each case. It cannot be laid down as a general rule that, wherever a person omits to claim a particular amount, it must be held to constitute a waiver. It is not necessary for a creditor to adduce affirmative evidence in support of waiver. In fact generally it is to be inferred from all the surrounding circumstances. 164 I.C. 431=1936 O.W.N. 665=1936 O. 384. See also 151 I.C. 852=11 O.W.N. 1191=1934 O. 455; 1941 O. 74=16 Luck. 280. Waiver must be something more than negligence. 1938 A.M.L.J. 50. It must be considered first whether the plaintiff had an option to waive his right to bring a suit at once on the happening of the default and whether as a matter of fact he did exercise the right of waiver. 1922 A. 113; 99 I.C. 871=1927 S. 151. Waiver must depend on some definite act or forbearance. 1929 C. 292. Where whole amount and not merely the amount due on unpaid instalments, is claimed, there is no waiver. 1929 C. 292; 35 A. 455=20 I.C. 933=11 A.L.J. 664; 149 I.C. 972 (1)=1934 L. 283 (1). Acceptance of an overdue instalment is waiver. 2 L.L.J. 324; 59 I.C. 607 (S.); 1929 A 881; 58 C. 615=1931 C. 157. But see 1933 N. 70=144 I.C. 211; 1933 S. 365. Payment and acceptance of amounts equivalent to overdue instalments are not sufficient to prove waiver, when such payments are not appropriated to any particular instalments. 18 N.L.J. 104. Acceptance of portion only of such instalment is not waiver. 20 I.C. 156; 33 I.C. 606. See also 19 N.L.R. 170=1924 N. 61; 36 C. 394; 19 M. 162; 18 P. 459=1939 P. 433 (F.B.); 16 A. 371; 27 B. 1 (F.B.); 29 A. 431; 12 M. 192 on the point. As to proof of waiver, see 1937 O. W.N. 1073=1938 O. 42; 1937 L. 863. An instalment bond provided that the creditor will be entitled on default of any one instalment to realize the full amount with interest in a lump sum or by miscellaneous amounts. There was default but the debtor made voluntarily miscellaneous payments which the creditor accepted and subsequently sued for the balance on the ground that he was entitled to sue for the whole amount. It was contended for the debtor that the creditor had waived such a right and that he was entitled only to the balance with interest from date of the last default. Held, that he was entitled only to the balance with interest from the date of the last default. 1934 A. 697. A creditor waiving default, if and when entitled to take advantage of subsequent default. See 163 I.C. 165=38 P.L.R. 286; 1936 L. 570. The question whether there is waiver or not depends on the attendant circumstances of the act claimed as a waiver in each particular case. Where there is no evidence either that the debtors requested the creditors to excuse the default or that the payment of an overdue instalment was accepted as a consequence of waiver, the suit filed more than three years from the date of the first default cannot be saved from the bar of limitation by a plea of waiver. 1933 N. 70. Mere abstension from enforcing rights in case of default does not amount to waiver. 47 A. 552=23 A.L.J. 424. See also 1924 B. 301; 25 I.C. 938=3 S.L.R. 63; 47 I.C. 943 (C.); 1929 C. 291. But it is very strong evidence of waiver. 36 M. 66=12 I.C. 57. It is not necessary for waiver that there must be acceptance of an overdue instalment. 36 M. 66. See also 1929 C. 309. Recovery of overdue instalments by suit amounts to waiver of right to sue for the whole as soon as default occurred. 19 N.L.R. 170=1924 N. 61; 1930 A.L.J. 495=1929 A. 812. If the promisee had the option to sue for the entire amount on the first default, but he did not base his claim on that option but instead sued specifically for the last three instalments, basing his cause of action on each of the said defaults, that is sufficiently indicative of his having waived his option. 137 I.C. 223=1932 O. 176. As to bond with default provision in respect of interest payable at stated intervals, see 1919 M.W.N. 82=9 L. W. 479=51 I.C. 724; 41 I.C. 423=4 O.L. J. 402; 31 I.C. 479 (2)=9 S.L.R. 90; 142 I.C. 851=1933 L. 548. As to principle of this article applied to suits on mortgage bonds, see under Art. 132. See also 11 P.L. T. 609=1930 P. 615; 30 N.L.R. 314=1934 N. 180, for a case of instalment decree. Where a mortgage deed provides for payment by instalments with a default clause that on default in payment of an instalment the whole of the balance becomes payable, the mortgagee does not forfeit his right to recover the balance after the expiry of the term of the mortgage, though he might not have taken advantage of the default clause. A suit to enforce a personal remedy under such a bond is governed by Art. 75 read with Art. 116 and would be within time if filed within 6 years from the date fixed for the payment of the last instalment. 1941 N.L.J. 649.

ing to get over the bar of limitation by pleading waiver has to make his pleadings specifically on the point and support it by cogent evidence. Waiver cannot be presumed. If in a case of an instalment bond which provides that on failure to pay two instalments the whole amount is payable, the plaintiff never stated in the Court below that there was any waver on his part but pleaded repayment of the first two instalments and stated that the cause of action accrued when the third and the fourth instalments were defaulted, he cannot, having failed to substantiate his case that the first two instalments were paid, turn round for the first time in revision and urge that the failure to realize the first two instalments should be treated as waiver on his part and that the default took place when the fourth instalment was not paid. This would be allowing him to make out a new case altogether and one which was not pleaded. 1945 N.L.J. 473.

ARTS. 83 AND 61.—The liability under sec. 222 of the Contract Act of a principal to indemnify the agent is a liability under a contract within the meaning of Art. 83 of the Limitation Act. Accordingly a suit for money spent by the agent out of his pocket on behalf of the principal acting within his authority, is governed by Art. 83 and not by Art. 61 of the Limitation Act. 48 C.W.N. 317= A.I.R. 1944 Cal. 302 (1).

ART. 84.—The word 'cost' is not confined to out of pocket expenses of the practitioner. Suit for remuneration is also governed by this article. 29 I.C. 763 (M.) Application made under the rules of the Court, by attorney for realisation of costs, where it involves enquiry, is a suit governed by Art. 84. 46 C. 249=51 I.C. 941=23 C.W.N. 473. terminated in 1924 and that the lein became barred in 1930. 131 I.C. 158=1931 M. 183=60 M.L.J. 133. In many proceedings of which administration suits are examples, the so-called final decree is very far from being the termination of the suit. 52 C.L.J. 197 =1930 C. 651 (F.B.).

ART. 85: APPLICABILITY.—Art. 85 applies to a suit on a mutual, open and current account. 1930 B. 5=53 B. 652. As to what is a mutual, open and current account, see 102 I. C. 225=1927 B. 225=29 Bom.L.R. 375; 56 C. 575=1929 C. 641; 112 I.C. 715; (A.) 1930 L. 711. The conditions for the applicability of Art. 85 are that there should be cross-claims arising out of a course of dealings which evidences or is referable to an intention to set-off. The phrase "reciprocal demands" does not import that either party has made an actual demand in fact. 58 C. 649= 34 C.W.N. 1175=1931 C. 359. Where a depositor borrows money from a bank by means of overdrafts, and occasionally deposits money which is applied to the overdrafts, the transaction is not a mutual account, and the statute of limitation runs from the date of each loan, notwithstanding the transaction opens with a credit to the depositor. 197 I.C. 449 =1942 P. 201. The phrase 'reciprocal demands' in Art. 85 does not import that either party has made an actual demand in fact. But the dealings must be of such a nature that they might lead to reciprocal demands. 1939 N. 113=184 I.C. 139. See also 1936 R. 495; 1938 R. 224; 1938 R. 270; 1936 O. 384. It refers to cases where the course of business between the parties has been of such a nature as to give rise to reciprocal demands between them, that is, the dealings between the parties must have been of such a nature that the balance might sometimes be in favour of one party and sometimes in favour of the other. 1936 R. 495. See also (1942) 2 M.L.J. 337=1943 M. 13.

MUTUAL, OPEN AND CURRENT ACCOUNT.—The term 'mutual' in relation to accounts is found in at least four different collocations and all cases concerned with 'mutual dealings' or 'mutual accounts' are not necessarily safe guides when considering what constitutes 'mutual, open and current account' under Art. 85. 184 I.C. 139=1939 N. 113. Where there is dual contractual relationship between the parties (i) that of borrower and creditor and (ii) that of principal and agent, and in these dealings, the plaintiff as creditor has demands against the defendant, while the defendant as the principal has independent demands against the plaintiff as his agent, and the items relating to all the dealings are entered in one account, such an account is clearly a mutual, current and open account, and a suit for recovery of the amount due on it is governed by Art. 85. The absence of a shifting balance is not a decisive factor in case of mutual, open and current accounts. 185 I.C. 805=1939 L. 356. See also 1942 P. 298= 1941 P.W.N. 638. A mutual account within the meaning of Art. 85, is an account of dealings between two parties which are such as to create independent obligations in favour of one party against another. The fact that the balance was always in favour of one party throughout the entire period of accounting would not take the transaction out of the category of Art. 85 of the Limitation Act. Though a shifting balance is a test of mutuality its absence is not conclusive proof against mutuality. 1942 A.L.W. 321. See also 1943 M. 13=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 337. An 'open account', what is. See 100 I.C. 815=28 Punj.L.R. 146=1927 L. 848. Dealings should be entered in an account consisting of mutual items of debt and credit. 63 I.C. 950= 23 Bom.L.R. 540=1921 B. 451. There must be transactions on each side, creating independent obligations on the other, and not merely transactions which create obligations on the one side, those on the other being merely complete or partial discharges of such obligations. 44 M.L.J. 184=1923 M. 278; 1936 C. 382. See also 1923 L. 636; 1923 L. 347; 1922 L. 338; 1922 L. 316; 12 L. 420=1931 L. 241; 1922 P. 364=3 P.L.T. 492; (1911) 2 M.W.N. 440=22 M.L.J. 14=1927 M. 819=1930 O. 287; 15 N.L.J. 105=1933 N. 50; 1930 L. 711; 1936 A.M.L.J. 68; 130 I.C. 574=1931 L. 309; 1933 A.L.J. 1283; 1937 R. 340; 58 C. 649=34 C.W.N. 1175=1931 C. 354. In other words, the dealings must be such that there may be balance in favour of either party and not always in favour of one party in the very nature of the transactions. 44 M.L.J. 174; 47 B. 128=1923 B. 82; 4 P.L.T. 571= 35 Bom.L.R. 929=58 B. 200=1933 B. 450. But see also 106 I.C. 53=1928 N. 127. But actual shifting balance is not necessary. 47 B. 128; 1923 N. 108; 1924 P. 107; 29 Bom.L. R. 575=1927 B. 225; nor does it afford a real test of mutuality. 17 I.C. 48=23 M.L.J. 516; 1933 N. 50=15 N.L.J. 105. The question whether an account is mutual, open and current so as to attract the operation of Art. 85 is one of fact and must depend upon the nature of the dealings between the parties, nature of the entries and other relevant circumstances. In order that an account should be mutual, there must be dealings between the parties and such dealings must be capable of giving rise to independent obligations on each side of the account at any given period or stage.' One test commonly applied is the possibility of shifting balances. But that test is not conclusive. The real test is whether the dealings between the parties are of such a nature that the balance might so shift. An account current means a running account, that, is an account which is continued and not stopped or closed. If the account is running, that is to say, if it is unclosed, then it is open and current. Mere cessation of dealings between the parties, however, does not mean that the account is closed. The real question in each case would be what is the intention of the parties. 58 B. 200=1933 B. 450. Where there is no open account on the date of suit, the plaintiff cannot sue on a mutual account and claim the benefit of Art. 85. Ibid. Each party must have a demand against the other, i.e., each party should be able to say against the other "I have an account against you." 5 C. 759; 6 C.L.J. 158; 3 L.L.J. 362; 8 Bur.L.T. 116=27 I.C. 879. See also 17 P.W.R. 1920 =54 I.C. 453; 47 B. 128; 17 I.C. 48=23 M.L.J. 516; 22 M.L.J. 14=12 I.C. 673; 6 B. 134; 10 M. 259; 32 A. 11; 17 M. 293; 22 B. 606; 39 A. 33; 132 I.C. 420=1932 A. 38; 1939 N.L.J. 109=1939 N. 113; 1940 A. 209; 1936 A.M.L.J. 68; 1938 L. 264. In order to bring a case within the article, it is necessary that the dealings on either side must be so independent of each other that neither party giving credit to the other relies on the debt which he has against him. 15 L. 14=1933 L. 12. The account must be continuous or current, uninterrupted or unclosed by settlement or otherwise, consisting of a series of transactions, from which the balance due to one of them is or can be easily ascertained. 1923 L. 347; 3 P.L.T. 492=1922 P. 364. See also 6 M.H.C.R. 142; 100 I.C. 815=28 P.L.R. 146 =1927 L. 848. Where independent obligations are created between the parties and the accounts are never closed even though annual balances are struck, the fact that the balance has been in favour of same party during the last few years does not take the transaction out of the category of Art. 85. I.L.R. (1938) A. 741=1938 A.L.J. 773=1938 A. 504. A mutual, open and current account continues as such, so long as the account remains open and current. It would not become a non-mutual, open and current account, merely by reason of the fact that after a certain date the account was one-sided. The mutuality results from the reciprocal claims which can spring out of the transactions which once made the account mutual. Where an acknowledgment closes the old account, then the old account ceases to be a mutual, open and current account. It could cease to be open and it could cease to be current, but it could never lose the quality of mutuality. With the end of either of the first-mentioned characterists would end the applicability of Art. 85. 1939 N.L.J. 109=1939 N. 113. Plaintiff sending moneys to defendant as loans—Defendant making purchases for plaintiff and advancing moneys for him—All these accounts debited and credited in the defendant's account, by the plaintiff—Account, is a mutual, open and current. 27 A.L.J. 73 =112 I.C. 715. The phraseology of Art. 85 is wide and comprehensive and does not exclude from its purview the case of a principal and agent between whom a mutual open and current account has existed. 1930 L. 712. Where a customer is permitted to overdraw a current account with his bank and the account is sometimes in credit and sometimes in debit, the bank is a debtor when the account is in credit, and when the account is overdrawn, the customer is under an obligation to the bank. In such circumstances the account can only be regarded as a "mutual, open and current" account. I.L.R. (1946) M. 325=1945 Mad. 467=(1945) 2 M.L.J. 120.

Money is movable property within this article. 21 C.W.N. 591=40 I.C. 359; 39 M. 376=26 I.C. 740=28 M.L.J. 140; 49 C. 250 =1922 C. 355=26 C.W.N. 61; 32 C. 719; 35 C. 298. A suit for accounts against a rent collector is governed by article. 49 C. 250 =26 C.W.N. 61=1922 C. 355. Art. 89 applies to a suit by a principal against his agent for an account and for any money that may be found due on the taking of such account. The starting point of limitation is (1) when the account is demanded and refused, or (2) when the agency terminates. 58 B. 200=35 Bom.L.R. 929=1933 B. 450; 1933 A. 648=55 A. 814. A suit by the principal against the agent for recovery of certain sums misappropriated by him is governed by Art. 89 and not Art. 62. Art. 89 is not confined to suits for accounts only. 60 C. 1347=38 C.W.N. 211=1934 C. 238. Where accounts of an agent have already been adjusted, a suit for money fround due is not governed by this article. 25 C.L.J. 335=21 C.W.N. 591. A suit for an account by the principal against the legal representatives of a deceased agent is governed by Art. 89. I. L.R. (1943) Nag. 470=1943 N.L.J. 308= 1943 Nag. 227. The proper article applicable to a suit by the legal representative of the principal against the agent for accounts is Art. 89. The article is not restricted to a suit by the principal against the agent or vice versa. It also applies to a suit by or against the legal representatives of the principal or of the agent. The omission of any mention of legal representatives in the words under "Description of suit" in Art. 89 does not mean that the article does not apply to a suit by or against the legal representatives. 40 C.W.N. 245=62 C.L.J. 464; 44 C. 1=1916 P.C. 148=31 M.L.J. 836 (P.C.); 85 I.C. 704=1925 A. 682. Time runs from the termination of the agency (i.e.) the death of the principal (see 26 C. W.N. 320=1922 C. 53; 43 C. 248) whether the principal has demanded an account or not. 44 C. 1 (P.C.). Pleader engaged for several suits—Death of pleader—Suit for moneys advanced against legal representatives is barred in respect of suits disposed of more than three years prior to the suit. 50 M. 249=51 M.L.J. 804=1927 M. 157. Arter a dissolution of a partnership, an agreement was entered into by the partners to the effect that the two partners, as mentioned in the agreement, were to collect the outstandings of the partnership as trustees and to deposit the amount in a bank after paying off the partnership liabilities and to share it equally. Then a suit had been instituted for rendition of accounts of the moneys realized as per agreement. Held, that under the above-mentioned circumstances the suit was governed by Art. 89 and not by Art. 106 of the Act, because by virtue of the said agreement the trustee partners were the agents of the partnership for recovering the assets and therefore the suit was essentially between the principal and an agent and for accounts. 134 I.C. 527=1931 L. 300. A suit by one partner for partnership accounts (without a prayer for dissolution of partnership) based on an express agreement between the partners to render accounts and to distribute the profits annually is governed by Art. 120 and not Art. 89 or Art. 100 or Art. 116. 1933 N. 127=29 N.L.R. 34.

STARTING OF LIMITATION.—Whether failure to render accounts amounts to refusal under this article, see 53 I.C. 675=30 C.L. J. 90. If there is demand and there is no response, there is an implied refusal. 43 C. 248=19 C.W.N. 1070=30 I.C. 697. But see 1 P.R. 1912=13 I.C. 930; 43 I.C. 570 (Putting off not refusal); 3 P. 546=80 I. C. 956. There must be a definite repudiation on the part of the defendant of a liability to account or any circumstances from which the failure or omission on his part to render accounts might be construed as a refusal. 56 C.L.J. 172=1933 C. 204. Non-compliance or evasion or procrastination on the part of the agent amounts to a refusal. 123 I.C. 228=1930 S. 142. Where there is no demand and refusal, time runs only from the termination of the agency. 20 C.W.N.

But if it terminated in any of the manners provided in sec. 201, Contract Act, time begins to run from the very date of such termination. 1943 A.L.W. 133. In a suit by heirs of the principal for accounts, time runs from the death of the principal which terminates the agency. 44 C. 1 (P.C.); 26 C.W.N. 320 =1922 C. 53; 43 C. 248. Where an agent is appointed by a certain person and thereafter that person dies, and the agent continues to hold service under the son of his deceased principal, the agency created by the deceased terminates on his death, and the subsequent service of the agent under his son should be regarded as a new agency held under the son of the deceased principal. The two periods should be separately considered, and if a suit for accounts in respect of the anterior period is instituted more than three years after the death of the former principal, that suit must be regarded as barred. 40 C.W.N. 245=62 C.L.J. 464. Where an agency does not terminate with the death of the principal but terminates with the completion of a transaction which has occurred in the life time of the principal, the terminus a quo for limitation under Art. 89 begins from the completion of the transaction. 1929 L. 883; 1939 M. 114; 1939 A. 738 (Suit to recover money collected by agent—Agency revoked by letter—Starting point). ARTS. 89 AND 90.—Art. 90 and not Art. 89 is the article applicable to a suit in which the claim is based on the misconduct or neglect of an agent. A suit by a sabha against an ex-secretary claiming a sum of money wrongfully retained by not entering it in the accounts and for sums of money falsely entered as having been spent on behalf of the sabha is governed by Art. 90. 48 L. W. 775=1939 M. 114. See also 1938 M. 38.

ARTS. 89 AND 120.—In a case where a hundi is vested in the defendant for payment of debts of a third person, the defendant's obligation to account is equitable. If the defendant is to be regarded as an agent of such third person for the purpose of paying off his creditors, the suit for accounts will fall under Art. 89, if not under Art. 120. But, in both cases, time will run from the date on which the defendant had denied such third person's claim, or in any other manner infringed or threatened to infringe his right. 1936 M. 876; 49 L.W. 608=1939 M. 671 (Joint creditors—Pronote by debtor in favour of one—Arrangement that the latter should collect and pay the other his share—Relationship is one of trust, not agency—Art. 120 applies).

ART. 90.—This is a residuary article with regard to actions between principal and agent and would apply only if no other article applies. 109 I.C. 332=1928 M. 906. "Neglect or misconduct"—Meaning of. Art. 90 is not happily worded, for the law knows nothing of negligence or misconduct in the abstract, and no cause of acton can exist and no suit will lie that is founded on negligence or misconduct as such. A suit for negligence means a suit in respect of some negligence, act or omission (and the words in the third column mean) "from the time when the negligent act or omission becomes known to the plaintiff". 9 R. 575=1932 R. 1. Limitation for a suit against an advocate for neglect or misconduct in his professional duties is Art. 90, as such suit arises on negligence arising out of contract between principal and agent and not out of tort. 1938 Rang.L.R. 457=1938 R. 258 (F.B.). Limitation runs from the date when the negligent act becomes known to the plaintiff and not from the date when the plaintiff discovers the act to be negligent. 9 R. 575. is such as to render them liable to the amount lost by the bank owing to wilful breach of their obligation as directors, Art. 90 and not Art. 36 applies. 160 I.C. 759=1936 L. 271. Where a director of a bank acted in a transaction as an agent of the bank, the suit by the bank against him is a suit by a principal against an agent to which Art. 90 applies. Suit for recovery of unauthorized payments made by agent on account of principal is governed by this article. 36 I.C. 418=9 Bur.L.T. 130. See also 1938 M. 38. In a suit against agent for misconduct, limitation runs from the time when the account books are got from the agent, when only the plaintiff will come to know of the misconduct. 25 I.C. 136=7 Bur.L.T. 199. Money entrusted to person with direction to dispose it of in particular manner—Person wrongfully retaining it in his hands—Suit for recovery of such money—Limitation runs from the date the matter comes to the knowledge of the principal. 1930 A. 397. Suit by principal against agent for recovering secret profit made by latter. Time would run only from the date of knowledge. 25 A.L.J. 448=1927 A. 436. Before Art. 90 can be invoked it must be ascertained at which time or on what date the fact of the defendant's withholding of the money became known to plaintiff. 58 C. 923 1931 C. 738. The starting point of limitation is the knowledge of all the facts; if the plaintiff is lulled into a sense of security by being led to believe that something was done which was not in fact done, or that something was not done which was in fact done, time cannot run against him. But once he knows the true facts, it is for him to judge of their legal consequences, and he cannot afterwards say that he did not know those legal consequences. Where a suit is brought against an advocate for neglect or misconduct in and about his duties as professional adviser in failing to join certain party in appeal, the fact that the plaintiff was aware of the neglect at the institution of the appeal but knew it to be actionable as such only when the appeal was lost does not extend time. 1938 Rang. L.R. 457=1938 R. 258 (F.B.). Art. 90 does not say that time begins to run when the cause of action for neglect or misconduct became known to the plaintiff, but when the neglect or misconduct became known. Once the plaintiff is acquainted with what has happened, he cannot sit still and say that time does not run against him until he chooses to take the view that the omission of which he is aware is actionable neglect or that the act of which he is aware amounts to actionable misconduct. 1935 Rang.L.R. 457=1938 R. 258 (F.B.).

ART. 91.—Art. 91 applies to suits of the kind mentioned in sec. 39, Specific Relief Act. 16 A. 73. Where a plaintiff merely disputes the legal effect of an instrument, it is not a suit to cancel or set aside. See 23 A. 383 (P.C.). An award is an instrument within the meaning of Art. 91. 1927 L. 172=100 I.C. 596. If a deed of gift is a void transaction, no question of cancelling or setting it aside would arise, but it it is only a voidable transaction, i.e., a transaction valid until rescinded, then it is necessary to set it aside before possession of the property can be claimed. Though a gift may have been induced by undue influence, it does not necessarily follow that it was not made "voluntarily" within the meaning of sec. 122, T. P. Act,. It being only voidable and not void, time under Art. 91 runs from the date of the knowledge, i.e., date of the document, and not from the dare of removal of the undue influence . 72. I.A. 21=I.L.R. The instrument to be cancelled or set aside which is referred to in Art. 91 is that instrument which the plaintiff himself has actually asked to have cancelled or set aisde and not one which he ought to have set aside. 1940 Rang.L.R. 35=1939 R. 278. A party cannot impeach the decree incorporating an award unless he can show that a suit to set aside the award was brought within the period prescribed by Art. 91. 100 I.C. 596=1927 L. 172. Suit by vendee for declaration that the sale-deed is either void or voidable at his instance and for return of purchase money falls under this article and time runs when he comes to know of the alleged defects in vendor's title. 1930 S. 66. Article has been held to apply to a suit for declaration of invalidity of a registered adoption deed. 45 A. 169=20 A.L.J. 945. Where there exists a document which, if valid and binding on a party, would defeat his right to recover possession of any property, he must sue under Art. 91 for its cancellation. 38 B. 449=22 I.C. 195. Art. 91 can have no application where the deed which the plaintiff challenges is one which was not executed by him or by one under whom he claims and where it is absolutely immaterial to the plaintiff whether it is cancelled or not. But it does apply to a case in which it is not possible to the plaintiff to get any relief until the instrument is set aside. In other words, if the instrument is binding upon the plaintiff, then, even though the plaint may have been made to look as much like a suit for recovery of lands as possible, the plaintiff in order to get any such relief must have the instrument cancelled or at any rate have a declaration of its invalidity as against him. 37 C.W.N. 1141=1933 C. 812; see also 1934 A.L.J. 817=1934 A. 507. In a suit for recovery of possession of land to which the plaintiff claimed to be entitled by inheritance and which had been transferred to the defendant by the deceased owner by means of fictitious sale-deed, held, that the property having been found to be non-ancestral and to be the self-acquired property of the last owner, it was necessary for the plaintiff to obtain a cancellation of the sale-deed in favour of the defendant and that Art. 91 applied to the suit, even though the main prayer in the suit was a decree for possession of the land. 34 P.L.R. 412=1933 L. 399. Where a guardian sells immovable property belonging to a minor without the sanction of the Court and subsequently executes a second sale with the permission of the Court, the latter transferee can sue for possession outright and need not expressly sue to have the first sale set aside. To such a case Art. 120 and not Art. 91 will apply. 34 C.W.N. 948. See also 1936 L. 996. Under Art. 91, the time for setting aside a settlement deed induced by undue influence runs from the date when the facts entitling the plaintiff to have the instrument cancelled or set aside became known to the plaintiff, and not from the date of the removal of the undue influence. I.L.R. (1946) Nag. 433=1946 N.L.J. 406=1946 N. 377. A suit by a creditor to declare the invalidity as against him of a fraudulent transfer executed by his debtor is not governed by Art. 91, but is governed by Art. 120. 8 O.W.N. 593=1931 O. 333=7 Luck. 131.

ARTS. 91 AND 120.—A suit for a declaration that a mortgage-deed was without consideration and was null and void and ineffectual, and that no charge had been created thereunder on the property included in the said deed, is governed by Art. 120 and not Art. 91. I.L.R. (1945) All. 494=1945 All. 367. Art. 120, and not Art. 91, governs a suit by a creditor under sec. 53, T. P. Act, for a declaration that an alienation by his debtor was effected with intent to defeat or delay him and other creditors and that therefore it is not binding on the plaintiff and the other creditors of the defendant. The starting point of limitation is the date on which the plaintiff decides to exercise his option of avoiding the transfer. 46 Bom.L.R. 613=A.I.R. 1944 Bom. 267.

ARTS. 91 AND 142.—There is a wide difference between an instrument which is voidable and one which is void from the beginning. In the former the right under the contract continues until it is avoided and therefore restoration of property handed over in pursuance of it cannot be claimed until the instrument is avoided either by the act of parties or through the Court. In the latter no legal contract ever came into being and so the rights of the parties are determined independently of the deed. There is no need to avoid or cancel that which never existed in the eye of the law and so the substantial relief claimed would not be governed by Art. 91, nor can the mere addition of an ancillary relief for cancellation which need never have been claimed make any difference. These observations apply equally whether the transaction is embodied in one instrument or two. If the legal parts can be separated from the illegal, then the relief of restitution in respect of the bad part is not governed by Art. 91. If they cannot, even then Art. 91 would not apply, for the only difference is that the whole would be bad and so void ab initio instead of only a part; nor can the fact that the other side can elect in such a case to make restitution in respect of the bad and keep the good without altering the consideration make any difference. It is Art. 142 that applies to such a case. I.L.R. (1939) N. 1=1938 N. 335 (F.B.). See also 20 P.L.T. 957=1940 P. 201; 19 P.L.T. 362=1938 P. 69. In a suit where there is not only a prayer for cancellation of a document, as for example, a hibanama, sought to be avoided but also for confirmation of possession of the properties covered by the deed, the position must be recognised that if the defendant is put in possession by virtue of an instrument which is not void on the face of it, a suit for possession even without a prayer for cancellation of the document would not take it out of the operation of Art. 91. In such a case, the prima facie title remains with the defendant, and until that title is defeated or displaced, the possession of the defendant cannot be disturbed. Art. 142 is inapplicable to such a case. 65 C.L.J. 34=1937 C. 500.

ART. 92.—Art. 92 applies to a suit for a declaration that an alleged deed of relinquishment is a forgery. 102 I.C. 287=1927 A. 826. Will—Suit to declare not genuine and invalid on the ground of testator's minority and absence of sound disposing state of mind—Limitation applicable. See 52 L.W. 440=A.I.R. 1941 M. 179.

ART. 93: ATTEMPT TO ENFORCE includes the institution of proceedings in which the genuineness of the instrument is directly put in issue and to which the person against whom it is sought to be enforced is a necessary party. 1921 M. 545=40 M.L.J. 348; 32 I.C. 99 (M.). An attempt to register a document is not an attempt to enforce it. 40 B. 22=17 Bom.L.R. 635; 32 I.C. 99 (M.) Attempt to have a lease recorded under the Record-of-rights Act is not an attempt to enforce the lease, but an attempt to recover rent under the lease is. 40 B. 22=30 I.C. 399. Mere mention of will in written statement in a previous suit is not an attempt within this article. 62 I.C. 531=40 M.L.J. 348; nor mention in the petition for succession certificate by a widow. 32 I.C. 99 (M.). A party challenging a document as forged is not bound to set it aside by suit. (1916) 2 M.W.N. 325=37 I.C. 642.

[1] Substituted by Act XI of 1923, sec. 2 and Sch. I, for "Ditto".

ART. 95.—The article has no application when, on the face of the plaint, no equitable relief is claimed on the ground of fraud. 37 B. 158=19 I.C. 406. See also 25 C. 49; 6 A. 406. Art. 95 applies where the plaintiff has sustained loss or damage on account of the fraud of the defendant. It has no application to a suit for return of bonds lost or acquired by theft, or dishonest misappropriation or conversion. 60 B. 848=38 Bom.L.R. 712=1936 B. 322. The object of the provision is to extend time in favour of the plaintiff where there is fraud. 5 A. 294; 16 B. 1; 30 M. 402. The fraud contemplated by Art. 95 is fraud practised upon a party to the decree or a party to the transaction in which the fraud was committed. A stranger who is intended to be defrauded by it cannot seek to have the decree set aside; all that he can sue for is to have it declared that his interest cannot be affected by such a collusive decree. A suit for such a declaration does not come within the purview of Art. 95, but falls under Art. 120. 45 Bom.L.R. 525=1943 Bom. 283. A decree obtained against a person treating him as a minor while in reality he is a major, is not a nullity. A suit by the defendant to declare that the decree obtained against him wrongly impleading him as a minor, is governed by Art. 95. A suit after three years is clearly barred when the decree challenged is not a nullity. 189 I.C. 535=21 P.L.T. 269. The heirs of the person against whom the fraudulent decree has been obtained, must also sue within the period prescribed by the article. 4 P. 510=1925 P. 625. In a suit under Art. 95 to set aside an ex parte decree on the ground of fraud, it is not enough if the plaintiff proves merely that there was no service of summons on him. He must show that the decree was obtained by fraud; he must show that the summons was fraudulently suppressed and by fraud of the plaintiff (in the former suit) he was kept in ignorance of the decree. 60 C.L.J. 120=1935 C. 95. Where a suit is filed to set aside a consent decree in a partition suit on the ground of fraud, Art. 95 applies and limitation runs from the date of the discovery of the fraud. 145 I.C. 777=1933 S. 53. Sale in execution of a fraudulent decree cannot be set aside without setting aside the decree which is not a nullity. 20 C.W.N. 659=33 I.C. 767. 28 M.L.J. 187=16 I.C. 843; 26 C. 326. See also 49 I.C. 953; 30 C.W.N. 59=1926 C. 167. Although there may be allegations of fraud where the suit is really one for possession by the auction purchaser, Art. 138 and not this article applies. 167 I.C. 481=1937 P. 331. If a sale is sought to be set aside on the ground of fraud, Art. 95 and not Art. 12 applies. 14 P.L.T. 441 =1933 P. 473. Suit to set aside execution also where the vendor has no title to the holder in concealing encumbrances is governed by this article. 16 I.C. 215 (M.). So also where the vendor has no title in the property sold, suit to set aside sale on the ground of fraud. 19 I.C. 5. Also suit to recover possession of property as shebaits against defendants who were in possession under a certificate of sale under the Public Demands Recovery Act to which the plaintiffs were not parties. 34 C.W.N. 801 =1931 C. 69. So also suit to recover together with interest money advanced on a fraudulent mortgage. 37 I.C. 351. 'Other relief' includes compensation for damages caused by fraud. 27 M. 343. Knowledge of fraud implies definite knowledge and not mere suspicion. 6 A. 406; 17 B. 341 (P. C.). The onus of proving such knowledge before period of limitation is on the defendant. 17 B. 341 (347). See also 31 M. 230; 27 A. 540. Where a Mahomedan son, who is not the authorised agent of his father, by mortgaging his father's land holds himself out to be an agent, the limitation for a suit for compensation starts from the date on which the father obtains a decree in a suit for possession of the mortgaged property and not from the date of institution of suit. Though the plaintiff knew that the father repudiated the agency directly he instituted his suit, he was in possession of the land and it was not until a decree was obtained that he suffered any loss. 151 I.C. 58=1934 Pesh. 49. Whether Art. 95 or 115 applies to a suit for compensation against a pretended agent under sec. 235 of the Contract Act, the period of limitation is three years. The date from which limitation starts is the date on which the plaintiff has notice that the implied agency did not exist, but it must be an effective notice. (Ibid.)

ARTS. 95 AND 96.—Art. 95 is applicable only when the relief is claimed solely on the ground of fraud. Art. 96 of the Limitation Act is intended to apply only to cases where the plaintiff seeks to be relieved of a mistake committed in the course of contractual transactions. It does not apply to a suit for possession of immovable property. Art. 97 which is the proper article to apply with regard to voidable transactions is not inapplicable to cases where the contract was void ab initio. A suit for refund of the purchase money paid under a registered instrument on the ground that the vendor had no title and there was no consideration is governed by Art. 116 and time begins to run only from the date of knowledge of vendor's want of title or the purchaser is dispossessed of the property in consequence thereof. It is not governed by Art. 62 or Art. 97 (45 B. 955; 8 P. 432; 118 I.C. 203, Foll.). 133 I.C. 76 =1931 S. 141. Where it was declared that certain property could not be sold in execution of a decree obtained by the plaintiff on foot of his mortgage deed and the decree became thereby infructuous and a suit for a simple money decree having been barred on that date, the plaintiff sued for damages for breach of a covenant for indemnity contained in the mortgage deed: Held, that the suit was governed by Art. 116 and not by Art. 62 or 97. Held, further that the suit was in time whether it was reckoned from the date of the objection to the plaintiff's execution or the date of the decree nullifying the decree in favour of the plaintiff. 1932 A.L.J. 317=1932 A. 358. On 24th February, 1926, the plaintiff paid the receiver certain amount as part of the purchase money of the estate of the insolvent. The Insolvency Court having refused to sanction the transfer, the purchaser applied in October, 1929, for a refund of the amount paid by him, and the Court dismissed his application, and he thereupon sued in May, 1931, for recovery of the amount. Meanwhile the property had been sold in auction in September, 1927. Held, that the suit was governed by Art. 97 and time ran from the date of failure of consideration, namely, the date on which the property was sold to another person. 1934 A. Where a decree-holder omitted to give credit in his execution application to certain amounts received from the judgment-debtor, the payment of which he had certified to the Court and had the house of the judgment-debtor sold in execution and realised far more than the amounts due to him. Held, that a suit by the judgment-debtor to recover the excess realised was governed by Art. 115 or 120 and not by Art. 97 and that the starting point of limitation was the date of sale. 140 I.C. 472=1933 L. 112. Where an execution sale is declared a nullity, the starting point is the date of the decree of the first Court declaring the sale to be invalid and not of the appellate Court confirming the decree. 70 I.C. 45=1923 M. 23. See also 39 M.L.J. 449=60 I. The High Court, however, on second appeal restored the decree of the first Court. The plaintiff having sued for refund of the price on the ground of failure of consideration. Held, that time began to run from the date of the High Court's decree. 53 A. 914=1931 A. 651. Where a decree is confirmed in appeal, time under Art. 97 runs from the date of the adverse judgment of the first Court. The running of time is not postponed by reason of the filing of the appeal. 39 L.W. 147=1934 M. 224. As to limitation in a suit for refund of purchase money where plaintiff is entitled to sue for specific performance, see 1923 R. 87. See also 58 C.L.J. 235=1934 C. 148. Where a sale is void ab initio and possession is not given to the purchaser, a suit to recover the purchase money would be governed by Art. 62. Where, however, the title is imperfect and possession is not handed over and it is subsequently discovered that the contract of sale became void, Art. 97 would apply to a suit to recover the purchase money, and limitation would start from the time when the purchaser endeavoured to obtain possession and being opposed found himself unable to obtain possession. But where possession has been handed over by the vendor to the vendee the cause of action would not arise till the vendee is dispossessed. 33 Bom.L.R. 1092=55 B. 565. See also 118 I. C. 203=1930 S. 12; 14 N.L.J. 125=1932 N. 5 (F.B.). In a suit for refund of purchase money limitation will ordinarily run from the date of the agreement. But there may be special circumstances in which it would not. When there is a misapprehension as to the private rights of the vendor in the property limitation begins when the true nature of those rights is discovered. 144 I. C. 724=1933 N. 244. Once the plaintiff establishes that there was a misrepresentation and that he was kept from knowledge of the defect in title by it, then the burden shifts to the other side. If the question of title has been bound up with a complicated family history, the plaintiff cannot know of the defect in the title with reasonable definiteness, until the Court has finally decided the matter and then the starting point is the date of decision in the appellate Court. 1933 N. 244. Certain occupancy tenants effected a mortgage in favour of one of their landlords. It was, however, set aside as having been brought about without the consent of the other landlords and the mortgagors were formally put in possession. Nevertheless, the mortgagee continued in possession for some time afterwards, and, on the ground that he was on some subsequent date dispossessed, the mortgagee brought a suit for money lent as on a failure of consideration. Held, that time began to run from the date when the mortgage was held to be invalid and the mortgagors were put in possession, and not from the date when they were actually dispossessed. 34 P.L.R. 104=1933 L. 83. The plaintiff entered into a contract for the purchase of lands in 1916 but was unable to get possession of some of them. His suit for possession was dismissed in 1921. Within six yeras thereafter, the plaintiff brought the present suit for damages against his vendor for breach of the implied covenant of title. His subsequent suit for damages against vendor is governed by Art. 116 and not Art. 97. 64 M.L.J. 336=1933 M. 126. To a suit for recovery of damages due to breach of covenant as to title, Art. 97 applies and the date at which the party had notice of the defect as to title is the starting point of limitation. 31 Bom.L.R. 658 =1929 B. 361. See also 137 I.C. 61=1932 N. 3 (Art. 116 applied). Contract of sale —Due diligence to be used by vendor in applying to the Court for an order for sale Failure by vendor—Subsequent mortgage to another who had it sold in satisfaction thereof—Suit by the original vendee for the return of the deposit money falls under this article. Time begins to run from the date, when the contract became impossible performance or was rescinded or abandoned. 56 C. 455=1929 C. 216. Contract to execute lease—Consideration paid in two instalments on different dates—Breach of contract—Suit for recovery of amounts paid—Held, the suit was governed by this article or Art. 115 and that limitation began to run only from breach of agreement which could only be after the second payment by the plaintiff. 155 I.C. 1092=1935 A. 759. Where a lessee failing to get possession of the leased property sued for the return of the advance paid by him, held, the breach of the covenant to lease occurred from the commencement of the lease which was the starting point of limitation whether Art. 97 or Art. 116 applied. 138 I.C. 119=1932 M. 255.

Description of suit.	Period of limitation.	Time from which period begins to run.
98. To make good out of the general estate of a deceased trustee the loss occasioned by a breach of trust.	[1][Three years] ..	The date of the trustee's death, or if the loss has not then resulted, the date of the loss.
99. For contribution by a party who has paid the whole or more than his share of the amount due under a joint decree, or by a sharer in a joint estate who has paid the whole or more than his share of the amount of revenue due from himself and his co-sharers.	[1][Three years] ..	The date of the payment in excess of the plaintiff's own share.

ARTS. 97 AND 62.—A suit for the return of the consideration by vendee of mortgagee rights against his vendor on the dismissal of a suit on the mortgage which was found to be without consideration and not binding on the heirs of the executants, is governed by Art. 97 and not by Art. 62 and the starting point is date of dismissal of suit. 1942 A.L.W. 50. See also 1942 S. 37=I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 495. A suit for recovery of the purchase price or compensation in a case where possession of the property was delivered to the purchaser under a contract of sale which is subsequently discovered to be void, is governed by Art. 97 and not by Art. 96 or 62, and the terminus a quo is the date of dispossession of the purchaser from the property that he purchased. The fact that the contract became void owing to a mistake made by the contracting parties and, therefore, the basis of the suit was mistake committed by the parties, does not make Art. 96 applicable. It is not the basis of a suit, but the relief and the cause of action on which the suit is founded that determine the article of the Limitation Act. Even in cases of void contracts, where actual possession is handed over by the seller to the purchaser for the time being and the enjoyment is in the purchaser, the seller does not hold the money for the purchaser's use in terms of Art. 62. 47 P.L.R. 122=A.I.R. 1945 Lah. 164

ART. 98.—Joint family property not the "general estate" within this article. 35 M. 308. Art. 98 does no more than carry a deceased trustee's liability for breach on to his estate after his death. It does not contemplate any different cause of action. I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 94=1938 N. 30. A suit was brought against a daughter in respect of a breach of trust committed by her father. She was not a trustee, she had not committed any wrong act: the defalcated money was not in her possession; nor was there anything in her hands which could be said to represent it. Held, that the suit against her was clearly one to make good the loss occasioned by her father's breach of trust out of his general estate, and Art. 98 would apply. I.L.R. (1940) N. 94=1938 N. 30.

ART. 99.—Art. 99 applies to a suit for contribution in respect of a joint personal decree. It does not apply to a case where the liability is not personal, but attaches to immovable property. Art. 99 therefore does not apply to a suit for contribution in respect of liability attaching to immovable property. 22 Pat. 187=1943 Pat. 305. Suit for reimbursement of money realized by coercive process is governed by this article. 26 C.W.N. 340=1921 C. 814. See also 22 A. L.J. 737=1924 A. 843 (money payable by mortgagee under deed, realised from mortgagor). Article applies also to voluntary payments. 57 I.C. 884=1921 C. 814. One co-sharer paying revenue on behalf of another—No charge is created—Suit for contribution governed by Art. 99 and not by Art. 132. 7 P. 613=111 I.C. 84=1928 P. 641. See also 44 L.W. 135=1936 M. 782. Art. 99 applies only to a suit for a personal decree under a charge created by sec. 82 of the T. P. Act, but not to a suit to enforce the charge itself. 33 A. 708=8 A.L.J. 854. See also 35 C.W.N. 678=1931 C. 493 (Article inapplicable to a suit to enforce a statutory charge under sec. 171, B. T. Act). Comortgagor redeeming a mortgage becomes assignee of the original security and therefore limitation for his suit for contribution is the same as that for suit on the mortgage. 57 I.C. 868=25 C.W.N. 283. 1921 C. 166. See also 44 L.W. 135. "The date of payment" is the date of acceptance of deposit of the money by the Court to the credit of the decree-holder. 56 C. 192=1928 C. 361. Where one member of a joint Hindu family pays a certain decree debt after separation and sues the others for contribution, Art. 99 applies and time runs only from the date of payment and not the date when the debt was incurred. 1931 A.L.J. 651=1931 A. 652.

A and B were mortgagees of a share each. Both sub-mortgaged the entire share to C. A paid to C his share of the sub-mortgaged debt, but B defaulted. C obtained a joint decree against A and B and had both their mortgagee rights sold in execution, on 21-10-1927 and got possession of the same on 19-1-1928. A then filed suit against B on 9-1-1931 for the recovery of his share of the mortgage amount with interest, and the suit was framed as one for contribution. Held, the suit was barred by time, that Art. 120 did not apply, that even if Art. 99 applied, limitation ran from date of sale and not date of dispossession and that sec. 69, Contract Act, had no application as payment was held not to have been made. 10 O.W.N. 919=1933 O. 478.

ART. 102: 'WAGES'—MEANING OF.—See 39 A. 81=36 I.C. 871. The term "wages in Art. 102 of the Limitation Act is not used in the restricted sense of remuneration for mechanical or manual labour, but is used in the larger sense of remuneration for service of an employee. Consequently this article governs a suit for remuneration for any service which is not provided for specifically in other articles, Neither Art, 115 nor Art. 120 can be applied to such a case. 48 C.W.N. 317=1944 Cal. 302 (1). Suit for commission by broker is not suit for wage ibid. Suit by a bisardar for wages is governed by this article. 26 O.C. 327=1924 O. 189. Suit for wages of cook employed in hotel, see (1937) 1 M.L.J. 329=37 M. 342. Art. 102 applies only to suits for wages as such brought by the person entitled to the wages. A suit brought by person not entitled to the wages cannot therefore be regarded as a suit within the meaning of the article. 7 O.W.N. 760=1930 O. 420. A village carpenter is an artisan within meanof Art. 7 and a suit for wages by him is governed by Art. 7 and not by Art. 102 or Art. 56. 152 I.C. 885=1934 N. 260. Applicability—Shahna employed to watch crops attached in execution—Suit for wages —Limitation. 1935 A.L.J. 78=1935 A. 102. In the case of monthly wages, the wages accrue and become due in law on the final day of the month, and the period of limitation for recovery of arrears of monthly wages runs under Art. 102 from that date and not from the date of termination of service. 154 I.C. 713=1935 A. 716.

CLAIM BY ARCHAKA AGAINST TRUSTEE FOR 'TASTIK' ALLOWANCE.—The relationship of master and servant subsists between the trustee of a temple and the hereditory archaka attached to that temple. A suit by an archaka against the trustee for the emoluments of his office is a suit for wages coming under Art. 102. The allowance called 'tastik' paid by the trustee to his archaka, although paid out of Government revenue, is yet paid only in lieu of wages for the services rendered to the temple. So, a claim by an archaka to "tastik" allowance is governed by Art. 102. 1936 M. 149=70 M.L.J. 220: 1935 M. 128=68 M.L.J. 132. See also 41 M. 528.

SUIT FOR MONEY DUE FROM DISMISSED EMPLOYEE.—Defendant claiming set-off of arrears of pay—Plaint filed within three years of dismissal admitting arrears—Defendant's claim for arrears not barred. 1936 C. 277=167 I.C. 265.

Where a servant of the District Board is dismissed but is subsequently reinstated and a sum is agreed to be paid to him in respect of the intervening period, a suit brought to recover that sum is not governed by Art. 102. 1943 A.L.W. 513.

ART. 103.—Suit for prompt dower. See 78 I.C. 106=1925 O. 267. Under Art. 103, time begins to run not from the date of demand of the dower but from the date of the refusal. is valid if communicated to the wife. Hence, time under Arts. 103 and 104, for a suit for dower runs from the date of communication of divorce to the wife. The onus about the date of communication however in such a suit is on the plaintiff. 1941 L. 166.

ART. 104.—It is a part of the Mahomedan Law that, so far as a claim for dower is concerned, the marriage is dissolved only when it comes to the wife's notice, and there is nothing in Art. 104 against that rule. So a suit brought by a Mahomedan wife for deferred dower is in time, if within three years from the date when the talak pronounced in her absence by her husband was communicated to her, though it may be more than three years from the date of the pronouncement. 133 I.C. 375 =1931 M. 647. Where a Mahomedan widow in possession in lieu of dower is dispossessed forcibly, limitation for her suit for the balance of her dower debt runs from such dispossession and not from the death of the husband. 33 A. 569=8 A.L. J. 578. Divorce by husband—Talaknama offering to pay deferred dower in instal ments—Suit by wife after three years—If barred—Decree for instalments not barred —Power of Court to grant. 1936 C. 627. Under the Mahomedan Law a divorce effected by a deed is valid from the time of its execution; so far as a claim for dower is concerned limitation does not begin to run against the wife until the fact of divorce is communicated to her. If the wife does not know of her right to claim dower by reason of the fraudulent conduct of the husband (withholding all knowledge of the deed of divorce), time will only begin to run against the wife when she knows of the fraud. 45 P.L.R. 231=1943 Lah. 215.

ART. 105.—As to applicability, see 38 I. C. 610=20 O.C. 25; 32 I.C. 729=2 O.L.J. 620 (Recovery of mesne profits and interest). Article has no application where the mortgagor recovers property by a redemption suit. 30 A. 225. See also 10 I.C. 402; 26 C.W.N. 123=1922 C. 189.

ART. 106.—See 36 Bom.L.R. 106= 1934 B. 491. Art. 106 contemplates suits between partners inter se and does not apply to an action by partner against the sub-partner. Such an action is governed by Art. 120. 57 M. 347=1934 M. 12=65 M. L.J. 789. A suit for a declaration that certain property attached in execution of a decree against one of the partners as belonging solely to him, is not solely owned by him, and that plaintiff has got a share in it, is not a suit for account or for share of profits of a dissolved partnership and is not governed by Art. 106. 1933 A. 926. Art. 106 only applies in the case of a partnership that has been already dissolved. 6 R. 198=1928 R. 160; 138 I.C. 375=1932 L. 519. Where a firm is not dissolved, Art. 106 does not apply but only Art. 120. 66 I.C. 811=25 C.W.N. 847=1921 C. 538. See also 37 L.W. 288=144 I.C. 573=1933 M. 353; 48 I.C. 89 (M.)=37 M.L.J. 353; 6 R. 198=1928 R. 160. There is no scope for the application of Art. 106 where admittedly a memorandum has been drawn up on the dissolution of a partnership, embodying the settlement between the parties as to their respective rights on settlement of the accounts of the partnership. 1938 M. 133=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 511. Where a partnership is dissolved on the death of a partner, and it is sought to make the sons of the partner liable for debts due from him as a member of the partnership, a suit for recovery of the debts is governed by Art. 106, and must be instituted within three years of the death of the partner. 1936 L. 514=167 I.C. 759. A suit by one partner for partnership accounts (without a prayer for dissolution of partnership) based on an express agreement between the partners to render accounts and to distribute the profits annually is governed by Art. 120 and not Art. 89 or Art. 106 or Art. 116. 29 N.L.R. 34=1933 N. 127. A suit instituted for rendition of accounts of the moneys realized as per agreement entered into by partners after dissolution of partnership was held to be governed by Art. 89 and not by Art. 106 of the Act. 134 I.C. 527=1931 L. 300. The right of the legal representative of a deceased partner is not a right to a share of the profits of a dissolved partnership within the meaning of Art. 106, but is a right accruing to him by the subsequent dealing with the assets belonging to the deceased partner and Art. 106 does not apply. 45 C.W.N. 1065. Three years to be reckoned back from the date of the plaint and not date of application for ascertainment of mesne profits. 68 I.C. 203=2 P.L.T. 648=1921 P. 430.

ARTS. 109 AND 116.—Where a mortgagor covenants to deliver possession to the mortgagee before a certain date and to pay rent at a certain rate till then and fails to do so the mortgagee's suit is governed by Art. 116 and not by Art. 109, and it would be within time if brought within six years from the date fixed for delivering possession when the breach occurred. 6 Luck. 203=1941 O. 1.

ARTS. 109 AND 110.—When an execution sale is set aside even though the purchasers had entered into possession by virtue of a Court sale the profits received, by them would be "wrong fully received" within the meaning of Art. 109. and any suit in respect of it would only be governed by that Article and not by Art. 120. I.L.R. 1942 A. 671=1942 A.L.J. 411=1942 All. 358.

ARTS. 109 AND 120.—Applicability—Person recognised as landlord by Collector under sec. 3 (5) of the Madras Estates Land Act—Receipt of rents and profits—If wrongful—Suit by person ultimately declared by Civil Court to be entitled to estate for accounts of rents and profits—Limitation applicable—Starting point—Final decision by Civil Court—If gives fresh cause of action——Implied contract—Interest—Right to. I.L.R. (1942) Mad. 562=1942 Mad. 487=(1942) 1 M.L.J. 472.

ART. 110: APPLICABILITY.—Where the relationship between the partes is not that of landlord and tenant, the article has no application. 25 B. 556; 13 M.L.J. 248; 18 W.R. 132. Rent is payable within the meaning of this article only when it is ascertained. 36 M. 438. See also 12 I.C. 804=7 N.L.R. 169. Suit by assignee for arrears of rent comes within the article. 63 I.C. 424; 1 P.L.J. 506=38 I.C. 102. See also 45 C.W.N. 787=I.L.R. (1941) 2 Cal. 335=1942 C. 222. not by Art. 110. 1916 P.C. 182=44 C. 759 =44 I.A. 65=32 M.L.J. 357 (P.C.); 37 B. 656=21 I.C. 315; 1942 P. 83; 133 I.C. 102 =53 C.L.J. 522=1931 C. 790. A suit for arrears of rent based on an unregistered kabuliyat is governed by Art. 110 and not by Art. 115. I.L.R. (1941) 2 C. 335=1942 C. 222. [Decisions in 34 A. 464 and in 1 P.L. J. 504 to the contrary not good law.] Suit for recovery of jodi payable by inamdar to zamindar is governed by this article. 1923 M.W.N. 524=1924 M. 73. Under sec. 46 of the Contract Act, where no time is fixed for the performance of a contract a reasonable time must be allowed for its performance. Where money has to be paid under a contract which does not specify when such money is payable, then the money must be paid within a reasonable time, and limitation for a suit to recover the money would commence to run only after the expiry of such reasonable time. Royalty payable in respect of a coal mine cannot be treated on the same footing as rent, because the amount cannot be possibly ascertained until the raisings of coal have been weighed and checked, etc., 21 P.L.T. 442=1940 P. 609. If a purchaser at a revenue sale annuls an under-tenure under sec. 37 of Act XI of 1859, without having received any rent from the holder of it, he must be taken to have refused to recognise the under-tenure from the date of sale. He is only entitled to damages from him for use and occupation from the date of sale to the date of annulment and to mesne profits for the subsequent period. Obviously, to the claim for none of these periods, Art. 110 would apply, as the claim would not be one "for arrears of rent" within the meaning of this article. The article applicable would be Art. 120. 43 C.W.N. 469=69 C.L.J.. 220=1939 C. 468.

STARTING POINT OF LIMITATION.—Usually arrears of rent become due at the end of each fasli year. But a different time may in certain circumstances be the time from which time begins to run. 46 M. 579=44 M.L.J. 318=1923 M. 461. See also 27 M. 143 (P.C.)=14 M.L.J. 1=31 I.A. 17 and 29 M. 553=16 M.L.J. 415 on this point. Thus, where right of landlord and that of tenant were vested in the same person, time begins to run only from the date when they vest in different persons. 46 M. 579=44 M.L.J. 318=1923 M. 461. Where a date is fixed when the rent would fall due, time runs from that date. 37 M. 540=16 I.C. 934. See also 22 M.L.J. 451=15 I.C. 393; 1 P.L. J. 506=38 I.C. 102; 1931 A. 51=1930 A.L. J. 1490=53 A. 218.

ART. 111.—A suit to enforce the vendor's lien for the unpaid purchase-money is governed by Art. 132 and not by this article. 29 M. 305 (F.B.); overruling 21 M. 141 and 24 M. 233. See also 22 B. 846; 18 B. 48; 2 A. 454; 30 A. 172=5 A.L.J. 243. Article is not applicable to a suit to recover amount due under compromise in a suit for partition. 1928 L. 662; nor to a suit by the vendor to recover unpaid purchase-money which the vendee had failed to pay to a creditor of the vendor in accordance with his undertaking. 1931 A.L.J. 985= 1931 A. 419; 1937 A.L.J. 279=1935 A. 411 =57 A. 797. See also 15 P. 753=1937 P. 44. Art. 111 governs suits for unpaid purchase money payable to or to the order of the vendor under the agreement to sell and is independent of rights arising by the deed of sale. When the agreement is embodied in the registered sale deed, a suit for compensation for breach of contract is governed by Art. 116. 56 M. 724=1933 M. 424=64 M.L.J. 526. See also 15 P. 753= 166 I.C. 599=1937 P. 44. Art. 111 does not apply to a case where no time was fixed for completing the sale and the purchase-money is not payable till some date after conveyance of the property. Where the purchase money or a substantial portion of it was not payable until one year after the conveyance of the property and no time was fixed for completing the sale. Held, Art. 116 did not apply. 1934 L. 296 (1). Vendor and purchaser—Amount kept with vendee to pay previous mortgage—Surplus to be paid to vendor—Claim for surplus. Held, that Art. 111 was not applicable to the case but Art. 116 was applicable and the period would commence from the date of the breach, i.e., when for the first time in the suit instituted by the vendee for redemption, the Court of first instance would find that smaller sum than the amount left with the vendee was due. 10 L. 26=11 O.W.N. 691=1934 O. 240. Registered sale—Portion of purchase-money retained by vendee—Contract of indemnity—Starting point of limitation. Held, that it was governed not by Art. 111 but by Art. 116; the terminus a quo was not the date of the execution of the sale-deed, but the date on which the contract was deemed to have been broken, this date being either when there was a repudiation of the liability under it or when the contract had become impossible of performance on account of the vendor's debt having been satisfied.

Sale by guardian—Money left with vendee to be paid to two minors on attaining majority—Suit by such guardian as reversioner for money—Limitation governed by Art. 120 and not by Art. 111. 1933 L. 860.

ARTS. 111, 116 AND 83.—Registered sale-deed—Consideration left with vendee for payment to vendor's creditor for debt due under mortgage and hand-note—Vendee committing default—Hand-note paid by vendor—Suit by vendor for unpaid consideration—Limitation Act, Arts. 111 and 116 apply. 1941 P. 452=193 I.C. 345.

ART. 112.—Inapplicable to suit by liquidator suing on behalf of the company in liquidation. 10 B. 483. The call payable to the company and the liability to contribution on a winding up are distinct and different; the fact that the company could not realise the calls by lapse of time is no answer to the liquidator's claim. 10 P. 249=130 I.C. 534=1931 P. 44. Where the articles of association of a company provide that a person shall continue to be liable for the unpaid balance of share money though his share is forfeited, the result is that the shareholder on forfeiture ceases to be a member of the company, and all that is left is the new liability to pay all monies which at the date of the forfeiture were payable by him to the company in respect of his share. Hence the starting point of limitation for a suit to recover such unpaid balance of share money is the date of forfeiture and not the date of the allotment of share. 1940 N. 235=I.L.R. (1942) Nag. 114. As to the applicability of the article in the case of call upon shareholders in a company, see 1927 L. 543=102 I.C. 705. When a suit to recover the call money has been barred by time the fact that the name is kept in the register as a shareholder and the share is forfeited only subsequently does not revive the debt, and the company cannot claim that limitation should run from date of forfeiture. 10 O.W.N. 447=1933 O. 285. A shareholder was called upon to pay a certain amount by 2nd March, 1925, but he failed to do so and thereupon the directors of the company forfeited his share on 22nd March, 1926. The liquidator who was appointed subsequently, sued to recover the amount on 16th March, 1929. Held, that the suit was in time, the cause of action having arisen when the share was forfeited. 54 A. 541=1932 A. 342. A company issued certain shares which were partly not paid up. In 1920 they mortgaged the unpaid calls to the plaintiff. By a resolution of the company the unpaid calls were made payable on the 31st August, 1931. The shareholders took no notice of the calls. In April, 1923, the plaintiff sued on his mortgage. In July, 1923, the company went into liquidation. The plaintiff bought the unpaid calls in 1924 at the sale in execution of his own decree and then sued the shareholders. Held, that the suit was barred by Art. 112, that time began to run from 31st August, 1921, and that the limitation was not interrupted in any way by the liquidation of the company. 54 C.L.J. 588=137 I.C. 380 =1932 C. 382. See also 1934 L. 1015=36 P.L.R. 282.

R. 124=1923 R. 108. See also 1932 L. 36 =33 P.L.R. 562; 1933 A. 410 (2). This article applies to a suit for possession under a lease, where plaintiff was never put in possession. 1935 A.L.J. 662=1935 A. 569.

STARTING POINT OF LIMITATION.—The date fixed for the performance must be a date expressly fixed in the contract itself which is to be specifically enforced and not a date which the parties may have fixed by necessary implication without stating expressly what it was. If not expressly stated, the date of notice of refusal of performance is the starting point of limitation. 1933 A.L. J. 300=1933 A. 410 (2). See also 139 I.C. 121=1932 L. 36; 32 P.L.R. 761=1932 L. 24; 1940 L. 225=42 P.L.R. 194; 1938 L. 23 (Agreement to finance litigation). Where no time is fixed for performance, time runs from the time when performance is demanded and refused. 43 C. 790=20 C.W.N. 370 =20 C.W.N. 370=35 I.C. 305; 38 M.L.J. 29=55 I.C. 533; 41 M. 18=33 M.L.J. 35; 17 I.C. 399=1912 M.W.N. 1004; 1 Bur.L. J. 171=1923 R. 44. On the point, see also 5 C. 175; 34 C. 564; 31 M. 51. Under that article the terminus a quo is the date fixed for the performance of the contract and if no such date is fixed, the date when the plaintiff has notice that performance is refused. 42 P.L.R. 194=1940 L. 225. Where a purchaser of a portion of property has agreed to release it of an existing mortgage, but he fails to do so the cause of action for a suit by the vendor on such covenant arises either on the date when such payment is to be made or at least not later than the date when the vendor calls upon the purchaser to do so. Such a suit is governed by Art. 116, and if it is for specific performance, it is governed by Art. 113. 60 C. 761=146 I.C. 863=1933 C. 641. Document contemplating another document to be executed—No date fixed—Time runs from notice of refusal. 1927 N. 353=102 I.C. 305. Time runs from the date when the plaintiff comes to know of the refusal. 32 I.C. 573; 32 I.C. 536; 107 I.C. 905=1928 N. 218 (2). See also 31 P.L.R. 636=1930 L. 1020 (A suit to enforce an agreement to sell under Punjab Colonisation of Government Lands Act subject to some conditions).

ARTS. 113 AND 116.—Where a mortgage decree for sale is assigned under a registered deed, which provides inter alia that part of the consideration money remaining unpaid should be paid by the assignee to the assignor on the assignee realizing the decree, a suit by the assignor for the amount due and interest thereon is suit for compensation for breach of a contract falling under Art. 116 and is governed by the six years' rule of limitation. It is not a suit for specific performance so as to make Art. 113 applicable to it; nor is it a suit for indemnity. 1939 P.W.N. 769=1940 P. 155.

ARTS. 113 AND 144.—Where a lease is registered it effects an actual demise and the right to possession becomes vested in the lessee. The lessee acquires a right which he can enforce by a suit for possession over the leased property against the lessor and as against any third person who might happen to be in possession over it. Where there was a perpetual lease but the lessee was not put in possession, it was held that the rights acquired by the lessee were real rights which might be enforced by a suit for possession and not by a suit for specific performance. Such a suit would be governed by Art. 144 and not by Art. 113. I.L.R. (1938) All. 664=1938 A.L.J. 561=1938 A. 429.

ART. 114.—Applies only to suits by parties to contract. 3 A. 846. Art. 114 applies to a suit for rescission of a contract to take shares from a company on the ground of fraud and misrepresentation. If during the currency of the limitation period there is delay in filing the suit, such delay so long as the company has not gone into liquidation will not prevent the proceedings succeeding unless it shows waiver or abandonment or acquiescence or occasions alteration in the position of the other party. 47 C.W. N. 421. Article is inapplicable to a suit by a donor to recover possession of the gifted property on the ground that the donee failed to fulfil the conditions mentioned in the gift deed. I. R. 1932 L. 645.

Description of suit.	Period of limitation	Time from which period begins to run.
115. For compensation for the breach of any contract, express or implied, not in writing registered and not herein specially provided for.	[1][Three years] ..	When the contract is broken, or (where there are successive breaches) when the breach in respect of which the suit is instituted occurs, or (where the breach is continuing) when it ceases.

ART. 115: APPLICABILITY.—Distinction between this article and Art. 97 pointed out. 13 P. 192=150 I.C. 975=1934 P. 148. Art. 115 applies to a case of express or implied contract and not a contract in writing registered. The article again applies to cases for compensation and not where the action is for a liquidated sum of money. 1934 P. 7=12 P. 792. Applies to all cases of breaches of contract not otherwise specially provided for. 14 C. 256; 31 I.C. 335 (M.); 3 A. 600 (F.B.); 107 I.C. 493=1928 L. 442; 7 O.W.N. 769=1930 O. 395. The word "compensation" has the same meaning as it has in sec. 73 of the Contract Act. 1928 L. 442=107 I.C. 493. Article applies also to a case of liability on a simple debt due and is not limited to cases of damages for breaches of contract. 39 I.C. 205=21 C.W.N. 479. See also 1928 L. 442; 6 B. 76. Thus, a suit upon a letter of guarantee would be governed by the article. 39 I.C. 205=21 C. W.N. 479. Also suit by mortgagee where the right to sue for the money arises from a contract. 20 I.C. 360. Suit for money due on a contract to supply marble for a flooring and also to construct the flooring is governed by this article, as neither Art. 52 nor Art. 56 would cover the claim as a whole. 2 L. 376=1922 L. 198. The word "registered" in Arts. 115 and 116 includes articles of association registered under the Indian Companies Act and is not confined to registration under the Indian Registration Act. 1930 B. 572=54 B. 226=32 Bom.L.R. 232. But see 1933 S. 103=143 I.C. 713 (contra). See also 168 I.C. 786= 1937 P. 293. Article 115 will not apply where part of the contract was in writing registered, i.e., contained in the articles of association. Art. 115 is not strictly applicable to misfeasance in the nature of a breach of trust, nor is Art. 116, as "breach of contract" is not the sole liability sued on, nor is it the usual nomenclature for a breach of trust whether specific or quasi. 54 B. 226=32 Bom.L.R. 232. But see 1933 S. 103=143 I.C. 713, holding that limitation for proceedings under sec. 235, Companies Act, are governed by Art. 115. [49 M. 468 (F.B.), Foll.] See also 1937 P. 293. Where a suit was filed to recover articles bailed with the defendant, but it appeared that no time was fixed for return of the articles, held, that Art. 115 applied and that limitation commenced from the date when the bailee should return the articles. If the contract of bailment is silent, the Court may take it that there was an implied term that the articles should be returned after the lapse of a reasonable time. 126 I.C. 682— 7 O.W.N. 769=1930 O. 395.

THE FOLLOWING SUITS ON EXPRESS CONTRACTS ARE GOVERNED BY THE ARTICLE.—The word "registered" in Art. 116 means registered under the Registration Act. Hence registration of a company under the Companies Act is not equivalent to a registration of the Articles of Association, within the meaning of Art. 116 and therefore limitation for proceedings under sec. 235, Companies Act, is governed by Art. 115 and not by Art. 116. [49 M. 468 (F.B.), Foll.] 143 I.C. 713=1933 S. 103. But see 54 B. 226 (contra). A suit by a legal adviser for his remuneration for services rendered on the basis of an express agreement with the client is governed by Art. 115 and not by the residuary Art. 120. 43 P.L.R. 97. Suit by lessee for damages caused by the lessor's failure to deliver a portion of the demised land. 40 M. 910=30 M.L.J. 575. Suit claiming repair charges and damages from the defendant who had borrowed the plaintiff's car for private use, which was considerably damaged by an accident. 10 O.W. N. 1105=145 I.C. 1001=1933 O. 518. suit to recover deposit money payable by lessees on execution of the lease. 25 I.C. 812=1 L.W. 858. Deposit for fixed term— Article applicable. See 64 I.C. 412=1936 Rang. 338. Art. 115 is a general provision applying to all actions ex contractu not specifically provided for otherwise. Where D contracted with N to supply goods and render services to N for a fixed sum of money and after the contract was broken, P purchased the debts due to D from N on account of goods supplied and services rendered to N by D, and P sued N for the purchased debts. Held, that Art. 52 did not apply and Art. 115 applies to the suit. 1935 L. 222. Where partnership is dissolved, and there is subsequently an adjustment of accounts, which however was not signed, a suit for the recovery of the amount is not governed by Art. 64, but only by this article or Art. 120, and the starting point is the date of adjustment. 27 S.L.R. 308=1933 S. 324. A settlement of accounts between partners of a dissolved partnership accompanied by a promise to pay the amount found due affords a fresh cause of action and a suit filed within three years of that cause of action is within time. I.L.R. (1944) Nag. 101=1944 N.L.J. 99=1944 Nag. 124. Suit for money on the basis of an agreement to deliver half the produce of certain land or on default, a sum of money annually. 72 I.C. 480=1924 L. 149. A suit for recovery of a sum of money as the value of work done by the plaintiff. 35 P.L.R. 529 =1934 L. 475. Suit for money due under the terms of an award would be governed by the article if the award is signed by the parties in token of their acceptance. 265 P.W.R. 1912=16 I.C. 804. Also suit for royalty under a decree passed in pursuance of a compromise agreement between the lessor and lessee. 2 P. 749=1924 P. 231. A compromise decree has got both the characteristics of a compromise and a decree. A suit for compensation for non compliance with such a decree may either be based on the compromise or the decree, and it depends upon the circumstances of each case. Where the suit is based on the contract, it is governed by this article. 12 P. 792=1934 P. 7. As to the applicability of the article to thavanai contracts, see 42 I.C. 573=6 L.W. 687; 8 L.B.R. 526=36 I.C. 497. Where the debtor wrote a letter to the following effect in respect of a time-barred debt: "In regard to my overdrawn floating account with your branch, I herewith send Rs. 100, through B, General Manager of your Bank, to be credited in my above overdrawn floating account and I promise to pay the balance as soon as I am able to arrange within a period of six months. This is to give you time in the matter of limitation . . . . . ." Held, that on a breach of the contract embodied in the letter the creditor's remedy was a suit for compensation and that such a suit was covered by Art. 115. 13 L. 448 =1932 L. 212. A suit by a creditor against a surety upon a letter of guarantee, executed by the latter in respect of a debt payable forthwith is governed by Art. 115 and limitation begins to run from the date of the execution of the guarantee, notwithstanding a stipulation in the guarantee to the effect that the creditor may look for payment to the surety if the principal made default in payment. 132 I.C. 590=1931 L. 691. The fact that limitation against the principal is extended by a local Act such as the Punjab Loans Limitation Act does not have the effect of extending the period of limitation against the surety. 1931 L. 691. See also 38 P.L.R. 276=163 I.C. 928=1936 L. 668. Suit by judgment-debtor to recover excess realised by the decree-holder by execution sale is governed by this article or Art. 120, and the starting point is the date of sale. 140 I.C. 472=33 P.L.R. 1084=1933 L. 112.

THE FOLLOWING ARE NOT GOVERNED BY THE ARTICLE.—Suit against Railway Company for compensation for non-delivery of goods is governed by Art. 31 and not by this article. 31 I.C. 474=11 N.L.R. 174 (26 B. 562; 13 C.W.N. 851; 33 A. 544, Foll.) But see also 44 C. 16=34 I.C. 130; 7 B. 478. The plaintiff was a dealer in timber and the defendant did the business of sawing wood. The plaint stated that, between certain dates, a certain sum of money was advanced to the defendant, and the plaintiff sued to recover the money lent less the value of the work done by the defendant. Held, that the suit was governed by Art. 57 and not by Art. 115. 147 I.C. 295=1934 A. 126. As to case of misdelivery, see 122 P.W.R. 1913=19 I.C. 477. Parties trading independently and agreeing to equalise profits on tking accounts. Suit for such accounts is not for compensation within Art. 115. 1927 M. 775. Suit for accounts against an agent would fall under Art. 89 despite the fact that there were written agreements between the parties. 4 P. 289=1925 P. 494 =89 I.C. 275; 1931 M. 185 (2)=54 M. 654 =62 M.L.J. 45=1930 M.W.N. 1199. Whether Art. 95 or 115 applies to a suit for compensation against a pretended agent under sec. 235 of the Contract Act, the period of limitation is three years. The date from which the limitation starts is the date on which the plaintiff has noticed that the implied agency did not exist, but it must be an effective notice. 151 I.C. 58=1934 Pesh. 49. Arts. 115 and 116 have no application to a claim made by the liquidator of a company under sec. 235, Companies Act. 1925 A. 519=47 A. 669=23 A.L.J. 473. As to suit for balance of price of article sold with claim to damages and interest added, see 130 I.C. 574=1931 L. 309. SUIT BY MEMBER AGAINST DISTRICT BOARD FOR TRAVELLING ALLOWANCE.—Rule 79 (i) (xvii) of the Travelling Allowance Rules of the District Council, merely empowers the Council to pay members a certain travelling allowance if and when it so desires. There is, therefore, no statutory obligation to pay under that rule. The obligation arises out of the further step which the District Council takes to implement its powers. The District Council says, in effect, by its resolution that if members undertake certain journeys then in the exercise of the powers conferred on the Council, it will pay them certain sums of money. When journeys are undertaken there is an implied contract to pay. That contract is not in writing registered, and so Art. 115 applies to a suit by a member against the District Council to recover travelling allowance which the latter has undertaken to pay by its resolution. I.L.R. (1946) Nag. 392=1946 Nag. (Rul.) 136=224 I.C. 12.

A suit by a medical practitioner for the recovery of fees due for medical attendance is governed by Art. 115. In such a case there is an implied contract to pay the fee on each day of the visit and there is a breach of contract whenever there is non-payment. If the practitioner demands the fee and the party promises to pay the same promptly and fails to do so, there is a breach of contract at least on the last date of the attendance or anyhow on the date of the death of the patient. 1931 A.L.J. 949=1931 A. 752 (2). As to suit for recovery of purchase money and costs incrured in litigation in an unsuccessful attempt to take possession of the property sold, see 42 M. 507=36 M.L.J. 157. Where a Municipal Committee continues to hold a cattle fair on another's land from year to year, an inference can be drawn that there was an implied contract between the Committee and the land-owner that the Committee should pay to the owner and that the owner should allow the Committee to hold the fair. A suit therefore for compensation not received will be governed by Art. 115 and not by Art. 39 or Art. 120. 178 I.C. 49=1938 L. 267.

SUCCESSIVE BREACHES.—See 34 A. 429= 9 A.L.J. 534. ARTS. 115, 116 AND 120.—The directors are in a limited sense trustees. Their liabilities depend upon their position as directors. Their position as directors is governed by the Aricles of Association and generally by the written constitution of the company. The Articles are a part only of the contract. Thus the liability of the directors under sec. 235, Companies Act, arises out of a contract which is partly in writing and partly not in writing. Therefore, an application by the liquidator for compensation under sec. 235 for damages for misfeasance or breach of contract of the directors is not governed by Art. 115 or Art. 116, which deal with contracts exclusively in writing or not in writing. Hence

Description of suit.	Period os limitation.	Time from which period begins to run.
	Part VII.— Six years.
116. For compensation for the breach of a contract in writing registered.	[Six years] ..	When the period of limitation would begin to run against a suit brought on a similar contract not registered.

the application is governed by Art. 120. 1930 B. 572=32 Bom.L.R. 232. 54 B. 226; 1937 P. 293. A suit by a shareholder to recover dividend is governed not by Art. 115 but by either Art. 116 or Art. 120 of the Limitation Act. Where the dividend was declared prior to the registration of the plaintiff as a shareholder but the beneficial ownership of the shares had throughout been with the plaintiff and the member of the defendant company on the register had throughout been in a position to demand the dividend, and if necessary, to sue for it on the plaintiff's behalf, limitation begins to run from the date of the declaration of the dividend and not from the date of the registration of the plaintiff. 48 C.W.N. 693. A suit for rent based on a registered qabuliyat would be governed only by Art. 115, and not either by Art. 116 or Art. 120. A qabuliyat though it cannot be looked into for certain purposes, can certainly be looked into for determining the amount of rent and for inferring that the executant came into possession under a contract with an undertaking to pay rent. 1942 A.L.W. 659. A suit to recover license fee assessed by the Municipal Committee under Municipal Act, in respect of a platform erected by the defendant in his holding, is governed by Art. 120 and not by Art. 115. The liability of the defendant does not arise out of any contract, between him and the Municipality but out of an obligation imposed by the statute on the licensees of platforms to pay the fees assessed by the Municipal Commissioners. The Municipality is authorized to recover such fees by distraint or suit. 175 I.C. 86=1938 P. 192. In a suit for assessment of a fair and equitable rent and compensation for use and occupation of land where the tenants are willing to pay a reasonable rent and dispute only the figure at which a reasonable rent should be fixed, it cannot be said that the tenants are guilty of any breach of implied contract to pay reasonable rent and therefore Art. 115 does not apply to the case and the suit could be governed by Art. 120. 190 I.C. 631=1940 C. 400.

ART. 116: SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY.—See I.L.R. 1936 N. 5=1936 N. 180; 1936 R. 80 =161 I.C. 461. Distinction between this Article and Art. 97 pointed out. 13 P. 192 =150 I.C. 975=1934 P. 148. Article applies to all registered contracts. 15 Bom.L.R. 836 =37 B. 656=1 M.L.J. 482=14 M. 165; 18 C. 506; 3 A. 600 (F.B.). The term 'registered' includes registration under special laws as the Companies Act or the Copyright Act as well as the Registration Act. Thus, a suit by a share-holder to recover dividends from a registered Company is governed by Art. 116. 42 M. 33=35 M.L.J. 256; I.L.R. (1940) Bom. 165=42 Bom.L.R. 57=1940 B. 97 (F.B.); 20 P.L.T. 285; 1930 B. 572; 54 B. 226= 32 Bom.L.R. 232=48 C.W.N. 693. But see 1933 Sind 103=143 I.C. 713; 1937 P. 293=168 I.C. 786. But a purchaser at a Court sale of shares in a Company cannot claim the benefit of this article. 46 M.L.J. 563=79 I.C. 947=1924 M. 721. The word 'contract' does not include an award. 19 I. C. 376=6 S.L.R. 148. But see 16 I.C. 804 =32 P.R. 1913=165 P.W.R. 1912 (Punj.), cited under Art. 115. The word 'contract' in Art. 116 includes an implied 'contract' also. 51 A. 651=119 I.C. 243=1929 A. 293 =1929 A.L.J. 433. Where a personal covenant to pay is contained in regisered mortgage, it being in writing registered, the relevant article is 116. 52 L.W. 777=1940 P.C. 204=67 I.A. 431 (P.C.)=I.L.R. 1940 K. P.C. 419. It cannot be said that Art. 116 applies only to cases where the document is signed by both the parties. Article does not contain the words "executed by both parties" and there is no reason to interpolate them. If there is a valid contract, evidenced by a registered document which though signed by one party only is complete, because it has been accepted by the other and breach of that contract has been committed, Art. 116 will apply. 50 A. 661=1928 A. 313. If the vendees' promise to pay the purchase-money is set out in the registered conveyance which is accepted by him, the contract between the parties can be regarded as embodied in the conveyance, even though it is not actually executed by the vendee. The plaintiff's right to a personal decree on the failure of the defendant to pay the balance of consideration in such a case is governed by Art. 116. 9 R. 56=1931 R. 139. Where the liability of the vendee arises in virtue of the conveyance, i.e., upon a contract in writing registered within the meaning of Art. 116 the six years' period allowed by that article applies. 60 I.A. 183=11 R. 186=1933 P.C. 143=64 M. L.J. 655 (P.C.). Where a mortgagor sells mortgaged property under a registered sale-deed, reserving part of the consideration for the sale with the vendee for discharging the mortgage debt, but the latter fails to discharge and redeem the mortgage and the mortgagee sues on the mortgage and brings the property to sale and after sale, obtains a personal decree against the mortgagor for the deficiency, if the mortgagor who is compelled to pay the balance to the mortgagee brings a suit against the vendee for damages for breach of contract, Art. 116 applies to the case, and the suit if brought within 6 years of the date when the plaintiff made the payment, is not barred by limitation. 223 I.C. 248. Art. 116 does not apply to a claim against the directors of a Company for misfeasance in the nature of a breach of trust because the whole of the contract governing the relationship of the Company and the directors is not in writing registered but part only, viz., that which is contained in the articles of association. 54 B. 326=32 Bom. L.R. 232=1930 B. 572. See also 1937 P. 293. Relinquishment of rights—Money paid as consideration—Failure of deed to take effect—Claim for refund of money paid—Limitation—Art. 97 applies, but not Art. 116. 1930 A.L.J. 1112=1930 A. 441. A suit for taking the accounts of a dissolved partnership cannot be deemed to be a suit "for conpensation for breach of contract" and is not therefore governed by Art. 116. 57 M. 378=1934 M. 162=66 M.L.J. 625. The word 'compensation' need not be restricted to a claim for unliquidated damages and can include a claim for a sum certain. 49 B. 596 =27 Bom.L.R. 637=1925 B. 440; 8 I.C. 788 =12 C.L.J. 423; 3 A. 600 (F.B.); 39 A. 81 =14 A.L.J. 873. The 'word compensation' has the same meaning as it has in sec. 73 of the Contract Act and denotes a sum of money payable to a person on account of loss or damage caused to him by breach of the contract. 107 I.C. 493=1928 L. 442. Art. 116 applies not merely to a suit for compensation for breach of contract in the narrow sense of the word compensation, but also to a suit for money payable under the terms of the contract, and it is applicable in all cases in which the contract is in writing and registered, notwithstanding that there may be an article directly applicable to the class of contracts in question. 9 R. 56=1931 R. 139. Thus, a suit for recovery of money due on a registered bond is governed by article. 17 C.W.N. 369=13 I.C. 440; 42 I.C. 609=6 L. As to suit for recovery of mortgage money by a mortgagee who is deprived of his mortgage security, see 3 R. 60=1925 R. 223. If the stipulation for payment of interest in a mortgage deed does not constitute an independent agreement, and is no more than a part of the contract for the payment of the principal, the mortgagee cannot get a personal decree for the recovery of the interest, even for the period of six years preceding the suit, in a case where his suit for enforcement of the personal remedy in respect of the principal was barred by time at the time of the institution of the suit. There being one contract from which the liability for the principal and the interest arises, the cause of action arising from the breach of contract is not divisible or severable and the time for the recovery of both principal and interest must be deemed to begin to run from the date when the breach took place. If the covenant for payment of interest is an independent and separate agreement, the breach of such covenant will give rise to a separate cause of action independently altogether of the cause of action arising on a breach of the covenant for the payment of the principal. A suit instituted within six years of such breach will obviously be within time, in view of the language of Art. 116 of the Limitation Act, and cannot be held to be barred by limitation, merely because an action for compensation for breach of another independent covenant has become time-barred. The mortgagee is entitled to a personal decree for recovery of such interest even though he has no subsisting right to get a personal decree for the recovery of the pincipal. It is hardly necessary to add that this is subject to the proviso that the mortgagee is not entitled to any relief in respect of interest falling due after the mortgage debt itself has become irrecoverable, because in that event his suit for sale itself will be liable to dismissal as barred by time and no occasion will arise for him to apply for a personal decree under O. 34, r. 6, C. P. Code. 47 P.L.R. 358 (F. B.). Where a mortgage bond provides that the mortgage money shall be payable on demand, the debt becomes payable at once, and limitation begins to run from the date of the bond. Where the words are "when required by you", they mean only on demand. A claim for a supplemental decree in a suit for sale must be held barred by time where the mortgage bond provides that the money shall be paid whenever required by the mortgagee, when the suit is brought more than six years from the date of the bond though within six years of the date of notice of demand. Act for a personal decree against the mortgagor, on the ground that the security was lost as the result of a litigation between the mortgagor and a third party, is governed by Art. 116 or 120 and the period commences (i.e., the cause of action arises) at the time when the mortgagor loses the property and not when the mortgagee comes to know of such loss. 11 O.W.N. 1198= 1934 O. 415. See also 1936 R. 80; 1936 S. 14=29 S.L.R. 361; 43 C.W.N. 38=1939 C. 26; 41 C.W.N. 783=1937 C. 347. Where the plaintiff himself repudiates a mortgage and sues for the amount advanced under it, Art. 116 cannot apply. 1933 L. 581=34 P. L.R. 96. The period of limitation applicable for the recovery of money due under a personal covenant contained in a registered deed of mortgage, where the mortgaged property has been sold and the claim is for deficiency, is six years under sec. 116. 36 C.W.N. 117=1933 C. 268; and not three years under Art. 66 or 67. 52 M. 105=56 M.L.J. 10 (F.B.)=1929 M. 53; 35 C.W.N. 1030=133 I.C. 101=1931 C. 801 (1); 140 I.C. 387=1932 L. 592. See also 68 C.L.J. 109=43 C.W.N. 38=1939 C. 26; 5 O.W.N. 1128=114 I.C. 813; 1928 M. 1124=55 M. Article applies to an action for breach of duty declared by sec. 108, T. P. Act. 6 P. 606=101 I.C. 707=1927 P. 248. A suit by one partner for partnership accounts (without a prayer for dissolution of partnership) based on an express agreement between the partners to render accounts and to distribute the profits annually is governed by Art. 120 and not Art. 89 or Art. 100, or Art. 116. 29 N.L.R. 34=1933 N. 127. Article is not applicable to suit by purchaser for refund of purchase money in respect of sale by him at Court auction when the sale proved infructuous. 28 Punj.L.R. 74. See also 18 P. 654=1940 P. 81 (Suit by dispossessed lessee for return of premium paid and for damages when dispossession was due to want of title in lessor). The suit was to recover arrears of maintenance due to plaintiff's mother up to the date of her death. A prior suit by the mother had been compromised and by that compromise, the annuity had been charged on certain properties and the security bond registered. The plaint in the present suit, however, contained no reference to the security bond; it was simply a claim for money due on account of arrears of maintenance with interest. Held, that the suit was not governed by Art. 116 and that the period of limitation was only three years. 146 I.C. 1033=1934 P. 244. ARTS. 116 AND 89: APPLICABILITY—SUIT FOR MONEY BASED ON REGISTERED POWER OF ATTORNEY.—A registered power of attorney executed in favour of the defendant was in the following terms:—"We hereby authorise our said attorney to withdraw and receive payment. . . . .and pay and make over to us in proportion to our respective shares as above set forth such amount out of the said sum of Rs. 10,000 as is due thereto within a week of the encashment of the said cheque". The plaintiff who was one of its executants sued to recover his share of the money received by the defendant on the authority of the power of attorney. Held, that the suit was governed by Art. 116 and not by Art. 89 as the terms of the power of attorney constituted an express contract in writing registered to make payment and the defendant was liable to pay to apart from any basis of agency. I.L.R. (1943) 1 Cal. 578=1944 Cal. 106.

BREACH OF COVENANTS CONTAINED IN REGISTERED DEED.—Where a contract is in writing and registered, a suit for breach of all covenants expressed or implied therein is covered by this article. 27 C.W.N. 1025= 1924 C. 148; 14 N.L.J. 125 (F.B.)=1932 N. 5; see also 17 L.W. 254=1923 M. 392; 22 L.W. 704=49 M.L.J. 668=1926 M. 255; 21 M. 8; 25 M. 587=12 M.L.J. 249; 38 M. 1171=27 M.L.J. 517; 12 C. at 481; 45 B. 955=23 Bom.L.R. 325=61 I.C. 70; 52 I.C. 269; 43 M.L.J. 64=1923 M. 28; 50 I.C. 673 (M.); 140 I.C. 805=37 L.W. 497 =64 M.L.J. 336=1933 M. 126; 31 I.C. 877=11 N.L.R. 186; 88 I.C. 699=1926 N. 109; 8 P. 432=1929 P. 388; 1929 M. 775; 1929 A. 293=51 A. 651; 57 C. 683=1930

Where it was declared that certain property could not be sold in execution of a decree obtained by the plaintiff on his mortgage deed and the decree became thereby infructuous and a suit for a simple money decree having been barred on that date the plaintiff sued for damages for breach of covenant for indemnity contained in the mortgage deed. Held, that the suit was governed by Art. 116 and not by Art. 62 or 97. Held, further that the suit was in time whether it was reckoned from the date of the objection to the plaintiff's execution or the date of the decree nullifying the decree in favour of the plaintiff. 1932 A.L.J. 317=1932 A. 358. See also 17 P. 751=1939 P. 194. Where an agent has undertaken by a registered agreement to re-pay the amount found to have been misappropriated by him within a month of the ascertainment of the amount, a suit by the principal for the recovery of the misappropriated amounts is governed by Art. 116. 44 C.W.N. 793=1941 C. 257. Suit to enforce payments of Government revenue and under-proprietary rent based on registered conveyance of immovable property in lieu of maintenance falls within this article. 1929 O. 311=6 O.W.N. 431.

STARTING POINT OF LIMITATION.—It depends on the article under which the suit would have fallen had the contract not been registered, whether under special article or under the residuary Art. 115. See 15 C.L. J. 17; 3 A. 600 (F.B.). [In the numerous reported decisions, this article has been read along with other special articles which would apply if the contract is not registered for which, see under the respective articles.] In a suit to recover compensation for the breach of contract to indemnify the vendee against the claims of a mortgagee, the starting point is the date when the purchaser is compelled to pay off the prior mortgage under Art. 83 read with the article. 1921 L. 260=2 L. 316=64 I.C. 431. But see 60 C. 761=146 I.C. 863=1933 C. 641. Where the purchaser could not get possession of some of the lands sold, and his suit against the person in possession was dismissed, limitation for a suit for damages against his vendor would start only from the date of dismissal of the suit against the stranger in possession. 64 M.L.J. 336= 1933 M. 126. But where the vendor admittedly had no title to the property and the vendee had not been put in possession, a suit for the recovery of the purchase money must be brought within 6 years from the sale deed. 1925 B. 440=49 B. 596= 27 Bom.L.R. 637; see also 31 I.C. 877=11 N.L.R. 186; 25 L.W. 11=1927 M. 273; 38 M. 887; 38 M. 1171=27 M.L.J. 577; 35 M. 39; 17 L.W. 254=1923 M. 392; 29 M. Where the agreement is that a debt due to a third party should be paid and it is not so paid, the starting point of limitation is the date when the vendee repudiates his liability or the date when the payment of the debt is made by the vendor himself or the performance of the contract is rendered impossible. 8 P. 860. See also 33 Bom.L.R. 136=133 I.C. 267= 1931 B. 365. Where vendor's properties are sold in execution of a decree obtained by a creditor, whose debt had been directed to be paid by vendee, the starting point of limitation for a suit by vendor for the purchase money is the date of the sale of the properties when the vendor actually suffered loss. 64 M.L. J. 526=1933 M. 424=56 M. 724. Under Art. 116 time begins to run from the date of breach of contract under a registered instrument. Where no time is fixed for payment, it runs from the date of the deed itself and a suit brought more than six years after the date is barred by time. 1929 A. 775. Vendor and purchaser—Amount kept with vendee to pay previous mortgage—Surplus to be paid to vendor—Claim for surplus. Held, that Art. 111 is not applicable to the case but Art. 116 is applicable and the period would commence from the date of the breach, i.e., where for the first time in the suit instituted by the vendee for redemption, the Court of first instance would find that a smaller sum than the amount left with the vendee was due. 11 O.W.N. 691=1934 O. 240=10 Luck. 26. Where a registered kabuliyat expired on 31st March, 1922, and the lessee sued to recover damages from the lessor on 30th April, 1925. Held, that the suit was barred by Art. 115. 1932 C. 85=58 C. 930=133 I.C. 179. As to continuing or successive causes of action, see under Art. 115. In a rehan bond there was a personal covenant to repay on a certain date and in addition, there was a clause regarding dispossession which gave the mortgagee the right to realise from the mortgaged property from the person of the mortgagor and from his other properties, if he was dispossessed from the rehan property. The mortgagee sued basing his cause of action on dispossession and after sale of the mortgaged property in execution of his decree applied for a personal decree for the balance. Held, that this article applied, and that on the mortgage deed as it stood, the dispossession was as much a cause of action in a registered deed giving rise to limitation under Art. 116 as the cause of action of failure to pay on the date fixed in the bond and that the starting point for limitation was the date of dispossession. 13 P. 228=1934 P. 578. Where possession was not given to the lessee in accordance with the terms of a lease deed, and the lessee sued to recover the advance paid by him, held, that the breach of the covenant to deliver possession occurred from the commencement of the lease and that it was not a continuing breach. 138 I.C. 119=1932 M. 225. See also 1939 P.W.N. 220. Where a sale was declared void by the Court and the vendee sued to recover the purchase price and relied on an express covenant in the sale deed. Held, that the suit was governed by Art. 116 and time commenced to run from the date when the sale was declared void by the trial Court and not from the date when such decision was affirmed in appeal. 148 I.C. 825=1934 L. 305 (2). Sons impugning sale deed by father—Trial Court granting them decree followed by delivery of possession—Decree affirmed on appeal—Suit by vendee for refund of price—Limitation—Starting point. 156 I.C. 177 =1935 A. 786. Moragage by Hindu father for antecedent debts and for fresh cash advances—Suit against son after death of father—Limitation. See 40 Bom.L.R. 381=1938 B. 295.

ART. 117: APPLICABILITY.—See 8 L. 54 =102 I.C. 523=1927 L. 200 (2). Under Art. 117 a suit if filed in British India on a foreign judgment, is in time, notwithstanding that under the law of the foreign state where the decree was obtained, execution of the decree in that state is barred by time. The law applicable to the place where the suit is brought is applicable. The law of the place where the obligation arose need not be considered. Art. 117 deals only with the period of limitation. It does not create a right to sue. In India a foreign judgment itself forms a cause of action and a suit can therefore be based on it, and it has to be filed in six years. I.L.R. (1939) B. 639=41 Bom.L.R. 1084=1939 B. 522. The "date of the judgment" in Art. 117 is the date of the decree, and if there is the decree of the appeal Court, it that decree which is the starting point for counting the period of limitation, and not the decree of the original Court. I.L.R. (1939) B. 639. See also 1933 M. 511=65 M.L.J. 572=56 M. 951. Where the Baroda Court passed an order calling upon the contributories to pay Rs. 20 per share, and a date was fixed for the payment of the call money and the liquidators were authorised by the Court to file suits against contributories residing outside the jurisdiction of the Baroda State. Held, that it was not a suit on foreign judgment, and is therefore governed by Art. 120. 17 L. 341=1945 L. 975 reversing 1935 L. 553.

a declaration that an adoption is invalid or that it did not take place, and not to a suit for possession of immovable property. 183 I.C. 853=1939 L. 135. Art. 118 gives a right which is strictly limited to a period of six years to the then representative of the reversion to obtain a declaration that a particular adoption is untrue or invalid. If no suit is filed within the period of six years, then no succeeding reversioner can file any such suit. But it cannot apply when specific allegations of fraud are made by a succeeding reversioner against the previous reversioner and against adopted son. Nothing can deprive a succeeding reversioner of his present right of action based on fraud which he asserts between the adopted son and the presumptive reversioner who brought the prior unsuccessful suit. 57 L.W. 500=1944 M.W.N. 582=(1944) 2 M.L.J. 214=1945 Mad. 33=I.L.R. (1945) Mad. 450. A suit for possession by reversioner of the first adopted son alleging the second adoption of the defendant is invalid as having been made after the power to adopt has become extinguished under Hindu Law, if brought after six years, is barred by this article. 41 B. 728=41 I.C. 845. See also 40 P.L.R. 660=1938 L. 193; 8 Cut.L.T. 96.

STARTING POINT OF LIMITATION.—See 15 L. 645=1934 L. 274 (2). Under Art. 118, the starting point of limitation will be the time when the alleged adoption became known to the plaintiff. If a person who is setting up a case of adoption begins to proclaim the alleged adoption soon after the death of the adoptive father and if the person challenging the adoption is aware of such allegation, the period of limitation in such a case will begin to run immediately after the latter comes to know of the allegation even though the alleged adoption never has taken place. 8 Cut. thing incompatible with the recognition of the adoption must be proved. 58 I.C. 394 =22 Bom.L.R. 974. Where in a suit for possession, the adoption is denied, the suit is governed by Art. 144 and not by this Article. 81 P.R. 1914=25 I.C. 429; 58 B. 280=1934 B. 110. See also cases cited under Art. 118. 1924 N. 142.

ART. 120: SCOPE.—Art. 120 is applicable only where no other article covers the suit. 14 I.C. 19; 28 I.A. 148=24 A. 17 (P. C.); 1933 L. 581; 50 I.C. 6; 20 I.A. 155= 21 C. 157 (P.C.); 26 C. 564 (F.B.); 34 M. 167=20 M.L.J. 189; 3 A. 170; 37 M. 381= 22 M.L.J. 485; 36 I.C. 418; 1930 O. 395; 146 I.C. 939=1933 L. 615; 24 M.L.J. 184; 31 I.C. 335; 35 I.C. 98 (M.)=35 M.L.J. 257. Wording of plaint so as to escape Art. 91 will not bring the suit under Art. 120. 37 A. 640=29 I.C. 968. Art. 120 applies to all declaratory suits. 27 A.L.J. 794=1929 A. 529. Alienation by Hindu widow—After-born reversioner—Suit for declaration of his rights—Governed by this Article: 16 P.L.T. 236=1935 P. 256. Starting point (Ibid.). Coparcener excluded from enjoyment—Suit for declaration and injunction. This article is applicable and not Art. 127. 1935 Pesh. 95.

STARTING POINT OF LIMITATION.—Time runs when the right to sue first accrues. See 30 M.L.J. 104, i.e., when it accrues to the plaintiff or his predecessor-in-title and not when it accrued to one through whom the plaintiff does not claim. 22 A. 33 (F.B.); 37 A. 195. The starting point is the date on which the circumstance entitling the plaintiff to have his interests guarded first comes to his knowledge. 12 L. 262=1931 L. 70 (2)=130 I.C. 778. See also 20 P.L.T. 303=1939 P. 548. The words "when the right to sue accrues" may be taken to mean when the cause of action arises. The cause of action would comprise the facts which have necessarily to be proved in order to entitle the plaintiff to the relief asked for by him in a particular suit. 1930 M. 173=58 M.L.J. 349. See also 41 P.L.R. 321=1939 L. 6; 1940 A.L.J. 459 =1940 A. 424; 1931 L. 70 (2); 1933 L. 270. (as to the interpretation of the words). There can be no right to sue until there is an accrual of the right asserted in the suit and its infringement or at least a clear and unequivocal threat to infringe that right by the defendant against whom the suit is instituted. 1930 P.C. 270=57 I.A. 325=59 M. L.J. 621 (P.C.); 15 P. 151=17 P.L.T. 131 =1936 P. 323. See also 47 L.W. 438=1938 M. 193=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 434. The expression "right to sue" means the right to bring the particular suit with reference to which the plea of limitation is raised. 58 C. 1187 =58 I.A. 125; 61 M.L.J. 9=1931 P.C. 89 (P.C.). A suit by an after-born son to declare mortgage effected by his father void and for setting aside a decree obtained on that mortgage must under Art. 120, be brought before the expiry of 6 years from the date when the right to sue accures, i.e., the date of the mortgage so far as the relief by way of setting aside the alienation is concerned. 59 M. 667=1936 M. 440=70 M.L.J. 360. In a suit for declaration that certain mortgages and sales held in pursuance of those mortgages are void and not binding on the plaintiff, the plaintiff's right to sue accrues not only when the mortgages are created but also when the mortgagees bring the mortgaged properties to sale; the sales give a fresh starting point. 15 P. 151 =17 P.L.T. 131=1936 P. 323. Sale by guardian—Money left with vendee to be paid to minors on attaining majority—Suit by guardian as reversioner claiming the money. Art. 111 does not apply because the plaintiff was not the vendor of the property, but had acted merely as the de facto guardian of the two minor girls under the Customary Law, and the suit is governed by Art. 120 and limitation runs from the date of the death of the younger girl. 1933 L. 860.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES—SUITS FOR DECLARATION OF TITLE TO IMMOVABLE PROPERTY.—Suit by plaintiff in possession for declaration of his title to immovable property. Time runs when the defendant did the first act prejudicial to plaintiff's title. 1900 P.R. 20. See also 26 C.W.N. 206; 1930 P.C. 270=57 I.A. 325=59 M.L.J. 621=11 Lah. 657; from the date of denial by defendant of plaintiff's title. 61 P.R. 1908. See also 1933 L. 412 =142 I.C. 606. When the denial comes to the plaintiff's knowledge. 24 B. 533; 29 M. L.J. 574=30 I.C. 660; when a decision adverse to the plaintiff is given by a competent revenue authority. 45 A. 461=1923 A. 500; 18 R.D. 619=16 L.R. 122 (Rev.). See also I.L.R. (1942) M. 562=1942 M. 487=(1942) 1 M.L.J. 472. When a cloud is cast upon plaintiff's title, 120 I.C. 321=1930 N. 92; 1929 A. 529; 115 I.C. 629; 1930 A. 420. In the case of a suit for declaration of title to the property which is in custodia legis article is applicable. 35 Bom.L.R. 440= 1933 B. 276=145 I.C. 190. If in a suit for declaration and possession of immovable property, the relief for possession is negatived, the fact that possession is refused cannot make the suit one for a declaration only so as to make it fall under Art. 120 and thus reduce the period of limitation otherwise available to the plaintiff. 39 Bom.L.R. 224=1937 B. 244. A suit which is confined to a mere declaration of title and is neither in form nor in substance a suit for possession of immovable property is governed by Art. 120, and not by Art. 142 or 144. 55 L.W. 597 =1942 A.L.W. 488=44 Bom.L.R. 868=47 C.W.N. 38=1942 P.C. 47=(1942) 2 M.L. J. 384 (P.C.). A claim to something or some sum of money which had become barred would not revive when it has been brought into Court. 1933 M. 503=144 I.C. 602=38 L.W. 194. The right to sue accrues only when the defendant infringes or has unequivocally threatened to infringe the right asserted by the plaintiff in the suit. 35 Bom. L.R. 440=1933 B. 276; 12 P. 727=14 P.L. T. 258=1933 P. 250. Where the plaintiff sued for a declaration that he was entitled on behalf of a math to obtain possession of the property which was in custodia legis and held by the administrator and for an injunction restraining the defendants from recovering possession and from asserting their claim. Held, that the plaintiff having claimed in his own right, time commenced to run from his installation to the office. 35 Bom.L.R. 440=1933 B. 276. Suit for declration of title and that plaintiffs are in possession of underground rights. See 52 I.A. 109=4 P. 244=48 M.L.J. 328 (P.C.). Suit for declaration that the property mortgaged to defendant is plaintiff's property. 52 I.C. 646=17 A.L.J. 973. A suit for declaration by a co-sharer in possession is not barred, if brought within six years from an attempt to oust him from possession. 32 P.L.R. 731 =1932 L. 81. See also 14 L. 267=1933 L. 704 (F.B.); 41 C.W.N. 1090=67 C.L.J. 74. A person in possession is not bound to bring a declaratory suit on any and every possible invasion of his title and suit brought within six years of the last of such invasion is in time. 3 L. 43=1922 L. 94; 43 I.C. 175 (A.); 79 P.R. 1917=42 I.C. 346; 1930 N. 92; 115 I.C. 629 (A); 1933 L. 53=145 I.C. 241; 1939 L. 428; 1938 L. 318; 1940 L. 154. When the plaintiff remains in possession, though frequent successive threats and attacks on his title are made by the defendant, his title is not extinguished and so long as his title subsists, he has right to sue for declaration and his suit would be considered to be within time if he makes a threat or attack made within six years, the foundation of his suit. I.L.R. (1939) 1 C. 349=43 C. W.N. 57=1938 C. 804. See also 1939 L. 428; 1938 L. 227; 12 Luck. 371=1936 O. 387. It is wrong to say that the period of limitation for a suit for declaration of right begins to run when the right to sue accrues and that it is immaterial whether the plaintiff has knowledge of it or not. Unless the plaintiff knows that there is any infringement of his right, it cannot be said that any right to sue accrues to him. A suit for declaration of right cannot be said to be time barred so long as the plaintiff has a subsisting title to the property. Each invasion of rights gives him a fresh cause of action. The mere act of forbearance in respect of a previous action on the part of a person in possession cannot debar him from instituting a suit later on when a fresh invasion is made against his title which gives him an independent cause of action and the mere making of an adverse entry in the village records cannot be said to have actually disturbed the plaintiff's title if he still continues in possession. 17 Luck. 805=1942 Oudh 374. Every notice of ejectment is a fresh invasion of title and gives rise to a fresh cause of action. 6 L. 132=89 I.C. 299=1925 L. 391 (2). A suit by plaintiff for a declaration that he alone was entitled to succeed to his father's property and that the defendant had fraudulently procured the entry of his name in the revenue records is governed by Art. 120 and the cause of action arises when the fraud becomes known to the plaintiff. 148 I.C. 776=1934 L. 574. A suit by the plaintiff for correction of an entry in the jamabandi papers is governed by Art. 120. The cause of action accrues when the entry is made in the jamabandi for the first time. Neither the opposition to an attempt to change the entry in plaintiff's favour nor the fact that his attempt to enter a correction in the jamabandi failed furnishes a new cause of action. There must be some attempt on the part of the opposite party to oust the plaintiff from possession in order to give the plaintiff a fresh cause of action. Nor does the preparation of a new jamabandi give the plaintiff a fresh cause of action. 210 I.C. 385=(1943) Pesh. 84. Suit for declaration of title and correction of entry in the revenue records is governed by this article. 9 I.C. 804 (a); 20 I.C. 262 (C.); 1929 L. 379; 1930 L. 284 (2). Where the plaintiff sues for a declaration that the defendants do not possess any underproprietary rights in the lands in suit basing his cause of action, on the wrong entry in the Settlement Court and not on any fresh invasion of his rights made subsequently, the limitation in respect of the said cause of action begins to run from the date of the order of the Settlement Court, (as the wrong is then completed) and the fact that the plaintiff purchased the lands in suit subsequent to the making of the settlement entry cannot stop the running of limitation against him. 1937 O. 291=13 Luck. 143. See also 40 C.W.N. 566=1936 C. 456. A mere entry of names in the khewat does not debar for ever the person against whom the entry is made from suing for declaration, if six years are allowed to expire after the entry. Any fresh act which can amount to a fresh invasion of his right or a fresh attempt to cast a cloud on his title would create a new cause of action in his favour. 27 A.L.J. 794=1929 A. 529. See also 115 I.C. 629; 1933 A. 663 =145 I.C. 728; 153 I.C. 73=1935 A. 174; 1936 P. 129; 1936 P. 321; 42 C.W.N. 96= 1937 C. 745; 40 C.W.N. 566=1936 C. 456; 1940 O. 283=15 Luck. 487; 1937 O. 291=13 Luc. 143; 164 I.C. 118=1936 O. 387. A suit for a declaration will not lie for setting aside a mere assertion. A mere declaration by a trustee that he proposes to hold the property as full owner is not an overt act which would start limitation running against the beneficiaries of a trust. I.L.R. (1946) Lah. 300. The limitation for a declaratory suit occasioned by a threat to a person in possession of property begins to run when that particular threat is unequivocally made, and does not accrue from day to day as the same threat continues or assumes a more menacing aspect. I.L.R. (1945) Nag. 300= 1945 Nag. 129. The rejection of the application for correction of entries in revenue records give a cause of action, but as a fresh invasion of plaintiff's right occurred when the direction was made by the Revenue Officer for partition of the occupancy rights, limitation began to run from the latter date. 1930 L. 284 (2). See also 120 I.C. 321=1930 N. 92. Limitation for a suit for the correction of an entry in record-of-rights is six years from date of final publication of the record of rights. Suit for declaration of plaintiffs' exclusive title to property and also for declaration that the revisional survey entries in record-of-rights were wrong—Suit filed after six years—Plaintiffs were in exclusve possession of the property. Held, that the suit was not for the correction of record-of-rights but for declaration of plaintiffs' exclusive title, and was not time barred. So long as an adverse entry in the Revenue Records does not injure the plaintiff he need not come to Court at all and hence a plaintiff in a suit for declaration that he is an under-proprietor is not out of time if he institutes the suit within 6 years of the injury which the entry created namely ejectment. 1942 O. 346=1942 O W.N. 217. See also 17 Luck. 805=1942 O.W.N. 225. Where the mutation entries in the name of the defendants were made with the plaintiff's consent and the plaintiff had no grievance until the defendant's asserted title on that basis. Held, that it was the wrong assertion which constituted the cause of action for a declaratory suit. 144 I.C. 316=1933 O. 283. Plaintiff was in possession of the land which was the subject of alienation by will in favour of the defendant; mutaton was effected in favour of defendant whereupon plaintiff sued for declaration of his title. Held, that it was unnecessary for him to bring any suit to set aside the alienation by will as he was in posession of the property and that his suit fell under sec. 45, Land Revenue Act, and was governed by Art. 120, Limitation Act, and not by Sch. I, Art. 1, Punjab Limitation Act. 15 L. 469=1934 L. 134. See also 164 I.C. 118=1936 O. 387. A person executed a deed of gift of property in 1924 but did not deliver its possession to the donee. Donee got the property mutated in his name in 1932. On this the donor brought a suit to declare the gift invalid. Held, that as possession was never delivered to the donee, time for such suit began to run only when the donee first attacked the title of the donor by getting mutation sanctioned in his favour. 161 I.C. 592=1936 L. 49. See also 1938 L. 671=40 P.L.R. 940. But see 20 C.W.N. 481 holding that it is a continuing wrong. In 20 A. 142 suit to recover possession brought more than 6 years was held to be within time under Arts. 142 and 144. Where however the Magistrate wrongly put a party in possession, a suit for recovery of possession against that party is not governed by this article but by Art. 142 or 144. 16 I.C. 620=16 C.W.N. 1073. Suits regarding claim orders in cases ofattachment before judgment are governed by Art. 120 and not by Art. 11. 44 M. 902=1921 M. 163=41 M.L.J. 252 (F.B.); 152 I.C. 297=1934 P. 580. Art. 120 and not Art. 11 or 13, applies to a suit brought by an unsuccessful claimant whose claim to property attached before judgment had been preferred and rejected before the decree has been passed. 49 C.W.N. 111=79 C.L.J. 181=1945 Cal. 449. Art. 11 governs only a suit by decree-holder to declare an alienation by his judgment-debtor as fraudulent after an adverse order has been made against him in objection proceeding, and does not apply to a suit by other creditors who had not attached the property, which is governed by Art. 120. 138 I.C. 412=1932 L. 516. See also 1936 P. 535=1936 P.W.N. 779. A suit for a declaration that the plaintiff has a charge on a certain immovable property is governed by this article. 45 B. 597=1921 B. 182. Where the land is in the possession of occupancy tenants, a suit for declaration that the plaintiffs are entitled to collect rents and for an injunction restraining the defendant from wrongfully collecting the same, is in effect a suit for possession governed by Art. 144 and not Art. 120. 34 Bom.L.R. 1469=1933 B. 26. A suit filed by the Official Receiver for a declaration that the mortgage executed by the insolvent was sham and nominal is governed by Art. 120. An alternative claim made under sec. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act will also be governed by the same article. Time begins to run from the date of the plaintiff's knowledge of the fraudulent nature of the transfer. Where the plaintiff is the Official Receiver, though he represents the body of creditors, it is his knowledge that should be taken into consideration rather than the knowledge of this or that creditor which might or might not have reached the Official Receiver. There should be knowledge of facts which would invariably lead to definite inference that the transfer was made with an intent to defeat or delay creditors. I.L.R. Representative suit for declaring certain land as graveyard and for injunction directing defendants to remove buildings erected thereon. 178 I.C. 125=1938 L. 254. A suit for a declaration that water collected on the land of the plaintiff belongs to him is within time if filed within six years of the date of the act of the defendant, which is the subject-matter of the dispute, to avoid which the declaration is asked for. Moreover in such a case, so long as the defendant continues to dispute there is a recurring cause of action for the plaintiff. I.L.R. (1945) Nag. 273=1945 Nag. 106. Where the alienation was by a Hindu widow of an unrecognised portion of a bhag and the reversioner sued to set aside afer the lifetime of the widow. Held, that the alienation being void ab initio, the starting point for limitation under Art. 120 is the date of the sale-deed. 32 Bom.L.R. 1013=54 B. 837=1930 B. 545. No fresh cause of action arises when alienee from widow alienates. 1929 L. 579. Article applies to a suit to set aside surrender by Hindu widow. 101 I.C. 275=1927 N. 193. Where a suit was filed for a declaration by the deceased's brother against the widow that the property was the joint family property and that mutation in the widow's name was made only for consolation, held that the plaintiff was not bound to institute a suit for declaration on the basis of the mutation entry, for he was not disturbed at all by it as it did not throw any cloud on his title and that it was not until the defendant actually asserted a title by means of filing the suit for profits that it became obligatory upon him to file the suit and that hence limitation for the suit started only from the latter date and not from the date of mutation entry. 1942 O.A. 602=1942 O.W.N. 744=205 I.C. 520. Suit to remove unauthorized mutawalli—Art. 120 applies. 41 P.L.R. 166. Art. 120, does not apply to a representative suit on behalf of a community under O. 1, R. 8, C. P. Code, for a declaration that a certain property is wakf. It cannot be said that the community as such was even aware before the institution of the suit that their title was in jeopardy, although some members thereof learnt about the assertion of adverse title by the defendant who was in possession of the property as mutawalli, as that does not mean that the assertion was to the knowledge of the entire community. I.L.R. (1946) Nag. 518=1946 N. 401. A suit for ejectment against the mortgagees of property dedicated to an endowment brought more than six years after the dates of mortgages being governed by Art. 120 is barred. It cannot come under sec. 10 of the Act as that section expressly excludes assignees for consideration. Nor does it come under Art. 134 as a Hindu Religious Endowment does not constitute a trust within the meaning of the article and secondly the suit is not for possession but merely for ejectment. Where the act of the Government in respect of which a declaration and injunction are sought is an act which is illegal or ultra vires and the declaration is sought on that basis, in such a case neither sec. 59, Revenue Recovery Act, nor Art. 14 applies, but Art. 120 applies. 57 M. 501=1934 M. 147=66 M.L.J. 715. But if the ground of such a suit is not that the act of Government was ultra vires or illegal but a mere irregularity which does not vitiate the main proceedings, but relates only to some question of detail such as the exact amount to be collected or something of that kind, which does not make the proceedings ultra vires, in such a case, Art. 14 may apply or in a case falling under the Revenue Recovery Act, even sec. 59 Revenue Recovery Act, may apply. 1934 M. 147. The plaintiff's suit for declaration that defendant was only an annual tenant and not owner as alleged to have been asserted by him is governed by Art. 120. (31 A. 9, Foll.). 118 I.C. 62=1929 N. 124. The plaintiffs alleged that the order by the Collector disposing of the suit lands in favour of the second defendant was null and void, that the plaintiffs being the owners of the adjacent land and the grant being of alluvial land, the grant should have been made to plaintiffs under sec. 63 of the Bombay Land Revenue Code. The suit was for declaration against the Secretary of State and for possession as against his grantee. Held, the relief regarding possession could not be awarded in this suit: that it was really a suit for declaration and injunction and governed by Art. 120 and not by Art. 144. 33 Bom.L.R. 772=55 B. 447=1931 B. 369. See also I.L.R. Where it was proved that the guardian ad litem was guilty of gross negligence in the conduct of a suit and the minor sued after attaining majority for a declaration that the decree was not binding on him. Held, that Art. 120 was applicable and that limitation commenced to run, not the moment the decree was passed, but only when the gross negligence of the guardian became known to the plaintiff. 1930 M. 173=58 M.L.J. 349. See also 33 Bom. Where a guardian sells immovable property belonging to a minor without the sanction of the Court and executes a second sale with the permission of the Court, the later transferee can sue for possession outright and need not expressly sue to have first sale set aside. To such a case Art. 120 and not Art. 91 applies. 34 C.W. N. 948=58 C. 128=1931 C. 131. See also I. L.R. 1940 M. 27=1940 M. 106 (suit for money advanced by guardian for necessaries of minor). Where funds subscribed by a large number of persons are held in trust for a particular purpose, which fails or comes to an end, there arises a resulting trust of such funds as remain, in favour of the contributors or subscribers or, if they are dead, their personal repesentatives. The fact that the funds are held by one of the subscribers who undertakes to pay interest on the funds would not be inconsistent with the transaction being in the nature of a trust and would not make it a deposit or constitute the holder a banker. A suit by a contributor to recover his share is governed by Art. 120 and limitation commences to run from the date when there is a failure of the purpose whereupon the resulting trust arises. 1938 M. 641=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 616. SUIT FOR DECLARATION THAT MARRIAGE IS NULL AND VOID.—A suit under the Specific Relief Act by the plantiff who was a Jewess domiciled in England, for a declaration that her marriage in France in accordance with French law to the defendant who was a Hindu domiciled in British India and who had a Hindu wife at the time of the marriage, is null and void, is governed by Art. 120 and not by sec. 23 of the Limitation Act. The right to sue accrues as soon as the wedding ceremony is performed, or at all events, as soon as the defendant claims marital rights. Ignorance of law and her rights, in the absence of fraud on the part of defendant will not extend the period of Limitation. The exception in sec. 29 of the Limitation Act regarding matrimonial matters, refers only to suits under the Divorce Act. 49 C.W.N. 570=A.I.R. 1945 Cal. 484.

SUIT FOR INJUNCTION.—Governed by this Article. 13 M. 445=26 A. 391; 1923 A. 452; 3 L.L.J. 228=1921 L. 242; 2 L.L.J. 463=56 I.C. 1003; 42 B. 333=45 I.C. 592 (mandatory injunction); 49 B. 586=27 Bom. In a suit alleging interference with the plaintiff's right of worship on a holy hill and claiming relief by way of injunction and declaration in respect of charans or footprints of saints, which the defendants had removed and replaced by charans of a different type abhorrent to the plaintiffs. Held, that the suit was not barred by Art. 120 as the act complained of was a continuing wrong and that under sec. 23 of the Act, a fresh period began to run at every moment of the day on which the wrong continued. 60 I.A. 313=12 P. 681=37 C.W.N. 1021=1933 P.C. 193=65 M.L.J. 163 (P.C.). Also suit for pre-emption in respect of a contemplated sale. 1922 N. 14=65 I.C. 959.

SUIT FOR ACCOUNTS is governed by Art. 120 when it is not covered by any other article. 14 C. 147 (P.C.). See also 1942 M. 48=(1942) 1 M.L.J. 472; 55 L.W. 79=(1942) 1 M.L.J. 274=1942 M. 386. As to whether plaintiff in such a suit brought within time is entitled to go back more than six years and open up the whole account, see 39 M. 365=28 I.C. 221 (M.); 13 Bom.L.R. 1014; 19 M. 425; 14 C. 147 (P.C.)=13 I.A. 123; 9 C.L.J. 383=13 C.W.N. 557; 8 C. 788; 1936 M. 170; suit for rents and profits of land to which both plaintiff and defendant have claims—Art. 120 applicable. 1940 Rang.L.R. 136=1939 R. 365. See also 45 Bom.L.R. 424=1943 O. 216. A co-sharer's suit for his share of the income of the joint property is governed by Art. 120 and the starting point is when the right to sue accrues, i.e., when the right of the plaintiff is denied or when there is an ouster. He may be entitled to an account of the share of income for a period which may be more than 6 years before the date of suit. It cannot be said that even in the absence of ouster or assertion of hostile title to the knowledge of the plaintiff, his right to share in the income should be confined only to a period of 6 years before the date of suit. 1942 M. 514=55 L.W. 196=1943 M.W.N. 239=(1942) 1 M.L.J. 408. See also (1942) 1 M.L.J. 472; 142 I.C. 708=1933 M. 200 holding that account can be claimed for the whole period. In a suit by one co-sharer against another for his share of the income of the joint property, which is governed by Art. 120 of the Limitation Act, time begins to run from the date when there has been an infringement of or some clear threat to infringe the plaintiff's right to an account. Until that has happened there can be no question of any bar of limitation; and a plea of limitation must fail when the defendant is unable to specify the particular date at which the claim to an account was denied by him, and when there is no evidence to show any refusal of the plaintiff's right or any threat of infringement of his right. A general request in the defendant's written statement that the suit should be dismissed is insufficient. In such a case the Court can order an account to be taken for the entire period during which the defendant has realised the plaintiff's share and not merely for a period of 6 years. 45 Bom.L.R. 424=1943 Bom. 216. Where the ex-minor brings a suit for accounts against the ex-guardian, Art. 120 and not Art. 89, applies. 22 Pat. 114=1943 P. 218. Suit by a member of a firm against his sub-partner for contribution based on a settlement between him and the defendant, in respect of the loss sustained by the plaintiff in the partnership, is governed by this article and not by Art. 61 or Art. 106. 1934 M. 12=38 L.W. 858=65 M.L.J. 789. A suit for dissolution and accounts of a subsisting partnership is governed by Art. 120. 37 L.W. 288=1933 M. 353 (2)=144 I.C. 573. So also a suit by one partner for partnership accounts (without a prayer for dissolution of partnership) based on an express agreement. 141 I.C. 277=1933 N. 127=29 N.L.R. 34. See also 1933 S. 324=27 S.L.R. 308. Hundi vested in defendant for payment of debts of third person—Suit for accounts in respect of—Art. 89 or 120 applies—Starting point. 1936 M. 876. A member of a Hindu family had assigned to him a mortgage bond by the karta of the family at the partition which took place in 1929. The mortgage bond was however repaid in fact in 1922. An action being brought by the member on the mortgage with an alternative claim for a money decree against the karta if he had received the money. Held, that this being merely a case of conversion by the karta or a case where having held the money for many years from the date of the partition, he must be said to hold it in trust for the plaintiff, in which event Art. 120 would apply and not Art. 62. 1935 P. 159=156 I.C. 887. A suit by a member of an unregistered company for refund of subscriptions is in substance one for an account governed by Art. 120. 7 R. 540=1930 R. 21. Article applicable to an equitable claim against a trustee, liable to account for an account and ascertainment of what may be due, is Art. 120 and not Art. 62, and limitation does not begin to run until the "right to sue" accrues, i.e., until there is an accrual of the right asserted in the suit and its infringement or at least a clear and unequivocal threat to infringe that right by the defendant. Consequently, the plea of limitation fails when the defendant is unable to specify the particular date at which the claim to an account was denied by him. 35 C.W.N. 145=60 M.L.J. 1=58 I.A. 1=8 R. 645=1931 P.C. 9 (P. C.).

WITHDRAWAL OF SUIT.—In a suit to have an order of withdrawal of a suit vacated and to prosecute the suit further, the plaintiff's cause of action arises as from the date of the withdrawal of the suit from which date he would get 6 years under Art. 120. 67 C.L.J. 320=1938 C. 874.

MISCELLANEOUS—SUITS GOVERNED BY THIS ARTICLE.—A suit by a servant of the Calcutta Corporation for the provident fund amount standing to his credit is governed by Art. 120 and not by Art. 115. I.L.R. (1944) 1 Cal. 463=1945 Cal. 144. There is no article in the Limitation Act which lays down the limitation period in a suit where a jagirdar as superior holder sues muafidar, as inferior holder, for the fixed yearly payments due to him. Hence it is only Art. 120 that can apply to such a suit. 1942 A. M.L.J. 40. Suit by trustee against his co-trustee for breach of trust. 20 M. 398. Suit by trustee of temple to recover money from former trustee. 152 I.C. 345=40 L.W. 275 =1934 M. 542. Art. 120 applies to a suit by a trustee against a receiver appointed under O. 40, C. P. Code, for his negligence in the management of the estate, when such suit is brought by the plaintiff under leave granted to him in proceedings arising out of objections to the receiver's accounts by the Court which appointed the receiver. To such a suit, neither sec. 10 nor Art. 36 nor Art. 89 nor Art. 115 of the Limitation Act is applicable. The "right to sue" accrues in this class of suits, when the leave to sue the receiver or the ex-receiver is given to a person by the Court which had appointed the receiver. 46 C.W.N. 394=75 C.L.J. 1= 1942 Cal. 483=I.L.R. A suit brought within six years from the grant of the certificate is not barred under Art. 120. 56 I.A. 267=51 A. 439=1929 P.C. 166=57 M. L.J. 160 (P.C.). In the case of a claim for payment of zarichaharum to the owner of the site, the suit should be brought within six years from the date of the confirmation of the sale. 52 A. 921=130 I.C. 12=1930 A.L.J. 1284=1931 A. 25. A suit by a junior member of a family governed by rule of primogeniture for a plot of land in lieu of maintenance on the strength of family custom is governed either by Art. 120 or 144, the choice between the two provisions of law depending upon the question whether the suit is treated as one for declaration or for possession. 11 L. 99=1929 L. 872 (2). Arts. 129 and 131 do not apply to such a case, as Art. 129 is restricted in its operation to a suit for maintenance in which the right is based on Hindu Law and not upon custom, and Art. 131 is confined to a suit in which the plaintiff seeks simply to establish his right to maintenance and does not ask for a consequential relief. (83 P.R. 1906, Foll.) 1929 L. 872 (2). Suit against directors for misapplication of the company's funds in ultra vires transaction falls under this article. Time runs from the earliest date when specific injury actually arose. 54 B. 226. A right to sue for misfeasance of directors of companies arises from the date of misfeasance and is governed by Art. 36 or Art. 120. 54 M. 153=1931 M. 58=60 M.L.J. 280. Article applies to suit for damages for enticing away plaintiff's wife. 1936 A.L.J. 574= 163 I.C. 974=1936 A. 454. Also to suit for restitution of conjugal rights against wife, and this is a continuing wrong. 38 Bom.L. R. 502=164 I.C. 628=1936 B. 289. Suit by mortgagee auction-purchaser for possession—Property in possession of lessee of mortgagor—Art. 144 applies and not Art. 120. 1936 O.W.N. 399=12 Luck. 161=1937 O. 145. Subrogation—Suit to enforce right—Limitation. See (1945) 1 M.L.J. 341. As to whether an application for revocation of probate is governed by Art. 120, see 35 C. W.N. 387=1931 C. 713. If one entitled to use a land as sehan darwaza uses it for a purpose like starting a sugar mill he is increasing the burden and the article applicable would be Art. 120 and not 32. 1937 A.L.J. 1231=1938 A. 20.

ARTS. 120 AND 125.—A deceased had made a gift of his land to certain person. His daughter unsuccessfully contested the registration of the land in alienee's name, but did not bring any title suit afterwards. The reversioners of the deceased subsequently brought a suit for a declaration that the alienation was void against them. Held, that the mere failure on the daughter's part to bring a title suit after failure in registration proceedings did not amount to constructive alienation for purposes of Art. 125, which, therefore, did not apply; and the suit by the reversioners brought more than six years after the land registration entry was barred under Art. 120. 165 I.C. 21= 1936 P. 535. Where a Hindu widow and her daughter execute a sale-deed in respect of property inherited from the last male owner, the daughter having only a spes successionis, the alienation has to be regarded as one by the widow alone. A declaratory suit by the daughter's son after the death of the widow, but during the lifetime of the daughter, his mother, is governed not by Art. 125, but by Art. 120, and is barred unless brought within six years of the date of the alienation. 165 I.C. 448 =1936 M.W.N. 339=44 L.W. 208. See also 1941 C. 41.

ARTS. 120, 127 AND 132.—See 1938 P. 16. The right of a member of a Malabar tarwad to maintenance is a proprietary right and based on co-ownership in the property of the tarwad. The claim to recover maintenance or arrears of maintenance falls within Art. 127, even if based on a karar executed by the members of the tarwad. But Art. 127 cannot be availed of by an assignee of the right from a member; the article is restricted in its scope to the members of a joint family. The article applicable to a suit by an assignee is Art. 120. Where the maintenance is charged on the tarwad income under a karar entered into by the members of the tarwad, the claim so far as it is sought to be enforced against the income of the immovable property of the tarwad would be governed by Art. 132. 163 I.C. 190=43 L.W. 711=1936 M. 573.

ARTS. 120 AND 131.—A suit by the holder of the office of mutawalli or katheeb of a mosque against the Secretary of State for India for a declaration that he was entitled to the yeomiah allowance as the lawful holder of the office is a suit to establish a periodically recurring right attached to the office of mutawalli and is governed by Art. 131 of the Limitation Act, Art. 120 does not apply to such a suit. A suit brought within 12 years of the Secretary of State's refusal to recognise the validity of the plaintiff's claim would be in time. I.L.R. (1941) M. 587 =1941 M. 428=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 374.

ARTS. 120 AND 142.—Where in proceedings under sec. 145, Cr. P. Code, the Magistrate passed an order for attachment of the property which was taken possession of by a Tahsildar as receiver, his possession is in the eye of law the possession of the true owner and the plaintiff could maintain a suit for a mere declaration of his title and it is not necessary for him to institute a suit for possesion. The suit being neither in substance nor in form a suit for possession of immovable property, Art. 142 has no application and falls under sec. 120. 164 I.C. 118=1936 O.W.N. 784=1936 O. 387= 12 L. 371.

ARTS. 120 AND 134 AND SEC. 10.—A suit for ejectment against the mortgagees of property dedicated to an endowment more than six years after the dates of mortgages being governed by Art. 120 is barred. It cannot come under sec. 10 of the Act as that section expressly excludes assignees for consideration. Nor does it come under Art. 134 as a Hindu Religious Endowment does not constitute a trust within the meaning of the article and secondly the suit is not for possession but merely for ejectment. 165 I.C. 48=1936 L. 784. See also 48 I.A. 302=44 M. 831=1922 P.C. 123=41 M.L.J. 346 (P.C.).

ARTS. 120 AND 144.—Art. 144 and not Art. 120, applies to a suit for possession by an auction-purchaser of a particular joint family property described with boundaries in his sale cerificate, sold in enforcement of a decree obtained by a creditor against, inter alia, the manager of the family. 47 Bom.L.R. 1102=1946 Bom. 192.

Where a former suit ended in a declaratory judgment, and the decree was not framed in an executable form, a suit will lie to enforce the rights so declared, and such a suit will be governed by Art. 122. 40 L.W. 792=1934 M. 665=67 M.L.J. 413.

ART. 123: SCOPE.—See 9 C. 79; 14 B. 236; 25 M. 361. When a suit is barred by this article the right to property is extinguished. 23 B. 80. Suit for legacy falls under this article. 36 B. 111=12 I.C. 702=13 Bom.L.R. 1025; 41 C. 271=25 I.C. 370 (residuary legatee suing); 25 M. 361; even if administration is also prayed for, it is only ancillary to the claim for legacy, and article would apply. 25 M. 361.

APPLICABILITY.—Art. 123 applies only where the suit is brought against an executor or administrator or some person legally charged with the duty of distributing the estate. 59 I.A. 74=54 A. 93=1932 P.C. 81=62 M.L.J. 371 (P.C.). See also 14 B. 236; 12 M. 487; 16 M. 61 (F.B.); 34 M. 511=20 M.L.J. 288 (F.B.); 9 C. 79; 17 O.C. 157=24 I.C. 45; 44 C.W.N. 221=1940 C. 93, Art. 123 does not apply to the claim for profits in the estate of a deceased in respect of movable property. 178 I.C. 475=1938 R. 416. "Payable" or "deliverable"—Bequest of land subject to mortgage—Direction to executor to discharge mortgage and to convey land—Legacy, if becomes payable before discharge of mortgage. I.L.R. (1943) Mad. 477=1943 Mad. 276=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 36. The words "payable" and "deliverable" in Col. 3 of Art. 123 indicate that there must be some person who is under a duty to pay the legacy or to deliver the distributive shares. It is not necessary however that the persons liable to pay must be executors or administrators. They must be persons in possession of the estate and legally bound to pay the legacy or hand over the distributive shares. Hence, where a testator has in his will directed that the person in possession of his estate would pay maintenance allowance to certain lady, a suit to recover that allowance is governed by Art. 123. 44 C.W.N. 221=1940 C. 93. (Article inapplicable to suit against co-heir). 12 R. 409=152 I.C. 768=1934 R. 318; see also (1943) 1 M.L.J. 36. But see 40 M. 190=43 M.L.J. 486=1922 M. 457, holding that article applies to suits for legacies against any person rightly or wrongly in possession of the estate. A suit by the plaintiff to recover possession of certain Government Promissory Notes in accordance with the terms of a will left by the original owner against the defendant alleged to have the notes in his custody contrary to the terms of the will is not governed by Art. 123, as the defendant is not charged with any duty of distributing the estate. Where a Muhammadan dies intestate, his estate vests in his heirs as tenants-in-common and no one is charged by law with its distribution, and if a suit is brought by one of the heirs to recover his share, Art. 144 and not Art. 123 applies. 14 L. 794=1933 L. 784 (2); 11 L. 29=117 I.C. 803=1929 L. 549; 59 I.A. 74=54 A. 93=1932 P.C. 81=62 M.L.J. 371 (P.C.). See also 1929 B. 141; 45 B. 519=59 I.C. 780=22 Bom.L.R. 1429; 44 B. 943=22 Bom.L.R. 936=58 I.C. 48. See also 4 L. 402=1923 L. 519; 34 M. 511 (F.B.); 30 M.L.J. 104; 51 A. 101=1928 A. 467; 31 Bom.L.R. 199=1929 B. 141; 17 O.C. 157=24 I.C. 45. ARTS. 123 AND 131.—Where the right to receive an annuity under a will is repudiated, Art. 131, and not Art. 123 applies to a suit to recover such annuity. A suit to recover such annuity brought after 12 years from the date of repudiation is barred by limitation, even if the annuity is in the nature of a legacy. Once the right to receive recurring payment is repudiated, Art. 131 is the appropriate article to be applied. A person who has taken no action for more than 12 years since the denial or repudiation cannot claim to enforce his right after the lapse of the period of limitation fixed by Art. 131 and say that under Art. 123, he is entitled to the annuity for the last 12 years. 1947 P. 47 =25 Pat. 311.

ART. 124: HEREDITARY OFFICE.—See 19 C. 776; 26 M. 113; 14 C.W.N. 497=37 C. 263. The words "hereditary office" have been used in Art. 124 in contradistinction to cases where the office is to be filled in by nomination. Accordingly this article applies to a suit for possession of the office of shebaitship, where there is no suggestion that the appointment of the shebait is to be made by nomination and the rights of shebaitship, therefore, vest in the heirs of the founder. 13 Luck. 844=1937 O.W.N. 745=1937 O. 373. As to scope of the explanation in the third column, see 10 I.C. 573=20 M.L.J. 781. Intention of Art. 124 was to treat hereditary offices like land for the purposes of barring suits for possession of the office and extinguishing the right to possession after a certain period. The inheritor of such an office cannot deny that he derives his right from or through his predecessor. 37 C.W. N. 29=1932 C. 791=60 C. 452 (F.B.).

But not so in the case of independent trespassers. 23 M.L.J. 134 =16 I.C. 225. Nor can the vacant period preceding defendant's possession be tacked on to it. 10 I.C. 95=9 M.L.T. 485. As to claim to an hereditary office and to the property attached thereto, see 23 M. 271 (P.C.); 6 A. 1 (P.C.); 27 M. 192; 28 M. 197; 25 C. 354; 1936 C. 291. If the former claim is barred, the right to the latter also is lost with it. 23 M. 271 (P.C.); 35 M. 92; 28 M. 197; 36 M. 418=24 M.L.J. 630. But conversely mere possession of the properties attached to the office without performing the duties of the office is not adverse possession of the office. 29 M.L.J. 558=30 I.C. 962; 20 M.L.J. 781=10 I.C. 573; nor mere receipt of emoluments. 42 C. 244=18 C.W.N. 1022 =41 I.A. 267=27 M.L.J. 100 (P.C.) reversing 39 C. 287. the case of a suit for possession of an heredi tary office, time runs against the plaintiff from the time when the defendant takes possession of the office adversely to the plaintiff. Suit for possession of the hereditary office of shebait. 3 P.L.J. 327=47 I.C. 290. Where the management once reverts to the representatives of the founder on his death, and a certain person succeeds as heir-at-law, it would be in contravention of the Hindu Law of Inheritance to say that the endowment should be held in a series of successive life-estates by the inheritors. The office becomes hereditary in the hands of the heir and a suit by him for possession would be governed by Art. 124 and not by Art. 144. There is no distinction as regards limitation between a claim to an office and a claim to the property of endowment. 1940 A.L.J. 705=I.L.R. (1940) All. 815=1941 A. 1. As to suit in respect of Maharkiwatan,, see 1937 N. 84=I.L.R. 1937 N. 151.

ARTS. 124 AND 144.—A co-shebaiti claim in respect of a family idol will be barred by 12 years' adverse possesson under Art. 124 or Art. 144, respectively, whether the claim is regarded as one to a share in the office or as one to a share in the endowed property. The fact that the elder brother who managed the family properties saw to the debsheba, collected the income and defrayed the proper expenses, is very far from being cogent proof of ouster. 57 L.W. 235 =1944 A.L.J. 143=1944 A.W.R. (P.C.) 24 =A.I.R. 1944 P.C. 24=48 C.W.N. 304= (1944) 1 M.L.J. 344 (P.C.).

ART. 125: SCOPE.—Art. 126 applies only when the possession of the female concerned is that of a Hindu or Mahomedan female as such, that is to say, by virtue of her being a Hindu or Mahomedan female; it does not apply if her possession is by virtue of a grant or transfer made inter vivos or by virtue of a bequest. The article cannot apply to cases where the claim and the possession are independent of the status of the parties. The mere fact that by accident the life-estate holder and the plaintiff happen to be Hindus or Mahomedans as the case may be is not sufficient to attract the application of Art. 125. 15 P. 151=163 I.C. 940=17 P.L.T. 131=1936 P. 323. Article applies to suits only by persons who, if the female died at the time of instituting the suit, would be entitled to the property. 38 M. 406=42 I.A. 125=1915 P.C. 124=28 M.L.J. 535 P.C.; 40 M. 818=38 I.C. 223; 5 L.W. 482=38 I. A remote reversioner, however, has a right to join as plaintiff along with or in substitution for the presumptive reversioner. 38 M. 406=42 I.A. 125=28 M.L.J. 535 (P.C.). Article covers suits in respect of alienations of land only. 70 P.R. 1914=25 I.C. 463. Equity of redemption is not covered by the terms. 108 P.R. 1912=17 I.C. 864. House and site covered by the term. ALIENATION.—Gift also is alienation. 20 W.R. 1; 1923 L. 53; 58 I.C. 333=2 L. 5; 1936 P. 535; also mortgage, 40 I.C. 63=25 P.R. 1917; 88 I.C. 578=1925 M. 567. The word 'alienation' in Art. 125 has not been used in the restricted sense of a transfer by means of a registered instrument. The article applies to all cases in which the widow has directly or indirectly parted with her proprietary right in the estate and passed the same to some third person. The entry of the names of her illegitimate children in the revenue papers followed by her possession of the property is enough to constitute an alienation of the estate by the widow. 184 I.C. 169=1939 All. 526. set aside surrender by Hindu widow. 101 I.C. 275=1927 N. 193. Suit to set aside a gift by a Hindu widow to her daughter and a stranger is not governed by this article, but by Art. 120. 146 I.C. 977=1933 A.L. J. 1305=1933 A. 856. See also 40 P.L.R. 131=1937 L. 760. The word 'reversioner' should not be imported into Art. 125. Art. 126 is not restricted to suits by reversioners. A suit by certain members of the proprietary body of the village to declare that an alienation by a widow shall not affect their reversionary rights is governed by Art. 125. 40 P.L.R. 786=1938 L. 457; 44 L.W. 208 =1936 M. 47; 17 P.L.T. 16.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—Suit by reversioner not born at date of alienation—Time runs from the date of alienation in the absence of fraud or collusion on the part of the nearer reversioners. 41 M. 659=35 M.L. J. 57=46 I.C. 202 (F.B.). But see 22 A. 33 (F.B.). See also 1936 P. 535. Disability provisions have no application in such cases. 22 P.R. 1907; 27 C. 379. COMMENCEMENT OF LIMITATION.—Time runs from the date of alienation and not when the plaintiff has knowledge of it. 16 I.C. 547 (C.). See also the decisions on the point under Art. 120 in the case of suits by remote reversioners falling under that article. It is the date of mortgage and not the date of the decree that furnishes the starting point. 86 I.C. 1016=1925 M. 941. As to confirmation of an alienation, see 25 M. 731; 26 P.R. 1896. Mortgage by Hindu widow's mother—Later mortgage by widow after attaining majority in renewal of it —Death of widow——Suit by reversioners for declaration that alienation was invalid —Suit filed after twelve years of first mortgage but within twelve years of later mortgage is barred. 31 L.W. 336=1931 M. 274 =58 M.L.J. 417. In a suit to set aside an alienation by a Hindu widow, if the property was ancestral property of the husband and the contesting reversioner, Punjab Act I of 1920 is applicable and period of limitation is 6 years. If the property was non-ancestral, qua the plaintiff, the suit would be governed by this Art. 125. 146 I.C. 350= 1933 L. 945.

ART. 126: SCOPE.—Article inapplicable to Hindus governed by Dayabhaga Law. 23 W.R. 419. The words "set aside" do not include a suit for declaration that the alienation does not affect the plaintiff's rights. 70 P.R. 1914=25 I.C. 463. Suit to set aside alienation of father when the alienee is not in possession is governed by Art. 120 and not by Art. 126. 25 A.L.J. 734=1927 A. 702=50 A. 163; 1928 B. 283. The expression "ancestral" in Art. 126 has been used in the ordinary sense of Hindu Law, and cannot be given a wider sense for Limitation Act. 150 I.C. 963=36 P.L.R. 214 =1934 L. 397.

APPLICABILITY.—See 26 I.C. 873; 3 L. 426=1923 L. 268. Article applies whether the alienee had the knowledge that the land purchased formed part of ancestral property or not. 23 B. 137 (F.B.). Sec. 6 does not apply to the case of a son who was begotten before but born subsequent to the alienation sought to be set aside, and a suit to set aside an alienation brought by such son more than twelve years after the alienee took possession of the property is barred by Art. 126. 1931 M. 456=60 M.L.J. 521. Alienation by father and uncle jointly is covered by this article. 1927 A. 54. See also 1940 B. 136 (Alienation by grandfather). Father and son mortgaging family property—Father selling the equity of redemption and the alienee redeeming and taking possession—Suit by the son's alienee for a moiety of the property on payment of half the mortgage money—Article applies. 41 M. 650=34 M.L.J. 528=45 I.C. 867. by sons to redeem mortgagee, ignoring sale after 12 years from the date of sale is not maintainable and is barred by Art. 126. 112 I.C. 151. A suit by a Hindu grandson to set aside an alienation of joint family property made by his grandfather before his birth, without any justifying cause, would be barred by limitation if instituted more than 12 years after the date of the alienation, under Art. 144. The suit is governed by Art. 144, and not Art. 126, which applies only to cases of alienation by a father and not by a grandfather. I.L.R. (1940) B. 109=42 Bom.L.R. 208=1940 B. 136.

ART. 127: APPLICABILITY.—See 77 I.C. 697=26 O.C. 191=1922 Oudh 15. Art. 127 would come into play only where the claim is made by the plaintiff as a member of a coparcenary; where he puts up his claim on the ground of co-ownership and not as a member of a coparcenary, the case is governed by Art. 144 and adverse possession for twelve years from the date of denial by the defendant of the plaintiff's title would extinguish his claim. 31 N.L.R. a suit to recover possession of his share in such property by the separated member is governed by Art. 144. 58 I.A. 106=1931 P.C. 48=60 M.L.J. 386 (P.C.).

COMMENCEMENT OF LIMITATION is from the time that one is excluded from enjoyment to his knowledge. 37 B. 64=17 I.C. 642; 45 M. 648=42 M.L.J. 507 (F.B.); 18 B. 197. In the case of a minor, the time can be computed at best from the date of his attaining majority. 116 I.C. 849=1929 A. 302.

EXCLUSION, WHAT CONSTITUTES.—25 L.W. 1=28 Bom.L.R. 1409=48 A. 529=1926 P. C. 100=51 M.L.J. 836 (P.C.). There is no definition of the word "exclusion" in the Act and the question whether a person has been excluded from joint family, must depend upon the facts of the particular case. An intention to exclude is an essential element. Court is to be satisfied that there was an intention on the part of those in control of the joint family property to exclude the person and that exclusion was to his knowledge. 56 I.A. 316=53 B. 699=1929 P.C. 231=57 M.L.J. 287 (P.C.). Knowledge of guardian of minor sufficient. 37 M.L.J. 256=52 I.C. 725.

BURDEN OF PROOF.—It is for the defendant pleading limitation to show that the plaintiff was excluded from joint estate for more than 12 years and that the exclusion was known to the plaintiff. 22 B. 259; 18 B. 197; 25 B. 367; 105 I.C. 410=1927 O. 499. Rule as to adverse possession as between members of a joint Hindu family discussed. 145 I.C. 780=35 Bom.L.R. 779 =1933 B. 386.

ARTS. 127 AND 144.—The exclusion or ouster by a lunatic brother of his joint sane brother if open and continuous bars the sane brother's claim under Art. 127. If after the death of the lunatic brother the Court of Wards openly retains possession on behalf of his widow then Art. 144 applies. I.L.R. (1942) All. 518=1942 A.L.J. 197= 1942 A.L.W. 245=A.I.R. 1942 All. 267 (2).

ART. 128.—See 107 I.C. 641=1928 M. 561; 1924 N. 176=75 I.C. 833; 12 P. 869= 1934 P. 99. Art. 129 is intended to apply to cases where the status of a person on the basis of which maintenance is claimed is denied and the person inter alia wants to establish that status; but where such status is not denied, Art. 128 applies. 14 L. 759=1933 L. 747.

ART. 129.—Where there is no denial there is no bar under the article and proof of denial lies on him who pleads the bar. 26 M.L.J. 205=23 I.C. 831. Article does not apply to claim for maintenance under contract. 23 C. 645; 12 P. 869.

ART. 130: ADVERSE POSSESSION BETWEEN LANDLORD AND TENANT.—Where a tenant claimed land as rent free to the knowledge of the plaintiff and no suit for resumption or assessment was brought till 12 years after, the suit is barred. 39 C. 453=15 C. L.J. 203; 13 I.C. 517. See also 1936 C. 289. Suit for resumption of a life jagir must be brought within 12 years of the death of the grantee. 1924 P. 298. Suit by a saranjamdar to levy assessment upon rent free lands falls within article. 45 B. 694=61 I.C. 40.

ARTS. 130 AND 131.—Art. 130 applies only if the land is found to be rent free. 38 C. L.J. 207=1923 C. 392; 47 I.C. 420=28 C. L.J. 254. Mere non-payment of rent for any period does not bar the landlord's right to have the rent assessed and to recover rent. Such a suit would fall under Art. 131 and for the bar of limitation, there must be some overt act such as refusal to pay the rent or assessment before time begins to run. 38 C.L.J. 207=1923 C. 392. See also 1936 A.L.J. 1384=I.L.R. (1937) All. 140 =1937 A. 57; 17 P.L.T. 819=1937 P. 96; 22 C.W.N. 685=46 I.C. 428; 19 I.C. 64. Suit to recover assessment on land held by the defendant adversely to the plaintiff for over 12 years is barred. 40 B. 606=36 I.C. 505.

ART. 131.—Test as to applicability of article. 1933 P. 695=150 I.C. 242. Under Art. 131 the mere exclusion from the enjoyment of a right does not cause time to run, unless the exclusion is the result of a refusal made upon a demand. 18 L.L.T. 5. Where the particular Art. 102 applies, the more general Art. 131 will be excluded. 43 L.W. 431=1936 M. 149=70 M.L.J. 220. Plaintiff sued in Civil Court for a declaration that defendant was an under-raiyat under him, that he (defendant) had denied that relationship and refused to pay rent to him and further prayed for his eviction. Held, the Civil Court had jurisdiction only to decide whether the relationship of landlord and tenant existed, but not to grant relief of possession as this was within the jurisdiction of Revenue Courts under the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act and that the article to be applied for deciding the question of limitation was Art. 131, and not Art. 142 or 143. 1933 P. 695. This article applies to suits to recover moneys due under a periodically recurring right, whether or not there is prayer for declaration that the plaintiff is entitled to such a rent. 38 M. 916=26 M.L.J. 377. Right to recover rent is periodically recurring right. 28 I.C. 600=13 A.L.J. 333; 16 W.R. 201; 14 M.L.J. 477. Article not confined to suits for declaration of title but includes the recovery of arrears in respect of the right. 34 A. 246=9 A.L.J. 297; 38 M. 916 =26 M.L.J. 377. But see 55 B. 193 below. Where a claim is expressly for arrears of revenue and not for the establishment of a right, Art. 62 and not Art. 131 applies. Art. 131 applies in express terms to a suit to establish periodically recurring right and not to recover sums due under such a right. A suit may claim both the reliefs, but while the former claim falls under Art. 131, the latter claim falls under Art. 62. 55 B. 193=131 I.C. 465=1931 B. 189, as to scope and application of article, see also 16 M. 294=3 M.L.J. 98. Article does not apply where there is no relationship of landlord and tenant. 45 B. 638=60 I.C. 892 =1921 B. 175. Perpetual and periodically recurring right—Distinction. See 39 M.L. J. 492=58 I.C. 788. Right of mutawalli to yeomiah allowances received by another—Article not applicable. 58 I.C. 788. A claim to get a manibam or an annual allowance from and out of the revenue collections is a periodically recurring right, within the meaning of Art. 131. 164 I.C. 794=44 L. W. 250=1936 M. 704. Annuity in the nature of legacy payable under will—Suit to recover more than 12 years after repudiation of right—Maintainability — Limitation. 25 Pat. 311=1947 P. 47. Where the essence of the claim in a suit is the establishment of the title of the plaintiff, as against a rival claimant, to an office to which a remuneration periodically payable by Government is attached, and not the establishment of the liability of the Government to make the recurring payment in question, Art. 131 cannot have any application. Though the Government is a party to the suit, if there is no prayer for recovery of specified sums from the Government, and if all that the plaintiff asks is to make binding on the Government a decision as to the rival claims of himself and another to an office to which certain emoluments payable periodically by the Government are attached, it cannot be said to be a suit against the Government to establish a right to receive emoluments, because the essential question in the suit is not the liability of the Government to make a payment under a periodically recurring right. 1939 M. 570 =(1939) 1 M.L.J. 476. See also 53 L.W. 325=I.L.R. The following have also been held to be periodically recurring rights:—A claim to worship an idol for a particular period in the year. 8 C. 807; a right to recover burial fees. 24 W.R. 385; a right to receive a monthly allowance from a zemindari. 7 M. 341; A claim to recover water cess illegally levied is not a suit to establish periodically recurring right. 37 M. 322=24 M.L.J. 365; a suit for a declaration that plaintiff is entitled to a certain share in the offerings of a temple is a suit to establish a periodically recurring right. 22 O.C. 345=54 I.C. 540. A claim to enhance rent is a recurring cause of action and limitation runs from the date of refusal. Where the right to enhance the rent is based not on a contract but on statute, the article would not apply. 1924 P. 193. See also 2 P.L.J. 124=39 I.C. 85. A party whose right to malikana is denied must sue within 12 years of refusal. The article does not apply where in a previous suit plaintiff has got a declaration of his title. 40 I.C. 864=2 P.L.W. 64. In 1889, the right to 2 per cent. of the Government assessment conferred on the plaintiff's ancestor was altered into one for a fixed annual sum. In 1913, his claims to the old percentage were definitely negatived. Held, that Art. 131 and not Arts. 14 or 120 applied and the suit was well in time, as it was within 12 years of the refusal by the Government in 1913, to admit any right in the plaintiff to a variable annual sum. 61 I.A. 190=58 B. 306=1934 P.C. 108=66 M.L.J. 614 (P.C.). ARTS. 131, 110 AND 120.—Art.131 contemplates a case where the plaintiff's right to the property has not been already extinguished by adverse possession of the defendants. If there was never any relationship of landlord and tenant between the plaintiff and the defendant, and the latter held the land adversely to the former for more than 12 years, the plaintiff would be no more competent to sue for assessment of rent than he could institute a suit for eviction against the defendant. 75 C.L.J. 440. being defined once for all and not varying according to the circumstances each time it accrues. Where the right is to recover a fixed sum which is not dependent upon the income of the property and the payment of which is an obligation cast upon the person, who is the holder of the property for the time being to pay that particular sum every year, it cannot be said to be a periodically recurring right and hence Art. 131 can have no application to a suit to recover arrears of such sum. Where it is found that there is no relationship of landlord and tenant between the parties and the amount claimed was not by way of rent, Art. 110 cannot apply. The only article that can apply is Art. 120. 57 L.W. 531=(1944) 2 M.L.J. 250=1945 M.W.N. 17=1945 Mad. 20.

TO MORTGAGES.—Where a mortgage is for a definite period, it means that during that period neither the debtor is liable to pay nor the creditor entitled to recover the debt. For the debtor's default during the term of the mortgage to be regarded as a cause of action for the suit, the default ought to be such as would entitle the mortgagor to redeem before the expiry of the term. Where it is clear from the document that there was no intention that the mortgagee should be given the right to recover the entire amount of the mortgage debt simply on the occurrence of a default in payment of the annual interest, the right to sue for the entire amount cannot arise till the expiry of the term fixed. Art. 132 would come into operation only when the mortgagee is bound to sue and not when he has the option to sue. I.L.R. (1939) N. 515=1939 N. 242. A default clause in a mortgage bond which provides that in default of payment of any instalment stipulated the whole money should become due is exclusively for the benefit of the mortgagee and it gives him an option either to enforce his security at once on default or, if the security is ample, to stand by his investment for the full term of the mortgage. If the mortgagee accepts payments of overdue instalments which are tendered to him he must be taken to have waived his right of enforcing the default clause in the bond, and limitation does not run. 1938 M. 836=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 251. See also 40 Bom. Where a subsequent mortgagee pays off a prior mortgage and acquires rights of subrogation under that mortgage, he must enforce the rights so acquired before a suit on that mortgage would be time barred. 58 A. 912=1936 A.L.J. 586=1936 A. 636. A puisne encumbrancer who satisfies a decree obtained by a prior mortgagee, though he cannot execute the decree unless his rights are properly declared in the decree itself, can institute a suit to enforce his rights under the decree, and if the decree paid off by him was one for sale, he can in the suit brought by him pray for sale of the property to which the decree relates, for the discharge of the decretal debt. As the decree is a mortgage decree, the suit should be regarded as one to enforce the payment of money charged on immovable property, and Art. 132 of the Limitation Act is the proper article to be applied in such cases. The starting point of limitation in such suits is not the date of payment of the decretal dues by the puisne mortgagee but the date of payment specified in the preliminary decree. 49 C.W.N. 104=1945 Cal. 194. In the case of a mortgage deed directing the payment of the amount in instalments and containing a default clause, time does not begin to run immediately on the default; the mortgagee can waive the benefit reserved to him under the document. Where a default occurs, and after demand by the creditor for payment of the full amount, both parties agree that the creditor should accept payment of the overdue instalments and receive the further instalments according to the terms of the bond, this arrangement would restore the old state of things and thereafter the creditor on the one side cannot take advantage of the default and ask for the entire amount and on the other side, limitation does not run as against the creditor by virtue of the default which is condoned by consent of parties. 57 L.W. 20 (2)=1944 M.W.N. 109=1944 Mad. 172= (1944) 1 M.L.J. 49. Where a portion of the mortgaged property is acquired under the Land Acquisition Act and the mortgagor withdraws the compensation money, a suit filed by the mortgagee to enforce his security and claiming a simple money decree in respect of the compensation money withdrawn, is a suit 'to enforce payment of money charged upon immovable property within the meaning of Art. 132. The properties in the suit, numbering seven villages, belonged to B who mortgaged them to A and then sold an eight annas share in four of the seven villages to the plaintiff. Subsequent to the sale, B executed a mortgage of the remaining eight annas share of the four villages and of the three entire villages in favour of the defendant. The plaintiff paid off the mortgage decree obtained by A and also redeemed another mortgagee of the entire properties executed by B in favour of another party after the mortgage in favour of the defendant. In a suit for foreclosure instituted by the defendant on the basis of his mortgage, a decree was passed declaring that the foreclosure would be subject to a charge in the plaintiff's favour for the two sums paid by him in respect of the two mortgages, operating on 16 annas share in three villages and 8 annas share in four villages. The plaintiff instituted a suit to recover those sums by enforcement of the charge within 12 years from the date of the decree. Held, that the plaintiff by making the two payments mentioned above had subrogated himself to the rights of the mortgagees whom he paid off, and the rights which he had thus obtained became merged in the foreclosure decree which did not merely declare a charge which had existed before but created one, and the suit to enforce that charge was within time under Art. 132. 48 C.W.N. 830=57 L.W. 565= 1944 A.L.J. 463=1944 P.C. 85=(1944) 2 M. In 1914 the simple mortgagee brought a suit for sale in which he omitted to implead certain subsequent purchasers of the equity of redemption. In 1924 the properties were in execution of the mortgage decree sold by Court and purchased by the plaintiff. In 1926 the plaintiff sued to recover possession from the purchasers of the equity of redemption and subsequently applied to amend his plaint and add a prayer for a decree for sale: Held, a suit for sale should have been brought within twelve years from when the amount fell due (i.e., 1909) and not from the date fixed by the mortgage decree; the relief sought by the amendment was time barred even at the date of plaint. 61 M.L.J. 316=133 I.C. 497=1931 M. 542. See also 60 C. 1193=1933 C. 912. Where twelve years have expired from the date of repayment fixed in the mortgages, a suit whether for sale or for foreclosure is prima facie barred by limitation under Art. 132. The receipt however, of rent by the mortgagee of a portion of the mortgaged property will save limitation under sec. 20 of the Act. Similarly a valid acknowledgment will extend the period of limitation by virtue of sec. 19. 6 O.W.N. 393=118 I.C. 835=5 Luck. 53=1930 O. 178. Where there is breach of warranty as to possession before the expiry of the term fixed and the mortgagee is dispossessed, starting point of limitation is the date of dispossession. 1930 C. 703. Where a mortgagee is not bound by the terms of the mortgage to enter into possession of the mortgaged property and to apply the rents and profits towards the payment of the debts though he has power to do so, the mere fact that the mortgagee permits the mortgagor to receive the rents and profits from a certain year does not give rise to a cause of action. No specific time having been fixed for the payment of the debt, the money does not become due and the cause of action does not arise until demand for the payment of the mortgage debt is made by the mortgagee and is refused by the mortgagor. 57 I.A. 134=54 B. 495=1930 P.C. 188=59 M.L.J. 379. A claim to enforce contribution is governed by Art. 132 and the starting point is the time when the money sued for becomes due. 7 O.W.N. 461=1930 O. 260. Mortgage suit—Submersion of mortgaged property—No suspension of limitation. 146 I.C. 856=1933 P. 693.

ART. 134: SCOPE OF ARTICLE.—See 36 C.L.J. 35=50 C. 49=1923 C. 1. Where the mortgagee sells the property to a stranger and then repurchases it, his possession is not as representative of the purchaser, but only as a mortgagee and is liable to be redeemed within 60 years. 58 I.C. 39=44 B. 848; 29 I.C. 403; 45 I.C. 549. A person in possession of trust property under an invalid mortgage deed cannot acquire a valid mortgagee's right by prescription as against the trust. 17 L.W. 521=1923 M. 545. The transferee from a trustee or mortgagee can take advantage of Art. 134 so long as the legal title and possession have been transferred to him. 32 M.L.J. 85 affirmed by P. C. 46 M. 751. See also 1936 L. 784. 190 I. C. 405=1940 C. 228. Art. 134 does not apply to a suit for redemption against donees from mortgagees. 13 I.C. 375=4 Bur.L.T. 265. See also 26 O.C. 197=1924 O. 44; 1923 O. 246.

APPLICABILITY.—Absolute transfer is necessary. 1927 M. 1028. In a case of conflict between Art. 134 and Art. 141, only Art. 134 will be applied. 44 M. 951=1921 M. 272=41 M.L.J. 163. Art. 134 cannot apply to a transfer in invitum or by operation of law or in execution. 1927 M. 1028; 1927 A. 619=102 I.C. 891. Dedication of property for religious purposes—Subsequent mortgage by heir of settlor—Decree—Transfer in discharge of—Suit by sons of mortgagor to recover possession from transferee—Limitation—Starting point—Art. 132 and not Art. 134 applies. 1940 M. 920=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 409. Art. 134 applies only to cases where a transferee for value from a mortgagee takes that which is de facto a mortgage upon a representation made to him. 99 I.C. 280=1927 A. 177. See also 102 I. C. 135=1927 O. 807; 34 C.W.N. 961=1931 C. 113=58 C. 234. The article does not apply to cases of transfers by sub-mortgagees. 99 I.C. 280=1927 A. 177. See also 1 Luck. 529=1926 O. 594. Title adverse to original mortgagor must have been set up. 1927 A. 689=103 I.C. 255. Art. 134 is not applicable where the mortgagee did not purport to do anything outside or opposed to his mortgage. 134 I.C. 366=33 Bom.L.R. 603=1932 B. 23. Question of bona fides or good faith does not arise. 1927 M. 1023; 1929 N. 267; 1931 C. 113=58 C. 234. Art. 134 does apply even where the mortgagee has ceased to be a mortgagee by getting the equity of redemption and has obtained possession not under the mortgage but under the purchase of the equity. It is immaterial that the mortgagee should have thought that he was absolute owner if in fact he was mortgagee. It is also immaterial whether he gets possession before, under or after the mortgage, if in fact he purported to transfer the property to the transferee. 56 I.A. 192=51 A. 367=1929 P.C. 158 (P.C.). The object of Art. 134 is to enable the filing of suits for possession of properties primarily mortgaged and subsequently transferred by the mortgagees in excess of their rights. Since Art. 134 contains a stringent provision of law the onus of proving facts which would attract its provisions in preference to Art. 148 or even possibly Art. 144, would lie heavily on the party who wishes to claim the benefit of an abridged period of limitation. 1938 M. 394=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 101. The transfer of property mortgaged contemplated by Art. 134 is something other than an express transfer of the original mortgage. Art. 134 contemplates a transfer by a mortgagee purporting to transfer a larger interest than that given by the mortgage or at any rate an interest unencumbered by a mortgage. 56 I.A. 192=51 A. 367=1929 P.C. 158 (P.C.). Art. 134 applies even to transfers by trustees and mortgagees and there is no distinction between transfers by these two classes. (1926 M. 81, Rel. on). 118 I.C. 682 =1929 N. 267; 34 C.W.N. 961. Under Art. 134 there must be a valid transfer between the transferor and the transferee though it might not be operative as against a trust or any other person, and time runs only from the date of the transfer. 1930 M. 298. The starting point of limitation is the date of transfer and not the date of taking possession by the transferee. 118 I.C. 659. [But now see the amended Act.] See also 1930 M.W.N. 1148. The Amending Act I of 1929 does not revive a suit which had become barred before that date. 140 I.C. 182 =9 O.W.N. 835. Under Art. 134, the onus initially lies on the plaintiff to prove as to when he came to know of the transfer. He must show that he had knowledge of the transfer within 12 years of the suit. If he shows this, the onus is shifted to the transferee to prove that the transfer was before 12 years of suit and that the plaintiff had knowledge of it. 200 I.C. 732= 1942 Pesh. 39. It is the duty of the plaintiff to give the date on which he alleges that he came to know of the transfer. 9 O.W.N. 835=1933 O. 38 (2); see also 1939 C. 26. In a suit under Art. 134, it cannot be said that extraneous evidence, which of course includes the knowledge of the parties, cannot be taken into consideration in finding out what was the intention of the parties to the deed of 'transfer'. Sec. 92, Evidence Act, does not apply and it is open to the mortgagor to show that what purports at first sight to be a transfer of an absolute title was in the intention of the parties to the deed only a transfer of mortgagee rights. Once the nature of the transaction has been determined, the question of good faith is immaterial. Where the deed on the face of it appears to be a sale of absolute rights, the burden of proving that it is something different lies upon the person who asserts it. 1945 A.L.W. (C.C.) 167=1945 A.W.R. (C.C.) 144=1945 Oudh 258.

CONSTRUCTION.—Art. 134 should be construed strictly. 39 I.C. 582=20 O.C. 164. See also 52 I.C. 159=22 O.C. 72.

NECESSITY FOR GOOD FAITH—CONFLICT OF RULINGS.—The omission of the words "in good faith" in the Act does not enable a person who purchases with full knowledge that his vendor's title is merely that of mortgagee, to get the benefit of Art. 134. 37 A. 660=30 I.C. 956; 118 I.C. 639; 32 P.L.R. 359=1931 L. 464; 1942 Pesh. 39. But see 47 C. 866. It is the first principle of the interpretation of statutes that nothing extraneous should be considered in interpreting a statute when its meaning is unambiguous on the face of it and as the meaning of Art. 134 is clear, no question of bona fides or notice of the transferee arises under it. 200 I.C. 732=A.I.R. 1942 Pesh. 39. Art. 134 applies only when the transferee from the mortgagee obtains the transfer with the belief that the transferor had an absolute title to make the transfer. 1 L.W. 687=26 I.C. 1; 57 I.C. 497; 1929 M. 145=115 I.C. 149; 118 I.C. 659. Art. 134 is applicable to cases where the transferee from the mortgagee professedly takes an absolute title to an interest in the property transferred. 7 L.W. 482=34 M.L.J. 431. See also (1916) 1 M.W.N. 28=32 I.C. 265=3 L.W. 19. Under Art. 134 the transferee without notice and the transferee with notice are on the same footing. 47 C. 866=58 I.C. 705=24 C.W.N. 690; 140 I.C. 182=1933 O. 38 (Oudh). But see 37 A. 660=13 A.L.J. 945; 24 Bom.L.R. 319 =1922 B. 234=46 B. 903. Alienation of debutter property by a shebait, though in excess of his powers falls under Art. 134 if the transferee was ignorant of the fact that the transferor had exceeded his powers. 9 I.C. 133. See also 71 I.C. 577=1923 L. 219. A purchaser by private treaty from an auction purchaser of the rights of a mortgagee is entitled to the protection afforded by Art. 134 if he purchased in the bona fide belief that he was purchasing an absolute proprietary title, and limitation begins to run from the date of purchase by private treaty. 1930 A. 417=124 I.C. 405; 30 I.C. 564=13 A.L.J. 877. Knowledge of the limited nature of the transferor's title will not disentitle the transferee from taking advantage of Art.

TRANSFER BY TRUSTEE.—The head of the Mutt is not a trustee with regard to the endowed properties and therefore Art. 134 does not apply to an alienation by the head of a Mutt. 44 M. 831=41 M.L.J. 346 (P.C.)=1922 P.C. 123; 104 I.C. 125=53 M.L.J. 306=1927 M. 850; 60 I.A. 124=12 P. 251=1933 P.C. 75=64 M.L.J. 505 (P. C.) (Suit by a mahant to avoid an alienation by his predecessor and recover possession of the properties alienated is governed by Art. 144). But see 1928 M. 614; 44 M. 831= 1922 P.C. 123. The Dharmakartha of a temple is not a "trustee" within the meaning of the article and a suit to recover possession of lands improperly alienated by him is governed by Art. 144. 62 M.L.J. 496 =137 I.C. 487=1932 M. 328. Under the article each succeeding shebait does not acquire a fresh start for the purpose of limitation. 17 C.W.N. 873=16 I.C. 927. A Matadhipathi can set aside an alienation made by his predecessor within 12 years of his becoming Matadhipathi. 38 M. 356=25 M.L.J. 393. See also 52 I.C. 914=37 M.L. Art. 134 does not apply where the head of a Mutt has alienated the properties not proved to be subject to a specific trust. 1 P. 475=1922 P. 243. Where the property transfered is claimed in the suit by a Mahant who alleges that it belongs to a religious institution, the rule of limitation governing the suit depends upon the nature of the property. 1930 L. 191 (2). Art. 134 does not apply to suits to avoid alienations of the generally endowed property vested in the sajjadanashin and mutawalli of a wakf. 35 Bom.L.R. 252= 1933 B. 217=57 B. 709. A mutawalli has a beneficial interest in the endowed property and an alienation made by him is valid during his lifetime and a suit by succeeding mutawalli to recover possession of the property alienated is governed by Art. 144. 1933 M. 533=64 M.L.J. 706. But see 60 I.C. 689. Art. 134 does not apply to a wakf. 50 C. 329=44 M.L.J. 624=1923 P. C. 44 (2).

PERMANENT LEASE.—A suit brought by a shebait of some family idols to recover possession of debutter property dedicated to the service of the idols, but of which plaintiff's predecessors had granted a permanent lease, more than 12 years before suit is not barred by Art. 134. 38 C. 526=21 M.L.J. 1145 (P.C.). See also 44 I.C. 567=27 C.L. J. 201; 43 C. 34=29 I.C. 337. The word "transfer" in Art. 134 is wide enough to include a lease in perpetuity. (43 C. 34 and 40 M. 745, Foll.). Where property belonging to the idol is transferred and the rent reserved in favour of the idol of the temple is only eight annas, such rent is not valuable consideration within the meaning of Art. 134. 126 I.C. 279=1930 M. 298.

POSSESSION UNDER TRANSFER.—A suit by a succeeding trustee to recover possession of trust property, mortgaged by his predecessor and foreclosed by the mortgagee is governed by Art. 134. 47 C. 866=58 I.C. 705. Art. 134 is inapplicable to a transfer from a trustee or mortgagee under which possession is not taken by the transferee. 40 M. 1040=33 M.L.J. 320 (F.B.).

MISCELLANEOUS.—Art. 134 does not apply to a person, who being interested in part of the mortgage redeems the whole, he being only a charge-holder and not a mortgagee. 38 A. 138=34 I.C. 244. Though under Art. 134 the possession derived under a mortgage could be perfected by twelve years' adverse possession, yet if a new right accrued before 12 years were over, to the ownership of the properties, the adverse possession is broken. 39 M. 879. See also 36 A. 327=12 A.L.J. 457. The operation of the article begins only from the date on which the purchaser takes possession. 1930 M.W.N. 1148. See also 40 M. 1040=33 M. L.J. 320 (F.B.).

suit was instituted by A, a Hindu idol, for injunction against B restraining him from disturbing A in his possession, on the basis of an alleged transfer to B by a former mahant of the plaintiff, held, that what A asked for was not only an injunction but the setting aside of the transfer to B and the suit was governed by Art. 134-A. Held further that if however B filed a suit against A, no period of limitation would run against A. 178 I.C. 806=1938 L. 752. The word "plaintiff" in the third column of Art. 134-A must, in the case of a representative suit brought on behalf of the general body of worshippers or beneficiaries or persons interested in an institution, be understood to refer only to the plaintiff or plaintiffs eo nomine on record, and cannot be taken to mean every individual member of the community or body of persons who are represented by the plaintiff or plaintiffs on record. 50 L.W. 658=1940 M. 81=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 920. Where an owner of property enters upon possession as mutawalli, his position becomes that of a trustee, and Art. 134-A, becomes applicable to a suit to set aside a subsequent transfer of that property effected by him on the footing that he is a full owner, and the plaintiff has twelve years from the date of his knowledge of the transfer. A plaintiff who derives his title as beneficiary from the deed of wakf and not as the son of the last mutawalli has an independent right of suit. I.L.R. (1946) Lah. 300. Where in a suit on behalf of an idol for a permanent injunction restraining the defendant from dispossessing the plaintiff from a certain land the substantial relief claimed by the plaintiff is to set aside a transfer of the land made by a previous mahant in favour of the defendant, the suit falls under Art. 134-A and as limitation begins to run from the time when the transfer becomes known to the plaintiff, the initial onus of proving that his suit is within time is on the plaintiff. If neither in the plaint nor at any subsequent stage of the case the plaintiff has ever fixed any date on which he alleges that he came to know of the transfer to the defendant, the suit must fail on that account. 40 P.L.R. 184=1938 L. 470.

ART. 134-B.—[See 73 C.L.J. 475=1942 C. 7 cited under Art. 144 infra.] Under Art. 134-B, a suit to recover debutter property alienated by a shebait is barred after the expiry of twelve years from the date of the death or cessation of office of the alienating shebait. 48 C.W.N. 172 (2)= 1944 Cal. 211.

ARTS. 134-A, 134-B AND 144.—Trustee of temple—Alienation by mortgage of certain items—Again sale of certain other items without authority and falsely representing the items to be his private property—Suit to declare them not binding on trust by successor in office—Article of limitation applicable to the transaction. (1946) 2 M.L.J. 123=1947 M. 3. Where an estate known as the Patdi estate is held for life by each holder for the time being and passes on his death to the next holder unencumbered by debts or charges except those imposed by Government, and the estate is made inalienable and impartible by rules framed by the Government on the lines of the Bombay Saranjan Rules which Saranjan Rules do not apply to the estate, and there is no rule that there is to be formal resumption on the death of each holder and re-grant to the successor, if any alienation of a part of the estate is made by a holder it will be invalid from its inception and not merely from his death. But if the alinee continues in possession of the part transferred to him for over 12 years during the lifetime of the alienor or his successor, he acquires a title to it by adverse possession not only against the holder during whose tenure he completes 12 years' possession but as against all subsequent successors. cessor gets the estate as it was at the time of the death of the predecessor. If, therefore the estate had lost by adverse possession a particular part of it, and if the alienee had become its owner by the extinction of the holder's title thereto, the estate which comes to the successor is the estate minus the part the ownership of which had passed from the estate to the alienee's family. It would be open to a person to acquire title by adverse possession for over 12 years, and the fact that the alienor holder had only a life estate would not come in the way of the acquisition of title by adverse possession. Even if the analogy of the head or mahant of a math is applied to the holder of the estate, it would make no difference. On that analogy Art. 134-B would apply, and if the alienee completes 12 years' possession after the death of the alienating holder, he perfects his title by adverse possession. 44 Bom. L.R. 146=1942 B. 138=200 I.C. 889. Where a perpetual lease is granted of trust property the lease is void and a suit by the succeeding manager to recover possession is governed by Art. 134-B, and time commences from the death or removal of the previous manager who effected the transfer. 14 L.R. 905 (Rev.) Art. 134-B applies to a transfer of endowed property made, whether before or after the Amending Act of 1929 which introduced this article in the Limitation Act came into force.

The word 'transfer' in the article is wide enough to include a lease. 41 C.W.N. 693=1937 C. 305=I.L.R. (1937) 2 C. 242. See also (1941) 1 M.L.J. 644 (F.B.)=1941 M. 449=I.L.R. 1941 Mad. 599. The general rule is that the law of limitation applicable to a suit or proceeding is the law in force at the date of the institution of the suit or proceeding, unless there is a distinct provision to the contrary. So a suit brought in 1930 by the Sajjadanashin of a Takia to recover possession of immovable property comprised in the wakf which had been transferred by trustee de son tort is governed by Art. 134-B as inserted by Act I of 1929. 39 P.L.R. 222=1937 L. 9. See also 73 C.L.J. 475=1942 C. 1. A suit by a committee of management of a thakardwara to recover possession of property originally belonging to the thakardwara which had been alienated by the previous mahant is governed by Art. 134-B and the time is twelve years from the death, resignation or removal of the transferor. 39 P.L.R. 355=1937 L. 660. Held, by the Full Bench (Abdur Rahman and Krishnaswami Iyengar, J., diss.) (1) where a manager of a Hindu Religious institution makes an alienation of the property of the institution for valuable consideration and the succeeding manager seeks to impeach the alienation by suit. Art. 134-B and not Art. 144 will apply even when there is an interval of time between the death, resignation or removal of the previous manager and the election or appointment of the subsequent manager; (2) that even assuming that Art. 144 is applicable to such a case, adverse possession commences from the date of the death, resignation or removal of the previous manager who effected the alienation and not from the date of the election or appointment of the succeeding manager; and (3) that if the succeeding manager happens to be a minor at the date of the election or appointment, he will be entitled to the benefit of sec. 6 of the Act, but where his appointment is made after the period of limitation has started to run, sec. 6 will not help him. I.L.R. (1941) M. 599=1941 M. 449=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 644 (F.B.). "Removal"—Decree removing mahant from office— Execution pending appeal— Appeal subsequently dismissed—Suit to declare invalid alienation by mahant—Starting point of limitation— Adverse possession— Interruption. 24 Pat. 208=1945 Pat. 326. Inam grant burdened with service of Acharya purusha in temple—Usufructuary mortgage —Suit by successor to declare void—Limitation. 1940 M.W.N. 404=1941 M. 217.

ART. 135.—A suit by a mortgagee against the mortgagor or his successors-in-title is governed by Art. 135. 50 I.C. 762; 63 I.C. 579. See also 1939 L. 212=41 P.L.R. 529. A suit by a mortgagee without possession for possession of the mortgaged property on the basis of ownership is well within time, if lodged within twelve years of the foreclosure proceedings under Ben Reg. XXII of 1806. 40 P.L.R. 798=1938 L. 809. For the purpose of Art. 135 the mortgagor must either have actual possession or an unconditional right to recover possession from somebody who has in fact got it and unless and until he has that right, time does not start to run. 57 B. 593=35 Bom.L.R. 956=1933 B. 439. The time for a puisne mortgagee to sue for possession begins to run from the date of redeeming the prior mortgagee who was in possession of the property and not from the date of his mortgage. 48 I.C. 916 =8 P.W.R. 1919. Where according to the terms of a mortgage deed the mortgagee is entitled to obtain possession of the mortgaged property in default of payment of interest, and the mortgagor fails to pay interest in the very first year after the mortgage, the cause of action for a suit for possession accrues in that year. The fact that interest ARTS. 135 AND 144.—Sale of mortgaged property in execution of money decree in ignorance of mortgage and without impleading mortgagee in suit or execution—Subsequent suit on mortgage for sale—Purchaser under money decree sale not impleaded—Sale and purchase by mortgagee—Suit by mortgagee for possession from prior purchaser—Frame of—Limitation. I.L.R. (1943) Kar. 315=1943 Sind 242.

ART. 136.—The expression "out of possession" in Art. 136 implies that some person is in possession adversely to the vendor some person holding in a character incompatible with the idea that the ownership remained vested in the vendor. 51 I.C. 123=29 C.L.J. 241. See also 64 I.C. 552=23 Bom.L.R. 967=1921 B. 77. Possession contemplated by Art. 136 is not confined to actual occupation only; it also includes constructive possession. 151 I.C. 357 (2)=1934 R. 223. Article applies to such possession as a member of the joint family is presumed to have, in the family property, until excluded therefrom. 51 I.C. 123=29 C.L.J. 241; (1911) 2 M.W.N. 175; 1915 M.W.N. 29. Where there have been transfers by successive vendors, all out of possession the term 'vendor' includes the first in the series of vendors entitled to sue for possession. 24 I.C. 216. Delivery of symbolical possession is operative against the judgment-debtor but is wholly ineffectual to affect the title or interrupt the actual possession of others. 29 I.C. 841=22 C.L.J. 574. The possession of one co owner is in itself rightful and does not imply hostility as would be the possession of a stranger. If a co tenant were to sell his share in joint property to a stranger some time after twelve years from the date when he and other co-sharers became entitled to the property, it would not be proper to defeat the right of the purchaser by saying that the suit was barred because his vendor first became entitled to possession on the date on which co-sharers became entitled to the property. 58 B. 410=36 Bom.L.R. 281 =1934 B. 273. Starting point is the time when the vendor is first entitled to possession. 67 C.L.J. 294=1938 C. 790.

ART. 137.—When an auction-purchaser at a Court-sale has obtained judicial possession, he or his assigns may sue the judgment-debtor for actual possession within 12 years from the date of obtaining such possession. 17 I.C. 518. Suit for possession against remainderman — Partition — Life-estate given to father with remainder to his son—Rights of son. 25 Bom.L.R. 456= 1923 B. 415. Art. 137 is not applicable to a suit for possession after confirmation of Court-sale where judgment-debtor is in possession at the date of sale. 1921 C. 385 (2) =26 C.W.N. 364. Art. 137 does not apply to a purchaser at a sale held in execution of mortgage decree. 50 M.L.J. 183=1923 M. 160 (2). A suit for actual possession of property obtained in execution of a decree when symbolical possession was given, falls under Art. 144 and not under Arts. 136 and 137. 35 I.C. 87.

ART. 137.—The words "entitled to possession" in Art. 137, mean "able to exercise his right of possession" and the words "out of possession" imply that the judgment-debtor at the time of the sale was not in a position to exercise his right of possession. 1938 R. 65. ART. 138.—Art. 138 applies only to suits between the auction-purchaser and the judgment-debtor or his representative in interest. 35 A. 432=18 I.C. 465. Art. 138 does not apply to a case where the judgment-debtor was not in possession at the date of the sale. 67 C.L.J. 294=1938 C. 790. The scope of Art. 138 is not limited to the case of a stranger auction-purchaser. 46 P.L.R. 357=1944 Lah. 402=I.L.R. 1945 Lah. 252 (F.B.). The expression "purchaser at a sale in execution of a decree" in Art. 138 does not cover the case of a judgment-debtor who purchases the property in execution of his decree. 52 M.L.J. 1=50 M. 403=1927 M. 288; 1932 P. 145=11 P. 165. (Art. 138 makes no distinction between a decree-holder purchaser and a third party purchaser.) The former as well as the latter has twelve years within which to bring a suit for recovery of possession of the property purchased in execution of the decree. But see 10 P. 670 (F. B.)=1932 P. 80. It will not be doing any violence to the language of Art. 138, if the word "purchaser" in it is limited to a stranger, i.e., to a person who is not a party to the decree and who is not a decree-holder. 1936 Pesh. 85. Possession—Suit by auction-purchaser—Limitation. 15 I.C. 10=10 A.L. J. 13. Judgment-debtor in possession—Formal possession with purchaser—Effect of. 36 B. 373=14 I.C. 447. See also 19 P.L. T. 95=1938 P.W.N. 177=1938 P. 189. Art. 138 should be read with sec. 47, C. P. Code. The one does not override the other. 35 B. 452=11 I.C. 987. A suit by decree-holder auction-purchaser against a person who has not acquired a title from the judgment-debtor is not governed by Art. 138. 1922 C. 176=36 C.L.J. 140=27 C.W.N. 259. Art. 138 is applicable only to cases where purchaser has not obtained possession. 26 C.W.N. 364. See also 40 I.C. 662. Article applies to a suit by the auction-purchaser, though the sale took place before the passing of the Act provided the plaintiff had time enough under that article after the passing of the Act to bring his suit. 38 I.C. 609. A suit by a purchaser in a Court-auction for recovery of possession of the properties, after confirmation of the sale is governed by Art. 138 and not by Art. 180. 47 I.C. 844. Whatever might be the effect of the formal delivery of possession under the C. P. Code as against the judgment-debtor himself, such formal delivery of possession cannot take effect as actual possession against a purchaser of the rights of the judgment-debtor who has previously obtained actual possession. Where the plaintiffs did not bring the suit within 12 years of the purchase but only brought it within 12 years from the date of obtaining formal delivery of possession through Court, held, that the suit was not in time. 3 Luck. 668=5 O.W.N. 616=1928 O. 391. Mortgagee of tenure purchasing property in execution of decree—Tenure sold for arrears of rent during mortgage litigation—Suit by mortgagee alleging that certificate of sale was fraudulent and did not affect the encumbrances. Art. 138 and not Art. 95 applies. 107 I.C. 481= 1937 P. 331.

ARTS. 138 AND 144.—Art. 144 and not Art. 138 applies to a suit for possession by an auction-purchaser of property at a Court-sale after he has already obtained formal or symbolical delivery of possession. The suit is not by him as auction-purchaser, but as owner. Sec. 16 of the Limitation Act cannot apply so as to entitle him to deduct the period taken in proceedings for setting aside the sale. Sec. 16 can only be helpful to a plaintiff where he has not gone to the executing Court to obtain possession and the time from which limitation starts is the date when the sale becomes absolute. But when the purchaser at the execution sale has gone to the executing Court and obtained delivery of possession, whether formal or actual and is then dispossessed, a suit for recovery of possession by him is not a suit by him as auction-purchaser but an ordinary suit for possession by an owner on title. In such a case Art. 144 applies and there is no scope for invoking sec. 16. 1946 P. 202=24 Pat. 717.

ART. 139.—Art. 139 applies even to suits brought against the representatives of the original tenant after the determination of the original tenancy to recover the property leased. Where a rent deed in respect of certain houses created a tenancy for an indefinite period in favour of the tenant and it was stated to be terminable at the will of the lessor, it was held that at best a tenancy for life was created in favour of the tenant and that it came to an end with his death and further that a suit by the lessor for recovery of possession of the property would be barred, if not brought within 12 years of the date of the death of the tenant. 1941 A.L.J. 327=1941 A. 306. See also 41 P.L.R. 457=1939 L. 455. Where, after the expiry of a lease, the tenant continues as tenant on same terms, he cannot claim adverse possession and there is no period of time from which it can be said that the statute runs so as to debar the lessors from their remedy for the recovery of the property. 39 C.W.N. 552=1935 P.C. 59=68 M.L.J. 552 (P.C.). The landlord must sue a stranger dispossessing his tenant from year to year and holding the land absolutely against them both within 12 years from the date of such dispossession. 15 I.C. 146= 1912 M.W.N. 669. In the case of tenancy from year to year, limitation runs in favour of a person asserting permanent right in the property only from the date of the end of the tenancy under Art. 139. 9 I.C. 141= 21 M.L.J. 166. The relationship of landlord and tenant between the parties has not been established. Art. 139 does not apply to a suit in ejectment of defendants by plaintiff. (1926 C. 193, Affir.) 1929 P.C. 99=56 M.L.J. 562=56 I.A. 119=56 C. 1003 (P.C.). Whatever possessory rights a tenant-at-sufference may have against a rank trespasser, it cannot be claimed that the "tenancy-at-sufference" is heritable. The son of such tenant cannot style himself as a tenant holding over. His possession is nothing better than that of a trespasser. His possession is clearly adverse to the owner of the land and would ripen into a prescriptive title by 12 years' possession. Limitation runs against the landlord from the date when tenancy comes to an end. 1934 N. 67=30 N.L. R. 155=148 I.C. 561.

ART. 140.—Art. contemplates a suit by a remainderman or reversioner for possession of immovable property when his estate falls into possession. 65 I.C. 826=34 C.L.J. 129. By the expression "falls into possession" is meant the time when a reversioner or a remainderman becomes entitled to the actual possession of the estate. 8 O.W.N. 349= 1931 O. 177. The possession of one trespasser can be tacked on to that of another and a continuity of adverse possession may result thereby only when the interests of both are not different and antagonistic. 119 P. L.R. 1914=22 I.C. 855. Art. 140 governs suit against a trespasser by a lessor for the recovery of his leased-out land. 15 I.C. 146=1912 M.W.N. 669. Art. 140 has no application against a tenant as Art. 139 governs such suits. 15 I.C. 146. Art. 144 applies when the purchaser of the rights of a devisee sues to obtain possession of the property if the devisee or his transferee has once obtained possession, and Art. 140 applies if the devisee has not obtained possession. 56 I.C. 929. A person claiming only an equity of redemption does come within the meaning of remainderman. 56 I.A. 192 =51 A. 367=33 C.W.N. 761=1929 P.C. 158 (P.C.). If the plaintiff succeeds in making out a prima facie case under Art. 140 the burden is on the defendant to show that the dispossession took place at a time when the property was in possession of the last male owner. 43 C.W.N. 772.

LEG. REF.

[1] Substituted by Act XI of 1923, sec. 2 and Sch. I for "Ditto".

ART. 141: APPLICABILITY—(1) GENERAL.—The word "Hindu" in Art. 141 means not only a person who is ethnologically a Hindu but also a person who has the legal status of a Hindu and is governed in the matter of inheritance by the Hindu Law. 1946 N. 277 =I.L.R. (1946) Nag. 159. Article applies only when a reversioner is entitled to possession on the death of the female. 18 I.C. 811=11 A.L.J. 179; 25 C.W.N. 585=1922 C. 321; 25 A.L.J. 861=1927 A. 818. Where on the death of the widow, the reversioner is deemed to be in constructive possession, no one else being in possession, Art. 141 is not applicable to a suit instituted by him after mutation of names in defendant's favour some years after. 36 C.W.N. 326=138 I.C. 349=1932 C. 504. Art. 141 is extension of Art. 140 and specially refers to reversioner succeeding to the estate after widow's death. 40 B. 239=33 I.C. 484. Art. 141 applies only to cases where it is proved that the last full owner was in possession at the time of his death. 27 I.C. 954=19 C.W.N. 1280. See also 27 I.C. 250=18 C.W.N. 904; 1941 C. 632. There is no warrant for the contention that the death of a female referred to under Art. 141 includes death by influx of time, though it may include civil death. (1946) O.A. (C.C.) 120. Where succession vests jointly in two female heirs between whom no partition of the property is made, a suit by one on death of the other for the property cannot be said to be one for recovery of possession under Art. 141. 27 I. C. 83. Article does not apply to cases in which the Hindu or Mahomedan female had been in possession of the full estates. 44 I.C. 308=41 M. 538. See also 18 I.C. 289; 18 O.C. 289=33 I.C. 371. Where a widow is found to have been lawfully holding her husband's estate for life, whether under a will or under the provisions of sec. 22 of Act I of 1869, no question of adverse possession arises and the suit for possession by a reversioner is governed by Art. 141. 6 Luck. 282=7 O.W.N. 1010=1930 O. 481 (26 I.A. 71 and 56 I.C. 267, Foll.). Art. 141 does not contemplate the same kind of estate as one under Art. 140, i.e., by grant or devise. 33 I.C. 371. The argument that the word "entitled" in Art. 141 necessarily means "entitled under the law and not extinguished by limitation", and that the article applies only to a suit brought by the first Hindu entitled to possession on the death of the first female heir is not supportable. 26 A.L.J. 1049=1928 A. 561 (F.B.). Where adverse possession commences to run against the last male owner himself the intervention of the limited estate will not prevent time running and will not enable the reversioner coming after the limited owner to say that he has got a fresh cause of action on the death of the owner of the limited estate. 1942 A.W.R. (C.C.) 139=1942 O.W.N. 191 =A.I.R. 1942 Oudh 303.

(2) CO-WIDOWS.—Under Art. 141 time begins to run only on the death of all the female co-heirs. There can be no acceleration of the right of a reversioner without his knowledge and consent by any agreement between the female co-heirs. 12 L.W. 656 =39 M.L.J. 567=1921 M. 246=43 M. 855. See also 42 B. 714=47 I.C. 153. Suit by a widow to set aside gift of husband's property by her co-widow—Limitation runs from the date of co-widow's death. 1927 N. 226.

(3) REVERSIONER.—A suit by a reversioner challenging the alienation of a Hindu widow should be instituted within 12 years of the widow's death. 10 O.W.N. 147=8 Luck. 538=1933 O. 170 (2). See also 1937 P. 105=17 P.L.T. 16. The general principle is that adverse possession, however long held, cannot impair the right of a person who was not, during the continuance of that adverse possession, entitled to possession. As the right of a reversioner is only a spes successionis and his reversionary interest falls into possession only on the death of the widow, adverse possession against the widow can hardly be regarded as hostile to the reversioner whose right is until the widow's death, only an expectancy. I.L.R. (1939) N. 624=1939 N.L.J. 391=1939 N. 260. See also 20 N.L.J. 278. The article applicable to a suit by an adoptee for possession of immovable property on the death of a Hindu female who was in possession as the adopted mother under an agreement is Art. 141, even if it is necessary to decide in the suit whether an adoption was or was not valid. 58 B. 280=36 Bom.L.R. 185= 1934 B. 110; 1935 L. 213 (2)=149 I.C. 434 =35 P.L.R. 338 (Suit by reversioner). But a suit by an adopted son after the death of a Hindu widow for possession, alleging previous possession and dispossession is governed by Art. 142. 60 C.L.J. 391=1935 C 228. Adoptive mother dedicating by will husband's properties to idol during adopted son's minority—Latter consenting to it after attaining majority—Adoptive mother in possession of those properties for over 12 years thereafter before death—Effect of. See 47 C.W.N. 607 (P.C.)=1943 P.C. 83=1943

The reversioner has a fresh cause of action on the date of the death of the limited owner. 30 I.C 991= 2 L.W. 751; 42 I.C. 228=32 M.L.J. 627; 17 I.C. 136. Limitation can never begin to run against a reversioner in consequence of dispossession of the limited owner and the reversioner has 12 years from the death of the widow or daughter or mother to sue for possession of property from which the Hindu female was dispossessed. The only case where adverse possession will run against the reversioner is where it is the result of a decree which is binding against the reversioner. 50 C.L.J. 260. See also 1928 A. 561 (F.B)=26 A.L.J. 1049; 1930 A. 307; 139 I.C. 28=34 Bom.L.R. 385=1932 B. 434. So also in the case of surrender by widow. Where a widow made a surrender of her estate in 1884, in favour of her daughter, who died in 1894, the right of the male reversioners to sue arises on the daughter's death and is barred under Art. 141 if brought more than 12 years thereafter, though in time if the computation is made from the subsequent death of the widow. (46 A. 59, Appr.) 61 I.A. 200=57 M. 749 =1934 P.C. 105=67 M.L.J. 20 (P.C.). The basis of the doctrine of surrender is the effacement of the widow's interest, and not the ex facie transfer by which such effacement is brought about. There is therefore no difference between surrender to a daughter and surrender to the nearest male reversioner. 67 M.L.J. 20 (P.C.). This rule is applicable also to the case of a Mahomedan occupying a similar position. 108 I.C. 817 =1928 O. 155. Whether the adverse possession against the widow runs against the reversioner is a question of fact. 1928 A. 561 (F.B.); 6 Luck. 365=1931 O. 25. A suit by a reversioner to recover possession of the properties of a limited owner sold in execution of a decree obtained against her husband is governed by Art. 141 and not by Art. 144. 1929 C. 93=48 C.L.J. 368. Where there has been no decree against widow or other act in law in the widow's lifetime depriving the reversionary heir of the right to possession on the widow's death, the heir is entitled after the widow's death to rely upon Art. 141 for the determination of the question whether the title is barred by lapse of time. 56 I.A. 267=51 A. 439 =1929 P.C. 166=57 M.L.J. 160 (P.C.). See also 9 P. 634=1930 P. 573; 139 I.C. 28= 34 Bom.L.R. 385=1932 B. 434. On the death of the last taluqdar to an estate, succession to which was governed by the terms of the primogeniture sanad, his wife entered into possession and in mutation proceedings, claimed the estate under sec. 22 (7) of the Oudh Estates Act, i.e., as a limited owner. So the right of the next heir to sue for complete proprietary title accrued only after, and not before, the death of the limited owner. A suit for possession by him is governed by Art. 141. 150 I.C. 495=11 O. W.N. 351=1934 O. 190=9 Luck. 484.

(4) LIMITED OWNERS (MORE THAN ONE).—Article applies where the reversioner is entitled to the property on the death of more than one limited owner taking jointly, and time runs from the death of the last limited owner. 42 M. 855=39 M.L.J. 567=1921 M. 246.

SUIT FOR POSSESSION.—Suit for possession on declaration of title by plaintiff as reversionary heir on his mother's death against defendant—Art. 141 applies. 23 C.W.N. 977=47 C. 274.

SUIT FOR SHARE IN INHERITANCE.—A suit for the share in inheritance is barred after lapse of twelve years of the death of the last male owner. 33 I.C. 742=84 P.R. 1916.

STARTING POINT.—The starting point is the death of the last surviving widow. 33 A. 312=9 I.C. 50; 1930 O. 481=7 O.W.N. 1010. The reversioner's right to sue accrues from the time of the death of the widow and possession for 12 years under a gift from the widow during her lifetime does not bar the suit. 1922 A. 421. See also 65 I.C. 966 =34 C.L.J. 141=1921 C. 687. When time has once commenced to run against the last male holder, it continues to run and is not suspended or affected by the mere circumstance that the owner is succeeded by a female entitled to a woman's limited estate. After twelve years have run from the date of the oiginal entry of the trespasser in the lifetime of the last male owner all persons claiming through or under him are barred. Art. 141 of the Limitation Act is inapplicable to such a case. 43 P.L.R. 308=1941 L. 271. See also 1942 O.W.N. 191=1942 O. 303.

ARTS. 141 AND 143.—Applicability—Award giving properties to Hindu widow for maintenance for life—Clause providing for forfeiture on widow becoming unchaste—Properties to go to husband's brothers on death of widow—Suit for possession of the properties by the reversioners within 12 years of the widow's death but beyond 12 years of unchastity—If barred—Limitation applicable—Death of widow gives fresh cause of action for suit. 1937 A.L.J. 139=1937 A. 268=I.L.R. (1937) All. 424.

ARTS. 141 AND 144.—Where under a special custom, a widow is entitled to possess the property of her husband during her life, her possession, however long, could not be adverse to the ultimate heirs so as to create an absolute right to the property in her favour after the expiry of 12 years. This is so even though the husband had executed an invalid will in her favour giving full ownership in the property. Accordingly a suit for possession of the property by the ultimate heirs is governed by Art. 141, and not by Art. 144 and a suit within 12 years of her death is within time. 165 I.C. 322 (2)=1937 O. 4=12 Luck. 592. See also 50 L.W. 571=1940 M. 102.

ARTS. 142 AND 144.—It may be that Arts. 142 and 144 are not limited to suits for possession based on proprietary title, but they certainly contemplate suits for possession in which some interest in immovable property is claimed. They can have no application to a suit by a mere licensee who does not assert any claim to any interest in immovable property. 75 C.L.J. 236=1943 Cal. 143. See also 1946 A.L.W. 196=223 I.C. 467. Arts. 142 and 144 have to be interpreted as they stand in deciding as to whether a particular case attracts the provisions of this article or that article. So far as Art. 142 is concerned, it is not stated there that the suit should be one in which the plaintiff should allege that he has been in possession and dispossessed. It is not the form of allegations of the plaintiff which will determine the nature of the suit, but it is the substance and the actual facts found by the Courts which will go to decide whether the suit is one which comes within the purview of ei her Art. 142 or Art. 144. 222 I.C. 378=1946 Pat. (Rul.) 102= 12 B.R. 260. In all cases in which the applicability of Art. 142 or Art. 144 is in contro versy, it is necessary to scrutinize the pleadings of the plaintiff and to ascertain exactly the allegations on which the plaintiff has come to Court and the reliefs sought by him. Sometimes the pleas raised in defence by the defendant are also relevant to the enquiry. 1935 L. 507=37 P.L.R. 171; 152 I.C. 906=1934 P. 593; 152 I.C. 1=1934 A.L.J. 973=1934 A. 993 (F.B.)=57 A. 278; 147 I.C. 805=11 O.W.N. 104=1934 O. 21; 1937 L. 226=30 S.L.R. 472. In a case which falls under Art. 142, the plaintiff must prove not only title but also possession within 12 years of suit. But before that article can apply, it must be shown, either that the plaintiff was dispossessed, or that he discontinued the possession. This can be established either by the facts admitted in the plaint or pleadings, or by the facts actually found. But unless that is done the case cannot come under Art. 142 and so the residuary Art. 144 would apply. 1938 N.L.J. 418=1939 N. 7. See also 1942 N.L.J. 99; 1942 A.L.W. 225=1942 O.W.N. 281. The essential difference between Arts. 142 and 144 is that, in the first case the owner bases his claim from the date of his dispossession, and in the second he bases his claim on his title without regard to his possession or dispossession and time begins to run from the date that the defendant's possession became adverse to the plaintiff. Where the plaintiff sued on the basis of his title which was admitted, it was not for him to prove possession on his own part within 12 years, but it was for the trespasser to prove his adverse possession. [45 B. 1020 (P.C.), Rel. on.] 108 I. C. 109=1928 O. 246. See also 1928 L. 306 (a case of waste land); 1937 Sind 226; 1940 Sind 49=I.L.R. 1939 K. 793; 1940 M. 798 =(1940) 2 M.L.J. 190=I.L.R. 1940 M. 953; I.L.R. 1938 L. 558=1938 L. 241; 1939 L. 172. Where the plaintiff prays for possession, alleging recent forcible dispossession, the suit is governed by Art. 142, and it is for the plaintiff to establish his previous possession and dispossession by the defendant; it is not for the defendant to prove his adverse possession for more than twelve years. 143 I.C. 428=1933 L. 627. See also 161 I. C. 833=1936 R. 124; 1941 C. 632; 1941 O. Where in a suit for possession the plaintiff alleged that the defendants and their predecessors in interest had been his tenants and that recently, that is, within twelve years before suit, they had denied his title and the defendants not only denied the contract of tenancy but also pleaded title in themselves by adverse possession and the plaintiff failed to prove the contract of tenancy or that he was in possession within twelve years of the suit it was held that the plaintiff's suit was barred even assuming the original title was in him. 1943 A.L.W. 328. Art. 142 applies to a suit for possession when the plaintiff while in possession of the property has been dispossessed or has discontinued the possession. Art. 144 is a residuary article applying to suits for possession not otherwise provided for. A period of 12 years runs in the case of Art. 142 from the date of the dispossession or discontinuance; in the case of Art. 144 it runs from the date when the possession of the defendant becomes adverse to the plaintiff; when a plaintiff's case is that he was dispossessed, it is Art. 142 and not Art. 144 that would apply and if the plaintiff does not prove his possession within 12 years before suit, his suit should fail. 1942 O.W.N. 753=1942 O.A. 599.

The person seeking to displace the rights of the person in possession has to establish that that person has no title and that the title resides in the plaintiff. It is always assumed that the person in possession is in rightful possession and so his possession is always referred to a lawful title whenever that is possible. A trespasser does not displace the rightful owner's title unless he intends to prescribe for a hostile title and he does not necessarily intend so to prescribe simply by remaining in occupation. His attitude may be a purely negative and passive one. All the usual presumptions about possesion being adverse and so forth do not arise except in favour of the person in possession and those who claim through him. If the rightful owner succeeds in getting into possession and an attempt is made to oust him by those who do not claim through the trespasser, then the presumptions are in favour of the rightful owner. 1942 N.L.J. 431. See also 1942 N.L.J. 99=153 I.C. 371 =1935 O. 88=10 Luck. 513. Where the plaintiff does not claim to have been dispossessed or to have discontinued possession, Art. 144 and not Art. 142 applies. 30 N.L. R. 284=148 I.C. 62=1934 N. 36. See also 151 I.C. 490=1934 L. 576; 1937 P. 252 (Plot incapable of possession by actual user). In cases where the plaintiff sues for possession of immovable property both on the ground of title and on the ground of his possession having been disturbed by the defendant if he proves his title, the burden of establishing title by adverse possession lies upon the defendant, and if the defendant succeeds in proving that fact, the suit must fail, otherwise the plaintiff is entitled to a decree. To this extent, Art. 144 will apply to such a suit but it may be that the plaintiff, though not able to substantiate his title, is in a position to prove his possession and dispossession by the defendant within 12 years. If that be the case, Art. 142 will apply and the burden will be on the plaintiff. 11 O.W.N. 104=1934 O. 21. Whether Art. 144 or 142 applies, depends on frame of suit but plaintiff has to justify such frame. 1930 L. 330. Property standing in Hindu woman's name in possession of tenants—Muchilkas taken and rent collected by adopted son who lived amicably with adoptive mother—Death of adopted son—Strained relationship between mother-in-law and daughter-in-law and scramble for possession—Suit for possession by donee from mother-in-law—Limitation—Art. 144 and not Art. 142 applies. The effect of Art. 142 of the Act of 1871 and Art. 141 of Act of 1877 was to create a fresh rule in regard to limitation in all cases in which the prescriptive right arising out of adverse possession had not already ripened into an absolute title. ART. 142.—[See also under Art. 144]—APPLICABILITY OF ARTICLE.—Art. 142 is restricted to suits which are in terms and substance based on the plaintiff's prior possession which he has lost by dispossession or discontinuance of possession. "Discontinuance" in Art. 142 means that a person in possession goes out and is followed into possession by another person, because unless he is so followed he will in law be deemed to continue in possession and there will be no discontinuance. There must be (1) actual withdrawal (2) with an intention to abandon and (3) that another should step in, begin to occupy after the withdrawal. Dispossession signifies expulsion, an adverse act which has the effect of putting out. It presupposes physical contact, a collision, either with another person or with his physical acts. The physical presence on the property of the person affected is not necessary but the adverse act of the other party must have the quality of destruction. 56 Cal. 914=1929 Cal. 297=69 C.L.J. 28=1939 C. 354. See also 1938 Sind 198; 1938 N.L.J. 418=1939 N. 7; 1942 N.L.J. 99; 5 Pat.L.J. 592=1921 Pat. 36; 61 I.C. 78=1921 P. 277. A suit for possession of immovable property of which the plaintiff while in possession of the property has been dispossessed or has discontinued possession is governed by Art. 142 and does not raise an issue of adverse possession but adverse possession for twelve years, if made out by the defendant, may imply dispossession of the plain iff. 58 I.A. 29=10 P. 407 =1931 P. 186=60 M.L.J. 183 (P.C.) The act of a person who takes possession, either forcibly or otherwise than in due course of law, may be high-handed and not legal in the sense that it is not authorised by law, but if he happens to be the rightful owner, there is no justification for holding that the period during which he had both title and possession should not be taken into account for purposes of deciding whether he was in possessin within 12 years of his suit. The fact that the trespasser from whom he wrested possession had succeeded in a suit under sec. 9 of the Specific Relief Act cannot make any difference in the position of the real owner so obtaining possession. 55 L.W. 515=1942 M.W.N. 478=1942 Mad. 728=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 266. Though the right of a Mahomedan widow to hold possession of her husband's property in lieu of her dower does not give her any title to the property, it is yet heritable. Hence her heirs who have inherited such a right can sue a trespasser for possession within 12 years allowed by Art. 142. They are not bound to sue under sec. 9, Specific Relief Act, within the six months period. The widow's right against a trespasser is certainly something more than that what can be vindicated only by means of a suit under sec. 9, Specific Relief Act. 1943 A.W.NR. Art. 142 is very general in its scope, and the only conditions necessary are that the suit should be for possession of immovable property and that the plaintiff while in possession of the property must have been dispossessed or must have discontinued his possession. Obviously the word "plaintiff" in this article includes his predecessor-in-title as well. There are no words in this article which would confine its applicability to suits based on possessory title only, or confine it to plaintiffs who claim the property wholly and are not co-sharers or co-owners with the defendants. (51 A. 1042 and 1933 A.L.J. 105, Overr.) 1934 A.L.J. 973=1934 A. 993 (F.B.)=57 A. 278. See also 42 P.L.R. 597; I.L.R. (1940) M. 953 =52 L.W. 149=1940 M. 798=(1940) 2 M. L.J. 190 (F.B.) (Plaintiff suing as purchaser at Court auction sale held in execution of mortgage decree is not outside the scope of Art. 142). Where therefore a plaintiff, who was a co-sharer with some of the defendants who transferred a part of the property to third parties, admits in the plaint that he was dispossessed by the transferees sometime prior to the institution of the suit, Art. 142 applies and not Art. 144. 1934 A. 993 (F.B.). If Art. 142 applies, the onus would be upon the plaintiff to prove that his suit is not time barred; it is otherwise if the case falls within Art. 144; for in such a case the onus would be upon the defendant to prove that his possession had been adverse to that of the plaintiff for more than 12 years. 8 R. 556=1931 R. 40; Proof of possession. 17 R. 85=1929 R. 153. See also 1935 C. 151=38 C.W.N. 1126.

PROOF OF POSSESSION.—The proof by plaintiff of his possession may be such as the land is capable of by exercising acts of ownership thereon. The acts of ownership need not be continuous; nor need they be frequent . Where a trustee or manager of a religious endowment grants a tenancy of property belonging to the trust in excess of his powers, the alienation is good for the alienor's tenure of office and the alienee's adverse possession commences under Art. 144 only from the cessation of office of the alienating trustee. But where the trustee in effecting by way of sale purports to deal with the trust property as his own, his act amounts to a repudiation of the trust and the possession of the vendee will be adverse from the date of the alienation. 47 L.W. 165=1938 M. 415=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 113. If a trespasser admits that a portion of the land belongs to the owner when the owner challenges his possession but declines to vacate the land in spite of demands, there is open dispossession and the owner must bring his suit within 12 years of dispossession. The admission of the trespasser cannot give further time to the owner unless such admissions come within sec. 19 of the Limitation Act. 60 C. 404=1933 C. 414= 144 I.C. 177. Where a minor sued on majority to set aside a void lease, held, that Art. 142, and not Art. 44 or Art. 91 applied to the case. 1930 C. 748=34 C.W. N. 642. Transferee from Court auction-purchaser—No possession through Court— Suit for possession—Art. 142 applies. 1930 C. 586. A suit to set aside a revenue sale and for possession is governed by Art. 142. 1932 C. 115=53 C.L.J. 524=133 I.C. 102 (2). DISCONTINUANCE OF POSSESSION— BURDEN OF PROOF AS TO.—62 I.C. 707. See also 17 L. 449=162 I.C. 330=1936 L. 208; 1936 M. 919=17 M.L.J. 749; 30 N.L.J. 18=1933 N. 274. Plaintiffs alleging to have let defendants into possession—Defendants pleading title by adverse possession—Allegations on either side not proved—Effect. 1927 M. 287; 58 B. 397 and 406=36 Bom.L.R. 445 and 451=1934 B. 207. In a suit falling under Art. 142, the fact that the date of dispossession is not given or proved is immaterial, for, if the plaintiff can show possession within twelve years, the fact that he is not in possession at the time he institutes his suit establishes that some time in the interval he has been dispossessed. (122 I.C. 81, Foll.) 144 I.C. 72=1934 L. 245. A suit was for possession of a property on the ground that the defendant was holding it as a licensee. The defendant denied the title of the plaintiff and pleaded his own title by adverse possession. Held, that in such a case the question of title was of paramount importance and that, if the title vested in the plaintiff, he would still be entitled to succeed, even though he had failed to establish the alleged tenancy or licence unless the defendant was able to establish his adverse possession under Art. 144. 117 I. C. 384. Where the agreement is that the plaintiffs should resume possession upon repayment of the loan, possession cannot be held to be discontinued within the meaning of Art.142. Where the mortgagee, who is in possession of the property claimed, cannot be said to be a mortgagee because the unregistered mortgage for over Rs. 100 in his favour cannot be legally proved, but it is clear that neither the mortgagor nor the mortgagee ex hypothesi intended that the possession of the mortgagor should be discontinued for ever, the case does not fall under Art. 142. 8 R. 556=1931 R. 40. The mere fact that a mine has not been worked by the owner does not amount to a discontinuance of possession within Art. 142. 44 I.C. 297=22 C.W.N. 441. If the owner leaves his land in the possession of a stranger for over twenty years and lives away cultivating other lands, it constitutes abandonment. 19 I.C. 3 (2)=1913 M.W.N. 218. Where two persons are in joint possession of land by mutual consent for twelve years in ignorance of the fact that one is entitled to the whole, limitation against the latter by discontinuance under Art. 142 or by adverse possession under Art. 144 arises. 18 I.C. 869=17 C.W.N. 595. But see 41 B. 5. Joint owners of occupancy holding—One of them leaving the village and settling elsewhere—Holding in the possession of the other joint tenant and his heirs—Suit by the heirs of the former for possession after more than twelve years is barred under Art. 142. 119 I.C. 8. See also 1939 B. 322=41 Bom.L.R. 631 (Suit for partition of share purchased from a Hindu coparcener).

CONSTRUCTIVE POSSESSION.—Constructive possession—Proof of title—Delivery of symbolical possession, effect of. 36 C.L.J. 140= =27 C.W.N. 259=1922 C. 176; 1936 Pesh. 7. The right of trespasser by adverse possession is confined to the land actually in his possession. 5 P.L.J. 273=56 I.C. 184. See also 16 L. 442=1935 L. 475 (F.B.). Even if the judgment-debtors continue in ths possession of the properties in spite of the delivery of the properties made through Court, yet, as against the judgment-debtors to the suit and persons represented by them, the effect of such delivery is that the decreeholder is in possession; and consequently a fresh cause of action arises against the judgment-debtors and limitation begins to run only from the date of the delivery made through Court. 122 I.C. 164=1930 M. 206. See also 1936 Pesh. 7; 1928 L. 910. Possession through tenants is sufficient. 1928 C. 765. Constructive possession delivered to auction-purchaser—Refusal to deliver actual possession by squatter—Suit for recovering possession—Art. 142 and not Art. 144 applicable. 1928 O. 251=3 Luck. 506=5 O.W.N. 372 (F.B.). See also I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 953=1940 M. 798=52 L.W. 149=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 190 (F.B.). Sec. 65, C. P. Code, creates a fiction of law by which it is deemed that the title in the property passes to the purchaser from the date of the sale. Nothing is said in it as to possession. That possession, as a matter of fact, remains with the judgment-debtor, till date of delivery of possession and there is no warrant for holding that the auction-purchaser will be deemed to have been in possession from that date. Hence where there is an auction sale of an undivided share, the co-owners who are not judgment-debtors could be deemed to be in constructive possession through the judgment-debtors till the date of delivery of possession aind a suit by them against the auction-purchasers would be governed by Art. 142, Limitation Act and time would run only from the date when possession was delivered. Art. 142 would be applicable whether the suit is based on title or on possessory title. 1943 A.L.W. 93.

SUBMERGED LAND—CONSTRUCTIVE POSSESSION.—Where a plaintiff sues to recover possession of lands as re-formation in situ alleging that he has been dispossessed from them, the burden lies on him under sec. 142 of the Limitation Act to prove that he was in possession within twelve years of the suit. He can discharge this burden by proving that he was in constructive possession within that period. He would be in constructive possession, if he was the rightful owner and would be in time if he could prove either that the lands had appeared above water within twelve years of the suit, or if they had appeared earlier that they had become first fit for user within that period. The fact that he had no physical possession at the time of the last submergence is not material for the purpose of enabling him to call to his aid the principle of constructive possession, provided that his title had not been extinguished by adverse possession before the last submergence. For, if a trespasser was in possession before submergence and had not perfected his title by adverse possession for 12 years or more, on submergence his possessio ceases and the possession of the owner revives and continues till the lands are again formed and become fit for user and occupied by another. 44 C. W.N. 935.

PERMISSIVE POSSESSION.—Permissive possession is not adverse possession. 41 B. 5 =36 I.C. 715; 2 L.L.J. 511. But see also 18 I.C. 869=17 C.W.N. 595.

POSSESSION FOLLOWING TITLE.—Where the plaintiff establishes his title to the property, he could rely upon the presumption that possession goes with the title. If there is no satisfactory evidence in rebuttal, the presumption must be given effect to. 24 Bom.L.R. 373=1922 B. 243=46 B. 920; 1927 L. 777=100 I.C. 336=9 L.L.J. 9; 1929 P. 529 (1) (Case of parti land). See also 117 I.C. 384. In a case with evidence equally strong on both sides, the presumption of possession arises on title. When there is no evidence on either side, presumption from title will save limitation under Art. 142 in the case of arable lands. 35 I.C. 554=1 P.L.J. 146. See also 1921 P. 305 (F.B.); 1921 L. 276; 53 C.L.J. 411=1931 C. 501; 54 M. 622= 1931 M. 644=61 M.L.J. 224; 134 I.C. 319 =53 C.L.J. 411=1931 C. 501; 58 B. 397 =1934 B. 207. Where plaintiffs put forward a case of effective possession and adduced evidence in support of it, but the Court found against it, they cannot give up that case and rely upon the presumption of possession following title. 1931 M. 282 =60 M.L.J. 430. But see 54 M. 622 holding that even in such a case, the possession presumed by law must be displaced by proof of effective acts of possession by the defendant.

SYMBOLICAL POSSESSION.—A suit for possession of immovable property of which the plaintiff had obtained symbolical possession through Court alleging dispossession by the defendant is governed by Art. 142. If the allegation of dispossession is not proved, the period of limitation would run from the date when the plaintiff was given symbolical possession by the Court. 48 C.W.N. 187.

POSSESSORY TITLE.—In a case where the suit is resisted on the ground of acquisition of title by prescription, it is not for the plaintiff to prove his possession within twelve years. It is for the defendant to prove his adverse proprietary title. 1923 A. 55=45 A. 107. See also 1923 B. 361=48 B. 504. Effect of entry as to possession in the settlement record. See 2 L.L.J. 230. Possession under an illegal order or decree of a Court is not possession that can avail plaintiff under this article. 29 I.C. 10.

EJECTMENT SUIT.—The plaintiff in an ejectment action must in order to succeed strictly prove his own title. 42 C. 384=27 M.L.J. 333 (P.C.)=1914 P.C. 1. In a suit for ejectment, the onus is on the plaintiff to prove not only his title to possession but the fact of his dispossession or discontinuance of possession within twelve years. 18 I.C. 17=25 M.L.J. 95 (P.C.); 8 L. 655; 98 I.C. 1061 (2); 33 C.W.N. 1160. Title must be strictly proved to entitle plaintiff to ejectment. 36 I.C. 890=20 C.W.N. 773. A plaintiff who comes to Court seeking a mandadory injunction for the removal of constructions upon a plot founds his suit upon the basis that he has a subsisting title in the plot. If he has no subsisting title then he is not in a position to maintain such a suit and if he goes further and shows that by reason of the act of the denfendants he has been ousted then he must clearly be under a duty to show that the ousting which has interfered with his possession and resulted in his dispossession has taken place within 12 years of the institution of the suit. Where the plaintiff has proved this, it then lies upon the defendant, to establish that he had exercised such exclusive possession as amounted to an ouster of the plaintiff from a date more than 12 years prior to the institution of the suit. 1942 A.L.W. 225=1942 O.W.N. 281. The period of limitation applicable to a suit for possession of a temple is that contained in Art. 142 and not Art. 131. 52 I.C. 67=41 A. 646. (4 Cal. 683, Dist.) In a suit for possession where the entry in the record-of-rights is in favour of defendants, plaintiff must prove his possession within twelve years of suit. 54 I.C. 960. A suit to set aside an invalid sale to the extent of the plaintiff's joint share and for possession thereof is governed by Art. 142 and not Art. 123. 42 I.C. 121. Court-sale—Formal delivery of possession to purchaser—Judgment-debtor continuing in possession along with co-owners—Suit for partition—Decree in favour of purchaser—Subsequent suit to recover actual possession after a lapse of 14 years from the formal delivery is barred—No case of possession and dispossession. 50 A. 813=1928 A. 412. See also 1928 L. 910. Death of adoptive father—Widow enjoying property as of right—Suit to recover property filed after twelve years. See 6 Luck. 365=129 I.C. 328=1931 O. 25; 131 I.C. 758=60 M.L.J. 619=1931 P.C. 84 (P.C.); 130 I.C. 849=1931 O. 89. Dedication to dharmasala by father—Son seeking to set aside the same after twelve years of father's death is barred. 1928 O. 348. Grant for maintenance—Grantor obtaining decree for resuming possession of property granted out possession remaining with grantee even thereafter for more than twelve years—Suit by grantor for possession is barred. 1928 P.C. 165 (1)=109 I.C. 818=55 M.L.J. 251 (P.C.). The plaintiff filing his suit in the Civil Court within the ordinary twelve year's period of limitation for ejecting a trespasser is under no obligation to satisfy the Court that he had sufficient cause for not filing his suit earlier. All that he need prove is that he came within twelve years of the accrual of his cause of action. 52 A. 50=1930 A.L.J. 253=1930 A. 193 (F.B.). The mere decision of a Tanaza or the mere passing of an order and a mere entry in the record-of-rights as well as a mere order under sec. 145, Cr. P. Code, do not necessarily constitute actual physical dispossession. 110 I.C. 623=1928 P. 653. Where a Hindu widow who had been enjoying the property as tenant-in-common along with her brothers in-law sued to establish her possession and it appeared that her title had not been denied and that she had been receiving rents and profits, held, that there was no dispossession under the Act and that the suit was not barred by limitation. 56 C. 914.

PARTICULAR CASES—(1) ALLUVION.—Where a plea of limitation and denial of plaintiff's title is set up in a suit for possession of accretions by alluvion, the onus is on plaintiff to prove title and possession within limitation. 34 A. 612=17 I.C. 94. Trespasser whose title is not perfected by adverse possession cannot tack on to his period of possession the period during which the land remained submerged. 19 O.C. 374=37 I.C. 715.

(2) WASTE LAND.—[See Vacant Land]. A suit for possession of waste land is governed by Art. 142. 1921 L. 202=59 I.C. 891=111 I.C. 533=1929 L. 34. Where the plaintiff alleges he had effective possession of a waste land till dispossession by defendant one year prior to suit, the onus is on him to prove his possession within twelve years of the suit. 60 M.L.J. 430=130 I.C. 845=1931 M. 282. As regards waste and unoccupied lands the presumption is that possession follows title. 39 I.C. 971; 42 I.C. 412. See also 17 L. 449=1936 L. 208; 53 C.L.J. 411=1931 C. 501. The mere fact that the land in dispute was such as was not capable of actual, continuous, physical possession does not necessarily make it waste land so as to attract the application of the principle that possession follows title. 58 C.L.J. 478=1934 C. 294. In respect of waste land allowed to remain so, there cannot be a discontinuance of possession and the onus is on the defendant to prove when his possession became aderse. 25 I.C. 12; 36 I.C. 207; 38 I.C. 120. See also 43 P.L.R. 222=1941 L. 241. (Suit by Government for possession of public street).

(3) JUNGLE LAND.—In waste and jungle lands, possession may be exercised by grazing of cattle, putting up boundary marks, fences, etc. They form no exception to the general rule that the plaintiff must prove possession and dispossession within twelve years. 50 C. 574=27 C.W.N. 554=1923 C. 557; 1928 C. 118. In the case of jungle land it is not enough for the plaintiff to prove his title. But he can make a case by showing that the land in question was incapable of possession by any one or that in fact no one was interfering with his right. It is possession and not user that should be shown. In such a case the possession of the rightful owner must be held to continue up to the time when the lands are shown to be capable of being possessed. 33 C.W.N. 1160. See also 1937 P. 252. It was admitted that the lands were parti and jungle lands, that the plaintiffs had a title to it but the defendant claimed a limited tenancy interest only as against the admitted proprietor, the zemindar. Held, that the defendant must either show title to tenancy right by contract or by the fact that he has been in possession for the necessary period and the onus is equally upon him to show the date upon which he came into possession and his title began Such cases are governed by Art. 144 and not by Art. 142, and it is impossible for the judge in trying such a suit to raise any presumption against the plaintiff by reason of the absence of any witness on the part of the plaintiff. 149 I.C. 453 (2)=1934 P. 339.

(4) FISHERY RIGHTS.—Art. 142 applies to a suit for recovery of possession of a jalkar or declaration of plaintiff's title thereto. 34 I.C. 841. See also 23 I.C. 136; 2 P.L.J. 289 =39 I.C. 777.

(5) SERVICE TENURE.—A suit by a patnidar for possession of resumed lands is governed by Art. 142. 46 I.C. 895.

(6) VACANT LAND—See WASTE LAND.—In cases relating to vacant sites, possession follows title and the mere fact that a trespasser has taken possession of a portion of a vacant site cannot affect the constructive possession of the real owner on the portion not trespassed upon. In such cases, the wrongdoer can by lapse of time gain title only to the area actually possessed by him, and in suits governed by Art. 142, it is only with regard to the portion of the site actually in possession of the trespasser that the plaintiff will be required to prove his possession within twelve years. As regards the portion actually built upon by the trespasser, the plaintiffs must show that this portion was a vacant site within twelve years of the suit, and, if they succeed in proving this fact, their constructive possession within the statutory period will be presumed. 17 L. 449=1936 L. 208. See also 1938 O.W.N. 744=1938 O. 214. Waste land —Nature of possession—Absence of specific acts of possession—Effect—Land leased for cultivation—Lessee cultivating bulk of area—Small portion remaining waste but trespassed upon and reclaimed by others—Suit by lessee for possession—Limitation. Art. 142 applies. 17 P. 210=19 P.L.T. 133=1938 P. 222. Where a strip of land in question is a piece of waste land lying on the boundary of one's property, possession of such land must be presumed to be with the person who proves title to the property. 1938 O.W.N. 744=1938 O. 214. In a suit relating to waste lands which falls under Art. 142 it must be determined whether having regard to the evidence as to the nature of the lands and the possession, the plaintiff has been able to establish actual or constructive possession within the statutory period. 70 C. L.J. 534=1940 C. 185. Dispossession, referred to in Art. 142 is a forcible dispossession or ouster and the discontinuance referred to in it, being interpreter ejusdem generis with possession, means something of the nature of an abandonment. So where a suit is based on title and dispossession, Art. 142 or Art. 144 will apply, as the case may be, for a plaintiff may fail to prove possession within twelve years and win his suit. Where, however, a suit is based on title and an alleged permissive occupancy, Art. 144 applies and the case can be decided fairly on the question of adverse possession. Long and uninterrupted possession of jagir land without rent or term or conditions, in the full sight of the jagirdars, evidenced by permanent houses and not temporary huts, constitutes adverse possession in the full sense of that word. I.L.R. (1939) Kar. 111=1938 Sind 198. Vacant land is capable of physical possession being taken of, if it is enclosed and the owners are deprived of all power over it. 111 I.C. 533. A Court must rely upon the presumption that possession follows title in case of land that was vacant before dispossession occurred, where the evidence as to possession is conflicting. 1929 L. 34=111 I.C. 533; 38 L.W. 952=1933 M. 871=65 M. L.J. 769 (54 M. 622, Ref.). If the position of a small isolated plot of uncultivated ground is such that the attention of the zemindar would not be specifically directed to the question of whether it is in his mahal or in the mahal of another zemindar, the mere non-interference with the temporary occupation of this plot by the tenant of the other zemindar in the adjacent fields would not constitute any adverse possession. The plaintiff zemindar should be deemed to have continued his constructive possession and it could not be said that he was out of possession within the meaning of Art. 142. 1937 A.L.J. 131=1937 A. 238; 1938 O. 214; I.L.R. (1939) All. 454=1939 A.L.J. 94=1939 A. 257.

ENCROACHMENT LAND.—Where the dispute relates to certain encroachment land the onus is on the plaintiff who alleges himself to be owner and seeks to recover possession to establish that his possession was within twelve years. The initial fact of the plaintiffs' title comes to his aid in such a case with greater or less force according to the circumstances. 10 L.L.J. 517=115 I.C. 420.

MINING LAND.—As to adverse possession of mining rights in a village granted on lease to defendant, see 58 I.A. 29=10 P. 407= 60 M.L.J. 183=1931 P.C. 18 and 186 (P.C.).

ART. 142 AND ART. 141 OF 1871 AND 1877 RESPECTIVELY—SCOPE AND EFFECT OF.—The effect of Art. 142 of the Act of 1871 and Art. 141 of Act of 1877 was to create a fresh rule in regard to limitation in all cases in which

ARTS. 143 AND 144.—Art. 143 does not apply to a case where there is no relationship of landlord and tenant. 22 I.C. 28=18 C.L. J. 553. See also 17 L. 403=1936 L. 394; 60 I.C. 312=24 C.W.N. 1064; 45 L. W. 347=1937 M. 295. A person holding under a permanent tenancy holds adversely from the day he denies his landlord's title and a suit for possession on the ground of forfeiture by the tenant falls under Art. 143. 36 I.C. 565=76 P.L.R. 1917. Under Art. 143, the starting point of limitation is the forfeiture itself; there is nothing in the article about the knowledge of the lessor. 1922 M. 290=38 M.L.J. 275=15 L.W. 164; 35 I.C. 235; 17 L. 403=38 P.L.R. 887=1936 L. 394. See 1928 C. 714, for a case of forfeiture on the ground of remarriage of a widow. Suit for possession by a widow who made a gift of the land on condition of the donee maintaining her, alleging that the condition was not fulfilled, is governed by Art. 143. I.R. 1932 L. 645. See also 1937 A. 268 =I.L.R. 1937 A. 424. Art. 143 is not limited in its application to those persons who have committed a breach of the condition against alienation which has entailed forfeiture, but also to those who are in possession by reason of the alienation which has entailed forfeiture. A suit to recover possession of properties demised on adimayavana tenure in Malabar, the claim being based on a forfeiture by reason of alienation and not upon the removal of the tenure at the expiration of twelve years as contemplated by the deed of tenure, is governed by Art. 143 and barred unless brought within twelve years from the date of the alienation. 30 L.W. 960= 1930 M. 430 (2)=58 M.L.J. 89. Alienation by kasavargamdar—Suit by landlord—Limitation. See 45 L.W. 347=1937 M. 295.

ART. 144: APPLICABILITY.—[See also under Art. 142]. Art. 144 is a residuary article and cannot be applied when some other article applies. I.L.R. (1937) N. 254=1937 N. 129; 1946 A.L.W. 196=1946 A. 389=I.L.R. (1946) A. 178. It is clear from the position in which Art. 144 occurs and from the words used in that article that it is a residuary article in respect of all suits for possession of immoveable property to which no other article specifically applies. Where the plaint in terms seeks possession of immovable property and the defence is one of adverse possession, the suit falls under Art. 144. I.L.R. (1939) B. 173=40 Bom.L. R. 1134=1939 B. 1; 1930 N. 300. Art. 144 applies to suit for posession based on title. 136 I.C. 256=1932 O. 122; 134 I.C. 599= 1931 O. 382; 8 O.W.N. 1153=7 Luck. 250= 1932 Oudh 46; 55 A. 209=1933 A. 775= 1933=A.L.J. 105; 1936 L. 530. When a plaintiff comes to Court saying that he was in possession of a field up to certain time as owner and claims possession thereof, the suit is one for possession after dispossession falling under Art. 142 and not Art. 144. 1937 N. 129; 40 Bom.L.R. 166=1938 B. 210. The question whether the article of limitation applicable to a particular suit is Art. 142 or 144 has to be determined by reference to the pleadings. 147 I.C. 805=1934 O. 21; 30 S. L.R. 472=1937 S. 226. Art. 142 must be applied in every case where the plaintiff alleges his own dispossession by the defendant prior to the suit, as also where he does not make any such allegation, but it is found, as a fact, that he was dispossessed by the defendant prior to the institution of the suit. (51 A. 1042 and 1933 A.L.J. 105, Over.). 57 A. 278=1934 A.L.J. 973=1934 A. 993 (F.B.). See also 1933 R. 413. A declaration of title may be made on proof of 12 years' adverse possession. 13 L. 677=410 I.C. 604 =1933 L. 25. Redemption of mortgage by one of the co-mortgagors—Suit by another for redemption of his share against the redeeming co-mortgagor—Art. 148 applies. 127 I.C. 889=1930 N. 300. But see 8 O.W. N. 637. See also under Art. 148. Art. 144 applies not to want of actual possession by the plaintiff but to cases where he has been out of, and another in, possession for the prescribed period. There must be both absence of possession by the person who has the right, and actual possession by another, whether adverse or not, to be proved to bring the case, within the article. 120 I.C. 792= 1930 L. 303. Art. 144 is applicable only to a possessory suit by the owner of the properties claimed against a person holding adversely to him without title. 10 P. 851= 58 I.A. 279=1931 P. 196=61 M.L.J. 78 (P. C.); 161 I.C. 585=1936 P. 147. Suit for possession by auction-purchaser after obtaining formal delivery of possession—Limitation. See 24 Pat. 717=1946 Pat. 202. Where the plaintiff alleges he was in possession of the property till dispossession by the defendant who entered on it in his own right, the article applicable is Art. 142. 8 O.W.N. 349=1931 O. 177. See also 1933 R. 48=144 I.C. 274. So also where the plaintiffs allege that they had been dispossessed two months before the suit and the defendants did not plead adverse possession but pleaded possession under an irrevocable license. 55 A. 755=1934 A.L.J. 147=1934 All. 362. Adverse possession of predecessor-in-title can be tacked on to that of the present occupier. 130 I.C. 296=1931 A. 323. A true owner would be barred by twelve years continuous adverse possession, even if that possession be that of two or more independent trespassers, who do not claim under one another. 1940 O.W.N. 291=1940 O. 184. See also 1938 B. 210. A suit may comprise various reliefs and the different reliefs may be governed by different articles of limitation. So where a suit comprises a prayer for declaration and for possession, the whole suit cannot be governed by Art. 144. 1936 M.W.N. 351=1936 M. 804. Where an estate partly consists of immovable property and partly of business, a suit for share in the estate of a deceased ancestor, against heirs in possession and managing the same cannot be maintained, so far as it relates to immovable property if not brought within 12 years of the death of the ancester, under Art. 144, and that for an account of the business of the deceased ancestor, if not brought within six years under Art. 120. 1936 R. 407. A suit by the heir of a deceased person to recover property from a person who also claims as heir is governed by Art. 144. 45 B. 570=59 I.C. 805=1921 B. 48; 35 C.W.N. 465=1931 P.C. 84=60 M. A trespasser cannot be allowed to tack on his possesion to that of a former trespasser from whom he does not derive title. 45 B. 570=1921 B. 48. See also 49 I.C. 751 (Cal).; 2 P.L.J. 506=41 I.C. 114; 16 I.C. 43=37 M. 440; 109 I.C. 296=1928 C. 563; 1930 L. 809. But see 8 O.W.N. 349=1931 O. 177. Where Art. 144 applies, no deduction of period under sec. 16 is allowed 26 C.W.N. 364=1921 C. 385. Where the property of a minor member of a Hindu family is alienated during his minority by a person who is not his guardian, either in fact or law, a suit by him to recover possession after attaining majority would be governed by Art. 144 and not Art. 44. 1922 L. 386. See also 107 I.C. 516=1928 N. 151. Where Art. 144 applies, it is for the plaintiff to prove his title and then the onus of proving adverse possession lies on the defendant. 32 I.C. 568; 1929 A. 753=51 A. 1042=134 I.C. 461 (All.) Article does not apply to suits for assessment of fair and equitable rent. 50 I.C. 908. Where a malikhana right was not enjoyed for 12 years, the right to sue for the money due on account of it is barred. 21 I.C. 779=19 C.W.N. 410. Fishery right in another's water is not immovable property but an interest in immovable property. 12 I.C. 305=14 C.L.J. 572; 35 C.W.N. 1256=1932 C. 300=59 C. 344. Projection of eaves is not immovable property. 138 I.C. 458=34 Bom.L.R. 395=1932 B. 224. But right to collect assessment of endowed lands is immovable property. 34 Bom.L.R. 1469=1933 B. 26. Melwaram right of the land in a zemindar, when it consists of the imposition of the full assessment, would be an interest in immovable property. 1937 M.W.N. 189=1937 M. 303. Although the equity of redemption in the case of a possessory mortgage is an intangible thing, it is an estate in land and is fully capable of possession. A claim for it is one for possession of an interest in immovable property. A suit by the plaintiff as heir of the mortgagor for possession of a moiety share in the equity of redemption against the defendant who has obtained mutation exclusively in his favour is governed by Art. 144. 160 I.C. 920=1936 O. W.N. 243=1936 O. 168. Art. 144 would apply to a suit to recover a share by a Mahomedan heir from a person in management of the property. 31 Bom.L.R. 199=118 I.C. 785=1929 B. 141. Owner suing for possession—Jamabandis showing plaintiff as owner and defendants in possession—Land uncultivated for 12 years from two years prior to suit—Art. 144 applies and not Art. 142—Defendant must prove adverse possession. 1929 L. 596. See also 1937 C. 343=41 C. W.N. 763 (Chowkidari lands). Suit for possession based on agreement to deliver possession—Agreement embodied in compromise in suit which did not comprise the properties whose possession is sought—Limitation. See 46 Bom.L.R. 931=1945 B. 143. An inference of adverse possession may be drawn from circumstances, such as long possession and the absence of any proof of licence or agreement between the person in possession and the landlord. 130 I.C. 296=1931 A. 323. The word 'hostile' cannot be considered to mean that there must have been litigation on the subject between the parties. It is sufficient if it is proved that the title is entirely opposed to the interests of one and that the latter stood by and did nothing while the other person continued in possession in direct contravention of his alleged rights. 6 O.W.N. 829=1929 O. 433.

CONSTRUCTIVE POSSESSION.—Where lands are subject to periodical submersion, their possession is with the owner during submersion. The constructive possession is with the true owner. 44 C. 858=44 I.A. 104=1917 P.C. 18=32 M.L.J. 505 (P.C.); 29 I.C. 278; 29 I.C. 156=19 C.W.N. 565; 58 IA. 228=59 C. 80=61 M.L.J. 632=1931 P.C. 162. Continuous adverse possession is not possible in the case of lands subject to seasonal submersion. 44 C. 858=32 M. L.J. 505 (P.C.). A mere assertion of hostile title by a trespasser when the land is under water and cannot be actually occupied, cannot affect the possession of the true owner. 20 I.C. 821=18 C.L.J. 274. See also 117 I.C. 202 (Pat.); 1930 L. 417 (1). Upon the grant of the surface rights by a zemindar, he is in constructive possession of the sub-soil. Cases as to adverse possession of mineral rights must ultimately fall to be decided under Art. 144, rather than under Art. 142. 50 I.A. 228=61 M.L.J. 632=1931 P.C. 162. The right of a trespasser by adverse possession is confined to land actually in his possession. 5 P.L.J. 273=65 I.C. 184. See also 16 L. 442=1935 L. 475 (F.B.); 1923 R. 23 (2); 1929 L. 625; 1930 L. 303. SYMBOLICAL POSSESSION, EFFECT OF.—See 108 I.C. 396=1928 L. 719; 120 I.C. 602=1930 L. 384; 11 P. 165=1932 P. 145. Where A is in possession of the property adversely to the plaintiff, the plaintiff cannot by obtaining a decree against B and being placed in symbolical possession in execution of that decree thereby give himself a fresh start of limitation. 30 N.L.R. 284=148 I.C. 62=1934 N. 36. See also 48 C.W.N. 187; 47 Bom.L.R. 1102=1946 B. 192.

PERMISSIVE POSSESSION, EFFECT OF.—See 1927 O. 582; 6 Luck. 106=130 I.C. 65=1930 O. 510 (uncle managing for nephew). Where a person is in possession of the property claiming only a lien over it for certain payment to which it is charged, he should not be considered to be in adverse possession. 134 I.C. 493=1931 L. 313; 16 N.L.J. 248=1934 N. 51; 142 I.C. 582=1933 C. 544; 1935 A.L.J. 662=1935 A. 569; 1930 L. 384 (2). The mere tethering of cattle and storing of logs on a piece of waste land does not amount to a denial of the title of the true owner of the land; nor is it an indication of possession which is intended to be adverse to the title of the proprietor of the land. Where though foundations were laid, the land was never enclosed, it does not amount to an unequivocal assertion of an intention to appropriate the land. I.L.R. (1939) A. 217=1938 A.L.J. 1227=1939 A. 161.

COLLUSIVE POSSESSION.—See 32 C.W.N. 863=1928 C. 882.

ACQUISITION OF TITLE.—The onus is on the defendant to plead and prove adverse possession for the statutory period in a suit for declaration of title based on the defendant's alleged repudiation of it. 37 I.C. 794 (39 M. 617, Foll.) As to acquisition of mining rights by adverse possession, see 58 I.A. 29=10 P. 407=1931 P.C. 186=60 M.L.J. 183 (P.C.). In order to extinguish the right of the real owner, the adverse possession must be continuous. Acts of possession exercised at intervals over different portions of land in different years cannot amount to adverse possession. 57 I.C. 716=39 M.L.J. 58. As to essentials for acquisition of title by adverse possession, see also 8 O.W.N. 1153=7 Luck. 250=1932 O. 46. A defendant in order successfully to set up a title by adverse possession, must show that he was in possession of the land in such a manner as to indicate that he was claiming to be in possession as an owner and was intending to oust the plaintiff. 146 I.C. 987=1933 O. 462. Acquisition of title for limited interest. 19 I.C. 367=17 C. W.N. 748. See also 30 I.C. 931; 22 C.L.J. 153; 123 I.C. 195. There may be adverse possession of immovable property as well as any interest in it under Art. 144. 14 I.C. 212=16 C.W.N. 634; 1930 P. 476. A person in adverse possession of property claiming to hold it as mutawalli does not prescribe for more than a mutawalli's right in such property. 129 I.C. 375=1930 A. 866. The quantum of interest acquired depends upon the animus with which possession is held by the person in actual possession of the property. Where there was an agreement to execute a usufructuary mortgage and it was under that agreement that the mortgagee came into possession then, though the usufructuary mortgage contemplated had not been executed, it must be taken that the mortgagee had been in possession only as a usufructuary mortgagee for the amount of the loan advanced. 123 I.C. 195. See also 1931 A.L.J. 1931 A.L.J. 914=1932 A. 53; 14 P.L.T. 294=1933 P. 288; 54 A. 628=140 I.C. 653=1932 A. 393; 52 A. 976=130 I.C. 697=1931 A. 18. The right of the mortgagor is not lost by the adverse possession of a trespasser for more than 12 years during the continuance of a usufructuary mortgage. The period of limitation for his suit is 12 years to be reckoned from the date of redemption of the mortgaged property which he finds to be in possession of a trespasser who denies his title to it, and the trespasser's possession would not become adverse to him till after redemption. 1935 A.L.J. 496=1935 A. 542. Adverse possession—Knowledge—Principal affected by agent's knowledge. 16 I.C. 891=163 P.L.R. 1912. The possession of a judgment-debtor in spite of delivery of symbolical possession gives rise to a fresh cause of action for a suit for possession. 116 I.C. 70=1929 N. 298. So also possession of any person deriving subsequently title from judgment-debtor. 15 P. 372=17 P.L.T. 546=1937 P. 13. But where a party to the suit has symbolical possession given against him by methods informal, the said symbolical possession does not avail to stay adverse possession. 118 I. C. 391 (2)=1929 L. 545. See also 1933 A. L.J. 33=1933 A. 1733; 1933 P. 269. Where the land in actual possession of the judgment-debtor was in execution delivered to the decree-holder and subsequently the judgment-debtor dispossessed the decree holder and regained possession, the decree-holder has 12 years from such dispossession to bring another suit for recovery of possession of the land. 140 I.C. 530=1933 L. 22; 1917 P.C. 197 (2)=34 M.L.J. 97 (P.C.). A mere declaratory decree obtained in a suit under O. 21, R. 63 will not interrupt the adverse possession of the action-purchaser in execution of the decree. 18 L. 255=1937 L. 602.

Where the mother of an owner took possession of the property after her son's death and enjoyed to the exclusion of the son's widow who was the rightful heir, held, she had acquired title by adverse possession and that it was not affected by the order of the mutation Court to the effect that she should have no power of transfer over the property. 10 O.W.N. 42=1933 O. 427. Where a Hindu widow who was in possession of the house left by her husband leaves it and lives in a rented house, and her mother-in-law continues to reside in the house, and on the evidence all that can be suggested is that she found it more convenient to live apart from her mother-in-law, it cannot be said that the occupation of the house by the mother-in-law alone after she left amounts to dispossession of the widow or that the possession of the mother-in-law is adverse to her. 1935 A. 639. Previous suit for possession and mesne profits of submerged land—Possession and mesne profits refused but declaration of title granted—Subsequent suit again for possession—Actual possession need not be proved. Plaintiff having established his title in the previous suit and not being barred by limitation was entitled to a decree. 56 I.A. 305=1929 P. C. 225=57 M.L.J. 602 (P.C.). Where there has been an assertion of adverse title accompanied by the ouster of plaintiff, the mere fact that the plaintiffs subsequently obtained a declaratory decree, would not prevent the statute of limitation running against them. 120 I.C. 486=1930 L. 297. The possession by a vendee of watan lands becomes adverse from the date of the death of the alienor and a suit to set it aside will be barred if not brought within twelve years from that date by the next watandar or subsequent watandar claiming under the previous holder. 55 B. 21=1931 B. 24. District Fishery Board—Government prescribing as against District Fishery Board—Right of action vested in District Board not exercised —Collector being representative of Government and also President of District Board —Effect. See 31 L.W. 508=1930 M.W.N. 328=1930 M. 679. Hindu joint family—Possession of property as joint estate—Bar of plea as to separate estate. 32 Bom.L.R. 314=1930 B. 333. The space above the land is itself immovable property. So, a defendant who constructed a three-storied venrandah projecting over the land of the plaintiff more than 12 years ago, acquires a right to the space occupied by such projection and the right to maintain it in its position. 151 I.C. 1094 =1934 A.L.J. 846=1934 A. 1054. The mere planting of trees on another person's land does not amount to dispossession. 1930 O. 304. See also 1929 O. 328. But see 20 A.L.J. 208=1922 A. 50; or the erection of a khurli or a mud trough for feeding cattle. 134 I.C. 294=1931 L. 489. Possession by intruder— Relinquishment before acquiring title by possession for 12 years—Leaves the rightful owner in the same position he was in before the intrusion. 120 I.C. 792=1930 L. 303. Person who loses his right to a holding by adverse possession should also be taken to lose his right in shamilat land appurtenant thereto. 134 I.C. 1106=1931 L. 648 (2).

DECLARATION OF TITLE.—Art. 144 cannot apply to a suit for declaration. 54 B. 4=31 Bom.L.R. 1240=1930 B. 61. Where the property is in the actual possession of occupancy tenants, a suit for declaration and injunction regarding the right to collect rent is a suit for possession to which Art. 144 applies. 34 Bom.L.R. 1469=1933 B. 26. Suit for confirmation of possession is not governed by Art. 144 or 142. 36 C.W. N. 783=1933 C. 842. Art. 144 and not Art. 120 applies to a suit for a declaration that a certain pathway is a public one and that none can obstruct it. To such a case sec. 23 will apply. 69 I.C. 910=26 C.W.N. 587 =1921 C. 405. A suit for possession and mesne profits with a declaration that an entry in the record-of-rights is incorrect is governed by the 12 years' limitation. 52 I.C. 361. See also 108 I.C. 417=1928 P. 353. Suit by one co-sharer against another for declaration of title and for possession is governed by this article. 155 I.C. 824= 1935 A. 774. Where a transfer is inoperative and a mere paper transaction, a suit to recover possession ignoring the transaction is governed by Art. 144. 25 Bom.L.R. 1207=48 B. 166=1924 B. 174. So also a suit to set aside alienation of a debutter property by a shebait in excess of his power. 9 I.C. 133. The wife of a Hindu lunatic as such is not competent to execute a sale-deed of her husband's lands and a suit by a reversioner after the death of both the husband and the wife to set aside the alienation is governed not by Art. 125 but by Art. 144; 42 M.L.J. 262=45 M. 361=1921 M. 12. Art. 44 and not Art. 144 applies to a suit by a ward who has attained majority, for possession of properties improperly alienated by his guardian. The sale is not void for inadequate consideration. 28 I.C. 704=2 L. W. 365; 11 L.L.J. 108. See also 53 A. 738 =1932 A. 108=1931 A.L.J. 997. The possession of a purchaser under a void sale is adverse to the real owner. 47 I.C. 694.

POSSESSORY TITLE.—Possession of Government land for over 12 years throws the onus on the Government of proving possession or title within 60 years. But this rule does not apply to a public pathway even if possession is proved for over 40 years. 1 L.W. 758=27 M.L.J. 299.

POSSESSION PENDING SUIT.—Possession after institution of suit is not adverse. 29 I.C. 168.

PROOF OF TITLE.—Adverse possession must be adequate in continuity, publicity and extent so as to show that it is possession adverse to the true owner. 1922 P.C. 181= 41 M.L.J. 650=44 M. 883. See also 36 C. years). Where possession of the trespasser is open, visible and notorious in character, the Court may presume it to be adverse. 1932 O. 135=8 O.W.N. 1275. See also 142 I.C. 582=1933 C. 544 as to the essentials for adverse possession. Trespasser's possession of part of land—Adverse possession only of that area and not of the rest. 1929 L. 625.

BURDEN OF PROOF.—It is not necessary in order to establish adverse possession, that the proof of acts of possession should cover every moment of the requisite period. The nature of the requisite possession must necessarily vary with the nature of the subject possessed. The possession must be the kind of possession of which the particular subject is capable. 61 I.A. 78=61 C. 262=1934 P.C. 23=66 M.L.J. 134 (P.C.). Case of adverse possession against Government as to fishery right in a navigable river. 66 M.L. J. 134 (P.C.). Also as to the test of the applicability of Art. 142 or Art. 144 to any case, see 1934 O. 21. See also 1926 O. 313. If Art. 142 applies, the onus would be upon plaintiff to prove that his suit is not time-barred. It is otherwise if the case falls within Art. 144; for in such case, the onus would be upon the defendant to prove that his possession had been adverse to that of the plaintiff for more than 12 years. 8 R. 556=1931 R. 40. See also 7 R. 85=1929 R. 153; 1931 L. 251, 11 P. 165=1932 P. 145; 134 I.C. 599=1931 O 382; 1933 A.L.J. 105=1933 A. 775=55 A. 209; 1933 N. 274; 141 I.C. 234=1933 L. 105. See also 61 I.A. 50=66 M.L.J. 431 (P.C.) noted supra. 1933 L. 722; 146 I.C. 725=34 P.L.R. 1007; 1933 S. 279=146 I.C. 777 (F.B.). Art. 144 applies to a suit in which the plaintiff sues for possession of immovable property on the basis of his title, and in such a suit, if the plaintiff proves his title, he is entitled to a decree, unless the defendant succeeds in establishing his adverse possession for a period of more than 12 years. 55 A. 209=1933 A. 775; 168 I.C. 309=1937 O. 328. But where the trial Court requires the plaintiffs to prove in the first instance that they were in possession within 12 years of the suit and it only requires the defendants to prove adverse possession in the event of the plaintiff failing to establish this fact and the plaintiff accepts this but fails to discharge the burden. Held, that he cannot subsequently complain that onus has been wrongly placed on him and that his possession must be presumed from title. 1934 L. 1019 (2). Where a party raises a plea of adverse possession the first thing he has to establish is that he had been actually in possession of the property. 1933 O. 283=10 O.W.N. 366; 8 O.W.N. 349=1931 O. 177. Where it was admitted that the lands were parti and jungle lands and that the plaintiff had a title to it but the defendants claimed a limited tenancy interest only as against the admitted proprietor, the zemindar, held, that it was governed by Art. 144 and not by Art. 142 and that it was impossible for the judge in trying such a suit to raise any presumption against the plaintiff by reason of the absence of any witness on the part of the plaintiff. 149 I.C. 453 (2)= 1934 P. 339. See also 1941 L. 241. Where in a suit for ejectment the Court finds that the defendant's occupation was not independent of the plaintiff, that is to say, not on his own independent title but as a tenant under the plaintiff, it is necessary for the defendant, in order to succeed in the case to establish ouster, that is, assertion of hostile title as against the plaintiff and claiming title on his own account and after such assertion, to the knowledge of the plaintiff his remaining in possession for the statutory period of 12 years or more. 222 I.C. 378=1946 P. 185.

STARTING POINT.—A suit by a mortgagee auction-purchaser for possession of the mortgaged property against a lessee who is in possession thereof under a lease executed by the mortgagor after the execution of the mortgage, is governed by Art. 144 and not by Art. 120 as it is not necessary for the plaintiff to sue or pray for cancellation of the lease. 12 Luck. 161=1937 O. 146. See also 1937 P. 13; 1940 M. 798=(1940) 2 M.L. SPECIAL CASES — CO-OWNERS.—Where a person has begun to hold possession of land adversely to two co-sharers, each being the owner of a moiety and before the expiration of the statutory period of limitation succeeds to one moiety upon the death of its owner, his possession continues to be adverse to the owner of the other moiety, although he has become jointly interested with the other. 46 I.A. 285=43 M. 244=1919 P.C. 44=38 M.L.J. 313 (P.C.). See also 1939 L. 315. Where a person succeeds as a co-heir, Art. 144 applies if he claims adverse possession. But if the person takes the property as a customary heir according to the law then in force and not as a mere co-heir. his possession is adverse from the very beginning. A.I.R. 1944 Pesh. 45. Where brothers and sister are co-sharers and are living amicably together, the brohers cannot establish title by adverse possession against the sister unless they had expressly set up an adverse title to her knowledge. 1932 A.L.J. 621=54 A. 742=1932 A. 666. See also 14 L. 794=1933 L. 784; I.L.R. 1938 M. 220=1938 M. 8=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 606. In cases where the litigating parties are-owners or co-tenants having an equal right to use property for a specified purpose, the presumption of law is that the possession of one is the possession of all. Every such person is seized of the property per my et per tout, and anything short of denial of title cannot destroy the plaintiff's right. 14 L. 267=1933 L. 705 (F.B.). To suits between co-owners or co-tenants inter se where the title of one is denied by the other, Art. 144 or Art. 120 would apply, according as the relief claimed is one for possession or injunction. 14 L. 267. The mere statement by some of the co-heirs that they are the exclusive heirs of the deceased cannot amount to an overt at which would make the statute of limitation run against the other co-heirs. In such cases in order to prove title by adverse possession there must be ouster. 131 I.C. 105=1931 L. 439. See also 134 I.C. 491. The mere fact that one of them was in exclusive enjoyment of a common well does not lead to the inference of ouster of the other co-owners. 12 L. 101=1931 L. 339. In order that possession may be adverse, there must be (1) a disclaimer of the others' right by and open assertion of a hostile title on the part of the co-owner setting up adverse possession, and (2) notice thereof to others, either direct or to be inferred from notorious acts and circumstances. 148 I.C. 926=1934 Pesh. 7; 18 R.D. 39; 1934 A.L.J. 544=56 A. 582=1934 A. 193. But exclusve receipt of profits continuously for a long period may point to an ouster, if the Court is satisfied that such taking of profits is an indication of a denial of right in the other co-tenant to receive them. 58 B. 410=36 Bom.L.R. 284 =1934 B. 273. Where the co-sharer has built his residential house on the land, it amounts to an assertion of hostile and exclusive title to the knowledge of the other co-sharers. 148 I.C. 943=1934 L. 84 (1). The question whether the exclusive possession of a co-owner in a joint property amounts to ouster or not depends on the circumstances of each particular case. Different co-owners can be in exclusive possession of different portions of joint property. In such a case, the fact that one person constructs buildings is not such an injury as cannot be remedied in a partition suit. 32 P.L.R. 653=1931 L. 631 (2). See also 8 O. If the person possessed of legal title to an estate is also in the enjoyment of the profits of that estate more or less, his title cannot be held to have been extinguished by reason of the physical possession of the estate held by another person who has no title to it. Such person cannot put an end to the possession of legal owner by any secret intention in his mind. There must be an ouster or something equivalent to an ouster. 6 Luck. 106=130 I.C. 65 (2)=1930 O. 510. Where an uncle and a minor nephew are members of a joint Hindu family and a mortgage is effected by the uncle comprising not only the share of the nephew but of the entire land of the uncle and the nephew in a suit for possession by the nephew on the allegation that he is the owner of the property, the uncle cannot be said to be a guardian of the plaintiff within Art. 44 and the alienation is effected by the manager of the joint Hindu family and a suit to set aside such an alienation is governed by Art. 144 and not by Art. 44. 152 I.C. 633=35 P.L.R. 722=1934 L. 601. See also Title of other co-owners not denied except very lately—Statement before Revenue Court admitting permissive possession—No adverse possession. 1928 O. 449=112 I.C. 522. Where the title of the co-heirs relates to a number of properies any assertion of adverse title with reference to any one of the properties might have some bearing upon the question of adverse possession. 131 I.C. 211=1931 A. 193. Where in prior proceedings, the party never took up the position that he had been in occupation adversely of more than his share except the kothri. Held, that he had failed to establish adverse title except as regards the kothri. 139 I.C. 676=1932 L. 421. There must be, on the part of the co-owner setting up adverse possession, a disclaimer of the other's right by an open and unequivocal assertion of a hostile title; mere entry of name in the Revenue Registers and mere non-enjoyment of produce are insufficient. 118 I.C. 207=1929 S. 212. Presumption as to possession not being adverse—Applicability in favour of transferee from co-owner. 56 C. 616=1929 C. 250; 1930 O. 475. There can be no difference in principle whether a person is the original co-owner or has become a co-owner by virtue of a transfer. The burden would be on the transferee to establish that the denial of title and ouster were brought to the knowledge of the other co-owner and in the absence of proof he would not be able to perfect his adverse possession. 54 A. 628=1932 A.L.J. 425=1932 A. 393. See also 1937 Pesh. 69. Where a plaintiff, who was a co-sharer with some of the defendants who transferred a part of the property to third parties, admits in the plaint that he was dispossessed by the transferees some time prior to the institution of the suit, Art. 142 applies and not Art. 144. 1934 A. Where certain land belonging to several co-owners was sold by some of them to a sranger and possession of the entire land was given to the vendee, the possession of the vendee is adverse to the other co-owners who did not join in the sale. Where a co-parcener sells not his undivided share but a specific property of the joint family and puts the purchaser in possession, the latter's possession becomes adverse to the other members even though the property sold is less than the vendor's share in the joint property. 1937 Pesh. 69. Where some items of joint property were rightly or wrongly taken possession of by a stranger and passed out of joint family and the stranger having been in possession thereof for more than twelve years and acquired an indefeasible right to them by adverse possession, one of the joint family members purchased them from the stranger with his own money, in such a case, the possession of that member cannot be said to be the possession of a co-sharer. 60 C. 1406=149 I.C. 410=1934 C. 356. Mere absence of a co-sharer does not amount to adverse possession. 4 Luck. 339=1930 O. 177; 13 R.D. 79; 15 R.D. 259. Entry into possession by some under an invalid sale, when there is no intention on their part to hold sole possession to the exclusion of the rest, is no adverse possession. 4 Luck. 503=1929 O. 284; nor is one co-sharer's writing a post-card to another denying right to partition. 1929 L. 519; nor an assertion of hostile title made in a suit to which the other co-owners are not parties. 32 P.L.R. 824=1932 L. 143. Mere entry of names in the mutation register is no indication of adverse possession until it is shown that it was obtained after a clear declaration to the effect that the title of the other co-sharers was denied. 115 I.C. 440=1929 O. 337. The mere fact that a co-sharer brought a suit to eject a trespasser is no evidence of denial of title of the other-co-sharers and doe not therefore amount to ouster. 1929 O. 337.
